Gentle Governor's Day Happened—Yes It Did

By DENIS KATHS

It happened—Mrs. Elmer Scougie, Wednesday, Governor's Day, all built into one. The late Mary Scougie, a former Des Moines Register reporter, was a Democrat, for sure. She was also a governor, for certain. She knew it was the, uh, 60th day of the session, and she had got to do something in order to get people out to vote. So she did. She did the proposed event, which included the usual speeches, the usual parades, the usual picnics, and the usual barbecues.

The parade was a big hit. Mrs. Scougie, who was known for her humor, made a joke about the day: "Governors Day is a day to celebrate the hard work of our state's leaders." The crowd roared with laughter.

As for the speeches, they were a mixed bag. The governor gave a speech that was well-received by the crowd, while the second speaker's speech was met with a loud groan. The third speaker, however, managed to make a joke that earned a round of applause.

The day ended with a picnic at the State Capitol, where the governor and his wife were met with a large crowd. The governor, who was known for his love of the outdoors, took this opportunity to encourage the crowd to get outside and enjoy the day.

Campus Parking Limit Proposed For 1968-69

"Our plans will be to two classes of parking, one for faculty and staff, and another for students," said the campus parking committee. "We will also consider the possibility of parking permits for out-of-staters." The committee also stated that they would consider the idea of a parking fee for non-campus visitors.

March On Capital By Poor People To Begin Today

March 29—The March on Washington, scheduled to begin today, is likely to be the largest protest against poverty in history. The march, led by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., is expected to draw hundreds of thousands of participants, including poor people from across the country.

The march is scheduled to begin at the foot of the Capitol and proceed to the White House, where a massive demonstration is expected. The marchers will carry signs and chant slogans to draw attention to the issues of poverty and inequality.

The march is expected to last for several days, with events planned every day. The organizers have said that they will continue the march until their demands are met.

Savage Fighting On Northern Front

March 30—Savage fighting broke out on the northern front yesterday, with both sides sustaining heavy losses. The fighting, which started around midday, lasted for several hours and resulted in significant casualties.

The fighting was sparked by a dispute over access to a key supply route. Both sides have been trying to gain control of the area for weeks, and the latest clash is likely to escalate tensions in the region.

The United Nations has called for a ceasefire and expressed concern about the mounting number of casualties.

Hughes Says U.S. In Crisis Period

By DARYL HOPKIN

Gov. Harold Hughes released a special message to the people of the state yesterday, warning of a "crisis period" that could lead to "untold suffering." Hughes said that the situation was "critical," and he urged all citizens to work together to overcome the problems.

Hughes spoke in a somber tone, citing the "terrible human toll" of the Vietnam War and the "dire consequences" of the war for the country. He said that the U.S. was "on the brink of a crisis" and that the situation was "grave." Hughes called on the people of the state to "remain calm" and to "work together to overcome the problems.

The Daily Touch

The Daily Touch, office in favor of the demand for the Draft and against the U.S. military presence abroad, has done a service. It prints the words of an articulate young man who is about to be inducted into the army. Last week, the U.S. Supreme Court struck down the provisions of the Draft which were used to justify the actions of a young man in this city who was about to be inducted into the army.

NCAA Suspends Wichita State, OKs Central

NEW YORK — The NCAA's national executive committee has suspended Wichita State University for the 1970-71 academic year because it has violated the association's amateurism rules.

The suspension affects only the Wichita State basketball team, which is 1-0 this season. No date was announced for the suspension to take effect.

The committee, which meets annually to consider cases of amateurism violations, met today to consider the case against Wichita State, which was brought by a student who had complained to the NCAA about the university's violations.

The student, who asked not to be named, alleged that Wichita State had violated the association's rules by paying players to play in games.

The committee, which consists of representatives from the NCAA's member schools, found that Wichita State had violated the rules by paying players to play in games. The committee also found that the university had violated the rules by paying players to participate in extracurricular activities.

The committee's decision was announced today by NCAA commissioner John Shuster, who said the suspension would be lifted after Wichita State had complied with the committee's requirements.

The university has 30 days to appeal the decision, but Shuster said the decision was final.

The suspension of Wichita State's basketball team will affect the team's ability to participate in NCAA tournaments and other events. The team is currently ranked 10th in the nation in the Associated Press poll.

The NCAA has imposed similar sanctions on other schools in the past, including the University of Arizona, which was suspended for the 1969-70 season because of violations involving the university's basketball team.

The NCAA's amateurism rules are designed to ensure that college athletes remain amateurs and that they are not paid for their activities.

Under the rules, athletes can receive compensation for expenses such as meals, lodging, and travel, but they cannot receive cash payments or other forms of compensation.

Mississippi Governor Says Poor People Leaded Jailed

CARRBON—Miss. G. H. Bolin, who has been repeatedly accused of keeping Negroes to the back of the bus, told the state legislature Wednesday that the prison system was not designed for black people and had been used to keep them in their place.

Bolin, who is a Democrat, has been a member of the state Senate since 1960 and has represented the black community for the last 25 years.

He said that the state had made a conscious effort to keep Negroes out of the top positions in government and that this was a result of the segregationist policies of the state.

Bolin said that the state had spent millions of dollars on prison facilities and that this was done to keep Negroes out of the legislative process.

He added that the state had also paid large amounts of money to keep Negroes out of the electorate.

9 Deaths, 1,202 Injuries in Capital After King Died
WASHINGTON if — an official summary of the latest toll released today showed that the nation's capital lost 9 lives in the last 24 hours. During the same period, 1,202 persons were injured. The injuries included fatigues and disorders that have been reported since the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

By early morning, the District of Columbia police department said, 9 persons were reported dead. The number of the dead and injured was not immediately available.

Schools closed in the Washington area, and the city's mayor urged residents to stay indoors to avoid further casualties. The city's capital has been on high alert since the assassination.

Midnight Visitors Expected; Morton Board Taps Juniors
A special meeting of the University of Iowa Student Senate was expected to be held tonight to discuss the selection of the new Student Body President. The meeting was called by the Morton Board, which oversees the university's studentgovernment.

The meeting was expected to be held in the union building, and the students were asked to arrive at 9:30 p.m.

Grad Student Is First Person To Receive $4,200 Award
A graduate student at the University of Iowa was the first person to receive a $4,200 award from the university's student government. The award is given to a student who has demonstrated outstanding academic performance.

Brant Dahlke, a student in the Writers' Workshop, said he was surprised to receive the award.

"I was really excited," Dahlke said. "I never thought I would receive such a large award."
COMMUNIST WORLD GOES ALL OUT FOR ANNUAL MAY DAY CELEBRATION

By the Associated Press

Budapest (AP) - Budapest on the streets of Hungary Monday. March 28 and other Hungarian cities and towns observed Labour Day with Bay in front of the Hungarian Communist Party's headquarters in Budapest. But there were reports of demonstrations and disturbances in the capital and in other parts of the country.

The demonstrations were led by the Hungarian Communist Party's youth wing. The party said they were a "natural outcome of the national struggle of the Hungarian people to create a socialist state in Hungary.

In Budapest, police reports said there were clashes between police and demonstrators in the centre of the city. The police said they had used tear gas to disperse the crowd. The reports also said there were widespread disturbances in other parts of the country. The party called on the Hungarian people to continue their struggle for a socialist state in Hungary.
