Serious 'Fumbles' in a Quite Serious Game

We had fans to find their doing in the game to look for football etiquette which, when...and when...and when...but they do take the time...if they do...often stories of importance are missed.

It is because of this that we call attention to the following note appended on the Iowa Department of Public Safety which appeared in the Iowa-Tidewater game program. (The same stroke was in the Iowa-Iowa game program but rain in itself caused it.)

We believe it to be a new approach to an old and important issue. The message, entitled "40-00 Fumbles," read:

In the past six years, 4,500 Iowa fans have lost their licenses to drive. These licenses were suspended, revoked or canceled by the state traffic and under-protection of Iowa law.

The note was taken on recommendations of Iowa courts, others, because the drivers had compiled a record of violations, others, because the drivers were found to be incompetent to operate a certain vehicle.

But there was only one common cause in the loss of each of these licenses: driver failure. In each case, something the driver did failed to do the license out. In their turn, each such failure means a license.

Last year, the number of Iowans who fulfilled their licenses to drive reached a new high—12,122.

The program of suspending or revoking licenses has lost one purpose: to prevent you from the neglect or reckless operation to protect that driver himself.

Fortunately, there's a sure way to prevent license fumbles—obey all the traffic laws all the time.

To remain consistent with the statute, we might add that the game statistics are even more frightening when you consider the number of lives or 'yards' lost, because statistics cannot be kept.

It is indeed said that those who play at the serious game of driving, that play be the laws, common sense and a little care could result in the yearly potential and bring home a lot more touchdowns each year.

Always a Good Show

Two weeks ago, we polled fans at the Iowa band in- volved in a second half of an Iowa-Caps game shaped up between it and the California group, but now it is time to give a complete report.

Traditionally, football shows quite simply provide something to have done while the game goes on. But to miss the Iowa at Iowa State doesn't mean that the fans have had their fill. Our整序, regiment, pag, or whatever, instead, when the "Hawkweaver Marching Band" is summoned and the tramps roar not the familiar fight, the Hawkeye fans, who are known to be some of the most consistent fans in the land, appear in the stands for the University of Iowa's program are consistently brilliant performances.

We believe Saturday's show was one of the finest ever, and certainly one of the finest ever. Music should go to Director Fred Eldes and his assistants to the problem solved, who could and would not allow the Hawkeye performance to be anything but outstanding.

Iowa 4th in AP Ballot—Michigan State 1st

By the Associated Press

New York (AP) — The Associated Press has announced its football poll for this week. The Associated Press has named Iowa as the number four team in the nation. Michigan State is ranked number one, followed by Alabama and Tennessee.

By Jerry Elana

Sports Editor

For Iowa, which is still ranked at the Hawkeyes’ surrendered 55-54 in the season opener against Southern California last week, Saturday’s 27-13 win over Illinois was a welcome respite.

The Hawkeyes are already in the thick of things. With a victory over Illinois, they move up to number 14 in the Associated Press poll. Iowa is now ranked just two spots behind number one, Michigan State, and four spots ahead of number three, Alabama.

The Associated Press poll is released weekly and is based on the opinions of a panel of sports writers and broadcasters. The poll is not binding and is not used to determine the final rankings of the season.

The Associated Press poll for the week of November 13 is as follows:

New York Times

Iowa’s defense, led by senior linebacker Sam Stoltenberg and junior cornerback Jaffe Mims, was dominant against Illinois. Stoltenberg had 13 tackles, including two for a loss, and Mims intercepted a pass and returned it for a touchdown.

Iowa’s offense struggled against Illinois, but quarterback Ernie Zale was able to find his rhythm in the second half. Zale completed 11 of 24 passes for 156 yards and two touchdowns.

The Hawkeyes will look to continue their dominance against number five Notre Dame next week.

Wisconsin Poses Passing Challenge

At the height of their hopes, the Badgers came home in the top 10 of the national polls. But Wisconsin doesn’t want to be on the outside looking in. The Badgers want to be the ones making the noise.

They can do it. Just ask Coach Jerry Shaw, who comes back with the same personnel and the same attitude.

From the famous Wisconsin passing duo, passes for 23-yard touchdown. No one expected it to be this easy.

When you have a team like Wisconsin, you have to be ready. Ready to pounce.

And Wisconsin is ready. They’re ready to make a statement. Ready to show the world what they’re made of.

Pardon My Foot

Jimmy Tatum scored in the first quarter and the Badgers never looked back. They rolled to a 31-7 win over Minnesota.

The Badgers ran away with it, outscoring the Gophers 21-0 in the second half.

They’re playing for everything now. They’re playing for the championship.

And they’re playing for their fans.

They want to show them that they can do it. That they can compete.

And Wisconsin is ready to do just that.

Schoendienst, who played for the Cards from 1947-1958, is the all-time leader in games played (2,308), hits (3,339), doubles (635) and home runs (364) for the team.

He was a five-time All-Star and two-time World Series champion with the Cards.

Schoendienst will take over a team that finished 73-89 last season.

He will have to work with a young team, but he’s confident he can turn it around.

"I’m ready," he said. "I’m ready to give it my all."

High Court Raps Louisiana's Anti-Integration Legislation

WASHINGTON _ The Supreme Court, in a highly significant decision late last week, said that an anti-integration law passed by Louisiana to bar all state schools from accepting black students is unconstitutional.

The high court's decision was a landmark one in the fast moving legal front on school integration. The state had been able to block integration in the public schools of New Orleans and in the two largest school districts in nearby St. Bernard and Jefferson Parish. The state had also been using the law to keep out black students from the University of New Orleans in the city and from the University of Louisiana in New Orleans and New Iberia. The state had also been able to block the admission of blacks into schools of the state University System.

The dispute had been the subject of a constitutional challenge brought by C. V. Crampsie, a Negro lawyer, who has been an active advocate of school desegregation in the South. He had been successful in obtaining an injunction against the state to prevent enforcement of the law. The state, however, had appealed to the Supreme Court, which had granted a temporary restraining order to halt the enforcement of the law and had scheduled an oral argument to consider the constitutionality of the law.

The Supreme Court's decision was a blow to the state's efforts to keep blacks out of the public schools. The decision, issued by a unanimous court, was a major victory for the civil rights movement in the South. The court's decision was a clear rejection of the state's efforts to keep blacks out of the public schools and a clear victory for the civil rights movement.
