The question is prominent here. There has been really too many people who have not had the opportunity to see the need and potential for the program. For the past two years, nearly 50 percent of the people who were asked to support the program did not support it. But what we have found is that the need and potential for the program are greater now than ever before. People are still interested in the program and believe that it is needed. People are still interested in the program and believe that it is needed. People are still interested in the program and believe that it is needed.

A former star offensive guard and defensive tackle at Times High School in Iowa City and a stalwart on the offensive line for the University of Iowa, Criswell was the Hawkeye football team's star performer during the 1941 season. A member of the 1941 Rose Bowl team, Criswell was a first-team All-Big Ten selection that season. He was later inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame and the University of Iowa Athletic Hall of Fame. Throughout his career, Criswell was recognized for his exceptional athletic ability, leadership, and dedication to the sport of football.

Dodge Ace KowafK Named Baseball Athlete of the Decade

NEW YORK - Sandy Koufax broke the news to his Dodger teammates that he would retire from baseball. The announcement came during the Dodgers' final game of the season, an interleague contest against the New York Yankees at Yankee Stadium. Koufax, who had already been dealing with a lingering elbow injury, said that he was simply not able to pitch at the level he had been accustomed to. Despite his retirement, Koufax is remembered as one of the greatest pitchers in baseball history. His 23 seasons included 12 seasons with the Dodgers, where he won three National League Most Valuable Player awards and was a three-time selection to the All-Star Game.

Player Award in Additional Imagery

Averaged more than one complete game per pitching appearance, he never approached any other player. However, he puts that first season even in the lead and recent more past, and more important, to that. Koufax achieved a reputation for throwing anything and it was an excellent recommendation. His distillation of the National League was considered. Many former Iowa gridiron heroes made him say in the only the National League in the past five years has been founded on.

BLUE CROSS AND BLUE SHIELD BENEFITS WILL BROADEN AGAIN ON FEBRUARY 1.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield set the pace in health care security by staying in step with your needs. More than 6,000 Iowa employers, and more than one million Iowa members, rely on Blue Cross and Blue Shield to continually study rapidly expanding medical care practices and match them with coverage. Keeping coverage up to date is just one of many responsibilities we have to our members and we will continue to fulfill this responsibility through our not-for-profit operations.

THIS IS HOW COVERAGE HAS GROWN LATELY.

In 1966, the number of benefit days, for most members, was increased to 365 to help care for long, complicated illness or injury.

At the same time, the definition of dependent children was broadened to include college students regardless of age, and children permanently disabled before reaching age 19.

In 1968, coverage in approved Extended Care Facilities was added.

THIS IS HOW IT WILL GROW AGAIN ON FEBRUARY 1.

1. NEW COVERAGE FOR MEDICAL EMERGENCY
2. NEW HOME HEALTH CARE BENEFIT
3. MATERNITY BENEFIT FOR ALL DEPENDENTS
4. NEW BROADER X-RAY AND LABORATORY COVERAGE
5. NEW BROADENED DEFINITION OF DEPENDENT CHILDREN

In these days of advancements in health care and continued rising costs of care, anything less than Blue Cross and Blue Shield is simply not enough. If you are not a member, it might be a good idea to look into it today. Contact your nearest Blue Cross and Blue Shield office.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield do two things: We pay hospital and doctor bills, and we worry about you.
Degree Without Major Area Proposed

A student enrolled to make a major degree - the Bachelor of Arts and Letters, or B.A. - will be required to take 12 courses, the core requirements of each in the basic areas of liberal learning. This student will need to complete at least 90 credit hours, 32 of which must be at the College. The core courses will be taken in the fields of literature, social and natural sciences, and general cultural studies. Instead of requiring the major that would be required to complete with a major of 34 or more hours, the new degree would require 12 courses to complete a core program of general education.

As discussed by the College's academic policy Committee at a recent meeting, the new degree would require the student to complete a course with grades of B or better in at least 6 credit hours of the core courses. The student would also need to complete at least one of the courses in each of the basic areas of learning.

In order to make the new degree more accessible to students, the College has decided to offer a one-year program that would allow students to take courses in the core areas of learning. The program would be open to all students, regardless of their major, and would allow them to complete the core requirements in one year.

The new degree would be similar to the current major degree, but would allow students to complete the core requirements in a shorter period of time. The College has decided to offer the new degree in order to make it more accessible to students who are interested in completing a degree program in a shorter period of time.
The Weekly Riots at Shinjuku

By ANTONY CHAMBERS

Shinjuku, Tokyo—A series of anti-American demonstrations culminated in violence on Thursday as hundreds of students, joined by other young people, gathered to protest against the installation of new military bases in Japan.

The protest march to the Ministry of Defense in Tokyo was peaceful until a group of students broke through the police lines and were met with tear gas and rubber bullets.

A song called "Little Doves" was sung as a protest against American bases.
