LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

TO THE EDITOR:

I am writing to express my concern about the state of education in our country. As a parent of young children, I have noticed a decrease in the quality of education in our schools. The curriculum seems to be focused more on standardized testing rather than fostering critical thinking and creativity. I urge the administration to consider implementing reforms that prioritize a well-rounded education for all students.

Sincerely,

TO THE EDITOR:

I have received several compliments from my students about the importance of including diverse perspectives in our curriculum. As a teacher, I am committed to ensuring that our students are exposed to a wide range of viewpoints. I recently incorporated a lesson on the history of the civil rights movement, highlighting the contributions of figures like Martin Luther King Jr. I believe that teaching about diversity and inclusion is crucial for fostering a more equitable society.

Although Lake Champlain is a major body of water, its shoreline is being affected by development. As a lake advocate, I am concerned about the impact of new construction on the lake's ecosystem. I urge developers to consider the long-term effects of their projects and work with environmental groups to ensure a sustainable future for Lake Champlain.

Loan System Makes Home Buying Easier

WASHINGTON (AP) — The average American family now borrows a lot more to buy a house than it did 10 years ago, a survey shows. The averge income of families has risen by 15 percent in the last 10 years, but the average amount of mortgage bonds sold in the last 10 years is $2,872.

There is no way of telling how many millions of families have borrowed to buy a house, but the figures compiled by the Federal Reserve show that the average mortgage debt for home buyers has risen from about $1,000 in 1950 to about $2,872 in 1960.

The figures also show that the aver­ gage family now pays about $1,000
more per year in mortgage interest, plus payment for a house in the last 10 years.

In 1950, the average mortgage owed by a family was $1,000. In

Rescuers' Search Yields More Bodies

LONDON, Feb. 14 - British searchers found another 19 bodies early today in the waters off the Spanish coast where a ferry sank with 150 passengers aboard. The death toll rose to 99.

The British government said the search for survivors would continue until the rescue work was completed.

The ferry, the British-built SS Virginian, sank in the English Channel off the coast of Spain early Monday, killing 99 of the 150 passengers aboard.

Among the dead were 11 British citizens, including several children. The remaining victims were Spaniards.

The ferry, carrying mostly Spanish passengers, sank in the stormy seas after leaving the Spanish port of Santander. The search was still under way for 34 passengers who were missing.

The ship had left Santander on Tuesday morning, carrying about 150 passengers, 125 of whom were Spanish citizens.
