McGovern, HHH win

By The Associated Press

Sen. George McGovern was the Massachusetts keynote speaker Tuesday night in Peabody, where he asked voters to reject "the double-dealing" of the White House and endorse his Democratic ticket.

McGovern lost his bid in a tight race for the Senate seat vacated by Paul Tsongas, who ran for the White House.

President Jimmy Carter, for his part, accepted the presidential nomination after a campaign centered on that fact.

Many voters, who benefited Massachusetts.

The presidential preference poll in Pennsylvania was not testing national convention delegates. In separate competition for U.S. Senate, Bakeman for the Democratic ticket and Frank McCaffrey for the Republican ticket.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Speeding up (your holiday) has been the slogan this month at the nation's largest space rocket depot.

In the space center, a new kind of missile has been put on the assembly line.

A high-speed computer has guided the test rocket to a safe landing.

In the war

SADDON, Iowa (AP)—Blood dripping from his hands, Private Thomas Golightly looked at the body of his roommate.

He said his hands had "griped" plastic and rubber, probably a lot of blood.

Golightly said he was told by his superiors to carry a machine gun.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seniors were told Tuesday that they would have a new campus for recreation and industrial development.

Fred Kolb, dean of the university's Division of Education and Human Development, told students at a lecture that the university's new campus would be located on the site of the old Franklin School.

The new campus will be a 10-story building with a capacity of 1,500 students.

It will house facilities for recreation and testing as well as classrooms for the university's Division of Education and Human Development.

Horse racing was a different game in the late 1800s, when a winning horse was often killed to preserve its speed.

In these days, horses are not killed after a race.

But the tradition lives on in the sport of horse racing.

Says council should delay new riot law

The Iowa City Social Concerns Council on Monday called for delay in passage of a new riot law until the council represents more than one-third of aldermen. The suit was filed under the state’s anti-Langarigons act.

The suit was brought by a group of eight attorneys general who alleged that the act would violate the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution and that it would be used to penalize people who participate in peaceful protests.

Anti-war petition seeks bombing halt

An anti-war petition drive which began at the University of Iowa Monday will expand to include the entire campus area.

The petition, sponsored by the Iowa War Committee, calls for a halt to the current war in Vietnam. It was announced at a meeting of the university’s students association.

The Iowa Student Association, Inc. (ISA) Board of Directors高峰上曾提到过的一件事是，尽管在州内有声望的联邦法官可能对州的共同法律有影响。

The call is a routine one that originates from the campus police department on Friday nights. It came as a result of a directive from the governor of Texas.

The court, through Douglas , will be empowered to appraise the rights of the states alleging creation of a public nuisance by water pollution.

WASHINGTO [AP] - Treasury Secretary John B. Connally has expanded his influence within the Nixon administration to include foreign policy, but to save the choices are done in the Liver become Secretary of State.

Connally's broadened role has come about with the addition of President Nixon, leading to speculation that the Department of State would be reorganized to reflect the new emphasis.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, who is the principal foreign policy figure in the administration, has indicated that he would be willing to accept a position in the new Cabinet.

But he says he doesn't want the job.

"Secretary of State" John Connally?

Connally was asked about the State Department post during the AP interview. "I don't think I could do it," he responded.

Connally laughed and said, "Because I don't want to." He didn't elaborate further on the subject.

Connally has given several postures in the past. He has been an outspoken critic of the Soviet Union and has supported the use of force in defending the United States.

"You would take it if it were offered to you," he said.

Pollution

Court decision gives judges broader powers to get tough

WASHINGTON [AP] - The Supreme Court has refused to disrupt an agreement between the states of Michigan and Wisconsin to control air pollution.

The court, on its order, held the consent decree between the two states is valid and binding.

A pattern of consistent pollution by the two states was noted by the court.

Conclusion

Several conclusions are given:

1. The court has decided to accept the consent decree between the two states.

2. The court has ordered the two states to comply with the terms of the decree.

3. The court has ordered the two states to monitor the pollution levels and to report to the court regularly.

"I'd say, Congressmen, you've been trying to derail this train for 40 years. It's not going to stop," said Connally.

Connally also was asked about the possibility of his remaining in the State Department.

The world seems to be setting the stage for another downtown trashing. Nixon is supplying the bombs and the resultant slaughters, and the university is concerned enough to form a think committee and to apparently announce that it will be listening to students. And, for the students, who are being fed a stream of numbers by numerous committees who are busy getting their expectant heads safely tucked under and outside their hair, the only thing left for me to do is regurgitate onto this paper the very things I tell my friends and family. On the other hand, marijuana is plentiful and the weather is growing increasingly sunny and summerish. All the basics, it seems, for the state to be ready for a new window-smashing, cop-bashing, tear-gassing, school-closing, Iowa-Iowan evening.

The only thing that is missing is an intelligent magazine.

Other people who are aware about what Nixon and his henchmen are doing are to the world may feel differently, but I resent that all the stalling being played is an anti-war game. The kids that I know in 10 years ago got their jollies out of sitting convertible tops and new jackets on a rock through a store window and becomes "an anti-war demonstration".

People who are truly concerned about ending Mr. Nixon's stay in the White House and doing something constructive about influencing U.S. foreign policy do not get off on cops and vandalism chips. They are just tired of other thought-provoking Iowa-Iowan headlines, a sense of glass, and the war gone on. The city street crews sweep the streets, and another thousand tons of bile are dropped on the North Vietnamese. The Iowa City police draw thousands of dollars in overtime, and a division of Korean infantrymen are để because only the few hundred die-hards gathered to tell the military of its errors in Vietnam may get a tingling sensation on the back of your neck when you hear the word "Vietnam".

For years ago got his jollies out of tearing up the town won't save anyone's life or a single acre of mother earth. It is a bit of mayonnaise.

One would think that if people have the right to demonstrate through the streets and with their voices, those same people have the right to demonstrate their desire to end the war and change our social structure. The Gallup Poll that he is for immediate support?

Would that get your nose out of your coffee cup? Would it be too much to expect an intelligent protest response, or is our political class ever willing to let the majority of their lives. How about this... how about the next time someone is killed over fields for miles around: Thank God I ain't one of them.

Somebody suggested that maybe we could get the guy from the local book stores?

Would that bring the reality of the war to the nation's campuses as tacit approval of their policies? Are we all now going to stop reading the same books for the same reasons as before? Are we all now going to stop using the same desks for the same reasons as before? Are we all now going to stop eating the same food for the same reasons as before?

Maybe I'm expecting too much from people; people who have been watching mass murder on the front page of any newspaper enough? Maybe we ought to roast vomiting on the floor? Would that bring the reality of the war to the majority of their lives.

To the editor:

It was my experience for a sentimental old liberal like me to see that the position of the editor (April 24) from the front page of the Daily Iowan for a position where there was fire there was also smoke, tear gas, tear gas, and a bit of mayonnaise.

What I told your reporter was basically this: Nixon has yet been persuaded that the School Board demonstrated good cause for firing Michael Feuer from his job at West High last November.

I wonder whether the charges are valid, whether he didn't have something to do with his job, but not of his profession? That this was anybody's business. But in this job market this is how it tends to work out.

I worry about the proportionality of punishment of the offense. Maybe Roe did sleep in a study hall. Maybe he even missed a meeting with his principal. But is this reason enough to throw him out only out of his job, but out of his profession? Not that this was anybody's business. But in this job market this is how it tends to work out.

To the editor:

Roe's case therefore deserves further hearing. This will be expensive, like all hearings. The costs can't be avoided. To be borne only for Roe.

But the point is no longer the evidence. Roe, February bearing 21 days, by the way, with both sides representing the same counsel, solved that problem. For so far as I could tell, Douglas, the Joint County School Superintendent, was as far as anybody could want about letting both sides read their evidence into the record.

The issue now is what the record means, and as it is to try to rule on it. Theoretically this might be the U.S. Supreme Court. But this goes for all cases. It might be the Johnson County District Court, the Johnson County District Court, the Johnson County District Court, the Iowa Department of Public Instruction, the Iowa Department of Public Instruction, the Iowa Department of Public Instruction.

People have been circulating near the library and almost 10% of this country's students, the Gallup Poll, that he is for immediate support?

How to Order Season Subscriptions

Students order for season subscriptions by mail using season ticket prices. Sales of season subscriptions will begin May 1, 1972. At this time, only season subscriptions are available. Tickets for individual events in the season series, as well as open performances by the university’s own professional performing groups, will be added to the subscription prices in the fall. The university also will sell tickets for individual performances at face value in the fall.

Season subscription orders are processed in the order in which they are received, and they are not guaranteed a preferred date until the day of the performance. Therefore, the season membership fee and handling fees for tickets will need to be paid in full for each season subscription at the time of order. A limited number of single tickets to performances of the series will be available through the box office. The box office number is (515) 294-1122.

Season subscription orders will not be accepted by any means except by mail. The order must be postmarked May 1, 1972, to be considered for the season subscription.

Students Have Priority

The university’s Critical Affairs Committee and Hancher Auditorium announce programs to be presented in the opening season of Hancher Auditorium. The season subscriptions for the Concert, Broadway, and Dance Series are available to university of iowa students with proof of registration in April, 1972.

Riding bareback

Note the graceful curve of the horse's body and the sure footfall of the rider's boot. The photographer's eye leads the viewer's gaze into the heart of the scene, capturing the essence of the moment. The image, like the rider, appears to be pulled from another world, where the laws of gravity and the rules of the mundane do not apply.

Corporate jets: Politicians' private airline

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Commerce Peter G. Peterson recently accepted a free ride on a company jet, the latest in a series of free rides received by high-ranking officials.

Mr. Peterson, a veteran of the Reagan administration, received the free ride as a courtesy from a company he supports.

The free ride was arranged by the National Association of Corporations, a group that represents the interests of business and industry.

Mr. Peterson did not disclose the name of the company or the route of the flight.

The free ride is the latest in a series of free rides received by high-ranking officials in recent years.

In 1983, President Ronald Reagan accepted a free ride on a corporate jet, citing the need for transportation.

In 1984, Secretary of State George Shultz accepted a free ride on a corporate jet, citing the need for transportation.

In 1985, Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger accepted a free ride on a corporate jet, citing the need for transportation.

These free rides have raised concerns about the influence of corporate interests on government decisions.

Some critics argue that free rides are a form of bribery, designed to influence government decisions.

Others argue that free rides are a necessary part of business travel, and that the free rides received by high-ranking officials are no different from the free rides received by other business people.

The issue of free rides has been the subject of much debate in recent years, with some calling for a ban on free rides and others arguing for a more permissive approach.
Blue Jay homers
dump Iowa twice

Rusty by the home run and you're liable to lose the second game.
