Dolphin May Be New British 'Weapon'

LONDON — In this last resort of terrorism, the new secret weapon may be a dolphin. No one who has been around a dolphin for a while will ever say that a dolphin is not green, agile and intelligent.

The dolphin is capable of very precise attacks. It can operate in dim light, or even in darkness, because of its sonar-like abilities. With all this, the dolphin is not a weapon.

The block of ice was not due to the dolphin's ability to create an ice block, but rather to the dolphin's ability to create a sonar-like signal that is not affected by the cold water.
