New York Shivers As Fuel Runs Out

NEW YORK — Hordes of thousands of New Yorkers lined up today in a virtual panic. They waited in long, snaking lines at gas stations to buy gasoline, a situation that is expected to last for days. The city is running out of fuel due to a shortage of fuel delivery trucks. The situation has reached a crisis point and the city is under severe strain.

News in Brief

New York Shivers As Fuel Runs Out

NASCAR Bans

NASCAR has banned all tobacco and alcohol advertising at its races. The ban is effective immediately and will run through the end of the season. The decision was made in response to public pressure to reduce the glorification of these substances in sports.

NUC Challenges Right of CSC to Hear Cases

The New University Committee (NUC) has filed an appeal against the ruling of the Student Court of Claims (CSC) that upheld the suspension of all tobacco and alcohol advertising at the university. The NUC is challenging the right of the CSC to hear cases involving these issues.

CSC Sets Ground Rules For Jurisdiction Hearing

The Student Court of Claims (CSC) has set ground rules for the hearing to determine whether the organization has jurisdiction to hear cases. The rules include provisions for the appointment of a hearing officer, the exclusion of certain evidence, and the requirement for parties to file written briefs and oral statements.

Senate Boycott Support Comes Too Late to Help

The Senate has passed a resolution to extend the boycott of tobacco and alcohol advertising, but it is too late to have any significant impact. The resolution was passed after the advertising was already being banned.

The New University Committee (NUC) has filed an appeal against the ruling of the Student Court of Claims (CSC) that upheld the suspension of all tobacco and alcohol advertising at the university. The NUC is challenging the right of the CSC to hear cases involving these issues.

Hazardous Driving Reported in Iowa

The Iowa State Patrol has reported that hazardous driving conditions have been reported in several areas of the state. Conditions include reduced visibility, slippery roads, and strong winds. Drivers are advised to exercise caution and slow down.

FBI Charges 35 Men With Draft Defraudment

The FBI has charged 35 men with draft defraudment. The men are accused of obtaining exemption from the draft by submitting false information, including forged signatures and false statements.

ARH Calls Off Drink Boycott

The ARH has decided to call off the drink boycott due to declining support. The boycott was launched in response to a controversial ad campaign.

Forecast

- Rain: Heavy rain is expected in the early hours of the day, followed by a gradual clearing. Temperatures will remain cool throughout.
- Snow: Light snow is expected in the late morning and early afternoon, with accumulation possible in higher elevations.
- Temperature: Highs will range from 60°F to 70°F, with lows in the 40°F range.
Legislative priorities

On the editorial page today is the second of a three-part series on the problems of the University in the area of expansion. In Wednesday's paper, some of the specific requirements for University expansion were listed. To accommodate the 500 additional students expected here by 1975, the University must increase its academic space by three million square feet to meet cur- rent space and financial demands. In fact, if all the plans, proposals and surveys are approved by the Planning Commission next week, the "right and keep" plans of the University might be endangered. The articles in this series will be dealing with the problems outlined in the Planning Commission's plan. The second article in the series will be published on Friday.

And yet, while all these universities desperately need money for physical improvements and additions, the legis- lature has called for a fourth school in Western Iowa. The cost of this school would be nearly $200 million over a lifetime construction period. To ignore the needs of the existing schools simply to follow an undemocratic idea that Western Iowa needs a college is educational suicide.

The University slated to grow south—
UI's administration has big plans—
now if they can just get the money

It is in the interest of all of us, students, faculty and alumni, to be aware of the present space and financial problems the University faces. I'm sure that not all of the plans, proposals and surveys are approved. Consequently, the budget is $84.5 million for the University this year. If all these plans are approved by the Planning Commission next week, the "right and keep" plans of the University might be endangered. The articles in this series will be dealing with the problems outlined in the Planning Commission's plan. The second article in the series will be published on Friday.

Regional Planners Consider $7-Million 'Shopping List'

The Johnson County Regional Planning Commission is studying a $7-Million 'shopping list' of large public works projects that it will recommend to the Iowa City council. The commission assigned by the council to study the large public works projects has been asked to consider whether it would be wise to proceed with them at all or whether they should be delayed until the next phase of the comprehensive plan, which is being prepared now by Powers, Watts and Associates of Chicago. The recommendation of the commission will be submitted to the council on Jan. 31.

Police Seek Boy Friend in Kidnapping

KANSAS CITY — Warrants for Brownie Jeanett, 16, and three other youths were issued by a Kansas City judge today, it was disclosed in Kansas City police reports. The youths are sought on charges of aiding and abetting the escape of the boy friend of a 14-year-old Kansas City girl, who was kidnapped Wednesday in a Kansas City roller rink.

Iowa’s basketball team brought its seven-game winning streak to an end with a 98-75 loss to North Dakota Saturday night in the Field House.

The Hawks must now enter the ranks of those nine teams which have been defeated by the University of North Dakota in the Field House.

The Hawks were not at their best in the first half of the game. The North Dakota team began the game with a bang, scoring 12 points in the first 2:14 of the game. The Hawks, on the other hand, scored only five in that period.

In the second half, the Hawks found their rhythm and were able to cut the lead to 10 points late in the game. The Fighting Hawks, however, were able to pull away and win the game.

Hot Bulldogs Invade Ames

AMES --- Iowa State will assume the role of underdog here Thursday night in a meeting with the University of Illinois, which is the overwhelming favorite.

Coach Chuck Yeager was quoted Wednesday that he expected the Bears to win by a margin of 48-14 and one of his hot boys would be the key man in the game.

At the same time, however, Yeager added that Iowa State, which has two very good players in the Iraqi forwards, would put up a good fight.

"They aren't going to lose any games," he said in reference to his team, which has been playing with the confidence of a .500 won-loss record.

Whether that record will be maintained this week remains to be seen.

Yeager said Wednesday that Iowa State has been "all along with the bears," the coach added, "but I don't know how much good it will do us.

Iowa State will have to work hard to upset the University of Illinois, which has a team that is considered the best in the country.

With McKee's 1-7 record and Williams' 1-7 record, the Bears' record, while better than that of the Iowa State team, is still far from impressive.

Chances of Accidents Rises As Winter Weather Nears

In MILTON FRANKLIN

Driver in Iowa City, mom's son, what some may call a daredevil, died

Dawson killed in winter storm. He was a 27-year-old mill worker who was killed in an accident while driving in a snowstorm.

We've recently tested our insurance to learn more about the dangers of winter driving. The results are surprising.

Insurance contracts for cars and homeowners include coverages that protect drivers and homeowners in the event of accidents. However, in order to receive these benefits, policyholders must follow specific rules and procedures.

For instance, if you are involved in an accident, you must report it to the police and your insurance company. Failure to do so can result in denial of coverage.

In addition, it's important to keep your insurance policy up to date. Make sure you have the proper coverage for your vehicle and your lifestyle.

By following these rules and procedures, you can help protect yourself and your family in the event of an accident. Remember, safety is the best way to avoid accidents.

Big Trucks to Travel On Iowa Interstates

Aided by - The Trump administration's efforts to reduce regulations on the trucking industry, Iowa is poised to become the first state in the nation to allow double-trailer trucks on its highways.

The Iowa Department of Transportation has proposed a program that would allow double-trailer trucks to operate on certain interstate highways. This program is expected to increase efficiency and reduce congestion on these roads.
