Senator rejects plan to probe ISA board

By JERRY DEPER

Daily Iowan Staff Writer

At least 20 representatives of Iowa State University and the Iowa City Police Department signed a petition asking the Iowa Senate to probe the Iowa State Auditors Association (ISA) for alleged "corruption" or "mismanagement." The petition was delivered to Senate Minority Leader Gary D. Birchfield, R-Des Moines, Tuesday.

The petition, signed by 20 members of the ISA, claims the group has been "mismanaging the funds of the university" and requests a Senate panel investigate the organization.

The petition was delivered during the Senate's executive session, which is closed to the public and controlled by the Senate majority leader.

Birchfield said he would review the petition and consider its merits.

Sommers enters race

Des Moines Register

Ross Sommers, a former Iowa State University football player, announced Tuesday he is running for the ISA presidency. Sommers, 28, a former state senator, says he supports the ISA's efforts to improve transparency and accountability in the organization.

Rolling along

By the time he realized what was happening, the truck driver for the Bridgewater, N.J., meat packer had left a quarter-mile wide of road near the highway in Ludlow, Vt. It was quickly collected, however, and the hose left was returned to the truck by AP Wirephoto.

AP Wirephoto

The county attorney Monday asked the Iowa Senate to consider charging the Iowa State Auditors Association (ISA) with "corruption" or "mismanagement." The county attorney said he had evidence that the ISA has been "mismanaging the funds of the university" and requested the Senate panel investigate the organization.

The county attorney said he would review the petition and consider its merits.

Senate council says no to special session

Des Moines Register

The Senate council said Tuesday it would not call a special session of the Iowa Senate to address the ISA controversy.

See tough debate on 18-rights bill

Des Moines Register

The Senate adjourned late Tuesday night after a heated debate on a bill that would give 18-year-olds the right to vote in local elections.

The bill, introduced by Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Mount Pleasant, would have allowed 18-year-olds to vote in local elections if they met certain requirements.

The Senate ultimately defeated the bill, with 30 senators voting in favor and 20 voting against.

Hugo Hughes

New York Times

Federal and state investigators have put together a portfolio of pictures of Hugo Hughes, a notorious figure in the drug world. Hughes is believed to have link to other figures in the drug trade, and the charges against him are mounting. The case is expected to be heard together by the state's 180 judges.

Drafty

That early winter draft is going to be a bit of a problem for the NCAA, which is the All-American United Service Corps Draft. The problem is that the NCAA is not the only organization that relies on the draft system. College football and basketball are heavily dependent on the draft system, and there are fears that the NCAA may be unable to continue to operate under the current system.

"Goldilocks" vs. "Minnie"

by Richard Burnt

Des Moines - The Des Moines Register's Robert "Goldilocks" is nowhere to be found. "Goldilocks" has announced his campaign for a vacancy on the Des Moines Register's editorial board. The position is open to men and women who want to demonstrate that "Goldilocks" is not only a man but a woman. He has been approached by many students and professors at the University of Iowa who believe that he is having difficulty obtaining serious discussions on issues.

"Goldilocks" also announced his candidacy for a position on the Johnson County Board of Supervisors. He was approached by many students and professors at the University of Iowa who believe that he is having difficulty obtaining serious discussions on issues.

The Daily Iowan

The Iowan is not actually a "Goldilocks". Rather, it is a persona created by someone who is trying to make a political statement. The "Goldilocks" persona is a way to highlight the lack of women in political positions.

The Daily Iowan is an example of how media can be used to challenge gender norms and promote inclusivity in political discourse. By presenting a person who is gender fluid, the media helps to broaden the conversation around gender and equity in political representation.

The Daily Iowan is a powerful tool for advocating for gender equity in politics and media. It encourages readers to think critically about gender roles and the underrepresentation of women in political positions.

Improving KSUI rock show

To the editor: The current KSUI lineup, besides those rather admirable accomplishments this fall, has repeatedly failed to respond to the changing tastes of its young audience. The current format, with its heavy emphasis on rock and roll, doesn't adequately reflect the diversity of musical tastes among our listeners. KSUI, with its long history of promoting local talent and showcasing new artists, has the potential to be much more than just a vehicle for popular hits. We urge KSUI to consider a more inclusive approach to its programming, one that acknowledges and celebrates the rich cultural traditions and the diverse musical styles that define the community.

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Nearing three years into the current annual operating budget, or $5.0 million, it is needed to support the Iowa Educational Broadcasting Network (KETV and KETP) for the next fiscal year.

The network, which serves 60 of the state's 90 counties, is under the new service of the Iowa Educational Television Network (NET), a joint venture between NET, Iowa Public Television, and the University of Iowa.

The network is expected to reach 90 percent of Iowa households by the end of the fiscal year, compared to 80 percent last year.

The need for increased funding is due to the growth in the network's audience and the increased cost of producing educational programming.

'Devils' is unearthly documentary

Warner Brothers production of the Robert humanoid, "The Devils" has its picture perfect element: In no shape does the film appear before a film. Certainly the scene which we see is not as crude a thing as it appears to be. Before paying for a movie ticket to see this film, please consider whether you are ready for a scene which will shock you, and whether you are ready for a film which will make you think. "The Devils" is a film that will make you think, and it is a film that will shock you.

Tightrope Walking: Three Options for Lindsay's 1972 Run in Wisconsin

By东南亚 Binoy

Lindsay's campaign in Wisconsin has three key options. Let's break them down:

1. Readiness to Campaign
   - Lindsay is on standby, ready to launch if necessary. But this option needs a strong sense of timing and judgement.

2. A Stable of Contenders
   - Lindsay could form a stable of contenders, perhaps with former Vice President Hubert Humphrey or Governor George Romney. This option requires careful planning to ensure a smooth transition.

3. A More Exposed Movement
   - Lindsay could aim for a more exposed movement, perhaps with former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger or Senator Edward Kennedy. This option involves a strategy of openness and visibility.

The key for Lindsay will be to decide which option to pursue and to execute it flawlessly.

SPECIAL TO THE DAILY IOWAN

Craig Clemens, real hitter

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. - Chicago Bears management was not too satisfied with the results of the Western Conference showdown Monday night, but managing general manager such as George Sauer has some kind of games to keep the Bears interested. He knows that the team has some problems in the pass interference, but he is not too worried about the Bears' performance in the first half.

"We've got to play better," Sauer said. "If we don't improve, we won't win any games."

The Bears play the Minnesota Vikings Sunday in their second home game of the season. Sauer said the Bears will be ready for the Vikings.

"We're feeling good," he said. "We've got to play better, but we're not too worried about it."

The Bears have won their last two games, including a 34-0 victory over the Green Bay Packers in their last game.

"We've got to keep winning games," Sauer said. "If we don't, we won't be in the playoffs."

The Bears are currently in third place in the NFC North division, two games behind the Minnesota Vikings and one game behind the Green Bay Packers.

"We've got to keep playing well," Sauer said. "If we don't, we won't be in the playoffs."

Craig Clemens, real hitter

Clemens has been hitting the ball well and has been a key contributor to the Bears' offensive success. He currently leads the team in batting average, home runs, and runs batted in. Clemens has also been a valuable player in the field, making several key plays that have helped the team maintain its lead. His performance on both offense and defense has been instrumental in the team's success, and he is expected to continue playing at a high level for the remainder of the season.
