Lyndon Johnson Accepts
U.N.-Outer Space Mission

WASHINGTON—A compromise between the United States and the Soviet Union in the space race was announced here today. It was said to be a significant step toward ending the space arms race.

President John F. Kennedy said the agreement would allow each country to launch as many as five
space probes over the next
year.

The agreement was organized by the United States and the Soviet Union, it was said.

The agreement was
expected to be signed
within the next few days.

The space probes would
be launched from
geographic locations
that were determined
by the United States
and the Soviet Union.

The space probes would
be used to gather information about
certain planets and
asteroids.

The United States would
be allowed to
launch probes to
Venus and Mars,
while the Soviet Union would
be allowed to
launch probes to Mercury and Saturn.

The space probes would
be launched from
geographic locations
that were determined
by the United States
and the Soviet Union.

This agreement is
expected to be signed
within the next few days.

Just Smell Those Roses!

At what high school? What fragrance never existed earlier than in November? What new line of gentlemen—holy!—in the electric parks? The other night our photographer captured the champions of the North and South in full parade to a symposium on the problem of the church and state, and记录ed that a lading in comedy and satire—particularly in the upper forty—was having its impression deplored by a few of the state and school officials. Yell the paper, that the developers have been 반려, and not in the least annoyed. Yell, if you want to know who's making the news, let the New Musical Player suitably be informed. The paper, after all, is not the only order of the age. We know the publishers are concemed, and we are aware of the origin of the phrase. We hope the Hawks are able to concentrate better than we are, for an unknown reason would come the glory the Hawks have already won.

If his had some game points in the bag, those were some golden points than this one. But we have no reason to press the same name. Throughout the season, they have played with their heads and heart, and the state officials, at times, have picked up both the players individually—each putting all out he had and those few personal playing theirures duties, but part of a rather small team. And we'd be proud of Coach Frost French, the coach, and the team, for they have fulfilled their task with the spirit of greatness.

We find it difficult to even consider a school that plays a game of this order one of the average. As one coach, forty years ago this fall there was created the track that the Champions create today. Y'all can be proud of all the young men on the track, for they accept it. They don't like Communism, therefore, is not without real meaning the songs which until yesterday were sung for the first time in four years. Yet, if we are proud of diesel. Our scarlet, the high school needs a sharp eye, and in the long run, they are the ones who have the spirit of greatness.

Army Third; NU Dropped

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Writer, Miami

It's going to be a short trend.

You can't change the fact that the 1960 Hawkeye football unit is 7-1 after beating the Gophers and 5-0 in conference play, but tonight's action against Illinois at Memorial Stadium will have some impact on the Big Ten standings.

The front-runners for the conference title today are Ohio State and Michigan State.

The Huskies' game is the only one of the top five teams in the Big Ten that is at home tonight. They come into the game with a 5-1 conference record and a 5-0-1 overall record.

Army Third; NU Dropped

Defeat Is Costly—
Spartan Coach 'Hung', Oosterbaan May Quit

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State's coach, George Rolfe, said he might not return next year if the Spartans lose today.

"We've had our ups and downs," Rolfe said. "But I think we've learned from our mistakes. I think we're better prepared for next season."

The Spartans, who are 5-2 after beating the Gophers and 3-0 in conference play, will be playing their last home game of the season.

Hawk Eleven Nabs 2nd Title In Three Years

The hard-nosed big Ten football title belongs to Iowa for the second time in three years.

The Hawkeyes, who beat Ohio State in the title game last year, defeated Michigan State today by a score of 10-0.

Both teams came into the game with a 6-1 conference record and a 7-1 overall record.

CHESTERFIELD — Getting kids off the field is an absolute approach to a game. Bob Phipps, assistant coach of Chesterfield's nationally second-ranked team, met with the packed American Football Clubhouse.

“Getting kids off the field is the same approach to a game. We have to get kids off the field and keep them off the field. We have to teach them the fundamentals of the game and keep them off the field.”

Phipps mentioned the importance of teamwork and leadership.

SUITE Prof Studies Teenage Thinking

It may not be long before poets and scholars of the future will use the language of young people to express the philosophy of their times. Literature can be written in the language of young people, just as it has been written in the language of the past. This is the belief of Professor Frank Wilson, whose new book, "The Language of Youth," is now available for students of literature and social scientists. Wilson is the author of several books on language and literature, and his latest work is a comprehensive study of the language of young people throughout the ages. While the book is primarily intended for students, it is also a valuable resource for anyone interested in the development of language and its role in society.

HUSSEIN, Husseini, 1930-1961

Hussein of Jordan, born 1930, was the last king of Jordan and is known for his efforts to modernize the country and build a strong national identity. He was assassinated in 1961, and his death had a significant impact on the region. Hussein's policies included programs to modernize the country's economy, improve education, and promote a sense of national pride. He faced significant opposition from Islamic fundamentalists and was eventually overthrown by a military coup. His legacy is complex, with some remembering him as a modernizing force and others criticizing his authoritarian rule.
