Ole Miss Students Afraid To Voice Opinion: Sultovan

By JEFFREY MILL

Writer for The Daily Iowan

What will happen to James Meredith when and if the federal troops leave the University of Mississippi? This is the question on the minds of Ole Miss students.

Some feel that the 28-year-old Negro has no future at Ole Miss if he wants to stay alive, and others say that only a few will continue to protest Meredith's presence on the campus.

Some feel that Meredith is being used as a tool by the government to force blacks into the university.

The Honored Art of Being Hated Abroad

By JOHN CROSBY

If the world is small, as it often is, then Haiti, along with other Latin American countries, is going to have to adapt to the United States' policy of seeing Cuba as the main obstacle to the region's progress.

The United Nations has already rejected the idea of sending a peacekeeping force to the area. But it is clear that the United States wants to see Cuba removed from the scene. The problem is that Cuba is not going to go quietly.

Havana is a tough nut to crack. It has been fighting for independence from the United States for over a century. And it will continue to fight until it wins.

In recent weeks, the United States has increased its efforts to isolate Cuba. It has imposed a trade embargo on the island, and it has cut off all American aid to Cuba. This has put Cuba in a very difficult position.

But Cuba is not going to give in easily. It has a strong tradition of fighting for freedom and independence. And it is determined to continue its struggle.

So, if the United States wants to see Cuba removed from the scene, it is going to have to find a way to do it without starting a war.

The United States has already tried to use economic pressure to bring about changes in Cuba. But this has not worked. Cuba is too determined to remain independent to be pushed around.

So, if the United States wants to see Cuba removed from the scene, it is going to have to find a different way to do it. A way that is not based on force.

Perhaps the United States should consider a peaceful solution. Perhaps it should consider offering Cuba some kind of settlement. Perhaps it should consider offering Cuba some kind of help.

But whatever the United States does, it is going to have to be careful. It is going to have to be careful not to start a war. It is going to have to be careful not to bring关于 Cuba about the United States.

The United States has to be careful about how it deals with Cuba. It has to be careful about how it uses economic pressure. It has to be careful about how it uses force.

And if the United States is careful, it may be able to find a way to bring about changes in Cuba without starting a war. It may be able to find a way to bring about changes in Cuba without bringing about a new Cold War.

The United States has to be careful. It has to be careful about how it deals with Cuba. It has to be careful about how it uses economic pressure. It has to be careful about how it uses force.

Liston Must Earn Right To Box Here — New York

NEW YORK — New York Giants' heavyweight champion of the world, Jack Liston, must earn his right to box here, according to his promoter, William Casper. Liston has been mentioned as a possible challenger for the world title, but Casper feels that Liston is not ready to fight.

Liston, who has a record of 36-2-1, has been mentioned as a possible challenger for the world title, but Casper feels that Liston is not ready to fight.

Some of the reasons given are: Liston has not fought in a long time, and he needs more experience. Liston has not been able to get a good fight in a long time, and he needs more exposure.

The Yankees Meet Giants at Candlestick

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The scrapping, struggling, sunburned San Francisco Giants rid themselves of their pesky Philadelphia Athletics on Sunday by four-talented White Sox and the proud New York Yankees today.

The series opens at Candlestick Park. The Giants, of course, have not played there since Sunday, when they played the final game of the regular season. All the papers have said so, and all the fans have been looking forward to it.

A capacity crowd, estimated at 40,000 fans, will be on hand early Monday afternoon to watch the game, as the Giants try to repeat their win of a year ago. The Giants have never won a series at Candlestick Park.
