Changes must be recognized

Probably the most definite thing one can say about the world we live in today is that it will change. Not always will the change be whitewash, but it will come as a surprise, often.

Change seems to be at the core of what appears to be double standards, something that was accepted in the past is no longer so. Or an example of this might be not so much a change in a law, but a change in the way we feel about it.

For instance, it used to be that some few became so affluent as to be able to break through barriers that they broke through windows in downtown stores. Three persons who have been around here for a long time remember that these were not in one part of the city, but in another part of the city being folded across streets to protect them from "happier" The law has been affirmed, but there were legal changes from the public.

Now a few hundred students moving around campus changing clothes in areas where large numbers of special law enforcement men are and are charged with breaking the law. But it is really a question of the two types or us, the people, persons and actions are different. They are.

Exactly the same thing happened in 1934 when, the Iowa football season was interrupted by the administration granted an extra day of Christmas vacation. Willis was to allow the hundreds of students and faculty, who had wished to return to California, additional time to get back.

Now when athletes apply for extra two days of spring vacation so that there is in effect, four days of vacation, the administration objects to the request. It would be too difficult, resulting in charges to too many long distance plane of too many people, the administration says. It just isn't sound policy.

Of course the University is bigger now than it was in 1934, and those is a new administration. And the sport is not connected with too many intrinsically anti-athletic activity. Things have changed.

The differences do exist. We must try to understand this. The only thing one must have is that there are no double standards. We must acknowledge the changes.

"Now To Enter" in University Before Graduation

On Monday, April 20, 1965, there will be a special evening called "Now To Enter" in University Before Graduation. This event will be held at 7 p.m., in the Union Ballroom. The program starts at 7:30 p.m.

Want to be a magazine? Looking for a way to make some money? The University of Iowa's Student Newspapers Committee is looking for new people to help them start a new magazine. The magazine will be called "Now To Enter" and will be published bi-weekly.

"Now To Enter" will be a magazine that will feature articles written by students who are interested in publishing. The magazine will be a place where students can express their ideas and share them with others who might be interested in what they have to say.

Redmond and Student Government surveyed the student body to find out what kind of magazine they would like to see. The survey showed that most students were interested in a magazine that would feature articles about current events, music, and culture.

"Now To Enter" will be a magazine that will feature articles written by students who are interested in publishing. The magazine will be a place where students can express their ideas and share them with others who might be interested in what they have to say.

The magazine will feature articles on a variety of topics, including current events, music, and culture. The magazine will be published bi-weekly, and will be available for free at various locations on campus.

A different view of freedom is necessary for many, if for no other reason than the necessity of living in a world where things are not always what they seem.

The need for such a different view is evident in the way in which we look at freedom. Freedom is often thought of as being synonymous with being able to do whatever one wants, whenever one wants. But this is not the case. Freedom is not just about doing what one wants, but about being able to do what one needs to do.

For example, a person who wants to go to a different country to visit family and friends, but is not allowed to do so by law, has a different view of freedom than a person who wants to go to a different country to work and is allowed to do so.

"Now To Enter" will be a magazine that will feature articles written by students who are interested in publishing. The magazine will be a place where students can express their ideas and share them with others who might be interested in what they have to say.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — With the Masters Tournament only two weeks away, Gary Player's six-figure fee for his participation is now tantalizingly reduced to keep their promise to the J. Walter Thompson Co.

Player, who led the field at the end of the 1960 season, had a portion of his shirt torn out in the field in 1963. He had the playing greens in front of the field for the past three weeks.

Gary was having a fine stride in his career when he got torn up in 1961. He was given a medical upon return to England's need for a big surgery there.

The press will be starting the "Life of Gary Player" column.

New York Committee Supports Rockefeller

HOBART, N.Y. — New York committee leaders have announced their support of A. Edison, as the New York gubernatorial candidate for the 1990 election. The action was taken upon a resolution passed by the committee.

"We believe in the fairness and integrity that A. Edison embodies," said committee leaders. "We are confident that he will continue to fight for the rights of all New Yorkers."
Iowa Mother Tells Fears
For Son, Pueblo Crewman
WASHINGTON—Mrs. Elma F. Thomas of 302 B South St., Pueblo, Colo., informed the council that she concerned about her son, Private William R. Thomas, who recently became a Pueblo man, because he was stationed at the Ailingham Air Base near North Korean lines.

"I sometimes wonder if I could do anything to help him," Mrs. Thomas said.

Mrs. Thomas told the council that she had written to the War Department and the congressional offices asking for details concerning her son's assignment.

"But I don't know if I can," she added.

The council promised to get information for Mrs. Thomas.

Gold Process Discovered
WASHINGTON, Feb. 12—A process for recovering gold from ores and minerals has been developed by the U.S. Bureau of Mines.

According to the bureau, the new process can recover gold from ores and minerals that are too low in concentration to be economically recovered by existing methods.

The process involves the use of a new type of concentrator that can recover gold from ores and minerals that are too low in concentration to be economically recovered by existing methods.

Resist Plans Folk Concert
ChicagA—Resist, a Chicago-based folk collective, plans to make a major effort to bring folk music to the city, according to its leader, George Johnson.

"We believe that folk music is an important part of our culture," Johnson said. "We plan to make a major effort to bring folk music to the city, and to do so in a way that is both educational and entertaining."

Johnson said that the collective is working on a variety of projects, including a series of concerts and workshops, to promote folk music in the city.

Parsons Loses Chance To Win Accreditation

Chicago—Parsons School of Design, which has been seeking accreditation for several years, has been denied accreditation by the National Association of Schools of Art and Design.

The association said that the school had not met the standards necessary for accreditation, and that it would not consider the school for accreditation in the future.

The school, which has a long history of providing education for artists, said it was disappointed by the decision.

Protests Or Not, Placement Office Busy

By BRUCE HEST

On the eve of the student demonstrations outside Dow Chemical, the Placement Office received a considerable amount ofmail. The office was allocated only limited space, and this fact was not without obvious implications.

The day before the demonstrations, most of the student population was engaged in what appeared to be a political campaign. The Placement Office was receiving mail from various groups, including the American Federation of Teachers.

"I don't think these protests really have anything to do with this," said a spokesman of the

Placement Office. He explained that the office had been receiving a large amount of correspondence from the students unconnected with the current events.

Mild Restraint On Travelers Spending OK

WASHINGTON — Although the national administration is urging travel restrictions as a step to prevent a possible Communist take-over of Western countries, the administration has given in to demands for travel outside the United States.

A large share of those planning to travel abroad, to Europe, are returning to Washington, D.C., Thursday. The administration has also agreed to lift travel restrictions on certain European countries.

The administration announced that it will cooperate with European countries in maintaining travel restrictions. This is the same policy as that followed by the United States.
