Indian Veteran Will Be Buried in Arlington

Sgt. Gunnell, 29, of the SIOUX, said that he wanted to be buried in Arlington. Gunnell, who lives with his widow, said that he felt it was important to be buried in the same cemetery as President Truman. The widow of a Win- nipeg Indian, who was a member of the city council, said that he had been a leader in the Indian community.

Reds Rebuke UN; Talks May Resume

TOkyo (Thursday) - The Russian reply to the high command was "distorted," but the broadcast was surprisingly mild and indicated the Russians were willing to resume talks.

The special broadcast was a re- port of a "special correspondent" in Kaesong. It was far less critical than earlier propaganda blasts which had reached a new pitch in the last few days. The sharpest words in the dispatch were "slender" and "malignant," both of which were used in referring to UN statements.

Slaughter said that he was pleased to welcome the visit of the US congressional committee, which he said was the first to visit Korea since the war.

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Selznick—It requires something less than 60 seconds to realize that the arrival of American air reinforcements in Europe has probably more significance here than it does across the channel.

At the first sight of the Allied airmen, the German civilians—mainly children—swoon in gratitude. The main street is complete a nearly 5,000-foot flight from South Carolina, an air force base on the islands to the concrete apron outside the terminal.

FINISHING THE ATTIC into rooms is the easy and economical way to expand a small house, as a navy veteran recently demonstrated. He found a 130-square bungalow (upper left) as his liking but it was really too small for an extended family (lower left) living quarters, including an attractive bedroom, a playroom, a sewing center and a window. The solution (right) is ceiling and side walls of durable self-laminating board, an easy-to-apply material that builds, finishes and decorates as the same film. Insulating boards in large sheets is used for the attic, while planks of the same material form the sidewalls. Space behind the walls will on one side of the attic is finished with doors, drawers and shelving for storage. Cost for materials to finish the entire attic, including bedding items, wiring and fixtures, and hardware and do-it-yourself, was well under $50.

To Save Energy —
Use 2 Hands to Speed Cleaning Tasks

Let the left hand know what the right hand is doing! Use both hands when housecleaning. Home economists say many chores can be one-handed and with less normal effort if two hands are used for one-handed cleaning.

By working both a job as wide for as wide as watching can be simplified by using both a wipe. A wipe with a cloth or paper held in the left hand and a wipe with a squeegee held in the right hand. Of course, for left-handed people, the technique is reversed, but the important point is to use both hands.

This system works especially well when floors, walls and pieces of furniture are being cleaned. Using a cleaning liquid can be applied with a cloth held in one hand and wiped off with a cloth held in the other.

When soap and water is used, on wood surfaces, it is still best to use two hands, though it would be helpful to have a third.

This is because soap and water may damage wood if it isn't applied and removed quickly. Wiping is a common method, but it leaves the mistake of soap and water. The solution is to work quickly. Turn on a cloth to apply soap and water immediately on the other. Then take a dry cloth and completely remove every bit of soap film.

In this process, it helps to use two cleaning supplies — one cloth for cleaning and the other for the other with cleaner. Take both places to the work area when the cleaning job is done and won't delay the process.

Pot Rooms on Paper . . .

Before there's a chart of the room, the room plan is a convenient scale. Trainings on the chart should show the important features of the room. This includes the room outline and the size and location of windows, doors, fireplaces, radiators or registers and built-ins, such as bookcases. Positions of electrical outlets also should be shown.

On the property marked chart, one can point out the existing and think about what to get a desirable room plan.

And Relax Regularly

It matters how busy a person is, the convenience to take at least 15 to 20 minutes a day to relax. This isn't wasting time, as the highly energetic person believes. But it's actually a way of making his work more efficient; it gives him more energy and enthusiasm for his play.

One noted health and physical education teacher recommends the following exercise to relax tense muscles:

To stretch backs and shoulders, lie on back on the floor with a pillow under the knees and spread the back where the (real) wall ends is greatest. Then lie on your stomach and place elbows and hands on each other, but don't make weight. If they won't make it, put a book on wrist until they do. Hold the position for two or three minutes at first and extend the time later.

This is an excellent exercise to relax muscles that have tired during the day. However, at the end of the day, the only way to be completely relaxed is to stretch out on a comfortable bed.

These Household Tricks Should Keep You Cooler

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures Writer

Mom probably won't let you tire working in a factory during the summer than at home. At least most factories have installed air conditioning, recreation facilities as a refuge from a long and laborious day, and cooling drinks well-timed to keep you from faring away.

But what about the home- maker? The work is a lot longer and sometimes doesn't even stop for meals, and is generally in a state of collapse by nightfall.

We can't all afford air conditioning in our homes. But it would be well to pay a get to a summer in summer home that would be several reprieves during the day, and shorten the chores.

One summer habit should be the shaver before the day starts and a shower or bath before dinner.

Surely Mom can spare these few minutes in a warm soapy bath that will prove even more cooling than a cold bath.

Clean Windows

Heavy cleaning should be done in the cool mornings — rug cleaning, furniture polishing, window washing and floor mopping. It is even better to set up the bath of the house to do this on Saturday morning, or at least to help out.

In the middle of the afternoon, take a cup for your South American waters and try the suds. The dirt will wash away, if even for a few minutes, will make your showing during any afternoon looks seem lighter.

To take advantage of cleaning attachments, which will keep you from prepping for cleaning before starting to clean walls, blinds or in corners. A carpet sweeper used every day is easier to push than a vacuum cleaner used every other day. An easily squished mop which requires no bending, also is a help during the

Use Cool Effects

If you drive for cool looking effects in the home — greens in bowls, summer-weight fabrics in windows, shades drawn, turned back part of the day — you will be on a roll. Cool evenings. Clean out the fire-place and place a large bowl of leaves in it.

Keep a tray of ice-cubes or cracked ice in the refrigerator for drinking time. Take a few minutes time for lunch and don't have a rushed feeling about it. A salad consisting of hard boiled eggs, croutons, rye bread and perhaps some cucumbers and radishes in your recipe is useful for a summer lunch.

When working around the house on a hot day, wear attractive shorts and shirt, perhaps with a skirt- combination which can be worn when the doorbell rings.

Lifetime Savings

It is possible to save money, have fun and do your housework at the same time. This isn't wasting time, as the highly energetic person believes. But it's actually a way of making his work more efficient; it gives him more energy and enthusiasm for his play.

Landlords Told
All Rent Hikes
City Must OK

Iowa City landlords were warned Wednesday against raising a 30 per cent increase provided for in the new rent law until they have filed a sworn application with the rent office.

T. J. Wilkinson, area rent director, said it is illegal for a landlord to charge any increase until after he has filed the required papers.

Under the new law, landlords are allowed to raise their rates as much as 30 per cent above what they were charging June 1. Landlords are required to file three copies of their forms for each unit on which an increase of any kind must be notified or may be sworn to by a member of the rent office staff.

The rent office will return one copy to the landlord, confirming the new rent, will mail one copy to the tenant and will keep a copy on file in the office.

Tenants have 15 days after receipt of rent office notification of the increase to move out of the office if they feel any of the statements made by the landlord are incorrect.

The rent office is located in the Iowa State Bank and Trust building.

Childless Married Men

Now Face Draft Call

WASHINGTON (AP) -- Thousands of draft-age men eluding married non-fathers -- will be eligible for military service under new draft regulations now awaiting President Truman's signature.

Attorney services said Wednesday that the regulations, carrying out provisions of the new military training and service act which had been completed and sent to the White House and government involved.

The act reduces the minimum draft age from 19 to 18 years. The maximum draft age remains at 26. If the major change is in non-determination of childless married men.
Gavilan Retains Welter Title; Beats Graham by Three Points

NEW YORK (AP) — Welterweight world champion Kid Gavilan retained his title Monday night as he gained a unanimous decision over Billy Graham of New York before 8,387 fans of boos that greeted the verdict.

The blonde from Norway was described as jolted out of his ring rust and his 10th pro fight and mighty close to tears when Conn's "illegally pointed system," had Gavilan down twice on the 10-round verdict. Conn's 25-year-old Gavilan, the favorite to breeze in, was crestfallen as he gained a decision before 4,000 New York fans, his face expressionless. It was his first loss.

"The background of all this whoop-de-do is sickening," said Conn. "A few weeks ago Sonja discovered television and the football specials. The wife's a new item. On the club program, she decided both would be included in the routine.

"She might make it in London and New York this fall, but I'm not sure she'll make it near here any day soon."

When Gavilan got wind of this, he first attempted to find his native language in writing, and then came the Barbers Ann Scott announcement. Conn delivered.

"I had my moments," he said. "I think I can take it away from him."

In the 10th, Conn's right hook hit Graham, who went over to connect and Gavilan was down for the count. The从而 had connected.

"The stack was all on the Brooklyn papers."

"The background of all this whoop-de-do is sickening."
Oats Case Closed Says Defiant Czech Envoy to America

WASHINGTON -- Communist Czechoslovakia's ambassador to the United States, Mr. Vladimir Prochazka, defiantly closed Monday what appeared to be a final curtain on his two-year struggle against his government.

"The case is closed," he said, "and has been made known to all the interested powers." Mr. Prochazka's action occurs after Prague refused to negotiate with the United States on the question of his recall.

Mr. Prochazka's action is the last step in a protracted struggle that began two years ago when he was recalled by Prague and replaced in Washington by Mr. V. Krec. Mr. Prochazka's recall was made after he refused to accept recall and continued to carry on his diplomatic mission.

Mr. Prochazka's action is a clear indication that the United States will not recognize the recall of Mr. Krec and will continue to deal with Mr. Prochazka as its Chargé d'Affaires in Prague.

Mr. Prochazka's action is also a clear indication that the United States will not recognize the recall of Mr. Krec and will continue to deal with Mr. Prochazka as its Chargé d'Affaires in Prague.
