Court Blocks School-Lease Plan

Rules Board Must Keep Status Quo

Order Retroactive To September 25

OMAHA (AP) — Two federal circuit judges ordered the Little Rock Board of Education Monday to retain control of the city high schools and to maintain their integrated status.

Judges Harvey M. Johnson and Joseph W. Woodrugh issued an order restraining the board, its agents and employees from taking further action to transfer possession, control or operation, directly or indirectly, of the Little Rock schools.

The order forbade altering the "status quo of the senior high schools insofar as their integrated status is concerned."

Transferred Monday

The Little Rock School Board Monday morning transferred the schools to a private corporation which intends to operate them on a segregated basis starting today.

During the hearing in Omaha Monday, Justice Department Attorney Donald Mac Guiness said the Little Rock school lease had been executed in haste to complete action before the hearing.

The court order was made effective Sept. 25, apparently to nullify any legal advantage sought by the quick transfer.

Judge Johnson said "An attempt is being made to reopen Central High School in Little Rock as a private school but in reality one that is segregated, to be available to all previous students except Negroes." This, he said, is "not in harmony with the court of appeals plan" for carrying out integration at Little Rock.

Earlier Monday, The Supreme Court told resisting Southerners and all others that "evasive schemes for segregation" cannot nullify orders of the court.

Chief Justice Earl Warren read the 17-page opinion word for word in a quiet proceeding.

"No State Shall Deny"

Warren didn't name Faubus or any other state official, and he didn't define what was meant by evasive tactics. But the opinion did assert:

"The constitutional rights of children not to be discriminated against in school admission on grounds of race or color . . . can neither be nullified openly and directly by state legislatures or state executive or judicial officers, nor nullified indirectly by them through evasive schemes for segregation whether attempted ingenuously or ingenuously . . ."

"State support of segregated schools through any arrangement, management, funds, or property cannot be equated with the 14th Amendment's command that no state shall deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

The Little Rock school closings affected an estimated 3,460 pupils. Wholesale closing of schools in Norfolk idled 10,000 pupils of six junior and senior high schools Monday in Virginia's resistance to school integration. An additional 2,700 pupils are affected in school closings in Charlottesville and Warren County.

De Gaulle Wins Vote Of Approval

PARIS (AP) — The power of Premier de Gaulle was bolstered Monday by the greatest vote of approval since Frenchmen succumbed to the charm of Napoleon III a century ago.

De Gaulle's overwhelming 4-1 victory margin for his constitution for the Fifth Republic sent the Paris stock market up. Police relaxed after the pre-referendum battles with Algerian terrorists. Average Frenchmen breathed sighs of relief.

But this giant victory for De Gaulle, in which French Communists suffered a crushing blow — and the tremendous powers voted into his hands for the next four months—weighed heavily on some French minds.

The changeable quality of the French themselves caused concern. A French newspaper noted that elections to a new National Assembly must now take place.

Anderson Records Violent Solar Storm

Data Gathered On Explosion On The Sun

Intense Activity Faded Earth Radio Waves

A 10-hour recording of the effects of a violent explosion on the sun was made recently by Kinsey Anderson, SUI physicist. The recording of the solar storm is the longest ever made so near the earth's surface, Anderson reported, and will probably be the last recording of the phenomenon before the next peak of intense solar activity in 1970.

The storm was so great, he said, that the "unusual effects and the extent of the violence" were received by instruments he attached to a Skyhook balloon which drifted about 20 miles above the surface of the earth at Fort Churchill, Canada. Anderson has returned to SUI and is now analyzing the data.

Occurred In August

The solar disturbance occurred on Aug. 22 and 23. Shortly after the outburst, there was a fade-out of long distance radio waves on earth.

Anderson said the scientific data he received during the solar storm identified the radiation as being predominantly protons and possibly a few other heavy nuclei. Protons are positive-charged hydrogen atom nuclei stripped of their electrons and accelerated to extremely high speeds, approaching that of the speed of light.

It is not now known where these particles originate. "We are not convinced these protons come directly from the sun, even though they are associated with solar disturbances," the SUI physicist said. They may originate from some other source, he said, and only be speeded earthward by forces from the earth itself activated by the intense energy outpouring from the sun during a solar storm.

Other Phenomena Noted

While Anderson's instruments recorded the sun flare, high-frequency radio telescopes at Fort Churchill received radio waves coming from the sun. The sun and other stars continuously send radio waves, Anderson said, and the sun's radio waves are intensified greatly during a disturbance.

There was a fade-out of long distance, man-made radio waves, he said, due to a tremendous increase of "soft" X-rays and ultraviolet rays—which the earth receives every day—are believed to create the electrified layers of the upper atmosphere, from which man-made radio waves are bounded so they can reach the other side of the earth. It is when our radio waves are absorbed by these layers, rather than bounced, that our radio fade-outs occur, Anderson said.

Effects Felt On Earth

Anderson's instruments stopped sending data after ten hours aloft. A second launching showed the radiation still present some hours later, he said. He believed the effects were felt on earth for about 18 hours.

The instruments which recorded the solar activity and telemetered the information back to earth were constructed in the SUI physics laboratories where Explorer satellite instruments also were built. Anderson and his assistants launched 12 of the 75-foot in diameter balloons from Aug. 10 to Sept. 15 at Fort Churchill, Canada. The launching site, on Hudson Bay, is an International Geophysical Year base in the middle of the Northern Lights Belt.

AUTO PRODUCTION UP

DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry increased production of 1959 model cars last week despite numerous work stoppages.

The week's assemblies numbered 53,333 cars compared with 37,150 in the same 1957 week. So far this year U.S. factories have built 2,870,005 cars. In the same 1957 period 4,675,986 cars were built.

Up-Up-And Away!

PLENTY OF THRILLS and cheers accompanied Saturday's football game between the Hawkeyes and TCU but the fans in the northwest section of the stands got a special treat during halftime ceremonies. The cheerleaders, clowns and tumblers put on an impromptu act by piling up and lining up for the tumblers to bounce over. The act continued as the second half began but they had too much competition from Bob Jeter, Hawkeye halfback, on his scamper into the end zone and the gymnasts lost their audience.

Only Hit Mainland As Last Resort

Chiang Softens 'Attack' Talk

TAIPEI (AP) — President Chiang Kai-shek's pledge to strike back at Red China only as a last, dire resort appears to be a bow to public opinion in the United States.

The 71-year-old Nationalist Chinese leader told a rare news conference Monday he would send his bombers against the mainland only if that is necessary to save the soldiers and civilians on Quemoy.

"There will also be no call for American ground forces," he said. "All we expect from our American friends is material and moral support and such naval and air support as they are giving us today."

The President's remarks at his first full news conference since early in 1955 were taken as a major statement of policy against any action that might deepen the Formosa crisis.

His words reflected concern over reports that there is a strong current of public opinion in the United States against Washington's present firm stand on the Quemoy issue. He said himself some of his remarks were directed at the U.S. public.

Even as Chiang spoke, Communist guns that have pounded and partly blockaded Quemoy for 38 days began thundering again. By nightfall, Red artillery had rained more than 5,000 shells on Quemoy and supporting islands, defense officials estimated.

Chiang, wearing the old-style Chinese military tunic without insignia, was quick to make clear any of his news conference remarks were directed to the American public.

"I can right here and now assure the American people through you," he said, "that our armed forces are quite capable of repeating their victory in 1949, when the Communists tried to invade Quemoy."

Chiang then anticipated one question many newsmen intended to ask, saying: "It has been held abroad that the Chinese government has been using Quemoy and Matsu as bases for a projected counterattack against the mainland. Nothing is further from the truth.

"No one believes we could be so foolish as to try a frontal attack there. The usefulness of Quemoy and Matsu is purely that of a shield for the security of Formosa, the Pescadores, the Western Pacific and free nations of Southeast Asia.

"The basis of our projected counterattack is not Quemoy and Matsu, but the loyalty and love of country of the people on the mainland. Please point that out to your readers."

He spoke of American apprehension that the United States is running the risk of spreading the Quemoy fighting by backing the Nationalists.

"The strong defense has had the purpose of forestalling Communist aggression and kept it from extending deeper into the Formosa Strait," he said. "The best policy is to stand firm because the Communists cannot continue indefinitely."

Police Force Suspended; Citizens To Make Arrests

AURORA, Ill. (AP) — Mayor Paul Egan Monday night suspended this city's entire 68-man police force, proclaimed a state of emergency and called on the citizenry to make arrests when laws are violated.

The controversial mayor, bristling with anger over the refusal of Police Chief Donald Curran to obey Egan's order firing him, said in a statement:

"Because the men of the Police Department are in open, defiant insubordination, Aurora is in a state of emergency."

Curran Sunday issued an order to his men saying none of Egan's orders should be obeyed unless the city council or Curran approved.

"This mutinous action of revolutionary individuals," Egan's statement continued, "makes it imperative I act and suspend all members of the police force."

Egan then called on the citizens of this northern Illinois city of more than 50,000 "to make complaints and swear out warrants for any violation of the law."

The controversy between Egan and Curran stems from an Egan edict several weeks ago ordering police to clamp down on all forms of gambling.

The mayor later ordered the arrest of a grocery store manager whose firm promoted a television program using a bingo format.

Then Egan ordered two officers of the Aurora Beacon - News brought in for questioning about publication of the show's advertisements.

Curran refused and then issued his own orders to the police saying Egan was not to be obeyed unless he or the city council approved.

Halts Plan To Open Schools In Little Rock

Blossom Says Board To Comply With Ruling

By RELMAN MORIN

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) Supt. Virgil Blossom said Monday night attorneys advised the Little Rock School Board to comply with court orders to halt plans to open schools on a private segregated basis. Blossom said the board would comply with the order.

The superintendent said that "is all I can say."

From this terse announcement it appeared that the plan to open Little Rock's four high schools as segregated private schools has been postponed.

The superintendent told reporters he would make a brief statement and answer no questions.

Complete confusion still marked the Little Rock situation. No one would say definitely whether the four Little Rock schools would open today as announced.

"I have made my statement," Blossom said and refused to answer the myriad of questions that followed.

Warning To Teachers

Earlier, attorneys for teachers in Little Rock high schools said they had advised them not to "participate in the operation of the Little Rock high schools by any private corporation."

The action came while school officials and officers of the private corporation that leased the schools Monday were conferring over the next step in the legally-tangled situation.

Two federal circuit judges, in Omaha, issued a restraining order Monday which forbade altering the "status quo of the senior high schools insofar as their integrated status is concerned."

Federal marshals in Little Rock immediately began serving copies of the notice on several hundred people — all those directly and indirectly involved in the transfer of the school properties to the private corporation.

Don't Participate

Hours later, Bruce T. Bullion and Eugene R. Warren, attorneys for the Classroom Teachers Association, issued a statement, concluding:

"We are . . . advising all teaching personnel in the high schools in Little Rock to commit no act in violation of this restraining order, and not to participate in the operation of the Little Rock high schools by any corporation until this restraining order has been dissolved or modified."

Dr. T. J. Rancy, president of the private school corporation, said the corporation has no funds of its own to operate the schools. If enjoined from using state funds, he said, the corporation would have no means of financing the operation.

He said it has no plans for leasing other buildings — churches, empty office buildings, etc. — in case the court denied the use of the high schools.

"In other words, you are staking everything on the private school plan, as it now stands," a reporter said.

"That is correct," Rancy replied.

Two Try Escape From Alcatraz

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two Alcatraz prisoners bound and gagged a guard in an attempt to escape from the grim prison in San Francisco Bay Monday and by nightfall only one had been recaptured.

An all-night search was underway for the prisoner still at large.

Recaptured within two hours after the 3:15 p. m. escape was Clyde M. Johnson, 38. He was found cowering on the rugged shoreline after he and another inmate attacked guard Harold Miller and threatened him with a knife. The other was Aaron Walter Burgette, 26.

It was deemed unlikely that Burgette could safely get off the island and swim the cold, swift currents to San Francisco 1 1/2 miles away. Relatively few have tried. Insofar as is known, none succeeded.

Post-Game Comments

WE WONDER:

Why the Highlanders didn't do something exciting Saturday for their first game of the season, and their first appearance of the year.

WE EXPECT:

The paid cheering section to be a little more noticeable next Saturday when the Hawkeyes meet the Falcons from the Air Force Academy.

Why the real traffic problem following the game involved pedestrians rather than autos. Gads had bottlenecks as masses of humanity attempted to vacate the stadium grounds.

WE APPLAUD:

The precision and sometimes spectacular marching of the SUI band. A bit more volume would have been appreciated on their musical selections but all slight inadequacies more than made up for by the imaginative parody on the parking situation.

Why the concessionaires haven't devised an easy way to get hot dogs and frosted malts to people in the middle of a row.

The lack of booing the fans exhibited. Only one or two small outbursts and this must be a record for an Iowa City crowd.

Why no dog ran onto the field and interfered with a key play, or at least necessitated a halt in the proceedings until he could be coaxed to the sidelines and caught and confined like the rest of us.

The optimism of one TCU fan after the game: "Wal, ouah boys wun't worried abah't this game heah. Weah worried abah't ah own confrunrence. Laest weah whupped Ohiah Staet an lost ah own confrunrence titul, so this yeah weah lost to Ahowah and weah goin to win the Saouthwest titul."

Why we applauded and encouraged the beautiful fall day until we began sweltering in our wool outfits and squinting our eyes against the top eager glare of a bright sun.

And last but certainly not least, the victorious brand of football played by the 1958 edition of Coach Forest Evashevski's Hawkeye football team. With limited reserves in the line, the Hawkeye mentor was forced to substitute sparingly, but the line stood up well, almost without exception.

WE KNOW:

The answer to a question which seemingly mystifies people around this time of the year—why can't the cheerleaders get anyone to follow their admonitions to give the rah! rah! yell.

It was a perfect afternoon for a football game, the crowd was in a happy mood, the team capped the event with a hard-fought win, and Go Hawks! We'll see you at the game.

Who Do 'They' Represent

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles made more than a slight faux pas this week end. He started a newsconference with the best of intentions, telling newsmen and thus the people that many letters have been received protesting the U.S. policy in the Far East.

exercised through a system of delegated authority periodically renewed. SUI political science instructors the past few years have been telling students of the growing tendency for the people of the United States to refer to the Government as "they" and the people as "we."

He went on to say these letters carried very little weight in determining U.S. foreign policy.

Well, maybe "we" don't really have too much to say about what foreign policies "they" form. And maybe we should not be surprised if "they" don't consider "our" letters in forming "their" policies.

We would like to call Mr. Dulles' attention to an old English word which we believe is not yet obsolete. It is commonly spelled d-e-m-o-c-r-a-c-y.

And then, maybe Mr. Dulles needs to take the guided tour around Washington, D. C., like many Americans do; and maybe he should take a look at the Washington monument; and maybe he should take a look at the statue of Lincoln; and maybe he should read the inscription.

Also, in case Mr. Dulles has a short memory or is more concerned with his important job we would like to remind him of the definition of the word—still appearing in Mr. Webster's well-known book:

It might help do away with "they" and "we"—it might even help solve the Far East problem.

IN THE CHIPS, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson helped himself to some potato chips Monday to publicize a worthy cause—National Potato Chip Week.

Potato Chip Publicity

By ARTHUR EDSON AP Newsfeature Writer

WASHINGTON — Ezra Taft Benson Monday found himself in the chips — potato chips, that is — as he prepared to lead this snack-loving nation into a celebration of National Potato Chip Week.

In honor of this momentous occasion, which starts Oct. 1, Benson was presented with an enormous bag of chips by a couple of 4-H club members Bonnie Lewis and Melvin Glover Jr., of Montgomery County, Md.

The bag, over six feet tall, contained 71,600 chips, or so the potato chips' press agents claimed.

While cameramen busily snapped, Benson dutifully stuffed. "A great big mouthful, Mr. Secretary," said a photographer.

Benson took a great big mouthful. "The most photographed mouth in America," Benson said.

When last seen in one of these stunts, Benson most photographed mouth was wrapped around one end of a 4-foot hot dog, honoring National Hot Dog Month.

"These fellows who aren't working," Benson said, "ought at least to be eating some."

So, nibbling away on our chips, let's report: That potato chips have become big business. Americans will spend around $500 million this year for 300 billion chips.

That if you're the average potato chip muncher, you'll eat four pounds of potato chips, a sensational increase from 1.9 pounds in 1948.

That it takes four pounds of potatoes for one pound of chips.

That in this reduction much of the starch is wiped out, causing chippers to insist that their product isn't nearly as fattening as many fear it is.

That chips now are for sale the world over.

That in England when you say "chips" you get French fries, and if you really want chips, you say "crisps."

That the potato chip capital of the world appears to be Detroit, where the hungry natives do away with, on the average, six pounds of chips each year.

That the potato chip allegedly was invented in Saratoga Springs, N.Y., by an Indian guide and chef at Moon's Place. An irate customer squawked because the French fries were too thick, so Frank Crum sliced them razor thin.

And who was the surly chap who complained and thereby caused the potato chip to be invented? Alas, even the eager press agents have been unable to track him down, and no one knows mankind's great, though cranky, benefactor.

Will It Pay Off? —

The Sahara Oil Venture

HASSI MESSAOUT, Algeria — A daring oil venture into the heart of the sun-scorched Sahara has given France new hope of becoming independent of the turbulent Middle East, her present major fuel supplier.

Two years ago, a dilapidated, sand-covered water well drilled by 19th century French explorers marked this spot, some 60 miles south of the oasis of Ouargla in the eastern Sahara.

Today, 11 completed oil wells ring an area of about 120 square miles. Ten humming derricks tower over the sand and the flame of burning gas from the producing wells blazes against the cloudless sky.

In air-conditioned huts, 3,000 men live, and work to realize France's dream of becoming an oil empire.

Foreign oil experts are wondering, however, whether economic factors have not been overshadowed by French optimism, national pride and political considerations.

So far, the French have shrugged off any cautious appraisal of the Sahara oil possibilities and its exploitation. They have disregarded the explosive political situation in the rebellion-torn country. Money continues to pour into the desert oil installations at a cost 10 times more than a comparable field in the United States.

"All investments will be returned by 1963," claim young French engineers.

The problem of the high cost has been written off by a simple and optimistic phrase, "It will all pay off."

Sputnik Britain's Beep-Beeper Travels Underwater

By ALTON BLAKESLEE AP Science Writer

WORMLEY, England (AP) — Britain has a Sputnik that goes to sea.

It beeps along under water, discovering secrets of ocean depths, while earth satellites are wheeling around tasting mysteries of outer space.

This sea-going Sputnik is a special radio — equipped tube which can be rigged to float at any depth you want. There it will be carried along by any hidden currents.

Current Calculator It broadcasts signals so a tracking ship can follow it and learn the 'orbit' of the vitally important deep-sea currents.

These floats have already discovered a powerful, fast current flowing south under the Gulf Stream. And they helped track another countercurrent — carrying a billion cubic feet of water a second — flowing under the equatorial current.

The floats may look tame beside earth satellites but they will probably do mankind as much good, says Dr. George E. R. Deacon, director of the National Institute of Oceanography located here in the gentle green hills of Surrey, south of London.

Profound Effects Deep-sea currents affect surface waters much like the high atmosphere and jet stream affect the air and weather over your head, he explains. The deep and surface currents, and waves too, profoundly affect climate, storms, fish life, harbors, erosion of beaches and coast.

But little has been known about the deep currents. It's been difficult to track them.

You don't worry about recovering the sea-going Sputnik, Dr. Deacon adds. Each one costs only about $40. When its radio dies, it just keeps floating along silently.

Letter To The Editor—

Raps Speed Law Editorial

TO THE EDITOR: It is most unfortunate that in your editorial of Sept. 25, "Iowa Speed Limit Not Needed," space did not permit the inclusion of more of Mr. Sielski's survey, for it seems unlikely that anyone in his position would make such abominable use of statistical information. It is not our purpose here to advocate a speed limit but to point out shortcomings in your (or Mr. Sielski's "statistically backed" arguments.

Does Mr. Sielski take into account the number of vehicles driving in the ranges under 30 m.p.h., between 30 m.p.h. and 60 m.p.h., and over 60 m.p.h., when he compares the number of accidents and traffic fatalities in each division? Does he define explicitly what he means when he says that fatalities were "caused" by certain vehicles? Does he state on what basis the "average death rate" was computed — deaths per 1,000 accidents, deaths per estimated millions of miles driven, deaths per so many gallons of gasoline purchased in the state, etc.?

Does he take into account whether the speed laws in the mentioned states were well-enforced? Does he eliminate other factors such as road conditions, density of population, nature of traffic, etc.?

France The Prospect Of A Stabilized Government

By J. M. ROBERTS AP News Analyst

For the moment, Gen. Charles de Gaulle's new constitution holds out for France a prospect of governmental stabilization which she has not enjoyed for years.

For the future, much will depend on precedents which will now be established.

Eighty-eight years ago, after the reign of Napoleon III, France tried to make sure that she would never again fall under the power of one man. In that effort she established a Parliament which was never able to coordinate the powers of hundreds of men.

Since then her stature among the world's civilized nations has remained great, but her stature as a great power has diminished.

Now she is to have a president — presumably De Gaulle — with greater powers than any since that last emperor. He has drawn the constitution, and will himself have wide power to interpret it. The voters have said that they trust him to do so properly, in the light of their known love of liberty and with care for the preservation of democracy.

But this is a personal trust, granted without foreknowledge of the stresses which are to come. It cannot foresee the type of national emergency which would make the Thietje, store keeper; and Robert E. Froeschle, tournament. Other officers of the Club are: John E. McAdam, director of University High School and professor in the College of Education, secretary; and J. Harvey Croy, recorder in the Registrar's Office, treasurer.

The annual fall business meeting of the Triangle Club will be held Tuesday evening, Oct. 7, at 7:30 in the Club Rooms. The first picnic supper will be held the following week, Tuesday, Oct. 14, at 6:30 p.m.

The Triangle Club will have an open house for new members of the University faculty during the month of October and will also plan a series of dances during the year.

Informal Rushing Begins October 1

Informal rushing activities for sororities is scheduled for the entire month of October, according to Miss Helen Reich, assistant director of the Office of Student Affairs and Panhellenic advisor.

All girls who registered for formal rushing in the fall are eligible without signing up again, but new girls who are not registered must register with the Office of Student Affairs one week before they can be pledged informally.

During the month of informal rushing activity, there is no organized party schedule. Rather, the program consists of personal contact between the girls and the various sorority groups. The actual pledging of a girl can take place any time during the informal period.

Contact with the rushees during this month is usually made through dinner dates and informal gatherings in the houses.

The Panhellenic Council will meet Wednesday to determine more complete plans for informal rush week.

Diets Aren't So Bad; Just Eat Less

There probably has been more talk about diets in the last year than any other single topic of conversation! Many articles have been written on how to live longer and healthier through the consumption of the proper foods in the proper amounts.

The gloomy philosophy that says, "If you like it, it's fattening" has no scientific basis. Actually, all the calories that the body uses up are non-fattening. The only calorie that might be considered as fattening are those which the body doesn't need.

Now a word about reducing diets that call for 1,400 calories or less a day. Since a diet that is too drastic subjects the body to tremendous stress.

If you want to lose a few pounds, take a tip from leading nutritionists who suggest that you simply turn your regular diet into a reducing diet by eating the same foods as you normally do, but just cut down on all portions.

This might come as a surprise, but sugar — only 18 calories to a level teaspoon — helps to cut down and curb an oversized appetite quicker than any other food.

And here's a happy thought. There's need for normal people to deprive themselves of the satisfaction that is derived from using sugar — nature's own pure food sweetener.

A CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE by Clifford R. Nysewander, an Indiana Christian Science Teacher, will be given Thursday at 8 p.m. at the First Church of Christ in Iowa City.

Nysewander will deliver the lecture as part of his program on a nationwide speaking tour. The lecture is free and open to the public.

The All-American Look

The fashionable coed is concentrating this year on the semi-chemise and tunic look. Keeping with this style, is the salt and pepper tweed printed corduroy outfit on the left.

The chemise dress, string-bean thin, is covered by a tunic-length coat and completed by a little boy blouse with a big bow.

The double-breasted appearance of the coat gives the outfit a tailored look, but the removable jacket keeps it perfect for around-the-clock attire.

Stylish gals will purchase at least one outfit of this type this year to complete their college wardrobes.

SUI Alumnus Makes Visit

Judge Francis J. Healy, graduate of Iowa Law School in 1931, and member of the United States Air Force, visited the Iowa campus last week where he renewed acquaintance with old friends.

Recently Judge Healy was transferred from Japan to Wright Field, Dayton Ohio where he was Chief of Contract Review. His new assignment is Judge Advocate at the Air Material Force, Wheeler Air Force Base, Hawaii, where he has jurisdiction over Air Material Stations in Japan and the Philippine Islands.

Judge Healy is the second of his immediate graduating from the Iowa Law School to attain Judgeship. His paternal uncle, William Healy, Class of 1908, is Judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, 9th Judicial District, having been appointed in 1937.

They were entertained at a family reunion in the home of his aunt Mrs. B. G. Rohret, 608 S. Johnson St. last Sunday.

Following Judge Healy's visit with his parents in Cedar Rapids, he and his wife will sail from San Francisco, California for Hawaii.

SUI Coed Plans Summer Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Levey of Omaha, Neb. announce the engagement of their daughter, Evelyn, to Milton R. Gross, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Gross of Brooklyn, N. Y. Miss Levey attended SUI and is now attending the University of Omaha. Mr. Gross is a graduate of Columbia University and a member of Rho Chi, pharmaceutical honor society. He is now doing graduate study in pharmacy at SUI. A summer wedding is planned.

SMOKERS POPULAR

The Smoker is a college institution. Basically it is just an excuse for a bull session and an opportunity to get some free cigarettes. But college students enjoy them. The Smoker is a favorite around the dormitories. Residents of a section have a chance to get together to play records, watch movies and naturally have a snack.

Hawks Pass Test

Iowa's interior line took its first test Saturday afternoon against TCU and passed with flying colors when the Hawks won 17-0. The Hawkeye forwards limited the hard-charging Horned Frog backs to only 87 yards compared to the 351 they had gained the previous week against Kansas.

The Hawks played a vicious brand of football all day against highly ranked TCU. The tackling was exceptionally good with Gary Grouwinkel, Curt Merz, John Burroughs, Bill Lapham, Bob Jeter and John Nocera making several great stops.

It was the offense that sputtered, but came through often enough to give the Hawks the win. Three times in the first half Iowa penetrated past the TCU 35-yard line but were halted each time. The only serious threat of the first half was by the Frogs when they moved to the Iowa 19 before losing the ball on an interception by Randy Duncan and again just before the half when they reached the one-yard line and a 15-yard penalty forced a 23-yard field goal attempt by Jack Spikes that fell short.

The first two times the Hawks got the ball in the second half they scored—on a 42-yard dash by "Bouncing" Bob Jeter and a 6-yard pass from Duncan to Don Norton. Bob Prescott iced the ball game with a 21-yard field goal in the fourth period.

Jeter's TD was a dilly, after outrunning the TCU secondary he dropped the ball, scooped it up on the first bounce and made it to the end zone with the first Iowa touchdown of the year.

Duncan directed the 72-yard march for the second score by passing for 44 yards with four of five completions including the final 6-yarder.

Coach Forest Evashevski's comment on the game was, "We're still a long way from a great club."

In Monday's workouts a couple of the second stringers were promoted to the No. 1 unit. They were John Sawin at right tackle and senior Bob Prescott at right end. Sawin, a 211-pounder from Chicago replaced another Chicagoan, Mac Lewis, and Prescott replaced Don Norton.

The new pressbox drew favorable comments from the sportswriters. Maybe Bill Logan, former Iowa basketball star who owns the Hawkeye career scoring mark summed it up best when he said, "Boy, this is nifty, huh?" Logan, who now works in a Keokuk bank, was working with Keokuk's Radio Station KOKX Saturday.

Iowa Moves Up To 8th Place In AP Poll

Sooners Back In Top Spot, Buckeyes 3d

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Iowa Hawkeyes vaulted from an unranked position to eighth place in the weekly Associated Press college football poll Monday. Iowa was impressive in turning back a highly touted Texas Christian team, ranked sixth a week ago, 17-0.

Oklahoma, which never gets far from the top, was No. 1 again on the strength of its smashing 47-14 victory over a well-rated West Virginia eleven Saturday.

Buckeyes Now 3d
The Sooners displaced Ohio State in that spot, the Buckeyes dropping to third place behind defending national champion Auburn.

The sportswriters and sportscasters participating in the poll gave the Oklahoma 66 first-place votes and 1,337 points, compared to 58 first-place votes and 1,206 points for Auburn, which turned back Tennessee in its opener 13-0.

Ohio State's narrow squeak in its game with Southern Methodist—the Buckeyes won 23-20—probably had something to do with Woody Hayes' team dropping to third place, although the Bucks still garnered 23 first-place votes.

Behind Ohio State in the top 10, in order, are Michigan State, Army, Mississippi, Notre Dame, Iowa, Wisconsin and Clemson.

Hawks 1 of 3 Newcomers
Iowa, Wisconsin and Clemson are newcomers to the select group. Wisconsin was impressive in trouncing Miami and Clemson edged into the 10th spot with a 26-11 victory over North Carolina.

TCU, Pittsburgh and Washington State were the three schools displaced by the newcomers, although Pittsburgh defeated Holy Cross 17-0.

Iowa First on 15 Tallies
Eleven teams drew one or more first-place votes but only four schools got them in any quantity. In addition to Oklahoma and Auburn, which cornered 124 between them, Ohio State got 23 and Iowa 15.

The second 10: Mississippi State, Pitt, Louisiana State, Purdue, Navy, Michigan, Texas, Southern Methodist, Houston and Vanderbilt.

Redlegs Release Fondy
CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs Monday released veteran first baseman Dee Fondy to Seattle of the Pacific Coast League in exchange for southpaw pitcher Claude Osteen.

Fondy, 32, was obtained from Pittsburgh last winter in the deal which sent Ted Kluszewski to the Pirates. Fondy hit .213 in 86 games with the Redlegs. He has been with the Cubs, Pirates and Redlegs.

Osteen is the 19-year-old youngster signed in the summer of 1957.

One Of Few Randy Missed

TCU'S JACK SPIKES was the man responsible for the first incomplete pass of the year thrown by Iowa quarterback Randy Duncan Saturday. The pass, intended for left end Curt Merz (No. 82) was knocked down by Spikes at the last moment. Duncan had opened the game with a 21-yard pitch to Merz and finished with 11 completions in 19 attempts. Bob Jeter (No. 11) watched in background.

Ford, Spahn Opposing Hurlers In Opener 2d Straight Year

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Whitey Ford and Warren Spahn will be the opening pitchers Wednesday when the New York Yankees and Milwaukee Braves open the World Series at County Stadium.

Dispite last year's Milwaukee victory and the strange last-half slump of the Yankees, the American League champions remain the 7 to 5 favorites in man-to-man betting. The opening game is rated even money.

Casey Stengel called off plans for a Monday morning workout because of the length of the Sunday double header. Shortly before the club left Yankee Stadium in New York for the airport, he confirmed his choice of Ford for the first game.

Ford, 29, has appeared in five series for a 5-3 record, pitching the opener for the Yanks the last three years. Last October he beat Spahn in the opener 3-1 in New York.

3 Good Tuneups
Ford was sidelined by a sore elbow during the season but has pitched brilliant ball in three tune-up efforts of five, seven and six innings.

LA Crowd, Musial's Bat Set Records

NEW YORK (AP)—A single game attendance mark and two more batting standards set by Stan Musial highlight the output of records which will be written in the books as a result of the 1958 major league baseball season.

Los Angeles set the big league single game attendance mark by drawing 78,672 into the Coliseum on April 18.

Musial broke two of Mel Ott's National League records—most total bases, 5,289 and most extra bases on long hits, 2,205.

Records broken by individuals also include: Most home runs, shortstop, season—47, Ernie Banks, Chicago N.L. (broke own major league mark of 44, set in 1956).

Most consecutive pinch hits—8 games, Dave Philley, Philadelphia N.L. (broke major league mark of 7 by Harry Lowery, St. Louis N.L., 1952).

Most consecutive games, second baseman, lifetime—514 Nellie Fox, Chicago A.L. (broke major league mark of 477 by Eddie Collins, Philadelphia and Chicago A.L.).

A crafty veteran, who mixes a slider and screwball with a variety of curves thrown at varying speeds, he owns a 2-2 record for series play with the Braves, both Milwaukee and Boston (1948).

Both clubs plan to work out today at County Stadium.

LA Crowd, Musial's Bat Set Records

NEW YORK (AP)—A single game attendance mark and two more batting standards set by Stan Musial highlight the output of records which will be written in the books as a result of the 1958 major league baseball season.

Los Angeles set the big league single game attendance mark by drawing 78,672 into the Coliseum on April 18.

Musial broke two of Mel Ott's National League records—most total bases, 5,289 and most extra bases on long hits, 2,205.

Records broken by individuals also include: Most home runs, shortstop, season—47, Ernie Banks, Chicago N.L. (broke own major league mark of 44, set in 1956).

Most consecutive pinch hits—8 games, Dave Philley, Philadelphia N.L. (broke major league mark of 7 by Harry Lowery, St. Louis N.L., 1952).

Most consecutive games, second baseman, lifetime—514 Nellie Fox, Chicago A.L. (broke major league mark of 477 by Eddie Collins, Philadelphia and Chicago A.L.).

Solly Hemus New Card Boss; Redlegs Tap Smith

ST. LOUIS (AP)—To the surprise of no one the St. Louis Cardinals Monday gave Solly Hemus—a former Red Bird player—a one-year contract as a playing manager.

Hemus, who has never managed anywhere, takes over from Fred Hutchinson—fired 12 days ago. The little Texan is the only player-manager in the majors.

For Hemus the Cardinals gave infielder Gene Freese to Philadelphia in a straight trade.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Mayo Smith, former manager of the Philadelphia Phils, was signed last Monday to a one year contract to manage the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Smith and Powel Crosley Jr.,

president of the Redlegs, signed the contract. Smith will succeed Birdie Tebbetts who resigned Aug. 14.

Gov. Folsom Spares Negro—

Wilson Escapes Death Chair

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Jim my Wilson, 55-year-old Negro handyman under death sentence for a $1.95 robbery, was saved from the electric chair Monday by Gov. James E. Folsom.

Wilson received the news that the governor had spared his life calmly.

"Thank you sir," was the 55-year-old Negro handyman's only comment when informed by Dep. Warden Curtis Simpson that the governor had commuted his death sentence to life imprisonment.

He showed no visible sign of emotion. It was almost as if he were expecting the governor to take that action.

Wilson's conviction by an all-white jury for robbing an 82-year-old white widow of $1.95 and the resulting death sentence stirred up a storm of protests over the world.

It even prompted a telegram from Secretary of State Dulles to Folsom suggesting that the case was causing some concern as to U.S. relations with other nations.

Thousands of letters, telegrams and telephone calls appealing to the governor to use his executive powers and save Wilson from the electric chair flooded the governor's office.

The robbery victim, Estelle Barker, received a number of letters urging that she intercede with the governor in Wilson's behalf.

Mrs. Barker, who testified that the Negro choked and attempted to rape her during the robbery, has been in ill health for some time. She was unavailable for comment.

Robbery, which is a capital offense in Alabama, is defined as the taking of money or goods of value from another person by force or fear of violence, with or without a weapon. The amount doesn't matter.

The elderly widow told the trial court that Wilson threatened her life after demanding that she give him her money.

Although he didn't testify, Wilson, who had served two previous prison sentences for grand larceny, later declared in an interview that he "didn't lay a hand" on Mrs. Barker.

Folsom virtually said he would commute the death sentence following a tense, drama-packed clemency hearing last Friday.

"I can assure the people of the world of my compassion for human life," he said. "I've always tried to see that only the criminally inclined, premeditated murderers go to the chair."

During two terms as governor, Folsom has saved 20 condemned prisoners from the electric chair. He has allowed 17 others to die.

5 SUIowans To Participate In Governor's Youth Meeting

Five members of the SUI Child Welfare Research Station faculty will participate in the 1958 Governor's Conference on Child and Youth Oct. 3, at Iowa State Teachers College, Cedar Falls.

They are Eoyd McCandless, director of the Research Station; Ralph Ojemann, president of the Iowa Commission on Children and Youth, who will preside at the morning opening session and the afternoon general session; Lloyd Lovell, who will serve as chairman of one of the four adult workshop groups; Willard W. Hartup and Siegmund Muehl, both of the SUI Child Welfare division.

The conference theme, "Youth Reaching Out in a Changing World," will focus on "moral and ethical foundations for standards of conduct," Governor Loveless says. Subject matter to be discussed includes ways to help teenagers and adults understand each other; communication problems between young people and adults; the responsibilities of adults to ward young people; and ways in which teen-agers can be helped to assume responsibilities.

Keynote speaker will be Mrs. Evelyn Millis Duvall of Chicago, noted family life counselor.

This conference is a follow-up of the Governor's Conference on Juvenile Behavior, held in Des Moines last May 3, at which time Governor Loveless appointed a number of citizens from every county to form a nucleus of social action groups for the strengthening of delinquency-prevention programs.

Iowa College Test Centers Established

Iowa high school students planning to enroll in any Iowa college or university during the coming year (1959-60) must take a battery of tests either Saturday, Oct. 25, or Saturday, Nov. 1.

The tests, to be given at 34 centers around the state on Oct. 25 and at 44 centers Nov. 1, will provide data for admission, placement in freshman classes, and granting of scholarships, according to Ted McCarrel, SUI registrar and chairman of the advisory committee for the Iowa College Scholarship and Placement Testing Program.

Forty-eight colleges and universities, including all junior colleges, are cooperating in the program. Individual institutions will determine the use they will make of test scores.

Students intending to take the tests will be required to file a registration form and pay a $1 fee to cover costs of the program.

Employment Managers Will Meet

Iowa State Employment Service managers will hold a 3-day conference at SUI Wednesday through Friday, sponsored by the SUI College of Commerce's Bureau of Labor and Management.

Sidney G. Winter, dean of the SUI College of Commerce will give the welcoming address Wednesday morning.

SUI faculty members from the Bureau of Labor and Management who will participate will be Jack P. Culley, director of the bureau; John J. Flieger, program director; and Walter Wentz, research assistant. Others participating will be Cleo Casady, associate professor of office management and business education; Chester A. Morgan, acting head of the Department of Labor and Management; and John Muthard, assistant professor of education.

'Mr. Millionaire' Will Give Away Money In Iowa City

A mysterious "Mr. Millionaire" will pass out free dollars in the form of script money to Iowa City shoppers Wednesday night, as local merchants open Fall Bazaar Days, a 3-day sales and promotional campaign.

Plans for the campaign, which is being sponsored by the retail trade division of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce, have been announced by Wayne Housel and Jean Reddick, co-chairmen of the sponsoring committee. They include special values offered by merchants on fall merchandise, as well as a variety of events and contests.

Bazaar Days Oct. 1-3

Fall Bazaar Days will run Oct. 1-3. The script money which "Mr. Millionaire" passes out to shoppers during this time may be spent at participating stores through Oct. 11.

The 3-day event begins officially at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, when downtown store windows, covered during the day, will be unveiled. A "Count the Dollars" contest will be held in connection with the unveiling.

A certain number of silver dollars will be displayed in each store window. Contestants are invited to estimate the total number of dollars displayed downtown and send their guess, along with name and address, to the Chamber of Commerce.

To Give Away Bikes

Prizes for adults will include: $200, first; $100, second; and $50, third. One boy's and one girl's Schwinn bicycle will be given away to the best contestants under 16 years of age.

The 2nd night of the campaign has been designated "Kids' Night," and will be held under the direction of Robert A. Lee, city recreation director. Washington Street between Clinton and Dubuque Streets will be blocked off at 6:45 p. m. to make room for about twenty different events.

Nixon Defends Far East Policy

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon strongly defended the administration's policy in the Formosa crisis in a speech opening a campaign tour Monday night. "The whole free world's position in Asia is at stake," Nixon told a rally attended by about 4,500 persons in the State Fairgrounds Coliseum. He said giving Quemoy, Matsu and Formosa to the communists would not solve the problem because the communists "want us out of the Far East."

Nixon said the only way to deal with the communists is from a position of strength, that the United States is stronger militarily than ever before, and that those who sell America's strength short are wrong and are giving aid to the enemy. The vice president said increased taxes, cheaper money and the stifling of private investments would be the "frightening" results if Democrats increase their strength in Congress. "This Administration got the United States out of one war, it has avoided other wars, and it has kept the peace without surrender of principle or territory," he said.

3 Iowa Fatalities Monday

PAULLINA (AP) — Gerrit Wilumstien, 61, of Paullina, was killed Monday in a 2-car collision at a county road intersection about two miles west of here. The driver of the other car, Gene Eller, 18, of Paullina, was taken to a Cherokee hospital where he was reported in fair condition from chest and head injuries.

DES MOINES (AP) — Robert Anthony Olati, 2½-year-old son of Mrs. Richard L. Witzenburg, was fatally injured Monday when a milk truck backed over him in the driveway of his home just east of Des Moines.

Highway Patrolman Jack Gorman said the boy apparently crawled under the truck after the driver had stopped to make a milk delivery at the home. The driver said he saw no one when he looked behind the truck before backing up.

FARLEY (AP) — Michael Leibold, 65, Farley area farmer, was killed Monday afternoon when the tractor on which he was riding was struck by a car a mile north of here on a county road.

Authorities identified the driver of the car as Louis Link, 77, also of Farley. Leibold was riding on a tractor driven by Ray Scherrman, officers said, when it was struck by the Link car. The impact knocked Leibold off the tractor and under the wheels of a wagon being pulled by the tractor.

UAW, Chrysler Move Closer To Settlement

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union moved closer to a settlement with Chrysler Corp. Monday. Both sides expressed optimism. Some sources predicted agreement within 24 hours. UAW President Walter P. Reuther and Chrysler Vice President John Leary agreed progress was being made in settling differences.

Reuther told newsmen the union made a new proposal to Chrysler during the afternoon talks regarding what he termed the "most serious problems" facing the negotiators. These were seniority and grievance procedure, he said.

The union chieftain said the company asked for a recess until Monday night to study the proposals. He added, "an agreement could come tonight."

A Chrysler contract would be the second in the industry.

Reds Claim U.S. Missile Hit Plane

TOKYO (AP) — Red China claims one of its warplanes has been knocked down by an American Sidewinder missile fired from a Nationalist Chinese plane.

A Peiping radio broadcast heard in Tokyo Monday said the action occurred last Wednesday. It was the first time the Communists have charged the Nationalists with using the U.S. Navy-made air-to-air guided missile.

There has been speculation that the Nationalists were using Sidewinders, but Nationalist Air Force officials have denied the reports. Quoting a statement from the Communist Chinese Ministry of Defense, radio Peiping said Nationalist forces launched five Sidewinder guided missiles above the area of Wenchow, Juian and Yot-sing in Chekiang Province. It said they were fired on a day Nationalist planes flew 143 sorties over Fukien, Chekiang and Kwangtung provinces.

Peiping said parts of missiles were found near Wenchow, including the nose that receives infrared rays that help guide the missile to its target. The missile parts have been put on exhibition in Peiping, the broadcast said.

In Washington, the Pentagon wouldn't say yes or no when asked whether the Chinese Nationalists do have Sidewinders.

This missile — developed by the U.S. Navy and named after the desert rattlesnake — has been standard equipment in the 7th Fleet for nearly two years and has been produced by the thousands for the U.S. Air Force as well.

Sidewinders find and destroy their targets by homing on the source of heat—in the case of an enemy airplane, the jet engine.

New Legal Move Could Oust Hoffa

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new legal maneuver that could lead to the removal of James R. Hoffa as president of the scandal-marred Teamsters Union was prepared by the union's court-appointed monitors.

The move was announced shortly after the Teamsters asked a federal court to remove one of the monitors, Godfrey P. Schmidt.

The monitors said they would amend today a pending court request for broader powers to invoke Teamster reforms.

The amendment, the monitors said, would question whether the original consent order under which the monitor system was set up was legal in the first place. They claim the Teamsters membership as a whole should have been notified of the original order before it became effective.

The original consent order represented a compromise settlement of a suit by rank-and-file teamsters seeking to bar Hoffa from office a year ago, Schmidt was attorney for the group.

At the time of the compromise, there was also a court injunction prohibiting Hoffa from taking office. If the consent order should be ruled illegal, it would open the door for possible revival of the injunction or resumption of the rank-and-file suit.

In its U.S. District Court petition asking the removal of Schmidt, the union charged him with a "direct and clear conflict of interest," in that he has continued to represent employers who have contracts with the union. The suit said he has solicited and received large contributions from such employers and employer groups.

Atom Blast Sends Newsmen Running For Fallout Cover

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP) — An atomic blast Monday sent newsmen and test personnel scurrying for cover against radiation fallout.

The shot from a balloon tethered 1,500 feet over Yucca Flat whacked the News Nob observation post 10 miles away with a loud crack and considerable concussion.

Its force of 10,000 tons of TNT was half that of the World War II Hiroshima atomic bomb and far less than some whoppers exploded in previous years at the Nevada test site.

Its mushroom cloud drifted south directly over News Nob, the test control point and the Mercury Test Facilities headquarters.

By loudspeaker, Atomic Energy Commission officials ordered newsmen to scramble within 10 minutes after the shot. They drove their cars to Mercury where, with test personnel, they remained indoors for an hour. Control point personnel stayed indoors about 30 minutes.

Another balloon shot is planned for Friday. The series is due to end by Oct. 31, the date President Eisenhower proposed as the start of a one-year recess.

English Prof Still Critical

Charles B. Woods, SUI professor in the Department of English, is still listed in serious condition at University Hospitals after suffering a heart attack at the SUI-Texas Christian game Saturday.

Woods, 51, was taken to the hospital by ambulance after the attack.

Another Iowa City man, Albert B. Martin, died at his home Saturday while listening to the game. Martin was a retired railroad engineer.

Sunday Fifth Anniversary Of Greenlease Kidnapping

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The statute of limitations has not run out for whoever has $300,000 of the Greenlease ransom money, says a United States attorney.

Sunday was the fifth anniversary of the decoying of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease from a Kansas City school by Bonnie Heady. The boy was subsequently slain by Carl Austin Hall.

There is a federal 5-year limit on prosecution of an offense involving theft. But U. S. Atty. Harry Richards said it doesn't apply to the half of the ransom money which still is missing because the later passing and concealment of the money is a continuing conspiracy.
