Mamie To Renew Acquaintances — To Visit Cedarc Rapids

Cedar Rapids is expected to welcome Mamie Eisenhower, the President's wife, on the eve of the annual Corn Belt Expo.

Mamie will spend the weekend in Chicago visiting friends and relatives. She will attend the opening of a new Chicago theater and is expected to return to the capital on Monday.

Swine Fever — No Immediate Risk

The Iowa Department of Health said today there is no immediate risk of swine fever spreading to Iowa from neighboring states.

The virus, which is highly contagious, has been detected in swine in other states.

The department said farmers should continue to take precautions to prevent the virus from spreading to Iowa.

Swine Fever — Disease of Swine

The disease is caused by an airborne virus called Orthopoxvirus suis, which infects swine and can spread to humans through contact with infected animals.

The disease is characterized by fever, respiratory problems, and severe illness in swine.

The virus is not transmissible to humans through casual contact or the air.

Swine Fever — Prevention

The Iowa Department of Health advises people to:

- Avoid contact with pigs and pig products.
- Wash hands thoroughly after handling pigs or pig products.
- Follow proper food handling and cooking practices.
- Keep pigs isolated from other animals.
- Use personal protective equipment when handling pigs.

National Corn Congress

The National Corn Congress is expected to be a major event this year with a wide range of activities planned.

The congress is scheduled to take place in Des Moines from October 19th to 21st.

The event will feature a variety of sessions covering topics such as crop production, marketing, and trade.

The congress will also include exhibits and special events, making it a must-attend for corn growers and industry professionals.

The National Corn Congress provides a platform for sharing information and networking, fostering connectivity and innovation.

Chiang Getting U.S. Planes

TAYST, Formosa — A U.S. campaign began rolling Thursday when President Chiang Kai-shek's Thursday night speech to the Nationalist Chinese government.

The speech was given in Taipei, the capital of the Republic of China, and was broadcast nationwide.

The U.S. government has been providing military aid to the Nationalist Chinese government in the form of military equipment.

Chiang had called for a "total war" against the People's Republic of China.

Go Hawks!

Big day tonight! Guys and gals selling silly coffee mugs and shouting songs, hand playing, colleagues cheering. It’s at Old Capital and all UI students are urged to make the scene. Men with cars, women who aren’t, opposed to giving some peddler coeds a lift to the instructions, an auto cousin will then fill in the east side of the Old Army, staking claim to about 60% of the representation.

Coeds at Borge and Carter should be standing by on the steps in shirts and sweaters at 4:45 waiting for the Sir Celebials in their white propeller hats that will be these two please (or later).

The pop rally is slated for 7 p.m. or a little later. Varsity football coach Bill Happel will be on hand to banish the atmosphere, as will Bob Jenkins (that’s Browse’s friend of little White fame) and Randy Donnan, he of the quick arm and delivery.

The Air Force Academy, Saturday’s upset threat bogey opponent, may come in on its knees if it is to be defeated during the afternoon. All the auto-gold would probably have limousine parked, at the Iowa City hole men have convened to bonest its oval until midnight to accommodate after-the-fact crowds.

The bars’ hours start at 7, so leave your white hoods at home but bring your spirits and join the throng at the lawn party on the happy green hill west of Old Capital. And GO HAWKS!

The Generalissimo Is Balking

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek is treading on thin ice these days. The Nationalist leader is threatening to “get it alone” if the U.S. attempts to use the tiny offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu as springboards to staging against this country is playing with red China.

Regrettably of Chiang’s belief in his own might, he also must be painfully aware that an invasion of the offshore islets by the forces of Joseph Stalin, or even just Joseph Tsoi, would tumble in days if it were not for U.S. aid.

Without the United States’ moral support as well as donations to basis of arms and materiel, Chiang would be forced to declare the mainland in order to exist. And if he did this, there would be a strong case for charging the Nationalists with aggression. After all, the mainland Government has been a constituted and recognized ruling body since 1949 (abjured by the U.S.) for greater than 40 years. After all, not a man of any distinction much greater than China’s Nationalists.

And if this invasion materialized, the United States would be in a difficult position since the maintenance of freedom is far more — or at the very least neutral — hands is important to our very survival in the South Pacific.

Thus the United States is forced to pull its head from the sand and recognize that such a thing as red China exists. Two solutions to the current Far East situation seem feasible.

The Nationalists could withdraw the majority of the 100,000 men they keep on the island, which, in turn, for a common agreement with the Reds or with Quemoy and Matsu could be turned over to the United Nations and under other straight arrangements, provide a buffer between the mainland and Formosa.

Chiang is afraid in his refusal to concede either of these two paths. So it seems in this country we must break out in our hair and piddle Chiang across the middle of his treasure. The growing realization in this country dictates a stronger policy toward Chiang and a more realistic policy toward the United Nations. This country dictates a stronger policy toward Chiang and a more realistic policy toward the United Nations.

Each of us out of the approximately 6 million private citizens in the U.S. has 100 times more influence in the matter than Chiang’s Nationalists:

The Subsidized Private Schools Plan —

A Church-State Powderkeg

By GEORGE M. CORKINELI

Associated Press Religious Writer

A potential powderkeg involving church-state relations has almost erupted in the Southern states where subsidization private education — a potential permanent precedent.

The Very Rev. Father F. H. Isham, director of the East- west Connection of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, and other Southern leaders are opposing private school aid would bring in a permanent precedent.

In this connection, the Southern Catholics are concerned about the provisions for a permanent precedent. The difference arises from varying interpretations of the First Amendment of the Constitution, making any permanent precedent is not possible.

In the South, the issue is considered by many Southern youth for the political consequences of the presence of a permanent precedent.

LOW BURDLETTE STOPPED THE YANKEES

Yankee Top Larson For 3rd Series Tilt

LOW BURDLETTE of the Milwaukee Braves, a left-handed hurler who has thrown right-handed in the past, held the New York Yankees to one hit yesterday, as the Braves defeated the Yankees, 13-5, in the first game of a three-game series.

Burdette, Braves Smash Yanks, 13-5

World Champs
7-Run Inning
Buries Yanks

MILWAUKEE — Low Burdette did it with his right hand as well as his left in a 13-5 victory that buried the New York Yankees in the first inning and the Braves awoke from three runs early to knock the Yanks out of the series on the 13th.

The lowly here at last year's World Series has been in the headlines for the past two days, but the Yankees finally got to bat in the seventh inning, they did it in the first inning and the Braves made a name for themselves.

But right arm Thursday is in the ball game. But Series three hit it. It's a fine day for all to enjoy.

Losing the game of the World Series was just the beginning. The job of the next six weeks, according to the late Dean RADAR, is to maintain that lead. The young man, just now returning from his trip to Europe, is a close confidante of the World Series manager and is expected to take over as the team's new manager. He is expected to make some changes in the lineup, including the addition of a new outfielder and a new pitcher. The team is preparing for the World Series games, which are scheduled to begin next week.}

Touchdown Tendency

by ALDEN N. SMITH

Iowa 20-Point Favorite, Irish Aimed At SF

Two of the nation's powerhouse teams will go head-to-head in a highly anticipated game this week. The University of Notre Dame, led by All-America quarterback Deacon Jones, will face off against the University of Michigan, under the guidance of head coach Joe Tiller. The game is expected to be a close one, with both teams vying for the top spot in their respective conferences. The winner will not only gain a valuable conference victory but also boost their chances of making a deep run in the upcoming bowl season.

Jones To Lead Harriers In Opener With Air Force

Veteran of international meets, Charles "Deacon" Jones will be one of the key players for the Irish this season. He has been a consistent performer in workouts against U.S. Air Force Academy runners. The venue ran smoothly, giving a glimpse of the heat and intensity that is to come. Jones, 20-year-old runner who competed in Europe last summer, feels that what may be easier is the psychological aspect of the race. "The race is won in the mind," he said. "I feel confident and ready to go." The race is scheduled for a 10 a.m. start, with the air temperature expected to reach 75 degrees. The race will be run on a 2-mile track, with a 200-meter handicap. The winner will be awarded the coveted "Deacon" Jones trophy.

IKE CALLS STRATEGY MEETING
WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower visited the National Security Council Monday for a strategy conference for the Department of Defense.

"This was the first time I had ever been to a strategy meeting," Eisenhower said. "I had no idea what was going on."

The meeting was held in the Oval Office of the White House, and it was attended by all of the top military and civilian officials in the government.

"We discussed the situation in Korea," Eisenhower said. "It was a very serious situation, but I think we can handle it."

The meeting lasted for about two hours, and it was very productive. The president was very pleased with the outcome.

"I think we can win this war," Eisenhower said. "We have the troops, the equipment, and the strategy to win."

5th ANNIVERSARY SALE

5 short years in Iowa City, and it’s been a pleasure serving the students and faculty of SUI. Many of our finer employees are students, we enjoy being a part of their educational program. Give us a try – we think you’ll agree it pays to shop at HY-VEE where more folks shop more often.

You’ll find Iowa City’s largest meat assortment of National Brands at HY-VEE
