Colloquium
To Feature Publisher

Judith L. Jones, publisher of the New York Times, will be the speaker for the Colloquium on Journalism today. Jones, who is an experienced newspaper publisher, will speak at a discussion of her experiences in the field.

Announced

In 1955, Judith L. Jones received her B.A. degree from Wellesley College and an M.Sc. Degree from Columbia University. She is currently a member of the board of the Columbia School of Journalism, where she has been a member of the faculty since 1959. She has been a member of the Board of Directors of the New York Times Company since 1962.

Her column, "Page One," is the first section of the New York Times, which is read by millions of people around the world. In addition to her work at the New York Times, she is also active in various charitable organizations.

"I believe that journalism is a calling, and I am proud to be a part of it," Jones said. "I love what I do, and I hope that others will find the same satisfaction in it."
Dead horses ride again

The widespread criticism of Iowa's voters, parents, and pupils has been based on the assumption that the votes are not meaningful and that the school is not accountable. Many of the voters who have participated in the recent school elections have expressed their discontent with the way the school has been run, and some have even suggested that the school should be completely rebuilt. Others have argued that the school should be closed down and that the students should be transferred to other schools.

Of course, it is easy to see why some people might feel this way. The school has been struggling financially, and there have been rumors of corruption within the administration. There have also been allegations of sexual harassment and bullying, which have led to protests and demonstrations on campus.

But despite these problems, the school remains an important institution in the community. It serves as a hub for social and cultural activities, and it is a place where families come together to support one another. The school also provides a valuable resource for the community, offering a range of services and programs to meet the needs of its residents.

In conclusion, while there are certainly some issues that need to be addressed, it is important to remember that the school is an essential part of the community, and that efforts should be made to support and strengthen it. It is clear that more needs to be done to improve the school's operations, but it is also important to recognize the value that it brings to the community.

The complete angle

The school is a complex institution, with a long and storied history. Its success is dependent on the efforts of many different people, including students, teachers, and administrators. The school is not only a place of learning, but also a community where people come together to support one another.

Throughout its history, the school has faced many challenges and has undergone several changes. It has adapted to new technologies and has evolved to meet the needs of its students. The school has also been a source of pride for the community, with many alumni going on to successful careers.

In the end, the school is a vital part of the community, and it is important to continue supporting and strengthening it. With the right resources and support, the school can continue to be a place where students can thrive and where the community can come together to support one another.
U.S. Tells Hanoi POWs Mistrusted

PARIS (AP) - The United States charged Thursday it had uncovered "new shocking evidence" that North Vietnamese authorities refused to even discuss the prisoners' fate. Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger said the U.S.Tcp was demanding a "straight answer" from Hanoi about 350 prisoners believed to be in Vietnamese hands. NVA spokesmen said only that the U.S. had "no information" about any prisoners of war. "We're now being shadowed and watched," Schlesinger said. "We're now being shadowed and watched by the Vietnamese military forces."

The U.S. also charged that North Vietnamese authorities had ignored earlier requests to set up a joint commission to identify the prisoners. "We have been影影ickering and that's enough," Schlesinger said.

In a separate development, U.S. officials said President Nixon has ordered that prisoners be allowed to write their families, the first step in the evacuation process.

Dogs Trained To Smoke

New York (UPI) -- The French army has taught dogs to light cigarettes as a way of supplanting some of the 350 prisoners in Hanoi surrendered to the U.S. according to a new report.

The dogs are being trained to light their own cigarettes. The report said the dogs smoke when they are asked to and that the cigarettes are delivered to the dogs in special boxes.

Honeymoon Vehicle

WASHINGTON (New York Times) -- A group of young Americans has designed and built a new type of vehicle that they say could be used in the future for transportation.

The vehicle, called a "honeymoon" car, is a small, lightweight vehicle designed for a two-person ride. It has a top speed of 35 miles per hour and a range of 50 miles.

The vehicle was constructed by a group of students at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology as part of a project to design a new type of vehicle for the future.

$1.8 Million Recommended For City Parks Improvements

THE WASHINGTON Post -- The District of Columbia has recommended a $1.8 million budget for improving city parks, including the addition of new playgrounds and the upgrading of existing facilities.

The recommendation was made by the Board of Aldermen, which is responsible for the city's parks and recreation facilities. The budget includes funds for the construction of a new playground, the renovation of an existing playground, and the addition of new restrooms.

The recommendation was made in response to a recent survey of city parks, which found that many facilities were in need of repair.

Blue Ribbon Committee Issues Prison Revamping Plan

The report is being given in a series by the Blue Ribbon Committee of the University of Iowa, which was created last year to look into the question of prison reform. The committee is made up of about 60 members, including judges, lawyers, criminologists, and social workers.

The report calls for the closing of the State Penitentiary at Fort Madison and the construction of a new prison in the city. The new prison is to be built on the site of the old penitentiary, which is to be torn down.

The report also recommends the creation of a new correctional system, including a new prison farm and a new prison hospital. The prison farm is to be located in the city and the prison hospital is to be located in the county.

The report also calls for the creation of a new correctional school, which is to be located in the city. The school is to be run by the state and is to be open to all prisoners.

The report also recommends the creation of a new correctional program, which is to be run by the state. The program is to be open to all prisoners and is to be run by the state.

Schneider: Criminal Cases Need Priority Court Dates

Critical cases should get precedence over civil cases in scheduling of trials, Johnson County District Judge Joseph Schneider said Thursday. He added that it is taking a lot longer than usual for some hearings and that more court facilities are needed.

Johnson County is in the process of getting a new building, but the court system still has problems. "We have problems," Schneider said. "There are still problems in the court system," he added. "We need a new building to handle our cases efficiently and effectively."

The county's current building is in need of repair and upgrade. "The current building is inadequate and outdated," Schneider said. "We need a new building to accommodate our growing case load and provide a modern and efficient court system." Schneider added that the new building will be a welcome improvement for the community.

Another custom required young people to get up before sunrise to service in an end and recite prayers. When they returned home, their neighbors would give them presents of flowers and such. If the boy did not seem interested in the girl, they would have good luck all year.

In some places, the parents would write their child a note and fastening it to an arrow or an orange, would send it to the house of the girl. When the arrow or the orange was taken to the house, the family would know that it was the boy who sent it.

However, in the United States, Valentine's Day has long been celebrated with a special focus on romance. It has been associated with lovers and married couples, and is often marked by the giving of gifts such as chocolates, flowers, and cards. In some places, people still follow the tradition of sending out机关 or valentines, which are handmade cards that are placed in envelopes and mailed to friends and loved ones.

Laws for Mating American Style

By Associated Press

What are the legalities governing matings of Americans?

It all depends on where you are. The Florida law defines the word "marriage" as a ceremony performed by a priest or a justice of the peace in the presence of witnesses. In some states, marriage is defined as the union of a man and a woman. In others, the law allows marriage by contract.

Thomas Jefferson, in a letter to a friend from Paris, wrote that marriage was a union of equals, and that the law of marriage should be the same in all states in the United States.

Hawks Keep Scoring Lead
With 96.6 Mark in Big 10

CHICAGO — Iowa's Hawks, the only unbeaten team in the Big 10 with a 16-3 mark, kept a firm grip on the conference's top scoring club, according to the latest statistics released Thursday.

IOWA HAWKS

Points

89-96.6

The Hawks appeared to be a solid No. 2 team, having averaged 93.3 points from the race to the title.

In the race for the first three, Iowa, Purdue and Minnesota hold the key.

Two of Purdue's home games have been a little more loss, just as it's doubtful Iowa can come back from the 10 point loss at Minnesota.

The race is a bit more expected.

John Johnson, the top shooter in the Big Ten, had a 36-point game against Iowa State, scoring six of his seven shots in the first half, leading the Boilermakers to a 10-7 lead.

The Hawk defense, however, is solid and unbreakable.

Bruce Devlin 's 40 points gave Minnesota a 10-7 lead over Iowa State, scoring six of his seven shots in the first half, leading the Boilermakers to a 10-7 lead.

The Hawk defense, however, is solid and unbreakable.

While a close scrap for the conference's top scoring club, according to the latest statistics released Thursday.

Scenes from 'The Bald Soprano', along with an intermediate production by the Center for the New Performing Arts, open at 8 this evening in North Hall. The plays have sold out for the regular run, tonight and Saturday of this week and Wednesday of next month. Thus, University Theatre insures an extra performance at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Tickets are available at the Union Bus Office. Standing room tickets will be sold at all performances on a space-available basis.

FINE ARTS CALENDAR

* music

Robert Wagnon, G. Iowa City, will give a solo recital on 3:30 p.m. Saturday in North Hall. A 4:30 p.m. concert, which will be attended by visitors, will feature a program of instrumental and vocal music performed by the Iowa City Symphony Orchestra and the Iowa City Choral Society. The program will include works by G. Joseph, Fantasia on a Theme of G. John, and R. Schumann.

* films

"Mike's" will show at 5 p.m. and 7 p.m. today at the Iowa Union Theatre. The film is a documentary about the lives of American workers in the automobile industry. The film explores the relationship between the workers and their employers, and the impact of automation on their lives. The film is 90 minutes long and will be followed by a discussion with the director of the film.

* theatre

"The Bald Soprano" is a play by Samuel Beckett. It is a satirical examination of the human condition, exploring themes of absurdity, existence, and the meaning of life. The play is performed at the University Theatre.

* lectures

"The Future of the University" is a lecture series that examines the role of universities in society. The lectures are presented at the University Center, and will continue until the end of the academic year.

Muriel: an art film using a time line of movies, America, law

By JACOB ATLAS

In the past, when American law began making movies, pictures, he has found it to be a common practice in the context of the criminal justice system. In his opinion, the law is not only a source of inspiration for filmmakers, but it is also a source of inspiration for the public. For instance, the law's influence on popular culture is evident in the way that law movies are often seen as entertainment and a form of social commentary.

letting arms flow into the Mideast
There was no confirmation of the report, but security experts said it could mean a reduction in the flow of weapons from the U.S. to Iran.

The Soviet Union took a different tack.
It said it would maintain its arms program for the region's defense.

The report had the U.S. government in a dilemma. It must decide whether to continue its arms policy or to cut down

Mid-West Gets Weapons—
Hopes Smashed
For Arms Cutdown
WASHINGTON — E.U. officials hinted Thursday that the U.S. was changing its mind about letting arms flow into the Mideast.

There was no confirmation of the report,

Post collects Viet rhetoric

Ohio University's Post collected the following views of Vietnam veterans.

"Wear a synchro that is going to end up this way." — John, 20 yrs.
"We've certainly turned the corner." — Jerry, 19 yrs.
"We have never been in a better relative position." — Weston, 4 yrs.
"We are delighted with our progress — we are very proud of our right track." — Jackson, 19 yrs.
"We have never turned the war — it has turned us." — Bob, 20 yrs.
"The United States will have to withdraw its troops from South Vietnam by the end of this year." — Daniel, 20 yrs.

Mention is made of National Review, William Buckley's column

Linda Alpha holds the runner-up spot with 95 points, and T.E. Foundation Alpha is a close third with 94 points. West Alpha was given the head to the prize, while the West finished highly in each event.

IFC

The system is in limbo

IFC president sees system weaknesses

The organizational hierarchy of Iowa's fraternity system is the IFC. Its attitude, action, ideals, and effectiveness have traditionally been an asset to the University. Dan Farrern, a junior and a Sigma Phi Epsilon South Amos, was recently elected president of the 1968-69 edition of the organization. In the following interview he commented on the function of the IFC and the state of Iowa's fraternity system.

What's it all about anyway?

A: Tutoring, for one. We have had all kinds of tutoring projects, like a program where any pledge or new member would get tutoring. Services? It's a program where any pledge or new member would get tutoring. People get paid five dollars per man he pays.

What are some of the problems?

A: We spend EMAN on formal and informal events, because that's what the people want. That's what they want. We sponsored a trip to the National Symphony Orchestra and the Iowa Theater. That trip was open to all the fraternities and the different organizations. We have representatives. Any organization, any student, can get a scholarship. Anybody can get a scholarship. Anybody can get a scholarship.

In order to do things we need money. The best we can do to gain money is to raise money for people's problems. That way the fraternity system has been in operation.

Everyone knows the problem of fire safety. They have a standard, a code. They are calling the high risk code while the house next door is drowning in the low risk code, and there's nobody going to help. Nobody is going to help. It's a problem. The IFC is a group of organizations. It's an organization. It's a group of organizations. It's the home office. They get money for the betterment of the fraternity system as a whole.
In our opinion...

Once upon a distant time, the Greek system had a newspaper. Over a century of such newsprint has been produced since then. However, with the advent of the electronic age, the need for such a publication has diminished. The few remaining Greek newspapers are primarily read by upperclassmen, who are often the only ones who are interested in the happenings of the Greek world. In our opinion, the Greek newspaper is a thing of the past.

The by-laws of the Greek system are vague and open to interpretation. It is not clear whether or not a Greek newspaper is a requirement. However, in practice, most Greeks do not publish a newspaper. This is likely because the cost of printing and distributing a newspaper is high, and the benefits are uncertain. In our opinion, the Greek system would be better off without a newspaper.

Try, try again...
