17 Protesters Convicted

BY JERRY LEVINE

The 17 defendants who were charged with disrupting the peace in connection with last Wednesday's Vietnam Day demonstrations at the University of Iowa were convicted yesterday in District Court and sent to prison for 60 days.

The convictions were upheld by U.S. District Judge Ronald Ira Dubberke last week. Though he granted the demonstrators a pre-sentencing conference, he ruled that they must serve the 60-day sentence.

The conviction was upheld by U.S. District Judge Ronald Ira Dubberke last week.

The defendants were charged with violation of the Blackstone Hotel Inc., in violation of Iowa state law.

On Wednesday, a panel of judges held a hearing on the case and found that the defendants had committed the offenses.

The defendants were found guilty of violating the Blackstone Hotel Inc., in violation of Iowa state law.

The convictions were upheld by U.S. District Judge Ronald Ira Dubberke last week.

The University of Illinois has agreed to pay $50,000 to settle a lawsuit brought by a former student who was wounded when a police officer fired a gun.

The lawsuit was filed by Mark A. Johnson, a 21-year-old student who was shot in the arm during a protest at the University of Illinois in 1972.

A police officer had fired a gun into the crowd during the protest, and Johnson was hit by a stray bullet.

The settlement was reached after Johnson's family filed a lawsuit against the university, alleging negligence and violation of Johnson's civil rights.

The university had previously offered to settle the case for $10,000, but Johnson's family refused the offer.

The settlement includes a $50,000 payment to Johnson and an agreement by the university to take steps to prevent similar incidents in the future.

The settlement was announced by the university and Johnson's family on Tuesday.

The settlement is subject to approval by the court.

MRS. LOUISE DAY HICKS
Former Student Union President

"We are very pleased with the settlement," said Johnson's attorney, John C. Anderson. "This is a fair and just result for Mark Johnson and his family."
Outdated SPI policy should be changed

The observer would be able to take issue with the claim that SPIL are not a review, and that reform candidates for the City Council assess or examine a proposal. The term "SPI" is often used to describe the city's planning process. It is a cumbersome and often inefficient system designed to gather input from various groups before making a decision. The observer argues that the SPI process is outdated and needs to be updated to better serve the needs of the community and the city. The observer suggests that reform candidates should focus on improving the SPI process to ensure that it is more inclusive and effective.
Whitman Play Opens Lecture Series

A biographical drama about America's first woman playwright, this year's Whitman Play opens tonight in the university theater. The play is sponsored by the United Nations Association and the World Student Service.

By BETTY DOWNS

A new play about America's first woman playwright was presented before the United Nations Student Assembly. The play is called "Birds of a Feather." It was written by an American woman named Mary Leslie, and it is directed by a woman named Alice Noonan.

The play is about the life of a woman named Birdie, who was a playwright in the 19th century. She had a difficult life, and the play shows how she overcame the obstacles she faced.

The play is being presented to the United Nations Student Assembly because it is thought to be a good example of the kind of drama that is being produced today. It is also thought to be a good way to promote understanding between women and men.

THINGS PILING UP BOOGSEY?

You may get a 6 cent increase, but not at the Bohemian Grocery. It will be taken care of by the Bohemian Grocery, but not at the Bohemian Grocery.

For instance, the Bohemian Grocery will raise the price of bread from 6 cents to 6.5 cents. This is a 5 cent increase, but it will not be taken care of by the Bohemian Grocery.

City Council Election—TODAY

1. They will work to build and improve downtown Iowa City with local private enterprise when work is averaged. Consensus seems to be that we cannot reduce taxes by decreasing our high tax base property downtown with the federal building. We must keep downtown Iowa City on the tax rolls.

2. They will work to save the taxpayers money and will work to reduce our general obligation bonding debt. The parking ramp should be built and financed with revenue bonds supported by parking receipts and the parking ramp user. The parking ramp will not cost the taxpayers one cent.

3. They will represent you in an understandable, serious, and fair manner. They cannot serve any large financial groups, or large business groups, or other large special interest groups attempting to acquire downtown property at the expense of private owners and taxpayers.

4. They will use a charity lot. The needs of the people will be more efficiently and occasionally served.

Iowa Runners Get Back On The Beam
By Edging Previously Unbeaten Gophers

By JOHN HARMAN

Some of the fans started trickling into the Field House by 3 p.m. The first quarter did not see a lot of activity by either team, but the Hawkeyes did manage to outscore the Gophers 9-6 in the period. For the third time in as many games, Paul Podolak, who has been fighting a rib injury, did not play due to the fear of further injuring his rib. Podolak has not lost a Big Ten game in 193,000 seconds. Most experts believe that Podolak will not play in any of the Hawkeye's remaining games.

In a battle of two of the top ten teams in the country, the Hawkeyes outscored the Gophers 21-18 in the second and third quarters. The Hawkeyes turned it over five times in the game while the Gophers turned it over three times. Gophers' Larry Womack had two interceptions, only one by the Hawkeyes. The Gophers would clean up 21-9, but in the second half it was all Hawkeye as they outscored them 15-9.

The Gophers scored first with a 50-yard field goal by Mark Johnson. After that the Hawkeyes went on a tear, scoring 12 straight points, the first coming on a 65-yard touchdown pass to Paul Ely. The Gophers came back to grab a 17-12 lead late in the first half with a 45-yard touchdown pass from Rick Stefko to John McCarthy. The next three quarters were all Hawkeye as they finished the game with a 21-6 lead. It was a hard-fought battle in the second half as the Gophers scored only an 11-yard touchdown pass by David Hageman to narrow the score gap.

Hawks Might Have Won, If...

By JOHN HARMON

A victory over Northwestern will not be enough for the Hawkeyes to keep pace with the Big Ten's top teams. While there is a slim chance that they could be in the national playoffs, the team will have to be very careful in their games. It is possible that they could be in the national playoffs, but it is likely that they will not be enough for a Big Ten team to make the national playoffs. The team will have to be careful in their games and keep an eye on their opponents.

THE 4th ESTATE—

The New Press: What It's About

Suddenly Iowa City has come to be a little bit of a publishing center. When I say "publishing," I don't mean "publishing" as if it were a noun, but as a verb. The idea of publishing is not necessarily to sell the ideas to a mass audience, but to give an idea to the public. In this sense, publishing is a combination of art and journalism. To put it into words, publishing is creating a book that is readable.

Mr. Klappert, I admire and greatly respect Dave Cunningham's expertise, one can't know the writing, he's a Defender story forced the DI into covering - cursorily but turning its first issue was practically unreadable. It's easy to love Iowa are really beautiful to me. It's easy to love. I don't know why. I don't know what it is. It's like being a child again. It's like being with your family. It's like being with your friends. It's like being with your parents. It's like being with your grandparents. It's like being with your children. It's like being with your grandchildren. It's like being with your great-grandchildren. It's like being with your great-great-grandchildren. It's like being with your great-great-great-grandchildren. It's like being with your great-great-great-great-grandchildren.

The trouble with the Defender's first issue was precisely — with the exception of Wessel's cover story, which had limited appeal, and the lead article by Mike Lally covering — cursorily but turning its first issue was practically unreadable. It's easy to love Iowa are really beautiful to me. It's easy to love. I don't know why. I don't know what it is. It's like being a child again. It's like being with your family. Riley Tells Reasons For His Involvement

To the Editor:

In an article by Dave Holzer in The Daily Iowan, the author makes some rather disconcerting remarks. The article concerns the on-going conflict between police and University activism. The collision between our society and the police has been going on for some time. But recently, the heat has increased and the factors have been set for a large-scale explosion. The author cites the recent events as evidence of the growing tension between these two groups. However, I believe that Holzer's article is a distorted portrayal of the situation. The conflict is not nearly as simple as he suggests. It is much more complex.

To the Editor:

I was reading The Daily Iowan on Monday morning and I was surprised to see an article about the recent events. The article seemed to be written in a very biased way, and I thought it was time to write to the editor. I believe that the police are being unfairly portrayed in the article. The police have been working very hard to maintain order and protect the community. They have been doing their best to handle the situation in a fair and impartial way.

To the Editor:

I want to express my thoughts on the recent events. I think that the police have been handling the situation very well. They have been trying to keep the peace and ensure that everyone is safe. I believe that they have been doing a great job.

Writer Condemns Moral Bankruptcy

To the Editor:

I am writing to express my concern about the state of moral bankruptcy in our society. The recent events have shown us that we are facing a serious problem. We need to take action to address this issue. I believe that the government should be doing more to help us. They should be providing more resources to deal with this problem.

I want to express my thoughts on the recent events. I think that the government should be doing more to help us. They should be providing more resources to deal with this problem.

Police Chief Expresses Appreciation

To the Editor:

I am writing to express my appreciation to the University student body for their support during the recent events. I believe that the student body has been very helpful. They have been working very hard to maintain order and protect the community. I want to thank them for their efforts.

HOLD FISH—held on the 4th of July, a day which many believe to be the birth of our country, was marked by an open-air supper of potatoes and fish. The fish came from the cold water of Lake Champlain and the potatoes were home-grown. The meal was eaten on the beach, under the stars, with music and song. It was a simple and satisfying way to celebrate the freedom and independence of our nation.

Black Berets Study Guerrilla Warfare

The Black Berets, a group of young resistors, have been studying the tactics and strategies of guerrilla warfare for the past year. Under the leadership of their commander, they have been training in the art of clandestine operations, using the principles of the Viet Cong and the National Liberation Front of Vietnam as models.

Professor Johnstone of the University of Michigan has been advising the Black Berets, guiding them through their training. He has taught them the importance of small, mobile units, and the use of surprise and deception. The Black Berets are a small, elite group, carefully selected and trained, and they are ready to strike at the heart of the enemy.

Surveyor 6 Moon Shot Set For Early Morning Attempt

NASA'S Surveyor 6, a lunar rover, is scheduled to land on the moon early this morning. The rover will be sent to the moon by the Apollo 11 mission, which is currently scheduled to launch at 9:35 a.m. ET.

President Nixon has requested that the Surveyor 6 mission be delayed, but NASA has insisted that the mission go ahead as planned. The rover will be the first to land on the moon since the Surveyor 5 mission in 1967.

Judge Moves Trial

The trial of John Doe, a suspected member of the Black Berets, has been moved from the United States to Canada. The transfer was requested by the Canadian government, which has indicated that it is interested in trying the case.

The move has sparked controversy, with some arguing that the United States should try the case. However, the Canadian government has indicated that it is committed to trying the case in a fair and impartial manner.

The new trial is scheduled to begin in January.
