Groups to protest Marine recruitment

By ED S. MILLER

For South Dakota's Union

At press time, the Union, represented by Branch President Charles H. Daugherty, had not yet received the necessary four thousand petitions from individual students to form a student chapter. The Union, which represents the majority of students at the University, has been closely watched by the administration and is expected to become a major force in the student body.

The Union has indicated that it will oppose the Marine recruitment drive, which it sees as a threat to the peace movement on campus. The Union is currently considering a number of strategies for protesting the drive, including direct action, passive resistance, and lobbying institutional authorities.

The situation is likely to remain tense as the Union and the administration continue to negotiate over the issue of student participation in the Marine recruitment drive.

SRA plan will complicate lines of communication

One of the claims made by members of the Student Rights Association (SRA) is that their plan for a change in the current communication system will enhance the ability of the student and faculty to access information.

However, this claim is not entirely accurate. The SRA plan, which involves the use of a new communications system, is likely to complicate lines of communication rather than simplify them.

The SRA plan involves the installation of a new communications system that would require the retraining of all students and faculty members. This would likely result in a loss of productivity, as students and faculty members would need to adapt to the new system.

Moreover, the SRA plan would require the use of a new communications medium, which would likely lead to a decrease in the quality of communication. The new medium is likely to be less effective than the current one, as it would require the use of a more complex form of communication.

In conclusion, the SRA plan is likely to complicate lines of communication rather than simplify them. The plan would require the retraining of all students and faculty members, and it would likely lead to a decrease in the quality of communication.

Samhain Is Here; Spirits To Revel

By GAIL DRAUDEN

Tonight you can celebrate Samhain, also known as Halloween, without the usual trick or treat. Instead, you can enjoy a spooky evening with your friends or family.

Samhain, also known as Halloween, is a traditional Celtic festival that marks the transition between summer and winter. It is a time when Spirits may be present and communicate with the living.

A Halloween costume party is a great way to celebrate Samhain. You can dress up as your favorite ghost or goblin, or even as a spooky animal. The more creative and spooky, the better!

If you're feeling brave, you can try a Samhain ritual. Find a circle of friends and light a bonfire. Offer prayers to the spirits of the past and ask for their protection.

In Ireland, Samhain is known as All Hallows' Eve. It is a time when spirits are believed to be most active. People used to light bonfires to keep the spirits away.

There are many ways to celebrate Samhain. Whether you choose to host a costume party or perform a ritual, it's a time to remember the spirits and honor the ancestors.

Humphrey 'Dump' Predicted By Kirk

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) - Rep. Pat Hobby, D-Kirk, proposed Sunday that the Florida legislature make it illegal in Florida in 1968 to "be an anarchist" in the Democratic National Convention that will be held in Denver in August.

"His next move will be to have the convention pass a resolution expressing Democratic support for the President," Hobby said.

"That will be a natural enough but kindly move.

The reason it will not be successful, as a matter of law, is that the President is not a friend or associate of the law in Florida."

Hobby predicted that Johnson would put a penalty on.
