ATHENS, GREEK — Greece's parliament, acting late last night, voted 248-46 for the creation of a new government, with the pro-government party winning a decisive victory. The measure authorizes a new government to be formed within two weeks.

STOCKHOLM, SWEDEN — Authorised military sources today disclosed that the Royal Swedish Air Force has made the first air attack on the Soviet Union, and the announcement is expected to be made later today.

NEW YORK — The government said today it had seized four giant ocean liners, including the Titanic, which are believed to have been involved in the sinking of the German battleship Bismarck. The government said the ships were seized because they had been used as requisitioned vessels for military purposes.

Howe, IOWA — A new building on the University of Iowa campus will be available at December. Students will be able to have a library, a food court, and other facilities in one place. The building will be available at the end of the month.

Several faculty members reported that the building will be used to give additional help to the students.

The new building will be located on the corner of University Avenue and Iowa Street. It is the first building to be constructed on the university campus in many years.

Advertising Meet To Be Held at SUI

An advertising conference will be held at the University of Iowa. The conference is sponsored by the advertising and public relations department. The conference will be held on October 12.

Preparations Begin But Stevenson Visit To Ames Not Sure

DEMOCRATS' SEASONS — Although the Democratic National Convention, which opened today, did not set any new standards for the city's political life, it did bring attention to a number of issues.
Once in a while, too, an may give vent to post-upset enthusiasm with one or two "last flings." Besides this superficial atmosphere, however, in a serious undertone--an undertone which clearly indicates a determination to succeed in life.

In contrast with this determination is a realization that university teaching is an important phase in the preparation for the task that lies ahead.

SUI offers many facilities in this all-important step of preparation. Among them are interesting lectures, a student affairs office which helps solve personal or financial problems, and a well-qualified university faculty.

The more the student realizes the true aims of a college education and the more he takes advantage of the facilities and opportunities open to him, the bigger, then, are his chances for success.

SUI Points with Pride

During the biennial international spotlight in recent weeks has been a group of "soulmates" from SUI known as the Scottish Highlanders.

These 50 loyal lambs are making suitable occasion for a tree of England, Belgium, France, and Scotland.

Their departure was far from unbidted--part of the attraction being perpetuated by an Arabian, Scotland, city councilman referred to the Highlanders as "a lot of stodgy characters who make a mockery of Scotland's national instrument and dress." He added that the lads bought it, the lads having learned it off.

The moving reception which has greeted the group all along their journey have shown that not everything an Englishman needs is in his conscience' view.

Leaving the Illions from Ottawa, France, and London, England, report that the Highlanders took those cities by storm.

American soldiers stationed in France who saw the girls were particularly enthused. Even before the Scottish group left they were expressing 40,000 persons turned out to see the Highlanders perform. They liked what they saw.

The success of the Highlanders is not astonishing to those who know the story of their preparation for the tour. In an effort to educate the traditions and culture of the Scott, the Highlanders attended special classes of over many extra hours in practice. This extra work paid off.

The Scottish Highlanders are now nearing the completion of their tour and are expected home around Sept. 4. With their return to the U.S. the central contingent joins with them the friendship of thousands of Americans--a friendship so lasting in international circles today. The 800 soldiers can feel that they did more than their part in preparing good will for the U.S., for Iowa, and for SUI.

100 MILLION IN GERMANY

Some of the larger advertisers, according to reports, spend over $100 million in Germany during the year ending last June, it was announced Friday. The figures include Hershey's Chocolate, Nabisco Foods, Quaker Oats, Gulf Oil, the American Tobacco Company and the New York Life Insurance Company.

RED'S REVAMP IS MEANT TO BATTLE, NOT CHANGE

In advertising these days, the copywriter has to be clear headed and single minded. If a line isn't selling, he'd better get rid of it. And this is exactly what Red's has done.

Red's is a combination of the familiar and the unexpected. The campaign is simple, clear, and direct. It is an advertisement of the highest order.

PREMIUMS FOR "NEW LOOK"

In order to induce the fashion changes in Russia, merely to spread the word, the same technique of propaganda is employed. The same technique is used here in America. The premium is the key.

The premium is the key in both cases. In America the premium is a magazine which is sold for a small sum. In Russia the premium is an advertisement which is sold for a large sum. The premium is the key in both cases.

THE KREMLIN WILL TRY TO MAKE IT

Actually, under the Kremlin's rule, the people are more free than ever before. The people are more free than ever before in the history of Russia. The people are more free than ever before in the history of the world. The people are more free than ever before in the history of the human race.

Mississippi Parkway Dedicated

LA CROSSE, Wis. — The first stone of the Mississippi Parkway-long-awaited scenic byway from Jones, Miss., to the Gulf of Mexico, was dedicated Thursday to representatives of the 23 states that border the river.

Gov. Walter Kohler Jr., claiming for Wisconsin official credit for beginning construction, said in his dedication address:

"From now on the job is one of completion and completion rather than innovation. Here we are building the first and thus the most significant section of the great parkway-which-is-to-be."

The governor said he was not overly confident that if more money was discovered along the route by the surveyors, the minecraft of the Mississippi more than 2,000 miles to the Louisiana line.

A. P. Greenenden, pilot of the Parkway Commission, from St.
Louis, said it was a miracle to him that he had lived long enough to see this first stone of the parkway dedicated.

Spelunkers’ Explore Caverns for Pastime

If you have a curiosity about life on a planet beneath our earth's surface, the spelunkers make trips to caves in the¬ ner workings of the earth's crust which is inhabited by exotic creatures. For their annual outing, the spelunkers have planned trips to caves in the southern Missouri, an area full of hidden caves.

rather fantastic situations," Henderson.

Earn Money... With Music

If you play a musical instrument, here's chance to make some extra spending money on a part or full-year basis.

The American Federation of Musicians and the United Ar¬ chitects of America have formed a special organization to help young people who are interested in playing with college dance bands.

You don't have to be a musical genius—you don't need experience.

If you think you have some talent, let us know about it.

Miss SUI Is Selected
By Men in Campus Vote

The girl who could be the University of Iowa to become a queen could well be a future queen of one of the many campus groups, judging by the selection of Miss University of Iowa, in which more than 50 candidates were entered.

There are other queenesses in the queen of the intercollegiate, Homecoming, Delphi show, military ball, Men's week, and Currier Homecoming, Hilmar and Quad dances.

Miss Choose Miss SUI

A good deal of campaigning got with a queen selection. Miss SUI is the only contest in which the winner is chosen by an all-campus vote. The other queenesses are elected by the governing body of the various organizations.

For example, the Delphi, Homecoming, Interfraternity, University women, and the Student Senate. The president of these organizations in the queeness is chosen on the basis of scholarship, personality, and personal popularity.

All these are seen as considerations of the judges in choosing the queeness. It is generally agreed that the queeness should be chosen from the ranks of the men's organization, as Miss University of Iowa was.

Coeds Show What to Wear on University Campus

Students in their first year at the University of Iowa may not realize that many social events occur between classes and that dress codes vary from event to event. For sporting events, casual attire is appropriate, while formal attire is necessary for dances and other formal events. It is important for students to know what to wear at different events to fit in with the culture of the university.

Girls Prefer Sweaters, Skirts

The weather in Iowa can be unpredictable, and students need to be prepared for all types of weather. For cold weather, wearing sweaters, skirts, and a coat is appropriate. For warm weather, wearing light clothing and a hat is recommended.

Canoeing on Iowa River is Popular SUI Recreation

The Iowa River is a popular destination for canoeing and other water activities. Students who enjoy being on the water can participate in various recreational activities.

UWA Sponsors Women's Fashion Show

The University of Iowa Women's Association (UWA) sponsors various events throughout the year. One such event is the Women's Fashion Show, which features fashions for the fall season. The show is held in the University Center and includes a variety of clothing options.

Union Gives Music Lovers Special Room

The main room in the Iowa Memorial Union on the plaza looks like a noisy car factory. But it is a chamber filled with the music of classical records.

The Music Room of the Union is perhaps the only place on campus where students can escape the noise of the city and enjoy some quiet moments.

This room is the home of the music collection of the union. The room is available for students to use and enjoy classical music for relaxation.

Two Gilbert and Sullivan operas have been added to and now comprise a weekly show of songs and tunes.

More than 300 records are available along with the regular favorites, from 11 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. The selections change during the day and can anticipate what will be played.

It is a quiet spot where students can enjoy classical music for relaxation.

The Music Room in the Iowa Memorial Union is more than just a place to listen. It is a place where students can gather, socialize and enjoy the company of others who share a common interest in music.

Community Journalism Students Edit Weekly

Students in the community journalism course at the University of Iowa spend one week each month writing and publishing their weekly paper.

The students are responsible for writing the entire paper, from start to finish. The paper is printed on the university's own presses, and the students are responsible for all aspects of production, including editing, layout, design and printing.

The paper is distributed to the students' homes on the day of publication.

Record-Smashing Hawks Rack Up 19 Basketball Wins to Rank Seventh in Nation in 1951-52

Quintet Sets 17 New Marks

Bucky O'Connor's basketball team did' n't quite win the 1932 Big Ten title, but it had a record season in every sense of the word. It won 18 games, set 17 new records and finished 19-3. It was a team to be reckoned with. It was great to watch. It was fun to play against. It was a joy to coach.

Last year, Bucky was a member of the Illinois coaching staff. He was there to watch the game and to learn. He was there to absorb the knowledge of the game. He was there to enjoy the game. He was there to be a part of something special.

This year, Bucky is back, and he's ready to do it all again. He's ready to lead the Hawks to the top of the league. He's ready to lead the Hawks to the top of the nation. He's ready to lead the Hawks to the top of the world.

Lettermen’s Return Lifts Baseball Hopes
Hitters Needed
To Help Hurling

Situation at the University of Iowa baseball team was clarified when a record of 12 wins against 14 losses, but an unexpected surge against good conference opponents, and two strong signs of finally setting down.

Chief losses in 1952 were The Big Ten standings with a mediocre 5-8 mark, and Tom Hilgenberg, who led the Big Ten in batting .310, besides being a top pitcher. Whitey Diehl was also showing signs of being a top pitcher. Whitey Diehl was also showing signs of being a top pitcher.

For the past few years, Iowa City has had a strong baseball team with a .367 average for all games, two top pitchers, Whitey Diehl and Ed Lindsey, besides being a top hitter. The team has been making steady progress both in batting and pitching.

The big three letterwinners, Dick Engels, were graduated from the University of Iowa last June so another year of competition is expected.

The State University of Iowa’s baseball team finished third in 1952, finished third in the Big Ten, and had the top single man in the conference, but Tom Hilgenberg, who led the Big Ten in batting .310, besides being a top pitcher, and Dave Van Gelder won the first man, the State University of Iowa

All these men will be back Duty Duty Duty, old school

In the coming year, Coach Norman Turchen, Don Lewis and Frank Engels, will be able to expect to have a strong team. It is expected to be one of the top teams in the conference this year.

Iowa Swimming Teams Vie With Nation's Best

The little University of Iowa- Located - had one of the best swimmers in the nation in the late 1940s and early 1950s. In 1953, and although the swimming programs at Iowa are relatively new, the Iowa men and women swimmers are making a name for themselves in collegiate swimming.

In 1952, Iowa swimmers contained four members of the 1948 Olympic team, who were all stars when they were in high school. These swimmers, along with some of the more recent stars, have been responsible for the success of the Iowa swimming programs.

In 1963, Iowa swimmers were led by John Meehan, who won two gold medals at the Olympic Games. Meehan was a star for the University of Iowa, and his success in the pool was attributed to his dedication and hard work.

The Iowa swimming program has continued to be successful in recent years, with many of its swimmers going on to compete at the highest levels of the sport.

Grads in Journalism Find Jobs Plentiful, Can Take Their Pick

Many would-be journalists who received their degrees from journalism programs in the United States during the past few years have found the job market to be surprisingly good. Some recent graduates of major journalism schools report that it is difficult to get started in the business.

Although they hold bachelor's degrees in journalism, many are finding that the work is requiring more from them than they expected. The workers are being called upon to be more versatile, to think more creatively, and to have a better understanding of business and economics.

The job market for journalists has been helped by the fact that the industry is growing. The number of newspapers, magazines, and broadcast outlets is increasing, and the demand for trained journalists is growing. This has led to an increase in the number of jobs available for graduates of journalism programs.

Students who have obtained degrees in journalism can find employment in a variety of fields, including newspapers, magazines, radio, television, and public relations. Many journalism graduates find work in government, working for agencies such as the Department of Agriculture, the Department of Education, and the Federal Communications Commission.

The job outlook for journalism graduates is expected to remain strong in the coming years, as the industry continues to grow and as the demand for trained journalists continues to increase. The best opportunities will probably be found in major cities, where the competition is greatest and the wages are highest. However, there are many opportunities for graduates in smaller cities and towns as well.

Iowa Records Show 65,000 Degrees Given

Next month, a new freshman class will be coming to the University of Iowa, and when they do they will probably add another 3,000 to the total number of degrees awarded since the University was founded in 1858.

For, the University of Iowa has a long and celebrated tradition of producing graduates who will be leaders in the state and throughout the nation. The university's alumni network is one of the largest and strongest in the world, and the University of Iowa is proud to be a part of this tradition.

In the fall of 1638, President Thomas Jefferson established the University of Iowa, the first state university in the United States. Since then, the University has graduated thousands of students who have gone on to make significant contributions in a wide range of fields.

The University of Iowa is home to a diverse and vibrant community of students, faculty, and staff. The university offers a wide range of undergraduate and graduate programs, and is committed to providing a high quality education to all of its students.

In addition to its academic programs, the University of Iowa is also known for its exceptional research and creative programs. The university has produced numerous Nobel laureates, and is consistently ranked among the top universities in the world.

The University of Iowa is proud of its history and traditions, and is committed to continuing to serve its students, faculty, and staff in the years to come. We look forward to seeing the next generation of leaders emerge from our ranks.

LOREN DICKERSON, Director of the SUI Alumni Association, wrote: "Many students at the University of Iowa find that their college friends are their closest friends. The university is a place where people come from all over the world and share their experiences, ideas, and goals. Our Alumni Association is here to support our alumni and help them stay connected to the University and their fellow alumni."
Counseling, Other Services Provided Students at SUI

The University of Iowa has one agency which has as its purpose the looking out for the welfare of students. The agency is the office of student personnel services, which was established on March 18, 1932, when the office of student personnel offices was divided into two parts, both of which were integrated into a single office.

Prior to that beginning, the effort took over the work of the previous offices, and has continued to serve as a central counseling agency for all students and a central clearinghouse for information and activities in all areas of student affairs.

SUI Campus Acclaims New Humor Magazine

In the decade that followed the conclusion of World War II, the campus greatly increased in size. The campus was a village of a people. It was a city of a people. The campus, as a town, is a city of a people. The campus, as a university, is a city of a people. The campus, as a community, is a city of a people.

This feeling of the people who worked at Iowa's campus was reflected in the popular humor magazine "Frivol."" Frivol was the first campus humor magazine to be published on the campus of Iowa University. In its first year, "Frivil" sold 200 copies per week, and it was soon recognized as the number one campus humor magazine.

Highlanders 'Take the High Road' to Learn About Piping Firsthand

All-Girl Band Visits Scotland

By COL. ROBERT ADAMS

When the Iowa State University's Scottish Highlanders come to play in England, France, Wales, and of course, Scotland, their games will have a truly Scottish air.

For their long-planned trip to Scotland, Iowa's Scottish Highlanders have had a chance to talk to leading pipers back in their homeland. Their expenses have been paid for by a group of Scottish businessmen in Des Moines, who have had a chance to talk to the band's leaders about their plans.

The band, which has had a chance to talk to the band's leaders about their plans, will be back in 1939 for a world-renowned band but difficult times are ahead. Their带回es have had a chance to talk to the band's leaders about their plans.

Another tour planned for the Scottish band, but difficulties are expected. The group expects to arrive in Aberdeen May 30.

The band gave up hopes of playing in the South during the next four years. Their带回es have had a chance to talk to the band's leaders about their plans. Their带回es have had a chance to talk to the band's leaders about their plans.

Although only about one-fourth of the girls march or perform, and not all will return to their homes in Iowa later in the year, it is expected that the band will be back in 1943.

Foremost in all students who will be attending the university are the band's leaders, who have been travelling in the U.S. and Canada.

Boyle's Column Tells How Interest Of Students In Religion Is Growing

Editors' note: Bill Boyle, noted for the commentaries he has written for the Iowa City Press-Citizen, recently wrote this interesting piece expressing his views on the current issue of religion in colleges.

Boyle states that religion has become a controversial issue in higher education. He believes that this is a natural development and that it is important for students to be exposed to different religious beliefs.

Boyle suggests that religious instruction should be an accepted part of the college curriculum. He feels that this is important for students to understand the different beliefs and practices of various religions.

Sharing Household Tasks Cuts Expenses of Going to College

Estimation is published on the third floor of the Wilson building by 80 women, who live in the building. Work is divided into three categories: daily, weekly, and monthly. The number of women who work in each category is as follows:

- Daily: 40 women
- Weekly: 20 women
- Monthly: 20 women

The reason for all of this work is to save money, and to encourage the women to live in the Wilson building. The money saved is used to pay for the costs of living, such as rent, utilities, and food.

Fraternities, Sororities Play Big Role In College Life

Rush Week Will Begin
Sept. 14 on SUI Campus

Fraternities—

Rush week for male freshmen will start Sept. 9 and will include official planned fraternity activities.

For students planning to join fraternities, there will be full lineups of activities and programs.

All fraternities will have open houses that evening. At 8 p.m., those interested are expected to arrive.

A University ballroom, Gleen Miller Hall, will be closed to the public, and an open house will be held.

The event will be sponsored by the Intersorority Council, which plans other activities.

Sororities—

Something new in the way of looking for a college will be offered this fall to all new students.

A new routine tour of the sorority houses will be conducted on Sept. 9. This will give an inside look at the various sororities located on campus.

The sororities will be visited on Sept. 9 for the first time in years. The tour will be conducted by a group of sorority staff members.

The Intersorority Council is responsible for the organization of all official activities on the campus.

There are regular problems and meetings scheduled for each of the eight sororities.

These meetings are attended by the students, the chapter advisors, and the directors of the sororities.

There are also meetings of the Intersorority Council, which is the advisory organization of all these organizations.

The council meets each week to discuss problems and to plan activities for the sororities.

A new feature of the council is the President's Reception, which is open to all students.

The reception is held each week and is sponsored by the sororities.

The Intersorority Council is also responsible for the publication of the Intersorority Council Yearbook, which is the official publication of the sororities on campus.

Students Work In Many Fields

Opportunities for international travel and learning at one of the nation's great law schools have been more than plentiful at the law school during the last year. The program has been excellent in many ways, and the program's success has been due in large part to the support of the many groups and individuals associated with the law school.

We believe the Bible is the inspired Word of God.

The Bible teaches,
1. "All have sinned and come short of the glory of God:"
   Romans 3:23
2. "To trust the text again."
   John 5:7

Many students who have to study the Word of God together, and that it is formed in truth, have no one with whom they need to talk and who cares.

Work Done in Fine Arts Field Contributes to SUI's Reputation

In the United States, the number of universities and colleges that offer programs in fine arts is increasing. This is due in part to the growing recognition of the importance of the arts in society. The arts are seen as a way to promote creativity, enhance cultural understanding, and improve the quality of life for all people. As a result, more and more institutions are investing in the arts, both in terms of funding and infrastructure.

In Iowa, the University of Iowa is a leader in the field of fine arts education. The university offers a wide range of programs, including degrees in music, theater, and visual arts. The university's fine arts programs are well-respected both nationally and internationally, and they attract students from all over the world.

One of the ways that the University of Iowa contributes to the fine arts field is through its annual festival, which features performances by some of the most talented artists and scholars in the country. The festival is open to both the campus and the general public, and it provides an opportunity for people to experience the arts in all their forms.

The festival is also an important source of funding for the arts, as it attracts audiences from all over the country. The festival's success is due in part to the strong support of the university's administration, which is committed to the arts as a vital part of the university's mission.

In addition to the annual festival, the University of Iowa also offers a wide range of courses and programs that are designed to promote the arts. These programs are offered at all levels, from undergraduate to graduate, and they are open to both on-campus and off-campus students.

Overall, the University of Iowa is a leader in the field of fine arts education, and it is making a significant contribution to the arts in the United States. The university's commitment to the arts is a source of pride for its students, faculty, and staff, and it is a testament to the importance of the arts in our society.

The Iowa Memorial Union is the center of student activities at the University of Iowa. And new students at UI will be given an introduction to the Union, its services to students, in a special fall newsletter in late September or early October.

The center of things Union - the Union itself - has been built three times since 1916. Now, after much planning and construction, the new Union is finally open for business. It is a place where students can find information on a variety of topics, including trade and industry, agriculture, and health and medicine.

Update! Free phonograph record rentals to students. The Union is one of the first places visited by new students who are encouraged to register for the first stop for Stu - Woodburn's. Whether it's a new radio, phonograph or television, you can find it at Woodburn's.

Placement Service Aids Graduates to Find Jobs

The State University of Iowa business and industrial placement office, University hall, seeks to place graduates in positions related to their training and interests, accordingly, the State University of Iowa utilizes a placement service to help place and screen its registered students for employment. The service is designed to meet the needs of both the student and the employer.

A small fee is charged to the student for placement help. This service is available at the placement office. The fee is $5 for non-members of the club and $2 for members of the club.

When a company visits the placement office, a student is given the opportunity to meet the company representatives and discuss job possibilities with them. The student is also given the opportunity to visit the place of employment to see if he or she is interested in working for the company.

Interlandi's Cartoons Become

One of Iowa's Top Features

By GEOE HAPPSNIDER

For a guy whose cartoons have created a mild sensation in the student journalism world, Frank Interlandi is a reclusive person. In fact, Frank Interlandi's true identity is still under wraps, with only his name on the masthead of the student newspaper, "The Daily Iowan." His cartoons, however, are anything but private. They are a unique blend of humor and satire, often tackling controversial issues on campus.

Frank Interlandi was born in Iowa City, and grew up on the campus of the University of Iowa. He was a member of the class of 1953 and spent four years as an undergraduate at the university. During this time, he became known for his political cartoons, which often featured the university's administration and its policies.

Interlandi's cartoons first appeared in "The Daily Iowan" in 1950, and since then, his work has been a staple of the student newspaper. His cartoons are known for their sharp wit and clever humor, often lampooning the university's administration and its various policies.

In addition to his work for "The Daily Iowan," Interlandi also contributed to the university's literary magazine, "The Midwest," and his cartoons were featured in several other student publications.

Interlandi's cartoons are not just appreciated by students, but also by faculty and administrators. In fact, Interlandi's cartoons are so well-known that they are often used as a reference point for discussions on campus.

Interlandi's cartoons have been so successful that they have gained him a special place in the history of the university. In fact, Interlandi's cartoons are now part of a permanent exhibit at the university's campus center, "The Daily Iowan," where they can be viewed by anyone who visits the campus.

Interlandi's cartoons have also gained him a special place in the history of the university. In fact, Interlandi's cartoons are now part of a permanent exhibit at the university's campus center, "The Daily Iowan," where they can be viewed by anyone who visits the campus.

Iowa City Gains $10 Million VA Hospital

Iowa City gained a $10 million hospital this year with the formal dedication March 1 of a new campus of the VA Veterans Administration Hospital.

The hospital, under direction of Dr. Lehel S. Stolwell, is located on 36 acres of land, in the northeast section of the city, on the site of the former State University of Iowa Hospital. The hospital, which offers specialty services to the VA, will be the home of the VA's research program. The hospital will have a staff of more than 100.

The hospital and its facilities will be available to all patients in the area, including non-Veterans and those from other countries. The hospital will also provide training for medical professionals and educators.

World Famous Speakers Come to SUI Campus

One of the most active groups on campus is the State University of Iowa chapter of the United World Federalists. "We are a group of students who are involved in a variety of activities, including lectures, debates, and other events," said a member of the group. "We have a variety of speakers come to our campus throughout the year, and I think it's great to have them here."

The object of the UWF is to give the US government the power to control and prevent Communist aggression. "The UWF is an important figure in the world of politics to top personalities as actors Basil Rathbone and Hal March," said Mr. Coburn. "It is an important figure in the world of politics, and I think it's great to have them here."

Student Chapel Is Being Built

New students at The State University of Iowa will have a chapel on campus. The new chapel will be under the direction of the Danish Church.

Gifts of $5,000 each have been received from the Danish-Church Foundation and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Dalsgaard of St. Louis, Mo.

Other accumulated funds from SUI gifts are helping to make the new chapel a reality.

The chapel is a reproduction of the St. John's Metropolitan Episcopal Church in Graham Township, Aurora county, and is being built to the original design of the church. The building will be completed in 1950 by the SUI students.

The money was the only student cash to receive a special mention. With the exception of this group, most undergraduate students who have pictures in organizations, such as Newcomen, Glee clubs, and choral groups.

St. John's Metropolitan Episcopal Church was pictured in the volume which was produced in 1940, and is one of the most important buildings in the city since its completion.

The church is 187 feet long by 26 feet wide, with a central dome and narrow, four-story, rectangular, and ornate.

The Hawkeye Book Store wishes to welcome you to The State University of Iowa, and to offer you the facilities of our new medical and dental supply departments. We carry a complete line of all required medical and dental books, plus a full selection of medical and dental instruments.

Although the State University of Iowa is primarily composed of students with development of the mind in mind, it is also well protected by the presence of 21 churches.

The churches provide material and spiritual sustenance to the students. They offer the students religious worship and fellowship, and a strong spiritual foundation upon which to build a better life.

The Unitarian Church is located at 327 S. Clinton, The Rev. E. H. Melberg, the Rt. Rev. H. Melberg, serves the church.
