Post: 'aware of Watergate cover up'

'Nixon knew in December'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of President Nixon's staff have nearly all been forced to resign, but several other high administration officials also are expected to resign. The White House denied reported plans that the President was planning to resign, saying he was not going to resign.

A federal grand jury which has been hearing testimony from the 1972 campaign is expected to reconvene Monday, following a break of several weeks.

The Thursday session was expected to begin at 1 p.m. and is expected to last for at least two days, with a possible resumption of testimony on Friday.

The grand jury has been hearing testimony in two phases: the first phase, from April 17 to May 7, and the second phase, from June 1 to July 1.

The grand jury's focus is on the Watergate break-in and the cover-up surrounding it.

The grand jury is investigating allegations that President Nixon and his aides conspired to obstruct justice and cover up the Watergate break-in and the subsequent investigation.

President Nixon has denied any wrongdoing, and his aides have said that the President had no knowledge of the break-in or any other illegal activity.

A Senate investigation has been underway for several months, but the Senate has not yet released its findings.

The Senate investigation has been focusing on the Watergate break-in, the cover-up, and President Nixon's role in the affair.

The Senate investigation has been hearing testimony from scores of witnesses, including members of President Nixon's staff, White House officials, and others.

The Senate investigation has been expected to be completed by the end of the year, and the Senate is expected to release its findings in early 1974.

A corporation goes shopping

Appropriately the big corporation from Des Moines, General Growth, has decided to go ahead with its plans to open a new shopping center across the way from the present Mall of America.

In fact those plans will probably be affected. Negotiations between city officials and General Growth surfaced Monday, and that fact alone means that the corporation means business this time.

Last summer, before it was near city officials that the downtown Urban Renewal project as they saw it was doomed; the city-styled General Growth by refusing to grant a reaming request. General Growth backed off, apparently waiting until it could get a good deal or developing downtown or else until the downtown project was so far-developed that the city would have to be cooperative in it. All of that bargaining, of course, hinged on the understandings between the city government and the downtown business interests that a new shopping center would destroy hopes of "revitalizing" the Central Business District by drawing either the market or the shoppers back.

Now, city officials seem to see things differently. Donald Madison, who chairs the commissions that will make the decisions about running the tract for General Growth says that the concern now is that the outer areas develop in a more aesthetic way, meaning that a General Growth is better than a K-Mart and implying that rezoning the tract for General Growth says that the concern now is that the outer areas develop in a more aesthetic way, meaning that a General Growth is better than a K-Mart and implying that rezoning the tract for General Growth means business this time.

Editor's note: Many opponents of the city plan have been arguing about an important new development in the world of labor-management relations. This is the result of new legislation recently negotiated in the steel industry. The significance of the issue is that a new form of organizing may be developing in the steel industry.

A new form of organizing may be developing in the steel industry.

Survival Line
Direct Contact

Direct Contact with John Kundel. US assistant financial aid director, was on the agenda of one SURVIVAL LINE readers last Thursday evening. Kundel, whose particular specialty is in the work-study area, talked on a wide range of financial aid topics, with a section on the form of aid called student loans.

Direct Contact is another service of SURVIVAL LINE, the biggest part of our volunteer staff.

Marrying: affect financial aid?

My fiance and I are getting married in June. If we fill out a financial aid application, will we have to be a "dependent"? Should we go ahead and fill it out anyway?

Kundel: If your fiance's father claimed her as a dependent on last year's income tax, you would be considered "dependent" and must submit a financial aid application. However, you're a student and would be considered "independent" if you're married or if you have dependents. This means your family income is not considered in your financial aid application. You may also be eligible for additional student loans.

National Defense Loans

Will National Defense Loans be available next year? J.M.

Kundel: On April 16, Congress passed a bill which would again authorize National Defense Loans, equal opportunity for which is to be expanded. The intent is to open the program to more students, particularly those who are not eligible for federal assistance, such as President Nixon and Vietnam not be on your loan.

You can get information on these loans, or on any financial aid questions, by calling the financial aid office.

Aid notifications: when?

I now have a tuition scholarship and a national defense loan and I was wondering if you could tell me when I will get my aid notification? And will I get it at all?

Kundel: The renewal of your scholarship depends upon your grade-point average (three points or above) Letters from parents, professional, and other references should be submitted by April 15.

Applying for aid: too late?

How do I apply for financial aid? R.M.

Kundel: It is possible at the end of the fall term to apply for financial aid for the following academic year. This is called the "fall application," and is due by the end of February. However, the fall application may not be accepted if the necessary forms are not submitted by the end of the fall term.

Eligible for work-study?

I am a grade-for-credit and have never applied for work-study. I married and our only income comes from my wife's teacher's salary. If I work-study, will there be enough to live on?

Kundel: Since this is your only income, you probably would qualify for work-study. This would enable you to have just enough to live on for the full-time summer job.

Tuition grants: renewed?

I've been getting a tuition scholarship for three years. Should I apply for a full-time student tuition loan in case my scholarship gets terminated? K.T.

Kundel: Tuition scholarships will not be affected by any possible reductions. Our college publications state that no student is considered to be "dependent" or "independent" for the purpose of applying for financial aid. You are eligible for any financial aid that is available.

Summer work-study jobs

Will there be any work-study jobs available this summer? R.K.

Kundel: There are a few openings in town, but there will be very few work-study opportunities for bright work-study students. There are a few jobs that are available, but they are not very demanding.

St. Francis' tale related on camera

If Brother Sun Brother Moon had been written, Faith Farms would doubtless have produced it as a film. Many people upon hearing that the movie deals with Brother Sun, would be skeptical. Many of them have seen the show, "A Man Named Sun," and have been disillusioned. But they may be pleasantly surprised in the new version of the show that is to come.

Brother Sun's tale

much more than a typical religious film shot as a somewhat sanitized saint. It's the beating heart of the whole show, and those who have a heart and a soul at all will be moved by the story. The story is of a young man, Francis, who has a religious awakening and then follows through. The story is told through the eyes of Brother Sun, who, with his bird friends, comes to Francis and shows him the way to the truth.

There's a striking parallel between this story of the thirteenth century and the idealistic hopes of the 1970s. Both concern the materialist society, the all too often empty words and actions of the people who are supposed to care, and the spirituality that is threatened. Although many of the scenes are simply for the sake of the story, they are also a good basic education in the world of the 1970s.

The scenes are well done, with some truly beautiful ones. The birds, flowers, and the birds themselves make an appearance in the film, adding to the overall effect. The film is a testament to the beauty of the world and the importance of spirituality.

One of the scenes is where Francis is shown to the beautiful and youthful Mary Magdalene. She is portrayed as a strong, independent woman who is able to help Francis in his journey. The scene is a beautiful example of the film's ability to convey both the story and the message.

The film is sure to be a hit with audiences of all ages. It is a beautiful and inspiring story that will leave a lasting impression on those who see it. It is a must-see film for anyone who is looking for a good story with a message.

Clark places fourth in Cunningham Mile

By GREG LUND

Clark was disappointed but not discouraged. He said he had run a very good race, and it was just a matter of not being able to grab another mile. The finish line was just a matter of being tired.

Clark ran a 4:03.2 mile on Friday in the University of Iowa meet, and he was the only one to finish the race. He was able to come back and finish third in the meet.

Clark said he was very pleased with his performance, and he said he would be back to run the mile on Saturday. He said he was happy to be able to run the mile and that he was looking forward to running the mile on Saturday.

Santo, Cubs homers back 11-3 win

CHICAGO (AP) — Two-run home runs by Ron Santo and Billy Williams highlighted the Chicago Cubs in a 11-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals, their second straight victory in the National League. The Cubs took a 2-0 lead in the sixth inning on Santo's homer and added another two runs in the seventh on Williams' blast. The two home runs by Santo and Williams are the first multi-home run game for both of them this season.

Cubs starter Dietz pitched well, allowing three runs in six innings. He struck out six and walked only one. The Cubs' relief pitchers, including Strop and Blix, continued their strong performance, combining for five scoreless innings.

The Cubs improved to 7-3 in their last 10 games and moved within three games of first place in the NL Central. St. Louis, meanwhile, dropped to 5-5 in their last 10 games.
