Khrushchev Ends Tour; Prepares For Ike Talks

3-Day Session Set For Pair At Camp David
Parley Could Shape Future World Events
WASHINGTON (AP) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev returned from his flying tour across the United States Thursday to get down to the real business of his relations with President Eisenhower.

This is a mood of intense talks with President Eisenhower on a wide range of world problems, from the Middle East to Europe through the Berlin crisis to fighting a potential war.

Khrushchev’s arrival of these several discussions, starting late Friday night, was the result of a whirlwind American tour. Camp David, and both men, are expected to be in繪troduced to other side of world events in the days to come.

Khrushchev, wearing a light gray suit, arrived at Andrews Air Force Base from his whirlwind American tour, a mood of intense talks with President Eisenhower on a wide range of world problems, from the Middle East to Europe through the Berlin crisis to fighting a potential war.

A Night Of Volig, A Glimpse Of K'

By STEVE TUCKER
Daily Iowan Editor

It was a scene that would be repeated at every stop The Daily Iowan takes in its 1971 circulation drive. A small group of students was gathered outside a dormitory, chatting and waiting for the sales personnel to arrive.

"We're here to sell the Daily Iowan," a student explained. "It's a great newspaper and we want to make sure everyone gets a copy."

The newspaper was indeed impressive. The Daily Iowan is a student-run publication that covers campus news, local events, and national and international stories. It is published daily, Monday through Friday, and is available for free at kiosks around campus.

Students were also selling subscriptions to the newspaper, which included access to the Sunday edition. The price was just $9.95 for the year.

"I'm a senior and this is my last chance to contribute to the newspaper," said another student. "I've been involved in the Daily Iowan since my freshman year, and it's been a great experience."

The Daily Iowan's success is due in large part to the dedication of its staff and the support of its readers. The newspaper is published independently and does not receive any funding from the university.

"The Daily Iowan is an essential part of campus life," said a faculty member. "It provides a voice for students and helps keep the community informed."

The Daily Iowan is available online at dailyiowan.com and in print at kiosks around campus. To subscribe, visit the newspaper's website or contact the circulation department at circulation@dailyiowan.com.

Hancher Tells SUI Students, Do 'Excellent'

President Virgil W. Hancher addressed SUI students Thursday morning to encourage them to do their best in all aspects of their college life.

"I want to congratulate all of you on your achievements thus far," he said. "But I also want to remind you that the journey is just beginning. There is still much work to be done, and I know you are up to the challenge."

Hancher encouraged students to take advantage of the many resources available to them, including academic advising, tutoring, and counseling services.

"I want to remind you that the Daily Iowan is a great newspaper and we want to make sure everyone gets a copy."
