Sanctuary Caucus: Anti-war soldiers' haven

PALO ALTO, Calif. — The congregation of 12 churches in eight California counties, including mines, farms and industries, has voted to house anti-war soldiers after the war.

The Presbyterian, Quaker, Roman Catholic and Lutheran congregations are among the members of the Sanctuary Caucus. The group was formed 10 years ago to provide shelter for those seeking refuge after the war.

The vote was taken at a meeting in San Francisco last week. The group has been working on the issue for several years.

The vote was based on a decision by the United Nations to allow the group to house anti-war soldiers after the war.

See record spending in '73

WASHINGTON — President Nixon will call on Congress to enact a $52.7-billion federal budget, representing an increase of nearly $8 billion in fiscal 1973, in a message due today.

The message is expected to include a request for a $15-billion deficit in the federal budget, which would be more than twice the deficit of $2.5 billion projected in March.

Without mentioning any specific program, the president is expected to speak of the need for the nation's economic recovery, which has been slow to come.

The message is also expected to contain a request for increased spending for defense, and it is anticipated that the president will ask for more money for the Department of Education.

The president's message is expected to underscore the need for continued economic growth and to stress the importance of reducing the federal deficit.

Medical, dentistry schools ponder 3-year degree plans

By JOE CAMPBELL
Daily Iowan Staff Writer

The University of Iowa College of Medicine and the University of Iowa College of Dentistry are considering a proposal to reduce the length of their degree programs from the current 4 years to 3 years.

The proposal, which has been under consideration for several months, is intended to address concerns about the rising cost of medical and dental education and to make the programs more competitive with those at other universities.

If implemented, the proposal would reduce the cost of medical and dental education and make it more accessible to students.

The proposal is expected to be discussed in detail in the coming months, and a final decision is expected to be made by the end of the year.

The proposal would also allow students to enter the workforce earlier, which is expected to have a positive impact on the economy.

The proposal has been met with mixed reactions from students and faculty, with some expressing concern about the quality of education and others supporting the move as a way to address the cost of medical and dental education.

Will hear thoughts on noise control

The Senate will hear thoughts on noise control at 3:30 p.m. today.

A public hearing on noise control regulations will be held in the Senate chamber at 3:30 p.m. today. The hearing is expected to attract a large crowd, and the Senate will hear testimony from various experts on the issue.

Noise control is a significant issue in many areas, and the Senate is expected to take action on the issue in the coming months.

Diploma pick-up set for Friday

Diploma pick-up is scheduled for Friday at 3 p.m. in the University of Iowa's South Hall.

Students who have completed their degree requirements will be able to pick up their diplomas during this time. The university has announced that it will be providing a diploma pick-up service to students who are unable to attend the event.

This year, the university has seen an increase in the number of students who are unable to attend the diploma pick-up event due to various reasons, including travel commitments and personal reasons.

This service is expected to be well-received by students and is intended to help address the issue of undocumented diplomas.

New car troubles plague owners

DISTRICT 3 — Now that many owners are paying the price for pollution-cutting auxiliary engines — truck starters, rising and removed gasoline engines — some owners are just as happy they didn’t.

Traffic signals were installed in 1965 to help traffic flow and reduce possibilities of accidents. But the signals don’t do much to help drivers.

Under this busy intersection at 36th and Closson, 1,000 motorists a day go through the intersection.

The signals are now red, green and yellow. But it is not uncommon for an intersection to have two yellow lights.

The signals were installed in 1965 to help traffic flow and reduce possibilities of accidents.

A survey of intersection accidents revealed that at least 15% of the accidents were caused by red lights.

In fact, the survey revealed that the percentage of accidents caused by red lights was 15% higher in 1965 than in 1964.

Koufax, Berra, Wynn

New York — Sandy Koufax, Yogi Berra and Sandy Wynn, each a very different kind of pitcher, were elected together to the Hall of Fame, it was announced last night by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Koufax, 37, who delivered a perfect game and was voted the 1965 NL's top pitcher, received 431 votes and 82.7 percent of the total.

The other four candidates were: Al Kaline, 31, Detroit's third baseman, 307 votes and 60.5 percent; Luis Aparicio, 37, Chicago's third baseman, 302 and 59.9; and Don Drysdale, 31, Los Angeles Dodgers' ace, 300 and 58.4.

Berra, 49, the former Yankees star, got 423 votes and 81.3 percent. Wynn, 53 and a former Los Angeles Dodgers' star, received 414 votes and 80.8.

The top vote-getters in the 1966 election were Koufax, Berra, Wynn and Drysdale. Kaline and Aparicio were third and fourth in the balloting.

This is the fourth time Koufax has been named to the Hall and the fourth time Berra has been so honored. Wynn was elected in 1963, Drysdale in 1966.

Jerry McQuire, a sportswriter and Joe D. Torre of The Associated Press were elected to the sportswriters section.

The selection of the 1967 Hall of Famers was announced at a lunch at the Merchandise Mart in Chicago.

Koufax, a sinewy southpaw from Brooklyn, was 5-foot-11 and 175 pounds.

"I'm a little surprised," he said after hearing of his election. "It's pretty emotional. I didn't have any idea. I didn't think I had a chance."

"I got a call from Walter Alston, and I thought it was a phone call I didn't know anything about. I didn't know anything about it.
"It's great. I'm happy and so are my family. I'm going to enjoy it."

Kaline, a 6-foot, 190-pounder who was named to the Hall last year, won the NL batting title in 1965 with a .325 average. Berra, a 6-foot, 215-pounder, batted .286.

Both Koufax and Berra were overjoyed.

"I don't think I am so thrilled as I would have been if it was my first time," Koufax said.

"I'm so thrilled, I would have been much more thrilled if it was my first time," Berra said.

"I'm so thrilled I would have been much more thrilled if it was my first time," Berra said.

Individuals who have been elected to the Hall are Cooperstown, N.Y., shrines, where fax explained.

Each of the three is a member of the National Baseball Hall of Fame.

In the last four years, Koufax has missed 344 starts, with 235 and was paid $60,000. In 1966, he was paid $75,000.

Staying Dot he top 7 NL pitchers, according to the Sporting News, were Koufax, Sandy Robertson, 151; Gaylord Perry, 147; Bob Gibson, 146; and Bob Feller, 137.

In the NL, the top four pitchers were Koufax, Sandy Robertson, 151; Gaylord Perry, 147; Bob Gibson, 146; and Bob Feller, 137.

Koufax, whose baseball career was shortened by elbow surgery, played 1955-66, batting an average of .286.
