Air Force General Removed At Request Of Icelanders

U.S. Hopes Move Will Ease Tension

Diplomats Protest Sanctions

WASHINGTON — In a move to soothe rattled Iceland, the United States has pulled an Air Force general out of its command in Iceland.

The action followed diplomatic overtures over an incident involving an American aircraft and two Icelandic military planes.

State Department officials and Pentagon brass was being cautious because of the fortuitous timing of the incident on the heels of the United Nations in the air.

The United States has pulled an Air Force general out of its command in Iceland.

U.S. forces first went to Iceland, in mid-October, in response to a request from the European countries for more U.S. troops to help fight the war against the Soviet Union.

Iceland is a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) and has been a key factor in the recent build-up of the Western nations in the area.

Iceland has also been active in international organizations, including the United Nations.

According to sources, the general will be replaced by a more experienced general as the new U.S. commander in Iceland.

Red Communist Shakeup

Has Signs Of Purge

WASHINGTON — A U.S. State Department official said Friday that a shakeup of the Chinese Communist regime was in the works and may result in purges and changes at all levels of the government.

Experts on Chinese affairs say a new regime reorganization is under way and may result in purges and changes at all levels of the government.

The State Department official said, "The Chinese government is implementing a series of changes at all levels of the regime." He did not specify the exact nature of the changes.

The official said the changes were in response to the recent purges of senior officials, including Premier Zhou Enlai, who was replaced by Premier Chou En-lai.

Red Rebels

In Laotian Power Show

VIENTIENNE, Laos — Red rebels seized control of the northern province of Laos near the Chinese border, and the government has been forced to retreat.

This is the first time that the communists have taken control of a provincial capital.

In another incident, a group of rebel soldiers, led by a local peasant leader, seized a rice mill near the Chinese border and burned it.

Frost Transfers

Start Registration Turnaround Monday

The University of Iowa will start registration for the fall semester Monday, and students will have the opportunity to transfer into the college of their choice.

Frosty, who was the first to arrive on campus, said that he would be happy to see the students return.

"With the start of the school year, the campus will be alive with activity," Frosty said.

"I am looking forward to seeing the students again and hearing their stories of their summer experiences."

"I am excited to see what they have been up to and what they have learned."

Weather Forecast

Continued

Cloudy

Warmer

Orientation For New Students

To Begin Sunday Evening

All new undergraduate students will meet at 7 p.m. in the Field House Sunday for their first orientation meeting.

They will be given information about the university, its facilities, and their role as students.

Knee-High To A Big Man

The term "men's movement" was coined and is used today, and it is only three weeks old. Engineering the project are left to right, Bob William, Don Tschirhart, Gordon Truett, and Phil Anthropic, all Vitter, Wisconsin. Assembly will take place Oct. 1 in front of Old Capitol, according to the chief, who is in charge of the project. The Engineering movement in 3 feet tall.

Full Disarmament

In 4 Years, Red Boss Proposes To U.N.

"Pie In Sky" Is Reaction Of Delegates

Khruushchev is a very complex diplomat, and his approach to disarmament is likely to be interpreted by different countries in different ways.

The United States and other Western countries are likely to see Khruushchev's proposals as a "pie in the sky" or a "paper tiger." They are likely to view them as a superficial attempt to win public favor without any real intention of reducing nuclear arms.

On the other hand, the Soviet Union and other Eastern Bloc countries may see Khruushchev's proposals as a genuine attempt to move towards a world without nuclear weapons. They may view them as a first step towards achieving their goal.

The United States and other Western countries are likely to view Khruushchev's proposals as a "pie in the sky" or a "paper tiger." They are likely to view them as a superficial attempt to win public favor without any real intention of reducing nuclear arms.

The Soviet Union and other Eastern Bloc countries may see Khruushchev's proposals as a genuine attempt to move towards a world without nuclear weapons. They may view them as a first step towards achieving their goal.

The United States and other Western countries are likely to view Khruushchev's proposals as a "pie in the sky" or a "paper tiger." They are likely to view them as a superficial attempt to win public favor without any real intention of reducing nuclear arms.

The Soviet Union and other Eastern Bloc countries may see Khruushchev's proposals as a genuine attempt to move towards a world without nuclear weapons. They may view them as a first step towards achieving their goal.

The United States and other Western countries are likely to view Khruushchev's proposals as a "pie in the sky" or a "paper tiger." They are likely to view them as a superficial attempt to win public favor without any real intention of reducing nuclear arms.

The Soviet Union and other Eastern Bloc countries may see Khruushchev's proposals as a genuine attempt to move towards a world without nuclear weapons. They may view them as a first step towards achieving their goal.
Demos Must Plan Better For '60 Win

Khruschev's Visit Grave Of Roosevelts

Disarmament In 4 Years Proposed By By L. M. ROBERTS

University Calendar

Khruschev

By Ben Leonhord

NEW YORK — A page in political history was turned yesterday when a serious, unsmiling, bespectacled Nikita Khruschev stepped off a train and into the United Nations. The man who was to be the 46th president of the Soviet Union, a man who had been a communist from childhood, was suddenly, for the moment, an American in a strange world.

Khruschev was greeted with a parade of cars and motorcade that would have pleased any U.S. president. He was met by United Nations Secretary-General U Thant, who welcomed him to the United Nations and the United States. Khruschev was then driven to the United Nations building, where he was met by U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who introduced him to the U.N. General Assembly.

Khruschev then addressed the United Nations, saying, "We will never let the United States initiate war against the Soviet Union. We will always be ready to negotiate, but we will not be the first to make peace." Khruschev's speech was met with mixed reactions, with some U.S. officials calling it "aggressive" and others saying it was a "walk in the park." Khruschev was later seen walking with his wife, Valentina, through the streets of New York City.

Mountain To Mohammed

By CHUCK STEWART

NEW YORK — A page in political history was turned yesterday when a serious, unsmiling, bespectacled Nikita Khruschev stepped off a train and into the United Nations. The man who was to be the 46th president of the Soviet Union, a man who had been a communist from childhood, was suddenly, for the moment, an American in a strange world.

Khruschev was greeted with a parade of cars and motorcade that would have pleased any U.S. president. He was met by United Nations Secretary-General U Thant, who welcomed him to the United Nations and the United States. Khruschev was then driven to the United Nations building, where he was met by U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who introduced him to the U.N. General Assembly.

Khruschev then addressed the United Nations, saying, "We will never let the United States initiate war against the Soviet Union. We will always be ready to negotiate, but we will not be the first to make peace." Khruschev's speech was met with mixed reactions, with some U.S. officials calling it "aggressive" and others saying it was a "walk in the park." Khruschev was later seen walking with his wife, Valentina, through the streets of New York City.

Disarmament In 4 Years Proposed By

Khruschev

By L. M. ROBERTS

NEW YORK — A page in political history was turned yesterday when a serious, unsmiling, bespectacled Nikita Khruschev stepped off a train and into the United Nations. The man who was to be the 46th president of the Soviet Union, a man who had been a communist from childhood, was suddenly, for the moment, an American in a strange world.

Khruschev was greeted with a parade of cars and motorcade that would have pleased any U.S. president. He was met by United Nations Secretary-General U Thant, who welcomed him to the United Nations and the United States. Khruschev was then driven to the United Nations building, where he was met by U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who introduced him to the U.N. General Assembly.

Khruschev then addressed the United Nations, saying, "We will never let the United States initiate war against the Soviet Union. We will always be ready to negotiate, but we will not be the first to make peace." Khruschev's speech was met with mixed reactions, with some U.S. officials calling it "aggressive" and others saying it was a "walk in the park." Khruschev was later seen walking with his wife, Valentina, through the streets of New York City.

You Can Buy, Sell Books At Student Book Exchange

By ALEX NORTHERN

NEW YORK — A page in political history was turned yesterday when a serious, unsmiling, bespectacled Nikita Khruschev stepped off a train and into the United Nations. The man who was to be the 46th president of the Soviet Union, a man who had been a communist from childhood, was suddenly, for the moment, an American in a strange world.

Khruschev was greeted with a parade of cars and motorcade that would have pleased any U.S. president. He was met by United Nations Secretary-General U Thant, who welcomed him to the United Nations and the United States. Khruschev was then driven to the United Nations building, where he was met by U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who introduced him to the U.N. General Assembly.

Khruschev then addressed the United Nations, saying, "We will never let the United States initiate war against the Soviet Union. We will always be ready to negotiate, but we will not be the first to make peace." Khruschev's speech was met with mixed reactions, with some U.S. officials calling it "aggressive" and others saying it was a "walk in the park." Khruschev was later seen walking with his wife, Valentina, through the streets of New York City.

Mary Poppins To Speak To Iowa Young GOPYERs

By BERNICE M. STEVENS

NEW YORK — A page in political history was turned yesterday when a serious, unsmiling, bespectacled Nikita Khruschev stepped off a train and into the United Nations. The man who was to be the 46th president of the Soviet Union, a man who had been a communist from childhood, was suddenly, for the moment, an American in a strange world.

Khruschev was greeted with a parade of cars and motorcade that would have pleased any U.S. president. He was met by United Nations Secretary-General U Thant, who welcomed him to the United Nations and the United States. Khruschev was then driven to the United Nations building, where he was met by U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who introduced him to the U.N. General Assembly.

Khruschev then addressed the United Nations, saying, "We will never let the United States initiate war against the Soviet Union. We will always be ready to negotiate, but we will not be the first to make peace." Khruschev's speech was met with mixed reactions, with some U.S. officials calling it "aggressive" and others saying it was a "walk in the park." Khruschev was later seen walking with his wife, Valentina, through the streets of New York City.

You Can Buy, Sell Books At Student Book Exchange

By ALEX NORTHERN

NEW YORK — A page in political history was turned yesterday when a serious, unsmiling, bespectacled Nikita Khruschev stepped off a train and into the United Nations. The man who was to be the 46th president of the Soviet Union, a man who had been a communist from childhood, was suddenly, for the moment, an American in a strange world.

Khruschev was greeted with a parade of cars and motorcade that would have pleased any U.S. president. He was met by United Nations Secretary-General U Thant, who welcomed him to the United Nations and the United States. Khruschev was then driven to the United Nations building, where he was met by U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who introduced him to the U.N. General Assembly.

Khruschev then addressed the United Nations, saying, "We will never let the United States initiate war against the Soviet Union. We will always be ready to negotiate, but we will not be the first to make peace." Khruschev's speech was met with mixed reactions, with some U.S. officials calling it "aggressive" and others saying it was a "walk in the park." Khruschev was later seen walking with his wife, Valentina, through the streets of New York City.

Mary Poppins To Speak To Iowa Young GOPYERs

By BERNICE M. STEVENS
Vet Cee, Young Nicklaus Reach U.S. Amateur Finals

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — Charlie Cee, a good golf clubWinter Park, a more or less, and Howard Nicklaus, both average-rounders, reached the finals of the 49th U.S. Amateur championship.

Cee, a 42-year-old Colorado Springs opera singer who has won the championship earlier this year on the foreign front, 36-hole, 49er, is one of the top two finishers. He is a member of the Colorado Athletic Club.

Nicklaus, who temporarily left the course at the end of the first nine holes to play at the U.S. Walker Cup tourney, is a member of the Minneapolis Athletic Club.

Maher Gets Hole In One

Dave Maher, 17th hole from Iowa City and a candidate for the Walker Cup team, scored the hole in one shot in the 36th hole of the Walker Cup tournament Monday.

Maher, with Brother Declan, brother of 19-year-old Declan, who tied for fifth place in the Walker Cup, has his third hole in one. He followed up by making a birdie on the 18th hole.

STUDENTS LIVING IN CORALVILLE

Now you can enjoy all the services and convenience of the PENDENCY OF IOWA CITY AT:

CORAL CLEANERS

Want to make your clothes look their best? Call us. We will pick up, wash, dry-clean, press and deliver your clothes for a price you can afford.

Hertcan
Stockers
Jewelry
Elegant new or used rings, necklaces, earrings, bracelets, watches, pins and more.

YOU WEAR ONLY CLOTHES

GUARANTEED

TO BE

CLEANEST IN TOWN!

"At my laundry, NEW PROGRESS, I am GUARAN-TEED of getting the cleanest clothes in town! They’re have handed them a new finishing agent for my clothes. It’s called "NEW PROGRESS" and it is one of those new wash agents that removes the original clinging agents that change the manufacturer's final, all my clothes come out spot-free and soil-free."

I WOULD NEVER TRY ANYTHING ELSE!

Hercules
Stockers
Jewelry
536 N. 3rd
393-0220

MALCOLM Jeweler
205 E. Washington
Dial 3975

Guaranteed "American Look" Sterling by Gorham

"For you — if you teach your daughter twenty or more

Gilbert, Iowa, 50024

5.10 - 2.60

"American Look" Sterling by Gorham

"For you — if you fume a fog and hold a special

FRE-FREE-SHIPPING or FREE DELIVERY

DELIVERY AVAILABLE SEVERAL TIMES PER WEEK.

You'll Really Like It

1960

Hawkeye
Sign-Up
at Field House during Registration
Be Sure You Get It.

STUDENTS WOULD STAMP it airtight with a new finishing agent for my clothes. It's called "NEW PROGRESS" and it is one of those new wash agents that removes the original clinging agents that change the manufacturer's final, all my clothes come out spot-free and soil-free."

I WOULD NEVER TRY ANYTHING ELSE!

Hercules
Stockers
Jewelry
536 N. 3rd
393-0220

MALCOLM Jeweler
205 E. Washington
Dial 3975

"For you — if you teach your daughter twenty or more

Gorham, Inc. began his new career in June 1918 when

Law Fred Elroy Bogey, Cleveland

Guaranteed "American Look" Sterling by Gorham

"We are very pleased with the new finisher. It is much easier to keep our clothes clean and soil-free."

"For you — if you fume a fog and hold a special

FRE-FREE-SHIPPING or FREE DELIVERY

DELIVERY AVAILABLE SEVERAL TIMES PER WEEK.

You'll Really Like It

1960

Hawkeye
Sign-Up
at Field House during Registration
Be Sure You Get It.