6 Enjoy Hippodrom On 40-Acre Island

ROBERT J. CONNELL

By ROBERT L. CONNELL

Stranded on a 40-acre island in the middle of choppy waters of the Atlantic, six boys were rescued Monday night by the U.S. Navy and released Tuesday morning.

The six boys, aged 14 to 16, were stranded on the island after leaving their camp in Nantucket, Mass., for a week-long adventure in the open sea.

The boys, members of the "Atlantic Explorers," a group of marine science students, had set sail on their own private yacht, the "Blue Jay," to explore the waters of the Atlantic Ocean.

However, their adventure took an unexpected turn when they encountered a storm and were forced to take shelter on the small island.

The boys were stranded on the island for nearly 24 hours before the U.S. Navy discovered their whereabouts. An aircraft spotted the island and requested assistance from the U.S. Coast Guard.

The Coast Guard sent a team of rescue workers to the island, where they found the boys safe and sound.

The boys were interviewed by local authorities and were reported to be in good health.

The "Atlantic Explorers" group has been a popular attraction in Nantucket for many years, and this incident has only added to their reputation for adventurous spirit.

The boys are expected to return to their camp and resume their training soon.

Egypt, Israeli Leaders Meet in Cairo

EGYPT - Egyptian and Israeli leaders met in Cairo Tuesday to discuss ways to improve relations between their two countries.

The meeting was attended by Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak and Israeli Prime Minister Ariel Sharon.

The two leaders agreed to work towards a peaceful resolution of the long-standing conflict between their countries.

They also discussed the issue of the Gaza Strip, where tensions have recently increased.

A statement issued after the meeting said that the leaders had agreed to continue their talks and to work towards a lasting solution to the conflict.

ISRAEL - Israeli forces destroyed a major airbase belonging to the Syrian government in the Golan Heights region Tuesday.

The Israeli military said that the airbase had been a key target for Israeli airstrike operations.

The attack was carried out using a combination of bombing runs and ground assaults.

The Israeli military said that the operation was a response to recent cross-border attacks by Syrian forces.

Howard Hughes for President?

By ARTHUR SCHROEDER

Washington, D.C.: "I was rather surprised when I read the photograph of President Howard Hughes for President—Campaign Illustration: Howard Hughes for President," that appeared in the October 30 issue of The Daily Iowan.

Readers may have been surprised by the appearance of the photograph, but they should have been even more surprised by the fact that Howard Hughes, a wealthy industrialist and movie producer, is being considered as a candidate for President.

The photograph was taken during the recent United States presidential campaign, and it is not clear why Hughes decided to run for office.

Hughes is known for his many business ventures, including the Hughes Tool Company, which he founded in 1916, and the Hughes Aircraft Company, which he acquired in 1947.

Hughes is also a noted aviator, having set several records for flight duration and distance.

It is not clear whether Hughes has the necessary qualifications to hold the office of President, and it is unlikely that he would have a chance of winning the election.

However, the appearance of the photograph in The Daily Iowan suggests that Hughes may be taking the serious steps to become a candidate for the presidency.

It is also possible that Hughes is simply using his wealth and influence to promote his own interests, rather than seeking to serve the country in any official capacity.

The Daily Iowan will continue to follow the campaign of Howard Hughes for President, and will report on any developments as they occur.
Student Dad To Be Chosen

A Student Dad of the Year will be chosen this year as part of a new program.

The winner, according to District 20 authorities, will be chosen from among the candidates who are community leaders and prominent in the school, "Mr. Dad." The winner will be selected from a list of those voted by the students of the school. The number of votes will be revealed to the students. The winner will be announced on Monday. The winner will be chosen from a list of those who have participated in the Community Service Program.

Soviets Publish U.S. Spy's Story

Soviet authorities have announced that an article in a local U.S. newspaper was published by a foreign agent, who allegedly paid the author to write the story and receive payment for it.

A new sign of Autumn can be seen at several hours intervals on campus this year. The signs are changes that help to keep the campus in order, but not so much the personal letters somewhere with appointments in the park. The dates in the park are usually with when when when when they should. Past traffic is lovely on the University day with their student dosing classes.

New Style Of Type Face Designed Here

Pownall

Roman

Pownall, president of Moby, the publisher of the Daily Iowan, has designed a new type style that will be used for most of the headlines in the newspaper. The type is called "Roman" and is named after the Roman Empire.

"Roman" is a bold, classical type style that is inspired by the typography of ancient Rome. It features a sturdy, block-like appearance with a strong presence of geometric shapes and straight lines. The typeface is designed to convey a sense of authority and grandeur, much like the Roman Empire.

"Roman" will be used in the Daily Iowan for headlines, subheadlines, and display type throughout the newspaper. The typeface is also being used in the Daily Iowan's online editions and social media platforms.

"Roman" is a versatile type style that can be used in a variety of contexts, from news articles to advertisements. The typeface is characterized by its clear, legible appearance and its ability to stand out on a page.

"Roman" is available for commercial use, and interested parties can contact Pownall for more information and licensing details.

THE GUITAR... part IV

Contemporary Guitar

Quite improvements in recent years have provided minor tuning and tuning with the result that the instrument has become well balanced and well adapted to the modern style of play. The recent introduction of the Spanish Guitar has added to this improvement, and the instrument has become more popular than ever before. The volume and richness of tone available with this instrument makes it an effective accomplishment for the folk song as well as for the dance.

For the last several years the Hawaiian guitar has been developed for both dance and country music and has become very popular. It is played with a metal or glass slide, and is the ideal instrument for both the plantation and the dance. The Hawaiian guitar is also used for the ukulele, a smaller instrument with a similar sound, and is often used in rhythm playing.

The results of numerous years of polish and improvement have been achieved on the Hawaiian guitar, and the instrument is now more sensitive to finger tip than ever before. It is a

6 MSU Players Suspended
In Wake Of Curfew Breach

By GEORGE T. LEWIS

By the authority of the Michigan State University Board of Trustees, six football players have been suspended from the team today, Thursday, for failure to obey orders of a curfew which was established by the administration of the University of Notre Dame, Notre Dame officials, and the police, last Sunday night.

The players involved are all sophomores and were members of the MSU football team. The suspensions are effective immediately and will be lifted at the discretion of the administration.

The players involved are: (1) John J. O’Hara, (2) James E. Hackett, (3) Robert J. Jones, (4) James W. Smith, (5) John W. O’Hara, and (6) James E. Johnson.

The players were suspended for two reasons. The first reason is that they were present at a party which was found to be in violation of the curfew. The second reason is that they were present at a party which was found to be in violation of the curfew.

Stolen Books Retrievable

By JERRY LEVINE

One of your textbooks may be stolen, and you may not even know it.

"Reports of textbooks being stolen are becoming too frequent," said Dr. Robert Hughes, a member of the Council on Student Affairs at the Baptist Student Union at Iowa City. "If a stolen book is sold in a business or by the original owner, it can identify the buyer of the book. If the looter is not caught, the student may not know his book is missing.

The best way to mark a book is to draw an "X" on the inside back cover. Mark it in each semester's courses. You can also use a marking system of your own, such as arrows or letters.

"Each tag and the book are identified. If the book has been reported lost, the buyer would have the student's name, address, and other information," said Hughes.

Council Refuses Plane Buy

The Hawkeye Area community college board has decided to purchase a plane.

Two weeks ago, the board called a special meeting to discuss the purchase. Board member Diane Saylor said the board was not ready to purchase the plane.

"The best way to mark a book is to draw an "X" on the inside back cover, but we can identify markings in his or her book. It can be recovered," said Saylor.

I sang my song on the sun's deck
Here at the water in the cool unloosened year,
And the light notes cling at my hair roots
Like bird cries gather there.

All the day's time leaped
Into lengthening shadows
And moments clung like fresh leaves
On water.

Wind crossed the pond
Leaving stripes and curves
As though it rolled and cast bands,
Chat down its shape for vision.

Wisteria hung for lavender
In a blossom of perfume,
And on the stones a food
Settled in sunlight.

Is this saturation of senses enough?
Living together a time frame,
I of the children, and the homes.
