A glance at the Iowa Eye Bank

The transplantation of hearts, kidneys and eyes is a medical achievement endowed on the nation by the American public. In the past few years, however, some states have ended their programs and others are phasing them out. The Iowa Eye Bank has remained in operation to fill the need.

The Iowa Eye Bank was founded in 1962, and is a nonprofit corporation supported by a variety of sources. It is the only eye bank in Iowa, and is the only eye bank in the United States that has a service area that includes all of the state.

The Iowa Eye Bank is a member of the Eye Bank Network, a national organization that ensures the highest standards of care and quality for eye banks.

The Iowa Eye Bank is located at 309 W. 4th Street, and is open Monday through Friday from 8:00 am to 4:30 pm.

Exam doesn't prove rape

Doctor says psychological counseling available for rape victims

By PAUL DAVIES

This is the last article in a series on rape victims. The column describes the psychological and emotional aspects of rape.

The physical examination given a victim does not prove the occurrence. The rape victim may be afraid to report the incident to the police, but many doctors will allow rape to go unreported if the victim is willing to go on with her life.

The physical examination given a victim does not prove the occurrence. The examination is usually not done unless the victim is willing to go on with her life. The victim may be afraid to report the incident to the police, but many doctors will allow rape to go unreported if the victim is willing to go on with her life.

Doctors at University Hospitals were performing therapeutic abortions in some cases, but public reaction and media interest have slowed this practice.

Dr. Robert Heininger, a gynecologist at the University Hospitals, said that therapeutic abortions are being performed for various reasons, including the fear of pregnancy or the fear of being identified as a rape victim.

"Many rape victims believe they do not want to be identified as a rape victim," Heininger said. "They may feel that they are going to be punished or that they are going to be looked down upon.

Downtown changes, who profits?

The Clinton Street project has visibly begun. Dividers are in or going in, utility pipes and hoses have been shut off, and the depression at the street's end is visible to all.

The project—"it could be said it's a decade in the planning and a decade in the doing," according to Charles Ahern, chairman of the downtown Redevelopment Corporation—has been in the works long enough to help start the revitalization of the downtown area, in the opinion of Ahern.

Ahern is a member of the board of directors of the National Trust for Historic Preservation, which has recently shown its support for the project.

"The project is moving forward," Ahern said, "but the city is taking its time to make sure it is done right."

It's always nice to see a good show, and WQAD-TV's production of "The Elephant Man," also known as "Elephant," was just that. The story of the life of Joseph Carey Merrick, who was born with a rare condition that caused his body to grow in an abnormal way, was told with grace and sensitivity.

The production was directed by Michael Quinn, and the cast was led by Stephen S. White as Joseph, with Daphne Frock as his nurse, and Bruce Reddy as his doctor. The supporting cast was excellent, with each actor bringing their character to life in a way that made the audience feel as though they were a part of the show.

The set design was also impressive, with a large stage that allowed for a lot of movement and visual effects. The lighting was also well done, with different shades of light highlighting the different moods of the story.

Overall, the production of "The Elephant Man" was a success, and I would highly recommend it to anyone looking for a heartwarming and thought-provoking show.

Shadows of Pavlova

By CAROL MARTIN

"Dancers are sort of magicians. They can do anything they want, if it doesn't hurt their clothes and, but I think that technical director Doug Bloom is one of them." The dances are from the Lithuanianborn artist Eddie Molanauskas, who is from Discovery Theatre, and the dances are from the University of Iowa's Department of Dance Theatre.

The performance features "Hijau's Dance," "Shadows of Pavlova," and "Cool, Clear Morning." These dances are choreographed by Francesca Cavallaro, and the performers are Mark O'Keefe, Alden Hightower, and Judy Allen.

The performance is at the Iowa City Center for the Arts, and the tickets are available at the box office or by calling 319-336-3366.

The performance is at 8 p.m. on December 9, and the tickets are $10 for adults, $7 for students, and $5 for children. The performance is sponsored by the University of Iowa Arts Council.

Neil Young blows into Illinois’ Windy City

Neil Young is a Canadian rock musician who has been active in the music industry since the 1960s. He is known for his distinctive voice and guitar playing, as well as his social and political activism.

Young's music is often associated with the folk rock genre, and he has released numerous albums that have been critically acclaimed. He has also been a member of several other bands, including Buffalo Springfield and Crosby, Stills, Nash, and Young.

Young has been a vocal activist for a variety of causes, including environmental protection and human rights. He has also been involved in the music industry as a producer and recording artist.

In 2022, Young announced a tour to promote his latest album, "Mirror Ball." The tour will stop in a variety of cities across the United States, including Chicago, where he is scheduled to perform on December 10 at the American Airlines Arena.

The concert is expected to feature Young playing songs from his new album, as well as some of his classic hits. Tickets for the concert go on sale on October 1 at 10 a.m., and they are expected to sell out quickly.

Dave Bryant

ready for '73

By BURT TAPP
Sports Editor

Football season's over, but for Dave Bryant, the hard work continues. Bryant's a freshman who played right guard this past fall. The Iowa State team was unable to do anything in the Big Eight, which was the worst team in the state. A lot of people were predicting the Hawkeyes to do well. The week Dec. 31, 8 should be a reasonable sports event abroad because Nick Nickerson played for the Hawkeyes. New York, and the best in the state, the Hawkeyes have not been very good in 1973. Thinking back to the Iowa State game, the Hawkeyes won the game. We didn't think we'd win the game, but we won. The Iowa team was not as fast as us. Dirt donor went down in the Wee Years. Sun. The big game was the Pittsburgh game. It was the best game I've ever seen. It was the best game I've ever seen.

Introducing the diaper that fits better to work better.

Baby-Shaped Kimbies.

Exclusive shape
Most diapers are shaped like diapers. Kimbies diapers are shaped like your baby.

Soft center folds
The folds give Kimbies their exclusive shape. They put more absorbent diaper where a baby needs it most.

Less leaking
When the diaper is in place, the folds hug baby's legs tightly, with less chance for accidents.

More absorbent
Kimbies are filled with thick, absorbent fluff that's very soft, and more absorbent than cloth.

No pins
Instead of pins, Kimbies have adhesive Safety Tapes. They give a safe, snug fit every time. And they won't loosen up in use.

More sizes
There's a Baby-Shaped Kimbies diaper to fit the shape your baby is in—teeny, tiny newborn to active toddler.

Better fit is only the beginning

Big 10 out of Olympics

(COACHING) — The Big Ten withdrew Wednesday from its United States Olympic Committee membership, the first athletic conference to follow the lead by the NCAA with the Olympic group in October.

The action was announced by Big Ten faculty representatives and athletic directors conducted their bi-annual winter business meeting at which operational economy was emphasized.

Marshall Plumer, chairman of the athletic directors meeting faculty group, said the Big Ten was dropping its close E membership with three votes on the 1-11-72, "at the same grade as the NCAA.

This is in reaction to the director of the Olympic movement, but we hope this action will precipitate steps for the elimination of the Olympic late in 1972 and we consider adopting the action to remedy the situation where the American schools will not enter in the international competition until the legitimate American schools will be represented.

The action was announced as Big Ten faculty representatives and athletic directors conducted their bi-annual winter business meeting at which operational economy was emphasized.

The Big Ten tabled action on adoption of the proposed rule and also reduction of football scholarships until the conference is ready to drop the red shirt policy which allows an athlete four years of competition within a five-year old age limit.

University of Michigan, chairman of the policy-making group, said the Big Ten was agreeable to reducing its football scholarships and reaffirmed a plan to improve the value of the red shirt to the athlete.

The proposed reduction of the maximum number of scholarships from 120 to 105 and would consider adopting a proposal to limit the number of athletes to 10 out of 15 tenderers can be issued in other sports beyond football and basketball. However, the Big Ten withdrew Wednesday from the NCAA convention in Chicago.

Restricted to only football and hockey a four-day limit for restricted players was only the withdrawal from the annual NCAA convention in Chicago Jan. 11-13. The Big Ten faculty representatives and athletic directors conducted their bi-annual winter business meeting at which operational economy was emphasized.

The Big Ten witheld action on adoption of the proposed rule and also reduction of football scholarships to play a major role in the campaign to improve the value of the red shirt to the athlete.
