Britain To Get 300-Million Arms Aid
New Egyptian Government Gets Conditional Support

Grant by U.S. Cuts Original Request in Half

WASHINGTON (AP) - A 300-million dollar aid to Britain in the form of arms and military equipment was cut in half Monday night by the Senate to 150 million in a strong bipartisan defeat of a military aid program designed to promote the political stability of the British administration.

The $150 million was to have been spent on arms and military equipment for the United Kingdom's defense against possible Communist aggression, but the Senate defeated it by a vote of 63 to 17.

The defeat, the third in a row in recent weeks on aid to the United Kingdom, comes as the British administration is facing a crisis over the Suez crisis and the political instability of the coalition government, headed by Harold Macmillan.

The $150 million was part of a larger $1.3 billion aid program to Britain, which was to be spent on a wide variety of defense, economic and other assistance.

The defeat of the aid program is likely to have a marked effect on the British economy, which is already in a state of depression due to the Suez crisis and the political instability of the government.

The British administration has already appealed to the United States for additional aid in the form of economic and military assistance.

Low-Calory Fruits Are Good for Your Diet

Tiaras have been banned, but not necessarily as a way to become slimmer. As anyone who has not lost weight by reading a book knows, the fact is that you can eat tofu, figues, and grapes, and lose weight. But the book in question is one which the New York Times in Chicago, at the weekend dedication of M. R. S. Newsway's new headquarters, describes as "the book of the season." And it's necessary to add that the so-called "diet" books are very popular. The New York Times reports that the book of the season is "The Book of the Year." The book is a best-seller, and the author is a prolific writer. The New York Times reports that the book is "The Book of the Year." The book is a best-seller, and the author is a prolific writer.

9 Dead As Ohio River Goes On Rampage

7,000 Are Homeless As Rains Lift Crest

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — A series of floods — especially for the mostly Ohio cities and towns bordering the Ohio River — forced the evacuation of thousands of homes and businesses in recent days, officials said. A total of 7,000 people were reported homeless as the waters continued to rise.

The Ohio, one of the state's key rivers, began to crest on Sunday, and as it rose, more than 1,000 homes and businesses were threatened. The city of Cincinnati warned residents to stay off the streets and not to drive through flooded areas.

railroad wage battle continuing by union

WASHINGTON (AP) — A series of姆ersions Monday reported its executive committee met for setting a "final" agreement with the nation's railroads.

A union statement said it had reached the point "to cut them down" between the proponents of the "progressive" and the "reformers" at the proposed policies of the administration, "it's just that we're alive."

The leaders have a " participated in the nation's historic" meeting Tuesday morning on the subject. The statement was read at 6:45 a.m., and the leaders were invited to be heard at a court.

SUT leaders noted that the meeting would be for the creation of a new union, and that they would be asked to participate in the union, and that they would be heard at a court.
