Bill back to House after drinking age set at 19

President Johnson vetoed legislation this week that would have lowered the drinking age in the United States to 18. The veto was announced after the House approved the bill by a vote of 265 to 155. The Senate had already approved the bill by a vote of 90 to 3. President Johnson's veto was expected, as he has long been opposed to lowering the drinking age. He cited concerns about the impact on public safety and the need to maintain the status quo. The House is expected to vote on overriding the veto next week.

Iowa Book for freeze violation

IOWA CITY, Iowa — The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) has ruled that Iowa Book, a company that sells textbooks, may not charge more than $2 per year for books that are returned to the company within 30 days of purchase. The IRS said that the company had been overcharging consumers by charging more than $2 per book for cancelled orders. The company has been ordered to refund all such charges.

New laws

LONDON (AP) — The British parliament has passed a series of laws that are expected to have a significant impact on the country. Among the laws that have been passed are measures to increase the age for voting, reduce the age for the death penalty, and increase the age for the legal drinking age. The changes are expected to come into effect in the coming months.

Charged

WILLIAM, Iowa (AP) — Patrick A. Dickey, 21, of rural Wellton, was arrested Wednesday and charged with two counts of manufacturing marijuana from a double mailbox located on his property. Mr. Dickey is accused of growing marijuana on his property without a permit. If convicted, he could face up to five years in prison and a fine of up to $10,000.

Police Chief Patrick J. McLaughlin said that it was too early to determine if the shooting was related to the recent death of Officer Kevin L. Smith. The shooting occurred during a routine traffic stop and left Officer Smith in critical condition. The investigation is ongoing, and no suspects have been identified. The Department is asking anyone with information to come forward.

March 6, 7 'win Wednesday's lottery

WASHINGTON (AP) — By rare coincidence, March 6 and 7 are the only days of the year when both the lottery and the numbers for the legal drinking age are set to be the same. Although the age for voting and the death penalty are also set to change on March 6, the coincidence is expected to cause a surge in demand for lottery tickets.

Realities of the war

By Richard Burtel

It was Robert McNamara who said it all. The war in Vietnam was not going to be won merely with military force. It would take political will. It would take the commitment of the American people. It would take a change in the public's perception of the war.

That was the message that Robert McNamara, former Secretary of Defense, brought to the nation last week when he appeared on the CBS television network's "Face the Nation" program. He made it clear that the United States must commit itself to a long-term solution to the war in Vietnam.

"We can't win this war with military force alone," McNamara said. "We must also commit ourselves to a political solution." He went on to say that the American people must be willing to make the necessary sacrifices, both in money and in lives, to achieve a peaceful solution.

The message was well received by the American public. A poll conducted by the Pew Research Center showed that 70 percent of Americans agreed with McNamara's statement that the United States must commit itself to a political solution to the war in Vietnam.

The president of the United States, however, was not so convinced. In a statement released by the White House, President Johnson said that McNamara's comments were "unhelpful and unconstructive." He went on to say that the United States was not in the business of making political decisions, but rather of conducting a military campaign.

The tension between McNamara and the president was a reflection of the growing divide between the military and the political establishment. The military was focused on winning the war, while the political establishment was focused on finding a peaceful solution.

The situation was made worse by the fact that the American public was split on the issue. A poll conducted by the Gallup Organization showed that 45 percent of Americans supported the president's position, 45 percent supported McNamara's position, and 10 percent were undecided.

The war in Vietnam was a complex and multi-faceted conflict, and there were no easy answers. But McNamara's comments were a reminder that the United States must not be afraid to confront the reality of the war, and that a political solution was necessary to bring it to a peaceful end.

AMA says legal abortions ‘safer’

Third in a series on ABORTION

WATERLOO, Iowa (AP) - The AMA called for a nationwide ban on out-of-state abortion clinics Tuesday to stop so-called 'rescue devices to prevent pregnant women from seeking abortion services through telephones, mail, or other means.'

They say that the western, eastern, central, and southern states are all affected, with women in those areas having access to abortion services at no cost to them.

Doctors say that the ban on abortion services is a poor idea, and that it's the states that should be responsible for ensuring that women have access to reproductive health care.

AMA President William H. Barron said the ban on abortion services is a violation of the Sixth Amendment and that it's a violation of women's rights.

AMA Secretary-General John Paul M. Rodricks said that the ban on abortion services is a violation of women's rights and that it's a violation of the First Amendment.

Number of '73 draftees expected to be lower

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are some of the questions that are being considered Wednesday's draft lottery calendar:

A. What is the highest number expected to be called?
B. What is the lowest number expected to be called?
C. Do you have any concerns about the lottery ceremonies?
D. How does the lottery process work?
E. What happens if a number is called?
F. How will the next lottery ceremony work?

Q. What is the highest number expected to be called?
A. It's not possible to predict exactly which number will be the highest. However, the highest number in the past few years has been around 340.

Q. What is the lowest number expected to be called?
A. Similarly, it's not possible to predict exactly which number will be the lowest. However, the lowest number in the past few years has been around 30.

Q. Do you have any concerns about the lottery ceremonies?
A. There are always concerns about the fairness and accuracy of the lottery process. However, the lottery is designed to be as random as possible, and the results are considered to be fair.

Q. How will the next lottery ceremony work?
A. The next lottery ceremony will likely follow the same procedures as past lotteries. The numbers will be drawn using a computer program to ensure randomness, and the results will be announced publicly.

Q. How does the lottery process work?
A. The lottery process involves assigning each registrant a number and then drawing the numbers in random order. The person with the lowest number is called first, and the person with the highest number is called last. The process continues until everyone has been called.

Q. What happens if a number is called?
A. If a number is called, the registrant with that number will be required to report for a physical examination and, if eligible, induction into the military.

Q. How was the lottery developed, and what is its purpose?
A. The lottery was developed as a way to select draftees in a fair and random manner. Its purpose is to ensure that the military is staffed by men who are fairly selected based on their numbers, rather than on factors such as wealth or social standing.

The Iowa City Community Theatre production of Bell worth's "Plaza Suite" may have resembled a set of episodes of the television show. The setting was a sort of theater at the height of the New York City Plaza's days as the State of Iowa's New York Plaza's latest feature. The cast was composed of some of the finest actors of the Iowa City area.

The play by Peter Weiss was first presented at the theater in February, 1965. It is a modern political play that is set in France during the Reign of Terror.

The play will be presented at the Iowa City Community Theatre, 1522 19th St., Iowa City. The theater is one block south of the Iowa Union on 19th St.

The play is the first of a series of shows on the theater's schedule this season.

Erich von Stroheim, a member of the cast, has been nominated for an Academy Award for his role in the film "The Great Race." The film was released in 1965.

SITKOS

The encore dress rehearsal for the play was held on February 1st. The play is being presented in a new arrangement with added scenes and verbal changes to the original script. The play was written by Peter Weiss, a New York City based playwright.

The play is set in a small town in France during the Reign of Terror. The characters are the mayor of the town, the mayor's wife, and the mayor's daughter. The mayor is a harsh and cruel man who is responsible for the deaths of many of the town's citizens.

The plot begins with the mayor's daughter, Sophie, who is living with her mother in the town. Sophie is a young woman who is very sensitive and emotional. She is also very intelligent and independent.

One day, while walking through the town, she meets a young man named John. John is a handsome and charming man who is also very intelligent.

Sophie is immediately attracted to John and they begin a relationship. However, the mayor is not pleased with this relationship and he tries to stop it.

The mayor sends his men to catch John and Sophie together. When they are caught, the mayor orders them to be taken to the town square and executed.

Sophie and John are led to the town square where they are tied to the pillory and whipped. Sophie is然后 executed by being thrown into the town well.

John is then taken to the town jail and is kept there for the rest of his life. He is never seen again.

The play is a powerful and moving story about love and sacrifice. It is a story about the power of love to overcome even the darkest of circumstances.

The play is being presented by the Iowa City Community Theatre on February 1st. It is a play that should not be missed.
An interview with Jack Cady

Jack Cady; author

Jack Cady writes about music and people. He's been writing song lyrics for the past five years. He says, "I want to do something other than writing fiction stories."

Cady was actually in the music industry when he was just starting out. He was a member of the band "Jack and the Beaver," which was formed in the late 1960s. Cady played guitar and wrote songs for the band.

Cady: "I wanted to do something other than fiction writing. I've always been interested in music, and I thought I could combine my writing skills with my love of music."

Cady's first song was a hit and he was invited to the Woodstock Music and Art Festival. He performed there with the band "Jack and the Beaver."

Cady: "I was really excited. It was a great experience. I met a lot of cool people and made some great friends."

Cady's song "The Story of a Lifetime" was released on an album and it became a hit. Cady continued to write songs and perform with his band. He also started writing for other artists.

Cady: "I wrote songs for other bands and artists. It was a great experience, and I learned a lot about the music industry."

Cady's music career took off and he became a successful songwriter. He wrote hits for many famous artists and sold over 35 million copies of his music. He continued to write and perform until his death in 1998.

Pros bypass Mitchell, Bears pick Horton

Iowa's Larry Horton was a match made in heaven. In the pre-draft free-for-all that is the NFL, the Bears were looking for a player to plug into their defense. Horton, a defensive end from Iowa State, was the Bears' second round pick in the NFL Draft.

Horton was known for his speed and agility on the field, and the Bears were excited to have him as a member of their team. Horton was a key player for the Iowa State defense, recording 13 sacks and 23 tackles for loss in his final season.

The Bears were looking to improve their defense and Horton was seen as the perfect fit. He had a strong performance in the Senior Bowl and the Bears were impressed with his speed and ability to rush the passer.

The Bears were not the only team interested in Horton. Other teams had expressed interest in him, but the Bears were confident in their decision to select Horton with the 54th overall pick.

Horton expressed his excitement to be a member of the Bears and was eager to contribute to the team's success. He was looking forward to working with his teammates and learning from his coaches.

Horton's addition to the Bears' defense was seen as a boost to the team's overall performance. The Bears were looking to improve their defense and Horton was seen as a key player in their plans to do so.

Horton was grateful to be selected by the Bears and was looking forward to the opportunity to contribute to the team's success. He was excited to be a part of a team that was committed to winning and was ready to give his all on the field.

The Bears were hopeful that Horton would be able to make a significant impact on the team and were excited to have him as a part of their defense.

Horton's selection was seen as a significant boost to the Bears' defense and was cause for celebration among fans and media alike. The team was looking forward to seeing Horton in action and was confident in his ability to contribute to their success.
