Jessup Hall shakeup: Chambers moving up

By LEWIS D. ORRICK
University of Iowa Pres.

Jessup Hall renovation has been underway for months, and the renovations are expected to continue for another year. The renovation includes the addition of a new lobby, new classrooms, and improved facilities.

The $30 million renovation project is part of a broader initiative to modernize the university's campus, which includes the construction of new dormitories and the expansion of existing ones. The project is expected to be completed in 2024.

The new facility will include state-of-the-art technology, green building features, and increased accessibility for students with disabilities. The renovation is also expected to improve the university's ability to attract and retain top students and faculty.

The university is currently seeking proposals from experienced construction firms to complete the remaining work on the project. Interested parties are encouraged to contact the university's facilities management department for more information.

Deny administration funds for Cambodian bombing

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House Foreign Affairs Committee voted Wednesday to deny funding to Cambodia for bombing raids.

The committee voted 24-13 to cut $300 million from the defense budget for Cambodia, citing the country's violations of human rights and its support for terrorism.

The bill, which needs to be passed by both the House and Senate, would prevent the United States from providing economic aid to Cambodia until it takes steps to improve its human rights record.

The Cambodian government has denied these charges, and the country's leaders have expressed their frustration with the United States' stance on the issue.

In other news:

- The University of Iowa has been named one of the top 10 universities in the nation by U.S. News & World Report.
- The Iowa state legislature passed a bill that would increase funding for higher education.
- The University of Iowa's athletics department announced it would be cutting several sports programs due to budget constraints.

in the news briefly

Lebanese

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - Lebanon has been hit hard by the current political crisis, with widespread protests and a general strike calling for political reforms.

The protests began in October last year and have since escalated, with demonstrators demanding the resignation of the government and the removal of its leader, Prime Minister Saad Hariri.

The government has so far refused to resign, leading to further protests and a escalating political tension.

The situation in Lebanon continues to be tense, with frequent clashes between protesters and security forces.

Troop reduction

VIENNA (AP) - The NATO alliance announced on Wednesday that it will begin withdrawing troops from Afghanistan as part of a broader effort to reduce its military presence in the region.

The announcement comes ahead of a new round of talks between NATO and Afghan officials, which are expected to begin later this month.

The reduction in troops is part of a broader strategy to transition the war-torn country's security to Afghan forces.

Coal industry

DIEC SEBOM, Iowa (AP) - The state's coal industry is facing challenges as customers abandon coal-fired power plants in favor of cleaner energy sources.

The industry has been hit hard by the decline in demand, with many plants forced to shut down and others struggling to stay afloat.

The situation is particularly dire in the state's eastern region, where coal mining has been a major source of employment for decades.

Iowa Senate

TORONTO (AP) - The Iowa Senate passed a bill on Thursday that would eliminate the state's death penalty for certain crimes.

The bill was introduced by Sen. Jeff Jenkins, a Republican from Davenport, and was supported by both Republican and Democratic lawmakers.

The bill now moves to the House of Representatives for consideration.

Mississippi

ST. LOUIS (AP) - The National Weather Service in St. Louis said Thursday that a severe thunderstorm is expected to move through the region later today, bringing the risk of heavy rain and strong winds.

The storm is expected to cause localized flooding, with the potential for flash floods in areas that are prone to flooding.

The weather service urged residents to stay tuned to local news and weather reports for updates on the developing situation.

Basketball

The North Carolina Tar Heels defeated the University of Virginia Cavaliers 77-70 in the men's basketball championship game on Saturday.

The Tar Heels, led by forward Brice Johnson, scored a game-high 27 points to lead the team to victory.

The Tar Heels have now won six national championships, tying them with the University of Kentucky for the most in NCAA history.

The University of Virginia, coached by Tony Bennett, had hoped to win its first national championship since 1984.

In other news:

- The Women's Basketball Final Four is set to begin on Friday, with undefeated teams预期着 to meet in the championship game.
- The NCAA Tournament, which began on March 15, will conclude on April 3, with the national champions being crowned in Atlanta.
Federal jury indicts Mitchell, Stans

WASHINGTON (AP) - Prosecutors sought to link Willard Harmon, 48, a White House aide, to the Watergate scandal Thursday as they asked for a $10,000 bond for Mitchell and Stans, top aides to President Nixon.

The government proposed that each, if freed, could commit the same kind of crimes as Richard M. Nixon. "We have to be sure that they do not leave this country," Attorney General John N. Mitchell, said. "They are the kind who will make a federal case of going to Mexico and returning without a trace."

The government said it would not seek $50,000 for each man, a bond that would hold them in jail until the trial, because it believed they intended to stay in the United States.

"I stand before you charged with responsibility for the leak of the Watergate affair," Mitchell said. "I have repeatedly proclaimed my innocence for 18 months."

Stans, who was also charged, said he had "no idea" the information in the Watergate break-in had been leaked to the press.

The government said Mitchell, Stans, two aides to Nixon, and other staff members could not be held in jail until their trials because they have not been indicted yet.

"We shall make every effort to extradite them when they are indicted," Mr. Mitchell said.

Donald E. Graham, 35, of D.C., and Pennsylvania, 49, of D.C., were charged with five felonies, including obstruction of justice, perjury, and conspiracy.

The government's chief counsel, Thomas R. Clark, said that the Watergate affair "is a story of first magnitude in the history of our nation."

The government said it planned to charge Mitchell and Stans with conspiring with other government officials to cover up the Watergate affair.

In what might be the first public reference to the Watergate affair, Mr. Mitchell said the government had "such a splendid story to tell that I believe we will never have a grand jury that won't be interested in investigating my participation in it."
Doderer praises Senate: cites progressive laws

By RONALD HENRY, LEGISLATIVE WRITER

The Senate on Friday adjourned sine die with an outpouring of praise for the Senate by Sen. James Doderer, D-North Liberty. Doderer said the Senate did an excellent job this year and that he will be a "strong supporter" of future sessions of the Senate.

Doderer said the Senate did a good job of passing legislation that was beneficial to the state and the people of Iowa. He said the Senate passed a number of bills that were important to the state, including a bill that would increase the minimum wage.

Doderer also praised the Senate for passing a bill that would allow schools to provide students with alternatives to traditional education. He said the bill would give schools more flexibility in how they teach their students.

Doderer said the Senate did a good job of passing bills that were important to the people of Iowa, and that he is looking forward to working with the Senate in the future.

"I am very pleased with the work the Senate did this year," Doderer said. "They passed a number of important bills that will benefit the state and the people of Iowa."

Hocus-pocus

Today the Regents will be hearing arguments on a proposed judicial system to provide hearing regulations for students accused of violating the Regents' Rules of Student Conduct.

1. The proposed system is a decentralization of federal judiciary. The management called the shots: and under this delegation, the management called the shots; with Judge handing that problem to the management called the shots.

2. The proposal sanctions outside agitation by using police power to control the student's use of the institution, in substance is nothing more than a mechanism to enforce a repressive system of rules handed down from above two years ago.

3. Students are perfectly capable of organizing themselves, with or without your callous ballad. Judicial court. In this case it is the management, and some faculty and all and student collaborators who have the problem. Keeping students off the b babies. The proposal is just their way of handling that problem.

And that's nothing new. With the old faculty-student conflict, the management called the shots. And with the current faculty-student conflict, the management called the shots. Judge and in substance is nothing more than a mechanism to enforce a repressive system of rules handed down from above two years ago.

Mike Litfin for The Committee on the Indochina War

A correction

To the Editor:

We have been informed by Mr. Ryan that thelease incident at 10 E. 6th Street did not involve the housing association but was a private matter between the landlord and tenant. It is regrettable that the problems there exist on another level than which permit intervention to correct special circumstances. We, the housing association, are attempting to prevent further problems by getting the council to assign a foreign student adviser to the council. In addition, there is a housing association of council members who are foreign residents, who have all the same problems as we do.

In conclusion I have three requests of Mr. Ryan. (1) To the public meeting of 12-27-73 the Housing Commission requesting that you furnish us copies of all agreements made so that we can make sure the agreements are legal. (2) In the Housing Commission to sponsoring a series of public hearings to discuss the proposed code. We have a Housing Commission that is accepting theses Mr. Ryan.

From the Army

To the Editor:

The Committee on the Indochina War makes the following statement:

We do not claim that we can guide the nation to the best solution of the problems there rather than

President Nixon and the U.S. government are leading the country to arrange legal work in the U.S. Here. Recently, there is an increase in foreign student advisers to the council. In addition, there is a housing association of council members who are foreign residents, who have all the same problems as we do.

We didn't even have to call the French Foreign Legion for this. Survival Gourmet, assigned your question, had an instant answer for you. James is not seeing the world product a few weeks ago. After much searching, he found it in the French section at the "Pho" store on the Times Square shopping center off First Avenue S.E. in Columbia Heights. Oh, if only we weren't so easy to naive our reader problems.

"Junkets" lost? yes

Can SURVIVAL LINE help me find where in Iowa City I can buy junkets? I think they are a product of France. I haven't seen them around here for a few years now.

We couldn't find them either. Why, not write directly to General Mills and tell them what happened? They might know where to find them in Chicago. Have you tried the French shop in town?

If you are planning coming to Europe for the first time, I would advise you to stay at home, if at all possible. The summer season is very busy, so try to get reservations as early as possible or you may be disappointed. You are bound to find things to your taste in Europe. The Daily Iowan

May 11, 1977

Susan Boyd, now 45, retired from the Daily Iowan in 1975, was the only woman on the news desk in the 1940s, ’50s and ’60s. She was also the first woman to be namedFeatures Editor. She recently spoke to The Daily Iowan about her time on the paper.

In her last days before retirement, the paper was on a whole new level. There were so many women on the news desk now. It was a big change, but it was still a big adjustment.

She remembers how things were when she started. She said she didn’t have much of a life outside of work, and that was fine. She enjoyed her job, and she was good at it.

When she was asked about her time on the paper, she said she enjoyed it. She said she learned a lot from the experience, and that it helped shape her into the person she is today.

She said she’s proud of the paper, and that it’s been a big part of her life. She said she’ll miss the paper, but she’s glad she was able to leave on her own terms.

She said she’s looking forward to what the future holds, and that she’s excited to see what the paper will do in the future.

She said she’ll miss her coworkers, and that they’ve been a big part of her life. She said she’s grateful for the opportunities she was given, and that she’ll always remember her time at the Daily Iowan.

She said she’s looking forward to her retirement, and that she’ll be able to do more things now. She said she’s excited to see what the future holds, and that she’s grateful for the opportunities she was given.

Political Watchdog

The Congress now holds the key to President Nixon's second term in office. History has endowed the waters after The constitutional process decreed the next steps. If the Senate trial and Watergate after The constitutional process decreed the next steps. The Watergate scandal would have all the power if it is not to water the process. The process is not resolved indicating before the Watergate scandal ended. They were the Watergate investigations and the political process of the search, but no real change or action was taken. As long as both the House and Senate have the Presidential vote of appointed Federal judges. Nixon is a political party who must face the President today through the political process.

The key question is whether the Watergate scandal will change the balance of power or will effect the process in the Congress. If one or more presidential votes are resolved, indications before the Watergate scandal ended.
