'61 Homecoming Marks 50th Anniversary of SUI Tradition

By JUDY MAACK
Staff Writer

If you can imagine a Homecoming football game without traffic and a jam-packed stadium of just 10,000 fans, then you might have a sketchy picture of SUI's first Homecoming celebration 50 years ago.

The SUI event, which started in 1912 as an experiment and now has become an annual custom, celebrates its Golden Anniversary this weekend.

This 50 year old SUI tradition caught on so well that it survived two World Wars, a Great Depression and numerous other natural and man-made interferences.

Saturday the Hawkeyes meet Wisconsin, their opponent in the first SUI Homecoming game on Nov. 23, 1912. Iowa football fans should have their fingers crossed that history won't repeat itself since the Badgers downed the Hawks 28-10 in that first Homecoming game.

The 1912 Iowa football stadium, which was located just west of the present University Library, was filled to its 10,000 seat capacity. A wooden fence at one end of the field announced in letters five feet high, "Iowa Fights!"

During half-time SUI students held a snake dance on the field.

One tradition that survived the last five decades is the building of a Homecoming monument. The first monument resembled a suspension bridge spanning Washington Street between the south end of the Physics Building and the Engineering Building. Because the construction showed no visible means of support in the center, it was quite an attraction.

Another memorable monument dates back to 1926. It portrayed the architecture of the Empire State Building and stood 30 feet high.

A mass meeting was held in the Natural Science Auditorium the night before the 1912 Wisconsin-Iowa. Following this rally, an informal men's reception was held in Old Armory. With a blazing log in the fireplace, alumni gathered to talk over old times, drink cider and smoke cigars.

Another surviving attraction from women's field hockey game. In first organized soccer football SUI's first Homecoming is the that year it was followed by the game played in Iowa.

Homecoming participants were also offered a campus tour by car from the Union, SUI military department cadets acted as tour guides and were on duty to "insure order."

Saturday evening a dinner was held in Old Armory with movies later to entertain returning alumni.

By 1915, the annual Homecoming was such an assured success that a record crowd of 11,000 was expected to return. Extra bleachers and boxes were built on the Iowa Field to accommodate the alumni.

Since the Hawkeyes' first Homecoming many events have been added to the weekend's calendar. Among them are the Dolphin water show, the Homecoming parade, a chamber music program, the selection of Miss SUI to reign over the weekend, the Homecoming dance and a travelogue.

The first Homecoming badge appeared in 1924. Badge sales are now a major project for many campus housing units.

At the 1942 Homecoming, the all-girl Scottish Highlanders made

Iowa vs. Minnesota—1928 Style

Iowa and Minnesota battled it out with as much spirit in this 1928 Homecoming game as they have in current tussels. Some differences, however, are the nattily clad referees (notice the hat), and the rather strange looking uniforms which the players wore. The game, which Iowa won 7 to 6, was played in the old Iowa Stadium west of the Library. The stands could only hold 10,000 fans and traffic jams were not as severe as they are today. The 1928 press box looks somewhat smaller than the one which presently graces the Iowa Stadium. (More pictures of the 1928 Homecoming appear on Page 6.)

U.S. Asks Russian Bomb Ban

Reds Hint Easing Of Berlin Crises

MOSCOW (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev held out just the tip of an olive branch to the West on Berlin Tuesday.

He declared the Soviet Union would no longer insist that a German peace treaty be signed by the end of this year — but said this was on condition the Western powers "display readiness to settle the German problem." He did not relent in the least in his terms as to how that problem should be solved.

In a speech of 6 hours, 20 minutes to the 22nd Soviet Communist party Congress, Khrushchev also announced that Soviet scientists would touch off a 50-megaton nuclear bomb, equivalent to 50-million tons of TNT, at the end of October.

He also said the Soviet Union has a bomb twice that size, but would not explode it because "we might break our own windows."

On Berlin and Germany, Khrushchev said, "If the Western powers display readiness to settle the German problem, the question of the time limit for the signing of a German peace treaty will not be so material; we shall not insist that the peace treaty be signed by all means before Dec. 31, 1961," the date he had previously set.

But he went on: "The German peace treaty must be and will be signed, with the Western powers or without them."

He said such a treaty would end Western occupation rights in West Berlin and convert West Berlin to a "free and demilitarized city." These terms are just what Britain, the United States and France have refused to consider.

Khrushchev gave the impression he expected the West to give in in the end.

In a mention of Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko's recent talks with President Kennedy, U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, Khrushchev said, "We had the impression that the Western powers display a certain understanding of the situation and are inclined to seek a solution for the German problem and the West Berlin issue on a mutually acceptable basis."

In his far-ranging report, Khrushchev told the 4,813 delegates and advisory delegates that "only a little more time" would be needed to outstrip the United States economically; that colonialism is dead; and that capitalism is unable to solve any of the urgent problems facing mankind.

He reviewed standing Soviet proposals for a three-headed secretariat in the United Nations, a nonaggression pact between the Warsaw Pact Communist countries and the North Atlantic alliance, the plan of Poland's Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki for atom-free zones in central Europe and the Far East and a "disengagement zone" in central Europe.

He concluded with a violent attack on the Communist party leadership of Albania and Yugoslavia and an implied attack on the Red Chinese. He also announced what sounded like the threat of a party purge of inactive and sluggards.

He accused the Albanians of using "the same methods as were

Can SUIowan Really Do Houdini Act?

Dennis Vokolek Will Try Thursday In Dolphin Show

By GARY GERLACH
News Editor

The 1961 Dolphin Show opens here Thursday night with a last-minute addition that could make this year's production one of the most memorable ever.

In a special Houdini-type escape act, Dennis Vokolek, A3, Cedar Rapids, Dolphin Club vice president, will try to escape from log chains and a box while submerged in the pool.

The act goes this way: first, Vokolek will be tied in chains with combination locks fastening them at his feet, neck and wrists. Then he will be placed in a sack. Then Vokolek, in chains and sacks, will be placed in a box and the lid nailed on.

There will be 150 pounds of additional weight in the box and holes to help make it sink to the bottom of the pool.

Standing by will be two life guards and one man with an axe—just in case something goes wrong.

Vokolek estimates that it will take the box about 20 seconds to sink, and another two minutes for him to free himself and surface.

He plans to hold his breath the entire time.

"It's feasible," he answered when asked if he really expects it to work, "but I'll have to admit that I've never done this exact trick before."

He went on to explain that he had done one similar, but that it was not as complicated.

The new act has gone unrehearsed — no doubt because there isn't too much sense in it — but the Dolphin Club is guaranteeing that the act will be in the show.

Tickets are now on sale for all four performances at Whetstone's Drug, the Iowa Memorial Union and the Field House Ticket Office.

Over 900 tickets have been sold for the Friday performance, and Vokolek estimates that it will be sold out by Friday.

The four performances, all in the Field House swimming pool: Thursday, 8 p.m.; Friday, 8:30 p.m.; Saturday, 7 p.m. and 9 p.m.

Miss SUI Voting Today

The field of ten semi-finalists for Miss SUI of 1961 will be narrowed to five today when the men go to the polls to register their preference for Homecoming Queen.

Balloting will result in five finalists who will be announced late this evening, but the actual Queen will not be announced until the Homecoming pep rally, Friday night.

Polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. today in the Iowa Memorial Union, Medical Labs and Schaeffer Hall.

Monday and Tuesday the girls presented a series of skits along fraternity row and staged an outdoor performance for some 350 Quadsmen in a program designed to acquaint all potential voters with the candidates (and some of their talented backers.)

The semi-finalists include: Betsy Beale, A3, Des Moines, Currier Hall; Connie McBurney A3, Des Moines, Clara Daley House, Burge Hall; Marty Wilson, A3, Des Moines, Maude McBroom House, Burge Hall; Sue LaRue, A4, Glenwood, Delta Delta Delta; Elaine Zuber, Dx, South Amana, Beth Wellman House, Burge Hall; Joyce Burch, Dx, Crystal Lake, Currier Hall; Ann Lorach, A2, Mendota, Ill., Pi Beta Phi; Nan Johnson, Dx, Park Ridge, Ill., Gamma Phi Beta; Pat Teyro, Dx, Park Ridge, Ill., Delta Gamma; Tobye Baron, A4, San Antonio, Tex., Sigma Delta Tau.

News in Brief

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

DES MOINES — An increase in property valuations for tax purposes in 47 counties was recommended Tuesday by the State Tax Commission.

The commission, sitting as a state board of review, also ordered complete re-evaluation of property in many cities, towns and rural areas in 28 counties.

Commissioner X. T. Prentiss said both actions are an attempt to ward greater equalization of real estate assessments throughout the state.

SAN FRANCISCO — Mickey Cohen, one time Los Angeles gambler, was freed on $100,000 bond Tuesday from Alcatraz Island prison.

He was serving a sentence for income tax evasion.

NEWARK, N.J. — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower made a political journey to New Jersey's two biggest cities Tuesday calling for the election of James P. Mitchell as governor to give the Republican party and Eisenhower Republicanism a boost.

BRUNSWICK, Germany — The East Germans are planting land mines along their border for the first time, West German border police reported Tuesday.

They said East German work commands buried them in a 1.3-mile strip north of the Helmsdorf Highway crossing point for Berlin. The area also is laced with barbed wire.

SPU Host To Discussion On E. Berlin

Will Send Telegrams To Kennedy, Mr. K. Protesting Tests

By BILL GRAHAM
Staff Writer

Views ranging from "We cannot welch on West Berlin" to "Let's trade them, move them out of Berlin and compensate them for properties left behind" were expounded in a panel on the Berlin situation given by four SUI professors last night in the Pentacrest Room of the Iowa Memorial Union.

The panel, including Willard Carpenter, instructor in political

As a climax to a panel on the Berlin situation staged by four SUI professors last night in the Pentacrest Room of the Iowa Memorial Union, The Student Peace Union (SPU) will send telegrams to both President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev of Russia concerning nuclear testing.

SPU President Carl Jablonski said that the telegram to Kennedy will ask the president to stop underground nuclear tests and to not resume atmospheric tests and the one to Premier Khrushchev will protest Russia's resumption of atmospheric tests.

science, Prof. Vernon Van Dyke, chairman of the Political Science Department, Ulrich Trumpener, assistant professor of history and a native Berliner, and George Ginsburgs, assistant professor of political science, spoke before a full house of about 100 students and faculty members. The panel was sponsored by the Student Peace Union (SPU).

The first on the panel to speak, Carpenter said that the United States has maintained that it has continued developing nuclear weapons to provide security for the Free World, but that we are now captives of our own words because if we use them it will mean total destruction.

Carpenter declared that we are wrong to base our foreign policy on the constant and inevitable conflict with the Soviet Union because Russia will not wage war against us.

The Soviet ideology has changed and they no longer believe in inevitable war. Their new foreign policy supports nationalism in underdeveloped countries, and they now advocate peaceful co-existence, he said.

Professor Van Dyke said that we are committed to the policy of upholding free, West Berlin, and cannot welch on this commitment. Supposing we were to welch, he continued, it would suggest to others that we are unreliable as an ally.

If we do make good on our commitment, it will probably have to be through a peace settlement over the conference table. This seems to be what Khrushchev wants. But if we cannot make a peace settle-

Nikita Tells Plans For Huge Weapon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House called upon the Soviet Union Tuesday night to reconsider its decision to explode a 50-megaton nuclear weapon.

The White House said in a statement: "We know about high-yield weapons. Since 1957 the United States has had the technical knowledge know-how and the materials to produce bombs in the 50-100 megaton range and higher."

"But we also know that such weapons are not essential to our military needs. Furthermore full-scale tests are not necessary to develop 50-megaton bombs. Such an explosion could only serve some unconfessed political purpose."

"We call upon the Soviet Union to reconsider this decision, in fact it has been made."

Soviet Premier Khrushchev announced in a Moscow speech that the Soviets would end their current nuclear weapons test series by exploding such a bomb at the end of this month. A 50-megaton bomb would have the yield of 50-million tons of TNT.

The White House statement added: "We believe the peoples throughout the world will join us in asking the Soviet Union not to proceed with a test which can serve no legitimate purpose and which adds a mass of additional radioactive fallout to that which has been unleashed in recent weeks."

There was no formal comment on other portions of Khrushchev's 6-hour and 20-minute speech to the 22nd Soviet Communist party Congress in Moscow.

Officials indicated, however, that the U.S. Government would take a careful look at the Soviet ment, the other extreme is unrestricted thermonuclear war. We must not rule out this possibility, and cannot take a stand that we will not under any circumstances fight such a war, because then our hands are tied at the conference table, Van Dyke concluded.

As for Premier Khrushchev's suggestion of a demilitarized free West Berlin, Prof. Van Dyke said that it is not acceptable because the Soviet Union's "free Berlin" would be much less free than is West Berlin right now.

Prof. Trumpener stated that the Western Powers have legal rights in Berlin, although they may not be crystal clear. But he added that more important than these legal rights are the moral obligations that they have toward Berlin.

Prof. Ginsburgs argued that "Berlin is not a symbol," it has no attachment to the rest of Europe, and if it were to disappear tomorrow, Europe would breathe a sigh of relief.

Ginsburgs asked the question, "How did the Berlin situation get started?" and answered it himself: we were simply stuck with it; any moral obligation we have toward it, he continued, we made ourselves; so, in the same token, we can cast off any obligations we have.

He said that West Berlin does not strengthen our military power, and that in fact, it is a liability.

There was a cautiously favorable initial reaction to Khrushchev's offer not to go through with his proposed peace treaty with Communist East Germany by Dec. 31, a deadline he has threatened in the past. But such enthusiasm was restrained by an "it" tossed in by the Soviet boss.

Khrushchev said the time limit would not be so important "if the Western powers display readiness to settle the German problem." Khrushchev did not specify what he meant.

The question of what words mean has figured importantly in the Berlin argument. For instance, Khrushchev's declaration that his German plan would include a "free city" status for West Berlin is viewed by Western strategists as a scheme not for freedom, but for Communist enslavement of the city.

U.S. diplomats welcomed Khrushchev's statement that the Western powers were displaying understanding of the German problem and seeking a mutually acceptable solution. They saw this as evidence of a Moscow willingness to negotiate.

Westerners Frown On Soviet Bomb

LONDON (AP) — Western capitals expressed dismay Tuesday night over Soviet Premier Khrushchev's announced intention of exploding a nuclear bomb equivalent to 50-million tons of TNT.

There was no sign of great relief over Khrushchev's conditional offer to delay signing an East German peace treaty beyond the Dec. 31 deadline he had set.

Western officials noted Khrushchev in his keynote speech to the Soviet Communist party Congress in no way altered Soviet aims to squeeze the allies out of Berlin.

Lord Home, Britain's foreign secretary, accused Khrushchev of deceiving the world and the Soviet people themselves by resuming nuclear weapons tests.

A WEST GERMAN government spokesman in Bonn said Khrushchev's decision to explode a 50-megaton nuclear bomb at the end of October was "an irresponsible act toward the welfare of humanity."

A FOREIGN MINISTRY spokesman in Paris declined immediate comment, saying, "This is too serious, too grave a matter" to discuss publicly on the basis of press summaries of the premier's speech.

IN OTTAWA, Canada's Prime Minister, John Diefenbaker, said Khrushchev appeared more reasonable in his approach to East-West problems but he was sharply critical of the Soviet leader on nuclear testing.

SAYS NIXON IS OUT
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rep. William E. Miller, chairman of the Republican National Committee, said Tuesday that, in his opinion, Richard M. Nixon has "renounced his position of titular head of the national Republican party."

Miller, at a news conference, said former President Dwight D. Eisenhower is, in fact, the national Republican party leader.

Nixon recently announced he would not seek the GOP presidential nomination in 1964 but instead would seek the governorship of California in 1962.

WARRENTON, Ga. — A transport truck and a bus loaded with Negro cotton pickers collided west of here Tuesday night, killing nine persons and injuring six others.

Seven of the victims were killed immediately. Two others died in hospitals. Two of the injured were listed in critical condition.

The bus was returning about 30 cotton pickers home after their day's work when the crash occurred between Burnett and Norwood.

Consider the Issues, Not Personalities

The upcoming City Council election has aroused a good deal more interest than elections in the past few years. One of the biggest reasons for this heightened interest is obviously the number of candidates and the personalities of certain candidates.

Despite the interest, however, there seems to be a singular lack of issues in this election. The interest, instead, seems to center around discussion of the personality of City Manager Peter F. Roan. The only issue, as far as we can see, is whether you like or dislike City Manager Roan.

We feel effective city government depends on the election of competent representatives. The selection of city officials should be on the basis of their stands on issues which effect city government and not on the ability of any candidate as a "mud-slinger."

Let's define and vote on the issues — not personalities. Then if the name of the city manager comes up, the discussion will be about his performance or lack of performance, and not about whether we like him personally.

A Lot of Garbage

The City Health Department has a problem. It seems that Iowa Citizens living in downtown apartments have been using the aluminum waste paper receptacles in their area for disposal of garbage and "other offensive material."

Orville Hintz, sanitation engineer for the City Health Department, has issued a warning against the continuation of such practices. Hintz said that students and Iowa Citizens found dumping garbage in the waste paper receptacles will be prosecuted by the Health Department. The maximum penalty for such an act is $100 fine or 30 days in jail.

Last year, the Health Department was forced to prosecute when the practice of dumping garbage in the receptacles was not stopped after ample warning. Hintz has explained that the Department has no particular desire to bring charges against the residents; instead, it simply wants the practice to stop.

The proper method for apartment residents to follow is to maintain a garbage can which should be dumped periodically at the land fill on South Riverside Drive.

Iowa Citizens who face a little extra work in disposing of the garbage in the proper manner should not be irritated by the City Health Department's request.

Those doubting the offensiveness of the waste paper receptacles filled with garbage need simply to walk past one of them on a warm day. It doesn't take long to get the "drift" of the entire problem.

Why Send Them?

That young Peace Corps lady in Nigeria was indiscreet, to say the least, in committing her impressions of the host country to a postcard and then losing it for outraged Nigerian students to find. But she cannot be accused of untruthfulness.

Nigeria is, as the young lady from Massachusetts wrote, "really a revelation." Living conditions in city and bush are every bit as squalid and primitive as she related to a friend back home; she would have been in for an equally "horrified shock" had she been assigned to almost any other new and backward African nation.

Anyway, the fired-up Nigerian students are calling the Peace Corps people "agents of imperialism" and demanding that they go home. In much distress, the Peace Corps woman has tried to make amends. She might as well save her breath; nor should she feel too badly. If it had not been her postcard, there would soon have been some other Peace Corps transgression, real or imagined, to insult local sensibilities. The antipathy is there awaiting a spark.

The most piquant aspect of the whole affair, we think, in the unrefined reaction of Peace Corps chief Shriver back in Washington. "This is the kind of incident we have anticipated," he observed. "Other troubles will occur."

So the Peace Corps brass have been expecting right along that their candid young would be booted out of the countries they're assigned to. That being the case, the obvious question is: Why send them in the first place?

U.S. Reacts to Yugoslavia's Recent Knife-Sticking Game

By ROLAND EVANS JR.

Herald Tribune News Service
BELGRADE — A chill wind from Washington blows across the rain-stormed wheat fields of Yugoslavia and into the Chancelleries of this "Neutralist Capital."

The message is clear: At long last the United States is re-examining the policy of massive economic aid to the man who broke with Stalin in 1948 — but who proclaimed last year that in all significant matters of foreign policy, Yugoslavia stood shoulder to shoulder with the Soviet Union.

THE TITO-MEN are sniffing the chilly wind from Washington pretending not to read its message. They ask:

"You Americans, why are you so nervous?" They refer obliquely to "misunderstanding" over President Tito's speech to the conference of Neutral Nations here last month.

But it is the Yugoslavs who are getting "nervous." Since the break with the Soviet Union, Uncle Sam has shelled out some $2 billion of military and economic aid. Much of this, it is pointed out, is surplus wheat and other seed grains sent here under the terms of Public Law 400. But every pound of wheat has saved the Yugoslav Government that much scarce foreign exchange.

NOW YUGOSLAVIA confronts the virtual certainty that the golden stream of dollars and wheat is coming to an end — not, to be sure, an abrupt end but a sharp tapering off.

It is high time. Before the Neutralist Conference started here on Sept. 1, Ambassador Kennan and other U.S. officials in the embassy took pains to spell out in laborious detail the precise American position on all the major issues dividing the West and the East — nuclear testing, Berlin, the structure of the United Nations and others.

And then, in what looked suspiciously like nose-thumbing, Marshal Tito made his notorious speech containing the now-familiar flat, hard pro-Soviet "Neutralism." The West is making a "fetish" out of inspection and control to avoid a first step toward "real disarmament."

France, not the Soviet Union, is the guilty party in the breakings of the test ban moratorium by Russia; settlement of the Berlin problem is simply a question of "exploring ways and means for the peaceful and constructive cooperation between the two German states," without a single reference to the freedom of West Berlin or the guarantee of the right of access.

PRESIDENT TITO
His Speech Brought Anger

EVEN THE Soviet Union talks about access, but President Tito apparently does not recognize it as an issue.

One word accurately describes President Kennedy's reaction when he read the text of what Tito had said. That word is anger.

Shortly after the Marshal's speech, it may now be reported, a sharply phrased memo was delivered to the Yugoslav Foreign office setting out in detail the U.S. displeasure. The initial response of the Yugoslav Government is described here as unrepentant.

And so the stage is set for the reappraisal now proceeding in the White House and the State Department. The Yugoslavs are understood to be requesting a million tons of wheat to cover the drastic crop failure last summer and guarantee enough surplus to last well into next summer. They are also understood to be seeking $5 million from the development loan fund and smaller amounts for technical aid. The package comes to around $10 million.

WE WILL AGREE, almost certainly, to deliver enough wheat to avoid any catastrophic gap — perhaps half, or a bit more, of the million-ton shortage. And we may, because of previous commitments, continue some of the long term economic development aid, but both these items should and will be tried.

U.S. aid has been absolutely indispensable to Tito in the development of his special brand of National Communism. Without it Tito could not have dreamed of reaching the high state in the world of the Neutralists that he has now attained, climaxed with the windy affair here last month. He has become a formidable figure, and his people have attained a national well-being that was scarcely imaginable 10 years ago.

TO STICK the knife into Uncle Sam now is inexcusable. And yet that, in the opinion of the American Government, is just what he did.

If we should now close our eyes to the reality of Yugoslavia's foreign policy and try to explain away the facts we gravely damage ourselves in the other 83 countries that are now beneficiaries of American aid.

It is past time to demonstrate that two can play the knife sticking game as well as one.

Diploma for Jack

Jack Benny, the friendly fellow in every family's album, has finally received his diploma from high school. It is only right that the diploma should come from the Jack Benny High School.

Jack has been around so long he has become an institution himself. You almost look for him on those pictures of Washington crossing the Delaware, and you are sure he was on the other side of the Potomac when that dollar was thrown.

Yet the highest honor Jack Benny ever can win is the degree of affection millions hold for him. This master of the ludicrous has eased more tensions than 10,000 psychiatrist couches. We are all thankful for the hours (or half-hours) of laughter he has given us and will continue to give.

On Other Campuses

By ERIC ZOECKLER
Staff Writer

The shapely Miss who, according to a United Press International report, touched off a riot involving 2,000 University of Wisconsin students came out of hiding and identified herself last week.

The Daily Cardinal report of the UPI story said, a mingling crowd began to form late Saturday night (Oct. 7) outside the local pubs of downtown Madison after celebrating Wisconsin's 6-3 football victory over Indiana.

Then, according to reports, a girl walking out of one of the establishments, "touched off the demonstration by waving a scarf at a group of young men."

A young man attired in sunglasses and untied tie then started playing mad-dog with passing cars and remained unmolested from police interference for 30 minutes, the UPI story said.

As soon as the first unmarked police car appeared, students began rocking it as soon as it stopped.

Thus the riot began and continued into the night with students mocking the police plan to quell the mob with tear gas by chanting "We want gas, we want gas." An attempt to storm the state capitol was discouraged when onrushing students were met by patrol cars coming toward them.

But the girl who waved the scarf had long disappeared.

In Tuesday's Daily Cardinal, reporter Colin McCamy, who insisted the UPI's treatment of the matter was "somewhat sensationalist" asked that the provocative Miss reveal herself.

Miss McCamy's request was granted Wednesday when Barbel Brandmeier, a 21-year-old professional model from Dortmund, Germany, who is visiting friends in this country, walked into the Daily Cardinal offices and said in a thick German accent, "Well, you wanted to meet me, so here I am."

She hurriedly added that she had no part in starting the riot.

"I was just crossing State Street by Francis Street because I saw my girl friend on the other side. When I went in front of all those people they holler at me, 'Cross again, cross again.' So I just wave my scarf and went by my girl friend."

Miss Brandmeier wore the same outfit to the Cardinal office that she had been wearing Saturday night — a tight blue knit dress, the Daily Cardinal story reported.

Apparently, Miss Brandmeier doesn't know American boys too well. In her interview with Cardinal reporters she said, "This dress is pretty short, though. Anyway, when I cross they all whistle and clap and yell at me."

AN EPISCOPALIAN priest last week did a relative about-face when he openly criticized the administrators of Northwestern's fraternities by saying that fraternities are being held back by too many rules and regulations.

The Rev. Scott N. Jones, Episcopal chaplain, whose letter came in response to a speech made by John Berghoff, Inter-Fraternity Council representative, stated, "They (fraternities) aren't allowed to have a vigorous hell week or vigorous anything for that matter. A little more relaxation of standards..." and there would be "fewer two-day binges in some fellow's apartment..."

Berghoff in his speech before a convocation of fraternity pledges had attacked, "immature hazing, poor scholarship and partiality to alcohol" present in the N.U. fraternity system, the Daily Northwestern said.

"Students have the right to raise hell, have party raids. I'm all for party raids. Everyone is always saying 'naughty, naughty,'" the Rev. Jones commented.

He stated that he was in no sense encouraging unhealthy and excessive expressions of "student-manship" but added that "I am stoutly for letting students be students."

He explained that repression of students' emotions often results in frustrations that are relieved by drinking.

Berghoff was the first to attack Father Jones' views when he said, "To say that allowing a 'vigorous hell week' or party raids will cut down on alcoholism is ridiculous."

"Scott Jones has apparently turned in his collar for a raccoon coat."

Most of the N.U. fraternity presidents went along with Berghoff's view that hell week and party raids have nothing to do with drinking.

The row was continued Tuesday night at a public debate which was covered over a local radio station.

Eye-Opener to Facts Of Issue on TV Ban

To the Editor:

As a student at Iowa State University I wish to express a "thanks" to your student newspaper and to your editorial which presented a realistic view of the current controversy over the TV ban on your football games.

"Hats off" to the staff of your paper for its insight in a matter which has received much publicity on our campus.

I agree that State Senator George O'Malley's attitude makes it look as if there isn't room for two football teams in the state of Iowa.

In my opinion, the discussion of this matter is between the two universities and the NCAA, not the law maker's in Des Moines.

Incidents of this type which receive so much outside publicity seem to overemphasize the competition which exists between the universities.

Both universities are operating for a common purpose: educating students. The athletic programs of each are and should be a supplement to this purpose.

When athletics become of primary importance over the academic functions of a school, the school's main goal is lost. Editorialists such as yours help to open the eyes of the people to the existing facts of the TV ban issue. When these facts are realized perhaps the focus will shift back to football as a supplement to an educational institution rather than the "football first, education next" attitude which current state-wide publicity seems to show its readers.

Lake Forest, Alpha Phi—Explanation Needed Here

To the Editor:

This fall, as at any other time, many things have been published on the SUU campus. So many that it is impossible for any one person to read it all, or even to relate all that one does read. Perhaps the Administration realizes this and thought that therefore the connection between the following three items would go unnoticed, thus allowing both the inconsistent Administration and the decadent fraternity-sorority system to continue merrily along in their hypocritical ways.

The Daily Iowan of Sept. 30 reported that "Five sororities at Lake Forest College have lost their national charters... the charters were withdrawn because the school's board of trustees... advocates full freedom for local chapters to choose their associates regardless of race, creed or color." Among the five sororities was Alpha Phi.

The 1961-1962 edition of the Code of Student Life states that "Any new organization applying for recognition at SUU must show to the satisfaction of the Committee on Student Life that it can, without question, exercise the right of freely selecting its members, using as criteria the merits of the individual person irrespective of race, color, or national origin." (p. 19.)

Finally, in The Daily Iowan of Oct. 10 we find that "According to Helen Reich, advisor for the Panhellenic Council, the SUU system is apparently flourishing with 14 chapters and 839 members. The newest sorority, Alpha Phi, moved on campus last year."

Let anyone attempt to claim otherwise, it should be pointed out that the 1960-1961 edition of the Code of Student Life, which appeared before discriminatory Alpha Phi came to SUU, carried the same provision with regard to discrimination as the new edition.

It would appear to me that the Administration, and in particular the Committee on Student Life, owes the University community an explanation.

Litterbugs at Large

By this time posters enjoining "Don't Be a Litterbug" have become widely familiar in the United States. These are the work of the Advertising Council and of an organization described by its objective, Keep America Beautiful.

The latter group is supported largely, and appropriately, by manufacturers of products which are characteristic American conveniences but which, when thoughtlessly discarded, can become national nuisances: beer cans, cold drink bottles, paper cups and containers...

In fact, farmers complain not only that their roadsides are fouled by beer cans and liquor bottles but that these objects get into their fields, damaging tractor tires and mowing-machine blades. Traffic safety experts attribute hundreds of mishaps to drivers swerving to avoid a piece of litter on the highway. Municipalities spend an estimated $50 million a year to clean roadsides alone, not to mention beaches and parks.

Many states assess fines for discarding rubbish from cars. But the most fitting punishment is imposed by Missouri judges who are reported to sentence convicted litterers to clean up one mile of roadside in person.

Judge Grants Stump Access To Statement

DES MOINES (AP) — Roan Stump, 22, Keokuk, former graduate student on trial in District Court on a first degree murder charge, won access Tuesday to a written statement by an eyewitness to the slaying on which his case is based.

The witness, Leanna Jean Stump, 21, Des Moines, also a former SUU student, said in the statement that she saw Stump fatally shoot Michael Daly, 22, in front of De home here last June 9.

Miss Skultety said she Stump shot Daly three times, the statement made no mention of Stump firing a fourth shot at the defense alleges she said. She formerly had dated Stump, but had turned to Daly.

Judge C. Edwin Moore, in reversing a previous ruling, ordered the state to provide Stump with a copy of the statement. After Judge made his ruling, examining attorneys requested a recess where it had left off at the Monday of the first day of trial.

Ike Says Didn't Approve Selling Jets to Yugoslavia

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — For President Dwight Eisenhower a news conference today he nothing to do with the sale of Sabre jet fighter planes to Communist Yugoslavia.

Eisenhower said that as far as he could remember, the military said it had the planes available last January during the first days of his Administration. He said the State Department proved the sale later in January a few days after President Kennedy took office. The actual agreement between the United States and Yugoslavia was made March, he said.

Eisenhower said that in 1955 was decided as a matter of policy that as long as Yugoslav-American diplomatic relations were maintained on the same level the United States would sell military equipment for cash, except secret equipment.

The sale — a package deal which eight Yugoslav air force pilots are being trained at Pe Air Force Base, Tex. — was closed by the State Department last Friday and immediately drew sharp criticism.

CHOSEN AS OFFICERS for the physical therapy class at SUI are Ralph Wentzen, G. Tama, president; Mary Lou Vey, G. Moline, Ill., secretary-treasurer, and Elizabeth Kiker, G. Wadesboro, N.C., social committee chairman.

Successful completion of the twelve-month course in physical therapy qualifies candidates to take the American Registry of Physical Therapists' examination and to receive a certificate from the University after passing the Registry examination.

The course for the training of physical therapists, organized in connection with the division of physical medicine and rehabilitation, is designed to train individuals to work under the direction of qualified physicians.

WILLARD HARTRUP, associate professor at the SUI Child Welfare Research Station, has been invited to serve on a child research panel at the final session of the National Association for Nursery Education conference in St. Louis, Mo., Saturday.

On the panel "Research Digest," he will join with other leaders in the fields of child research in discussing the importance of the nursery school teacher's knowledge of child development.

"Focus on the Future" is the theme of the annual NANE conference, which will open Thursday at the Statler-Hilton Hotel in St. Louis.

At Chrysler for Negotiations —

Ruther Brushes Aside Strike Talk

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther brushed aside talk of a strike Tuesday as he showed up at Chrysler Corporation for intensified negotiations on a new labor contract.

Asked about setting a strike deadline, the United Auto Workers president said "We are not going to make this decision now." Reuther said the union would re-evaluate the situation at the end of the week.

Reuther indicated Chrysler, which has made no net profits so far this year, would be asked to accept the pattern established in contracts with General Motors Corp. and the Ford Motor Co.

"We don't intend to have Chrysler workers subsidize the corporation by accepting substandard conditions," Reuther said. "When Chrysler buys a ton of steel, it doesn't get a discount because the company has problems."

Reuther said he was trying for a quick settlement with Chrysler. His union struck GM for two weeks and Ford for 13 days before wrapping up new three-year contracts.

Reuther made his first appearance at Chrysler since the start of the auto industry's contract negotiations 3½ months ago. He said the session was to set up a schedule of procedure to expedite the negotiations.

"We want to move as quickly as we can," Reuther said.

Chrysler's vice president for personnel, John D. Leary, declined to make any statement before joining Reuther at the bargaining table.

Norman Matthews, director of the UAW's Chrysler department, said some progress has been since June 30 in negotiations with Chrysler on noneconomic matters — the term the company and union use in referring to work rules in a national contract. Matthews added, "There are still some hard core issues." He said these include seniority, production standards and grievance procedure.

Ford and the UAW virtually have wrapped up all trouble spots left over from a strike. The company said all its assembly plants were in production with an estimated 90,000 hourly employees on the job.

The only holdout is Local 420 at the Walton Hills stamping plant near Cleveland, Ohio. An extended shutdown of the Ohio plant could cripple Ford production.

Chrysler reported a net loss of $15.7 million in the first six months of 1961; the company's third-quarter ter report this year also is expected to be red.

Reuther has blamed the loss on management.

The UAW has 46 Chrysler locals representing 53,000 production workers and 7,000 salaried employees.

Hornung, Nitschke Lost—

Uncle Sam Issues Call; Green Bay's Title Hopes Sag

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—The Army dealt the Green Bay Packers' National Football League title hopes a jolting blow Tuesday by calling up scoring champion Paul Hornung and middle linebacker Ray Nitschke.

Although both Hornung and Nitschke are members of the Army reserve, their call to active duty shocked the Packers, who have streaked to four straight victories after a 17-13 upset by Detroit in their opener.

Coach Vince Lombardi put off any immediate decision on moves to fill key spots on both his offensive and defensive units. He noted that the departure of Hornung and Nitschke is "two or three weeks away."

The 14th Army Corps headquarters in Minneapolis announced that year ago. Both served six months on Nov. 2 at Ft. Lewis, Wash. An Army spokesman said orders normally are "personal information" but an announcement of the call-up of Hornung and Nitschke was made "because of earlier rumors."

Lombardi said early in the day that "four or five" Green Bay players were subject to military in the Army a couple of years ago, then went into the reserves.

Nitschke, a former Illinois fullback, was converted to a defensive specialist by the Packers. Hornung was Green Bay's bonus selection in the NFL's 1957 draft after he won the Heisman Trophy as the nation's outstanding college player in his senior year at Notre Dame.

He won the league scoring championship in 1959, his first season, with 94 points. He scored a record 176 points, shattering the old league mark of 138 by Don Hutson of Green Bay, in leading the Packers to the Western Division title in 1960.

This season Hornung has piled up 77 points in five games. His greatest performance was a 33-point spree on four touchdowns, a field goal and six conversions against Baltimore Oct. 8.

Nitschke was the third choice of the New York Giants in the 1957 draft and then was traded to Green Bay. He became a regular linebacker last season and this year has been a standout in the Packers' tremendous defense which has held opponents to 51 points, fewest in the league.

OLYMPIC PROBLEM

TOKYO (AP)—A six-month dispute over the site for the Olympic village in the 1964 Tokyo games was virtually settled Tuesday when representatives agreed to put the Olympic village in Washington Heights, a U.S. military housing area adjacent to the main Olympics stadium.

Top Iowa Scorer

Joe Williams, one of the mainstays in the Iowa running attack, works out the kinks in preparation for the Wisconsin game. Williams is the leading Iowa scorer having tallied five touchdowns.

Williams Follows 'Relaxation Formula'—and Gets Results

At least nine evenings each fall, Joe Williams can be found playing cards with other members of the University of Iowa football team.

It's his hobby and about the only way the stocky Hawkeye back can keep his mind off the game of the following Saturday afternoon.

"I guess it's psychological," Joe said. "I don't sleep very well Friday nights and cards help to release the tension."

Williams, a 5-10, 200-pound junior, opened the season as No. 1 fullback but was shifted to left halfback before the Southern California game after all-American Larry Ferguson was lost indefinitely with a knee injury.

And Joe has come through with superior performances in Iowa's last two games. Against Southern California, Williams opened the scoring in the first quarter and before the half ended the Rahway, N. J. man had scored three touchdowns, equalling a modern era Iowa record.

In Iowa's 27-3 win over Indiana Oct. 14, Williams scored twice in the first half. His five touchdowns and 30 points put him on top in Iowa scoring and he now shares the Big Ten all-game scoring lead with Northwestern's Bill Swingle.

"I think I must have lost about 10 touchdowns last season by not checking the location of my blockers," he said. "This season I am concentrating on where my blocking will come from and where to follow the blockers."

In Iowa's first three victories, Joe has been doing just that. He is averaging just under four yards per carry and has caught three passes for 81 yards and two touchdowns. Williams was just starting in grade school when the fabulous Emlien Tunnell was winding up his career as a Hawkeye back and beginning his long pro service.

"Em had a lot to do with my coming to Iowa," Williams declared. "I watched him play when he was with the New York Giants."

Tunnell may have had a lot to do with the Rahway lead coming to Iowa. But a high school coach—Jim Taigia—was the man who guided Joe into football.

"I liked baseball best when I was in grade school—I still do—but the coach told me to give football a try," he said.

That "try" earned Joe an all-state position for two years and a place on a high school all-American team when he was a senior.

But he had time to compete in both basketball and baseball in high school and he finished with a maximum of nine letters.

But ultimately: "I would like to go into social work as a case worker," he said. "It's a wide open field, especially in my home metropolitan area. Several social workers from Rahway suggested that he enter the field, so he began study of sociology this fall, giving up his desire to coach."

To Joe, defense is the most pleasing part of a football game. "I like offense, but in that you have to think and then act. Defense is more quick reaction on the part of the player," he said.

A defensive reaction in the Michigan State game of 1960 probably was one of the most important plays the steel-worker's son performed last season.

Iowa had a 14-0 halftime lead, but the Spartans came back and took a 15-14 lead with less than five minutes to play. Soon after, Iowa lost a fumble on its 38-yard line and it appeared that the final chance had gone.

But two Iowans charged into the Michigan State quarterback, the ball squirted into the air and Joe Williams, slicing across, caught it and rammed 67 yards for a touchdown with only 3:38 left to give Iowa a sudden 20-15 lead. The final was 27-15.

Hawks Work On Defense In Practice

By HARRIETT HINDMAN
Staff Writer

Iowa's Hawkeyes practiced in pads Tuesday night as they continued preparations for their homecoming battle with Wisconsin this weekend.

Both first and second teams spent considerable time on pass defense, anticipating a strong passing game led by Wisconsin's senior quarterback, Ron Miller. In the Badgers' slight 23-20 victory over Oregon State last weekend, Miller connected on 15 of 28 pass attempts for 218 yards.

Practice ended with a 20-minute dummy scrimmage under the lights, after one of the Hawks' longest live sessions in two weeks, a 40-minute offensive scrimmage. Matt Szykowny directed the offense, calling a number of plays, a probable indication that the capacity crowd of over 60,000 will be treated to a Miller-Szykowny passing duel Saturday.

Injured quarterback Wilburn Hollis was in sweat clothes tossing the ball short distances and kicking occasionally. Hollis will have his injured wrist X-rayed Friday to determine how it is healing. Lonnie Rogers, North English sophomore, has been moved up to second team right halfback, followed by Mike McDonald, a junior, now number three at that position. Bernie Wyatt has been dropped from the three-deep offensive lineup and will be used mostly on defense.

Speaking of Saturday's conference game with Wisconsin, Iowa Coach Jerry Burns said: "I consider this as a crossroads game for Iowa. We really are stepping into a hornet's nest, after our first three victories. How the squad reacts to the challenge of this fine Wisconsin team should go a long way toward deciding how far we will go in the conference race."

Tough Defensive Drills For Iowa State Squad

AMES (AP)—The Iowa State football squad went through a vigorous defensive scrimmage Tuesday in preparation for its Big Eight Conference encounter with Missouri here Saturday.

Coach Clay Stapleton had the team working on fundamentals and pass protection, while the freshmen ran Missouri offense plays.

Iowa State will be seeking to break a five-game losing streak to the Tigers Saturday. The Cyclones last beat Missouri in 1955.

U-High, Strong Columbus Jct. Play Tonight

By GEORGE KAMPLING
Staff Writer

Coach Gary Hansen's University High Bluehaws start this week's prep action tonight at 7:30 in a tough Eastern Iowa Hawkeye Conference game at Columbus Junction.

The Blues, hit hard by injuries this season, have lost three guards and have several backs out with injured knees or legs.

The Columbus Junction team is missing via graduation only five members of last year's squad which won the conference title. The Wildcats have won 14 straight games and are favored to take the Eastern Iowa title again this season.

Thursday night at the City High field, the Iowa City Little Hawks move back into action after a two week lay-off. They face Cedar Rapids Washington in a Mississippi Valley Conference game at 8 p.m.

The Little Hawks, ranked No. 1 in Iowa, are unbeaten in four games and are currently riding along on a 12-game winning streak stretching back to the second game of the 1960 season.

Regina's Regals, who lost their first game of the season here Sunday to Regis of Cedar Rapids, go to Fort Dodge St. Edmonds Saturday night. Game time is 8 p.m.

This is the first of three straight road trips for Regina, which played four of its first five games at home.

Top Missouri Backs Return to Action

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—The Missouri football situation improved a little Tuesday with a pair of right halfbacks, Bill Tobin and Gerald Stevenson, and a left halfback, Norman Beal, getting back into action.

But quarterback Ron Taylor and fullbacks Andy Russell and Mack Gilchrist were still out of action with injuries.

Coach Dan Devine said he doubted that Taylor would be able to play against Iowa State Saturday.

ISU's Hoppman Is 4th In Nation in Rushing

NEW YORK (AP)—Dave Hoppman, Iowa State tailback, is fourth in rushing and sixth in total offense in major college football, figures released by the NCAA Service Bureau showed Tuesday.

Hoppman in four games has carried the ball 109 times for 430 yards rushing. In total offense he has 635 yards in 130 plays.

In an effort to strengthen newly-formed teams, the New York Mets and the Houston Colt .45s purchased new players from two established National League teams.

In New York the New York Mets of the National League purchased pitcher Bob Botz and outfielder Neil Crisley from Milwaukee. Purchase prices were not announced. Both players spent the season with Louisville in the International League.

Botz is a right-handed pitcher. He finished with a 9-10 record. Crisley, who started in Boston Red Sox chain and played with various American League clubs, is a left-handed batter. He hit .294 with Louisville.

Meanwhile in St. Louis the Cardinals purchased pitcher Al Cicotte from the Houston Colt .45s. The purchase was announced by the Cardinals.

Football Fanfare

By JERRY ELSEA
Sports Editor

By JERRY ELSEA
Sports Editor

There is an old saying, "In a land of blind men a one-eyed man is king." The proverb, when applied to football (what else?), reminds me of Ole Miss, king-pin grid power of the Southland.

The Rebels trampled Houston 47-7 last Saturday and probably had few doubts about retaining their position atop the Associated Press poll.

After all, Ole Miss has wallpopped every ball club so far and won't play a tough game until Nov. 4 against Louisiana State.

BUT THE AP foxed Ole Miss, last week No. 1, and once again bestowed the honor on a Big Ten team, not Iowa which fell to fourth, but Michigan State.

And why shouldn't the Spartans be No. 1? Their credentials are the best in the country. To date Coach Duffy Daugherty's rough-house outfit has scored 79 points in three games while giving up three points, a Stanford field goal.

The Spartans started off by swamping Wisconsin 20-0, quite a show of power considering the Badgers had played a game and the only men Daugherty's boys had bumped heads with were other Spartans on the practice field.

A week later the most fired up Stanford team in several years invaded East Lansing and was flat.

DAUGHERTY

tened underneath the MSU steam roller 31-3.

Then last Saturday the then fifth-ranked Spartans stunned rival Michigan 28-0 — and at Michigan.

ALL THIS SUDDEN winning is part of the Duffy Daugherty championship formula which has been tried but has never succeeded.

Duffy has been drooling over a championship for seven years and never gotten it. Now it appears that Daugherty and Co. will have at least one year of plenty.

Last year the Spartans had a fine team, 3-2 in the Big Ten, but the team never really had a shot at the title, monopolized by Iowa and Minnesota, both 5-1.

MICHIGAN STATE's win over Indiana didn't count because the Hoosiers were on NCAA and Big Ten probation for allegedly illegal recruiting procedures. But even if the game had counted the Spartans would have only tied for second place with Ohio State.

So after one more year as an named minor league Player of the Year in 1960, when he was with Toronto of the International League. But with the Cardinals last year he won only two while losing six and had an earned run average of 5.26.

No Evidence of Scandal—Hogan

NEW YORK (AP) — There is no evidence that college football games have been fixed, Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan said Tuesday.

"We've heard rumors and have been investigating them, but we aren't getting anywhere," Hogan told Milton Gross, sports columnist of the New York Post.

Thirty-seven players from 22 colleges were named in the recent college basketball scandal. A similar scandal in 1951 involved 33 players from seven schools.

Alabama Star Named Back Of the Week

Pat Trammell may not be the most stylish-looking quarterback around the nation but the rangy Alabama senior gets the job done. For turning in another fine performance, this time against North Carolina State, Trammell was named The Associated Press Back of the Week Tuesday.

The 6-foot-2, 193-pounder from Scottsboro, Ala., led the unbeaten Crimson Tide to a 26-7 victory by completing 10 of 14 passes for 155 yards and two touchdowns, ran for another touchdown, and passed for a two-point conversion.

Trammell was given a strong run for the honor by Pete Smith of Michigan State, Lance Alworth of Arkansas, Eldon Fortie of Brigham Young, Eddie Wilson of Arizona and Ernie Davis of Syracuse.

Other backs nominated included Iowa's Matt Szykowny and Joe Williams. Szykowny, who took over the starting quarterback role for the first time against Indiana, completed 13 of 22 passes for 128 yards. One was good for a touchdown.

Williams scored two touchdowns against the Hoosiers to give him a total of five for the season. He is tied with Bill Swingle of North-western for the "all-games" football scoring lead of the Big Ten.

Smith passed for one touchdown and set up two other scores with passes in MSU's 28-0 trouncing of previously unbeaten Michigan.

Alworth scored a touchdown with a 32-yard pass after helping set up the drive with a 25-yard run in the Razorbacks' 23-13 conquest of Baylor.

Fortie scored two touchdowns, gained 117 yards on 3 of 6 passes and carried 12 times for 48 yards in his team's 21-20 loss to favored Utah.

Wilson's pin-point booting put the ball out of bounds on the 2, 7, 8, and 20-yard lines. In addition he completed six passes for 96 yards in Arizona's 15-6 upset of Oregon.

Davis ran for 120 yards and two touchdowns in Syracuse's 28-6 triumph over Nebraska.

Others nominated were Jerry Stoval, Louisiana State; Stan Gann and Joe Auer, Georgia Tech; Ron Zoia, Hofstra; Bob Ferguson, Ohio State; Joe Williams and Matt Szykowny, Iowa; Jerry Gross, Detroit; Al Butts, Columbia; Angelo Dabiero, Notre Dame; Joe Blackgrove, Army; Jimmy Hellman and Dan Keating, Colgate; Richie Richmond, Villanova; John Krumme, Dartmouth; Bill Joern, Holy Cross; Tommy Larscheid, Utah State; Mike Cotten, Texas; Andy Russell, Missouri; Bobby Smith and Mike Haffner, UCLA, and Ron Miller of Wisconsin.

Richter-Miller Duo Leads Wisconsin

By Staff Writer

If any Iowa fans anticipate a "pushover" game against Wisconsin Saturday, a quick look at the performances of two Badger stars against Oregon State last Saturday should change their minds.

Hugh "Pat" Richter, Wisconsin's great pass catching end, established a new Badger record in the contest when he snatched eight passes for 138 yards against the Beavers. It was a Wisconsin mark for the most receptions in a single game, breaking his own record of seven set last year as a sophomore in his first collegiate game.

Richter (who incidentally came to Wisconsin on a basketball scholarship) now has 16 receptions in 1961 play for 221 yards. His career total of 41 passes caught is just five short of the three-year Wisconsin mark set by Jerry Witt (17 in 1951, 25 in 1952 and 4 in 1953.) Richter's total yardage is now 583 yards.

Not only is Richter's offensive record impressive but Wisconsin Coach Mill Bruhn said after Saturday's Oregon State game that he was well pleased with Richter's defensive play.

"For the first time this year, Pat was the 'complete' football player. I hope he's found himself now and will continue to have a fine year," Bruhn commented.

The worst part of all — from the Iowa standpoint — is that blazing passes to Richter is quarterback Ron Miller, one of the Big Ten's best-throwing signal-callers. Against Oregon State he completed 15 of 28 passes good for 218 yards. His passing accuracy was especially good in the first half when he hit his receivers 14 of 24 times for 216 yards. A re-adjusted Oregon State defense held him to a mere two yards in the second half.

With the Miller-Richter combination heading for Iowa City Saturday, the Homecoming game with Wisconsin promises to be anything but a pushover!

We're Not Going To Iowa To Lose

Bruhn Declares

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Wisconsin Coach Mill Bruhn emphasized Tuesday that "we are not going to Iowa City to lose" as he sent his Badger football players through a rugged contact session.

The Badgers meet the strong Iowa team in a Big Ten game at Iowa City Saturday.

Bruhn continued to emphasize passing with veteran quarterback Ron Miller throwing to the ends and backs. Freshmen and reserve units were used on defense.

The Badgers escaped serious injury in the Oregon State game last Saturday and should be in top shape this weekend.

Kennedy Given
Gold Medal Honor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National-Fame named President Kennedy at Football Foundation and Hall of Tuesday as winner of its 1961 Gold Medal Award.

A delegation from the Foundation called at the White House to invite Kennedy to a dinner in New York Dec. 5 when the award will be made.

Previous winners of the Gold Medal Award are former Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and Herbert Hoover, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, and Alonzo Stagg.

Machen Gains TKO Over Brian London

LONDON (AP) — Heavyweight contender Eddie Machen of Portland, Ore., scored a technical knockout over Brian London Tuesday night when the referee stopped the fight at the end of the fifth round of the 10-round bout in indoor Wembley Stadium.

The 29-year-old American won all five rounds and used the 27-year-old Briton as a chopping block before a sell-out crowd of 12,000. Machen weighed 200, London 209.

Blood streamed from London's nose and a cut over his right eye. His left eye was bruised and badly battered.

Machen set the pattern for the fight in the first round. He threw punches to the Briton's body and then quickly sneaked in with hooks to the jaw, followed by combination punches to the face. In the first round London landed only one telling punch — a left to the temple.

A desperate London tried storming tactics in the fifth. He threw himself in like a mad bull. Machen picked off the brawling Briton cleverly, cut him about the eyes and at the end of the round it was hard to see London's face through a curtain of blood.

At the end of the round, Referee Andrew Smyth of Ireland took a look at London and then London walked across to Machen in a token of retirement.

"Now I want to fight Henry Cooper, the British champion," Machen said. "I would come here any time and fight Cooper any place."

Cooper, like Machen, is a top contender for Floyd Patterson's heavyweight title.

Old Time Iowa Stadium

An over-all view of the Iowa Stadium in 1928, which was located west of the Library, shows the crowd of 10,000 watching the Iowa-Minnesota Homecoming game won by Iowa 7-6. Several well-known landmarks are visible such as the Hydraulics Lab and the bridge over the river. The picture also shows that caps were pretty popular in 1928.

When the 20's Roared

Four SUI coeds, circa 1928, beautify that year's Homecoming Parade as they ride on a float through town. Evidently, the young women are portraying the "Spirit of Minnesota" (notice the bottles in two coeds' hands and in the wagon). Their mode of transportation doesn't look too steady either.

Project AID To Tell Aims In Letters to SUI Parents

By JOAN ANDERSON
Staff Writer

Letters will be mailed to parents of 10,000 SUI students this week telling them about the aims of Project AID and asking them for contributions.

The letters are being mailed by the Student Senate office and were written by Student Body President John Niemeyer, Li, Elkader.

Another group of 1,000 letters will be sent out late this month. The initials AID represent Assist Iowa Development and indicate the purpose for which the project arose. The project is a scholarship fund established by the Senate to be permanent and continuing.

The scholarships are to be distributed through a faculty-administration group on the basis of financial need and academic excellence, without preference to Iowa students over out-of-state students.

Niemeyer originated the project in a resolution presented to the Senate in May. In his resolution Niemeyer said the fund was needed because "recent increases in tuition have created a situation in which many able students will encounter severe problems in completing their educations."

Also in the resolution, he said the Senate would be the logical means of creating such a fund because "student government has access to considerable creative abilities and organizational ability which give promise of success in fund-raising activities."

The letters to the parents asked for $5 contributions. Each contributor will receive a card which says that he has given to Project

AID. These cards will also be sold on campus starting in November for one dollar contributions. Certain privileges will be extended to card holders in regard to events sponsored by Project AID.

An auction, a winter carnival and an all campus variety show are being planned to raise money for the fund. The auction will be held in early December. Diane Maltby, A4, Steger, Ill., chairman for the event.

Tentative plans for commodities to be auctioned off are the services, such as shoe shining, of leading campus personalities, and on the spot portraits drawn by art students.

The AID committee has scheduled the carnival for January or February. It will probably include displays of winter sports, and side shows and booths which make up a carnival.

The variety show will take place sometime in the spring and will be built around a general theme with various divisions for different kinds of talent. Any individual or group can apply to be auditioned for the show.

The AID committee plans to solicit funds from Iowa City merchants and, perhaps, Iowa manufacturers. The group is working with Loren Hickerson and Joseph Meyer of the Old Gold Development fund.

The idea for the fund was triggered last spring when the State Legislature failed to meet the Board of Regents request for their 1961-63 budget. As a result of this, tuition at SUI was raised from $240 a year for Iowa residents to $290.

According to Niemeyer, the situation was such that some steps had to be taken. This fund, he feels, will show Iowa that the students and their parents are concerned with the situation and want to take action against it. The fund cannot solve the entire problem but it can help to solve part of the problem for some worthy individual, he said.

Niemeyer is chairman of the Project AID committee. The others are: Dick, Miss Maltby; Judy McCrea, A3, Newell; Chuck Pelton, A4, Clinton; Mary Plimpton, A2, Park Ridge, Ill.; and Sue Whitacre, A3, Cedar Rapids.

Publisher of Life Admits Mistake

LOS ANGELES (U) — The publisher of Life magazine has apologized for a Life article which criticized an anticommunist school headed by Dr. Fred C. Schwarz. Speaking before a crowd of 10,000 at the Hollywood Bowl Monday night, C. D. Jackson, a vice president of Time, Inc., and Life's publisher, said: "Dr. Schwarz will be subject to oversimplified misinterpretation. Regrettably, my own magazine recently published an oversimplified misinterpretation. I believe we were wrong and I am profoundly sorry."

Corn Corn Monument

The 1928 Homecoming or Corn Monument was really made of corn and was relatively simple compared to the elaborate engineering feats of today's monuments. The monument was built in the middle of Clinton Street across from the Pentacrest instead of on the west approach to Old Capitol as it is today.

SUI Student Art Guild To Open Show Room

An art gallery set up to show and sell student works will open at 1 p.m. Sunday in Iowa City under sponsorship of the Student Art Guild of SUI, according to Tom Wegman, Atlantic, president of the Art Guild.

The gallery will be located at 130 1/2 S. Clinton above The Paper Place, which is helping the Guild sponsor the project.

It is hoped that the gallery will answer a need for a show room where SUI art students can regularly present their work to the public, Wegman said.

The first show will offer work in all media by SUI student artists and judged by a five-man student jury. Included will be paintings, sculpture, intaglio prints, drawings and ceramic works, with most work to be for sale.

Following the opening show, the exhibiting students will act as a jury to choose the participants in the next show. The participants in the second show will jury the third exhibition, and the process will continue so that most SUI art students eventually will be represented in the gallery, Wegman explained.

Opening-day hours will be from 1 to 6 p.m. Regular weekday hours will be from 3:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. and from 6:30 p.m. until 9 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays the gallery will be open from 1 to 6 in the afternoon. It will be closed during University holiday periods.

Volunteers from among the art students prepared the gallery for opening and will maintain it. Every SUI art student is automatically a member of the Art Guild. Advisor for the Guild is Robert Knipschild, assistant professor of art. Support of the Guild Gallery is being provided through voluntary contributions by Iowa art patrons.

U.S.'s X15 Rocket Sets Speed Record

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (U) — The X15 rocket plane streaked a record 3,920 miles an hour Tuesday — with its flaps down to keep it from going even faster.

Test pilot Joe Walker pushed the stub-winged space explorer almost six times faster than sound — twice the speed of a bullet — to within 80 m.p.h. of its designed speed maximum of 4,000 m.p.h. The old X15 mark was 3,947 m.p.h. set last week by Air Force Maj. Bob White on his way to an altitude record of 217,000 feet.

Walker lowered his tail flaps, which act as brakes, for the last 10 seconds of his 80 seconds of powered flight. Officials wanted the speed held down to obtain more data before an all-out speed run.

'61 Monument Completed

Engineering students finished construction of the 1961 SUI Homecoming Monument at 7:30 Tuesday evening, after more than 1,200 man hours of work.

The 20-foot replica of a parabolic radio telescope required some 400 more hours of work than originally planned. General chairman and designer, William Ashton, E4, Davenport, said the extra work was caused when the hoist broke in route from the mechanical engineering building to the site on the west approach to Old Capitol.

The telescope's saucer will turn 360-degrees horizontally. It will be started sometime Friday or Saturday. Ashton added that the monument could turn 90 degrees vertically, but would be unsafe.

Municipalities Conference Today

DES MOINES (U) — The League of Iowa Municipalities opens its 63rd annual conference Wednesday night with a bid to several Iowa cities to return to its fold.

These cities, which dropped out of the league in recent years, include Davenport, Cedar Rapids, Iowa City, Clinton and Fairfield. Patrick Healy Jr., Washington, D.C., executive director of the American Municipal Association, will deliver the keynote address at the opening general session Thursday morning.

League President Charles F. Iles of Des Moines and other league officials will outline a proposed new program of the league.

Panel discussions Thursday will feature the majority and minority leaders of the 1961 Iowa Legislature, Dean Robert Ray of SUI, Richard Westfield of West Union, editor of the Fayette County Union, Carl Hamilton, editor of the Iowa Falls Citizen-Times, and David Denton, editorial page editor of the Waterloo Courier.

Pension OK'd For Former Police Chief

DES MOINES (U) — It was proposed for the board of trustees of the Iowa City Policemen's Pension and Retirement Fund to grant a pension to former Police Chief Oliver A. White, the Iowa Supreme Court said Tuesday.

White retired as police chief Jan. 6, 1960 because of ill health. The board voted him a disability pension.

The city challenged the action, contending that White's disability resulted from his work in line of duty in 1957 and the law setting up disability pensions for police officers didn't become effective until July 4, 1959.

In the unanimous Supreme Court opinion, Justice Henry Peterson said the only question at issue was this:

"Is it necessary that a police officer in active service suffer an injury after July 4, 1959 to qualify for accidental disability benefits?"

The opinion said the board's decision granting the pension does not constitute a retroactive application of the pension law.

American Children Are Too Puny

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (U) — Children in American grade schools apparently are rather puny, says Dr. Ted Forbes of Washington.

Forbes, director of the President's Council on Youth Fitness, told Monday about simple tests given school children in pilot programs at Muskogee, Okla., and the Turtle Mountain Indian School.

He said 51 per cent of the Muskogee children and 47 per cent of the Indians failed to pass easy tests — such as requiring a 12-year-old boy to do one pull-up.

Forbes conferred with Springfield officials about setting up a pilot program here.

Good Listening— Today on WSUI

BY LARRY BARRETT
Written for The Daily Iowan

FIRST CONCERT OF THE SEASON to be broadcast live through the facilities of WSUI will be tonight's performance of the University Symphony Orchestra in the Iowa Memorial Union. As always, we recommend actual attendance at the event (much as we'd like to have you in our audience), for broadcasting is but a poor substitute for music heard "in person". Should circumstances keep you away from the concert hall, however, you may listen to WSUI or KSUI-FM beginning at 8 p.m.

A TWO-HOUR MUSICAL PRELUDE (half in stereo) will begin at 6 p.m. on WSUI; KSUI will join in at 7 for binaural recordings until the SUI Symphony Orchestra begins its program.

"A SEASON OF SHAKESPEARE" might well be the current theme of operation at Broadcasting House, for our morning classroom is "Shakespeare" and our Thursday Evening-at-the-Theatre schedule is being dominated by The Bard. At 7:30 Thursday night for example, the play will be Richard II; next week it will be Much Ado About Nothing. In addition, we have collected an impressive group of stereo Shakespeare recordings which have yet to be programmed.

What wouldn't any contemporary playwright give to be the center of such attentions?

HOMECOMING HYSTERIA — ALREADY beyond control in some quarters — receives its greatest impetus from the annual parade held in its honor. Unfortunately, the parade resembles nothing but the back of a human head to all but front-rowers. WSUI, Friday, 7:30 p.m.

Saturn Shot Postponed

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — The first launch of the Saturn super booster has been postponed, perhaps for a month, so refinements can be made in sensing devices in the flight control system.

The maiden flight of the heavy-weight rocket, which one day may boost a three-man spaceship around the moon, was scheduled late this week. But the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced Tuesday that the test has been delayed indefinitely.

Officials reported the decision was based on data obtained from tiedown firing tests of another Saturn at the Marshall Space Flight Center, Huntsville, Ala.

A project spokesman said the refinements involve devices in the control system which sense pitch and yaw movements of the vehicle, distortion and vibrations. He said the modifications will make these detectors as sensitive as possible in order to gain as much in-flight information as possible.

NASA said a new launch date cannot be set until the Huntsville data is analyzed and changes made in the rocket now on the pad at Cape Canaveral. Sources reported the launch will not be tried for at least a week, with a good possibility it will be put off at least a month.

The initial flight will be a test of the first stage only, with two upper stages filled with 23,000 gallons of water. The eight first stage engines build up 1.3 million pounds of thrust, three times more than any present U.S. rocket.

Police Set Crack Down On Violations

"Traffic and Security Department is launching a drive to crack down on those students who don't register their cars or display the sticker," Richard L. Holcomb, director of Campus Police, said Monday.

Holcomb said there is an increase of student cars on campus this year, but it isn't as large as indicated from the increased enrollment.

In discussing other problems Holcomb said that football game traffic flows much more smoothly since South Riverside Drive, Park Bridge and Burlington Street Bridge have been widened.

People who want to drive right up to the stadium create a problem during football weekends Holcomb said. The drivers fail to realize that cars begin filling the lots as early as 10 a.m.

The cars move bumper to bumper into the stadium area and when the drivers find no place to park, they must go out to the golf course to turn around," he said.

Students driving to the game this weekend are asked to leave their cars on the east side of the river and walk to the game. Two major restricted lots (by University Library and the Union) may be used for parking.

Have 19th Century Look—

Costumes Designed from 'Scratch'

By JUDY SULECKI
Staff Writer

Sewing machines hummed in the background to the staccato of busy needles as preparations for the University Theatre production of "Hotel Paradiso" were being made.

"It's wonderful to see one's creative designs come to life on the stage," said Ann Smith, G. Jefferson City, Mo. "It seems only yesterday that I was planning the 'Paradiso' costumes on paper and suddenly they have come to life."

Miss Smith, who designed the women's costumes for her Master's thesis, said she developed all costumes "from scratch." Other costumes in the play were selected from stock.

Using several authentic books as designing sources, including "Illustration," a French magazine dating from the 19th century, she set the costumes circa 1895.

"Although the Broadway production of 'Hotel Paradiso' was set around 1910," she said, "I felt that the clothing styles around 1895 were more suitable for the mood of the play."

The costumes were designed under the supervision of Margaret Hall, assistant professor of dramatic arts.

"Many of the accessories are authentic too," Miss Hall emphasized. "The sleeves on one particular yellow gown being worn in the play have the exact measurements of the original pattern."

"Hotel Paradiso," a bedroom farce of the late 19th century, was written by George Feydeau and Desvalliers. "Costumes have been designed to add to the frivolity of the play and will depict a certain gayness and liveliness of spirit," Miss Smith added.

"Each costume was carefully designed to carry across character as well as fit in with the set and action," she said. "I tried to design with the actors and actresses in mind."

Barbara Peeters, A2, Tipton, who plays Marcelle in the play adjusted the tucks in her Gibson Girl sleeve. She will wear the most stunning costume in the play according to Miss Smith — a red evening dress with black accessories.

There is a great deal of movement in the play, according to Miss Smith, and she said she designed the costumes so that they will be usable in all situations.

Bonnie McBeth, A2, Des Moines, who plays maid, was bent down tying the numerous laces to her shiny hightopped black boots. "Accessories are taken from original items donated to SU," she said. "I don't know how old these shoes are but they feel like the real thing."

Gowns ranging in colors from a striking red to orange to pin striped patterns will be worn in the play. Miss McBeth's costume was made of denim to denote her character role.

"Hotel Paradiso" will be presented Oct. 26, 27, 28, and Nov. 1, 2, 3, and 4 at 8 p.m. in the University Theatre.

10,000 Algerians Rebel; Embittered by Midnight Curfew

PARIS (AP) — Police fired Tuesday on crowds of Algerians here demonstrating against a new curfew, killing two, wounding at least four, and then arrested 4,000. One policeman was reported shot and wounded.

The demonstrations and clashes resulted from a call by the National Liberation Front to protest the curfew imposed on Algerians in the wake of increasing incidents of violence between Algerians and Europeans.

Across the Mediterranean in the Algerian seaport of Oran, gangs of Europeans estimated to total 1,000 roamed the city attacking Algerians and sacking and burning shops and cars. Unofficial sources said four Algerians were lynched and 17 injured in the clashes following the funeral of a European slain by Algerians.

Algerians numbering more than 10,000 poured into Paris streets — and met tough, club-swinging police riot squads.

Scores of demonstrators fell beneath police charges and some reports put the injured in the hundreds.

The French news agency said police fired submachine guns at the demonstrators at one point.

A chill drizzle fell as savage skirmishes were fought in darkened sidestreets and under the glare of neon lights.

One report said Europeans attacked Algerian demonstrators in the suburb of Courbevoie, injuring several. In some sections, crowds of Algerians milled aimlessly, shouting revolutionary slogans, then scattered as riot police charged.

As midnight approached, a measure of calm returned to the city.

Preliminaries For Previews Being Held

Preliminary tryouts for the annual Profile Previews Style Show began last night and will continue tonight and Thursday night in Burge Hall. The style show is set for 7 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 26 at the Iowa Memorial Union.

In an attempt to select 90 to 100 finalists from the more than 450 trying out, four local fashion experts and Style Show Chairman Sue Whitehead, A4, judged girls on ability to model, general appearance and neatness, and fashion sense.

Finalists will be contacted by phone over the weekend, Sue Whitehead has announced, and group rehearsals will be held then. Dress rehearsal will be in the River Room of the Union at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Working with Sue Whitehead are six committee chairman: Beth Kesterson, styles; Lana Borin, A3, art; Ruth Koebel, A3, narration; Sue Ahrens, A3, contacts; Mary Dodge, A3, entertainment; and Pam Burke, A4, publicity.

Peace Corpsman Coming Home After Postcard Row

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Margery Michelson, the central figure in the Peace Corps postcard incident, telephoned her parents Tuesday she was flying home.

The 23-year-old volunteer from Foxboro, Mass., whose criticism of Nigerian living conditions brought student demands for expulsion of all 37 members of the corps in this Negro nation, said she planned to arrive in New York Thursday. The criticism was in a postcard she intended to mail to an American friend.

A forgive-and-forget attitude was suggested by Lagos newspapers in comment on the case. There was even a defense of Margery.

The independent Daily Express referred to a saying that an ambassador is one sent abroad to lie for the good of his country.

"But if he chooses to tell the host to his face a few homely truths," it added, "need that upset the house so much — especially when there

Fairfield To Elect IHSPA President
Fairfield High School journalism students have been elected by members of the Iowa High School Press Association to name the IHSPA president for the 1961-62 school year.

The Fairfield students were elected by some 550 IHSPA members representing 51 Iowa high schools who attended the association's annual convention Tuesday on the SU campus.

Marshalltown students will select the new vice president; Ames secretary, and Iowa City High School, the treasurer to complete the IHSPA roster of officers.

The one-day meeting was sponsored by the IHSPA and Iowa Association of Journalism Directors, advisory organization to the high school press group.

Western Europeans Angry Over Possible Compromise

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Angry West European reaction threatened Tuesday to torpedo a possible U.S.-Soviet compromise that could remove a major obstacle in naming a temporary secretary-general.

The reaction came after the Western Europeans read reports saying the United States might accept a Soviet proposal that the temporary U.N. chief have four chief aides.

Under this arrangement the four would come from the United States, the Soviet Union, Africa and Latin America. Asia would be represented by Ambassador U Thant of Burma, who has been accepted by both the United States and the Soviet Union as a candidate for acting secretary-general.

This would mean that for the first time Western Europe would not be represented in the U.N. top executive machinery.

Reaction from the Western Europeans could be summed up in these words: "Why are we negotiable?"

Delegates from Western Europe met in private session to consider the most forceful way of presenting their views to the U.S. delegation headed by Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson.

Afterward a spokesman for the group declared it would not accept any arrangement that failed to give Western Europe "its rightful place" in the Secretariat in accord with the U.N. charter.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin was reported eager for another meeting with

PROGRESS
MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico plans to spend $1.6 million on lengthening runways for jets and other improvements at federal airports.

Stevenson on the issue, but U.S. sources said none had been arranged.

Diplomats expressed concern that the prolonged U.S.-Soviet negotiations on a stop-gap secretary-general might now end up in a hopeless deadlock.

In that event the United States is expected to go directly to the U.N. General Assembly and propose that it take action to fill temporarily the vacancy left by the death of Dag Hammarskjöld in a plane crash in Africa last month.

But even U.S. sources conceded that it would be extremely difficult to find a candidate who would take the job without agreement between the United States and the Soviet Union.

The United States had previously argued for five undersecretaries, including a West European. The Soviet Union said if a West European were named one should be selected also from Eastern Europe. This was not acceptable to the United States.

"THE FOOTBALL TEAM"

"There seems to be some dissension on the squad."

COACH

"OOOPH!"

"Do you think the coach would get mad if we punted on first down?"

"So that's why they call him Crazy Legs!"

WHY ONLY 11 MEN ON A FOOTBALL TEAM? Because all the other students are just too busy. Yes, busy doing research, studying, smoking Luckies, playing bongos, smoking Luckies, dating, partying, praising professors and smoking Luckies—much too busy for football. Why so many "smoking Luckies"? Simply this: We try to give an honest representation of college life; and college students smoke more Luckies than any other regular cigarette—so smoke Luckies.

Blast Ro More Th

CHICAGO (AP) — A cosmetic firm's chemical mixing building blew apart Wednesday with a sive impact, injuring more 250 persons and rocking a 10-foot West Side area.

There were no fatalities de a great potential for loss of Damage estimates ranged $250,000 to $1 million.

The explosion destroyed a story reinforced concrete building used by Helene Curtis Industries for mixing chemicals the firm's cosmetic preparation Company, state and city investigators studied the blast site several hours; then they announced they were unable to determine cause of the blast. The investigation would continue, they said.

The exploding blending building set apart from six other buildings occupied by Curtis, shattered hundreds of windows at the plant and the Zenith Radio plant across the street.

Windows also were blasted by the force of the explosion some 200 homes and stores in area. A mile away from the Curtis plant at 4401 W. North Avenue store windows were broken.

Fire Commissioner Robert Quinn estimated the damage to Curtis plant at about $200,000 the damage to the Zenith building at $50,000. A spokesman for Curtis placed damage to the cosmetic firm's plants at $500,000 to $1 million.

Theodore Swenson, a chemical engineer, said 14 workers were in the blending building when the blast occurred, shortly after the start of the working day. Within minutes, a company disaster plan went into effect and more than 1,000 workers in the other buildings were evacuated.

About 3,500 workers were in the Zenith plant, south of the Curtis buildings. More than 50 Zenith
