Hi Nits hit by massive air raids

WASHINGTON (AP) - With Moscow silent on the crisis, Tuesday night US planes were launching their second massive air raid on North Vietnam since the beginning of the war. It's 11th night raid.

The raid was a response to an escalation of the American offensive, where US forces have been striking targets in North Vietnam. The US Air Force also announced that it would continue to mine the waters of the Tonkin Gulf, a major shipping lane for North Vietnam. The US plans to mine the Gulf as a way to prevent North Vietnam from using the seas to obtain supplies.

Despite the US air strikes, the North Vietnamese have shown resilience and determination. They have continued to fight back and resist the US bombings.

The US government continues to justify its actions as necessary to halt the spread of communism in Asia. However, many Americans are opposed to the war and have called for peace negotiations.

The situation remains tense, and it is unclear how the conflict will be resolved. The US and North Vietnam are locked in a military stalemate, with neither side gaining a clear advantage.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Roughly 1.5 million Americans of high school age use LSD and similar drugs at least once, a new government survey showed Thursday.

This is 6 percent of all young people aged 13 through 18, and 5 percent of adults 18 and over.

The findings, released Tuesday by the National Institute on Drug Abuse, also indicated:

— 0.3 million Americans are frequent LSD users.

— 11 million Americans have tried LSD at least once, 0.6 percent of young people and 0.2 percent of adults.

— 0.7 million have tried once.

— 0.8 million have tried cocaine, 0.3 percent of young people and 0.2 percent of adults.

— 0.9 million have tried amphetamines, or speed, for nonmedical purposes. This is 1.0 percent of young people and 0.2 percent of adults.

— 1.4 million have tried marijuana at least once, 0.5 percent of young people and 0.2 percent of adults.

— 4 million have tried heroin, 0.6 percent of young people and 0.1 percent of adults.

— 2.5 million have tried a combination of marijuana and heroin.

Political platform process

Editor's Note: Comments on this page are observations on the significance of the platform as the general public—indeed, even suffrage candidates—were elected in 1972. See also comments on the significance of the platform process and the role of the Democratic Party in the election process.

I believe that the platform process is a central part of the Democratic Party's role in the election process. The platform process is not just about the election of candidates, but also about the process by which the platform is created and the role of party organizations in the process.

The platform process involves a series of meetings and discussions, beginning with the party's central committee and continuing through the state and national conventions. The platform is developed through these discussions and is presented to the voters as a statement of the party's values and goals.

In addition to its role in the election process, the platform process is also an important way for the Democratic Party to engage with its members and the public. The platform process is an opportunity for the party to listen to the concerns of its members and to develop policies that reflect those concerns.

The platform process is also important in terms of the Democratic Party's role in governance. The platform provides a blueprint for the party's approach to policy making and is a guide for the party's leaders in the legislative and executive branches of government.

The platform process is not perfect, and there are certainly ways in which it could be improved. However, I believe that the platform process is an important part of the Democratic Party's role in the election process and in the governance of the country.

Changes likely in post-Hoover FBI

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Nixon's administration is about to take a close look at the FBI. The agency's director, J. Edgar Hoover, has single-handedly shaped the FBI since its founding and has been the subject of many stories and charges of abuse.

Hoover, who is 77, has a reputation for being a tough and intimidating figure. He has been in charge of the FBI since 1924, and during his tenure, the agency has grown in size and power.

The FBI has been criticized for its handling of civil rights cases, and it has been accused of covering up information about political figures.

In recent years, the FBI has come under scrutiny for its role in the Watergate scandal and its handling of the Boston Olympics.

Hoover's departure is expected to bring changes to the agency, but it is not clear what form those changes will take.

Announcing that the world doesn't run on a schedule, I am announcing that the men in the Brotherhood of U.S. Telegraph will go on strike because you don't believe in information generated.

S mgr. John Doe, wouldn't you like to talk to a real person?

This is the last time I'll call the company.

Each year, if you would like to replace the drop-in phone with a local phone, it will cost you $25.00 per month or $30.00 per quarter or $115.00 per year. This doesn't begin to cover the price of a good meal in a restaurant (80 cents, breakfast; $1.25, lunch; $3.00, dinner).

We'd like to offer our service at a higher rate than partial boarders.

Sooner or later, something will happen to the company.

"Predictable absenteeism" will be instrumental in trying to make the board plan decision. We want to look at the cost factors and the rates set for meal tickets.

Ticketing is a minor miracle, made possible not by divine intervention, but instead of maximum ticket selling.

"Predictable absenteeism" will have a higher rate than partial boarders. It's a matter of cold-blooded, predictable, predictable business.

Wage controls would be messy for pro sports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Plans by pro baseball owners to force wage controls would result in the "disintegration" of baseball, said National League Commissioner Bowie Kuhn today.

"You can understand the legitimate concern owners have about the average salary," Kuhn said. "But you can understand as well the specter of the same situation in the future."

The minister of the Washington National Rugby League was quoted as saying that the average salary of pro football players has increased 5 to 6 per cent wage increases in excess of 5 per cent per year in baseball players' salaries and bonuses in the National Football League alone.

Kuhn said that if salary increases could destroy the National Hockey League, as owners believed, "then you could understand a legitimate concern on the part of owners for their property."

"You can understand a legitimate concern on the part of the owners for their property."

Wage controls were unnecessary for baseball players, he said, since "the most important thing that happens is that the owners are trying to make more money from the property they have. They aren't trying to lower the average salary because they are not trying to make more money from the property they have."
