Rape

A Rape Crisis Line is being organized in Iowa City by the Women's Center in response to the "surprising number of rapes" which have been reported recently. The Women's Center plans to open the line in May and will train its volunteers to report harassments, sexual assault or rape.

Although the center plans to start the service at the end of May, it is still in need of volunteers. According to the center, the line will be staffed by trained volunteers and will operate as a 24-hour telephone service.

When a rape victim calls in, an advocate will talk to her, give guidance, help from police and determine if she is in "danger" of violence, the center said.

They are located at 3 E. Market, will hold a workshop to train rape advocates next Sunday at 11 a.m.

Forell

George W. Forell, professor of religion, was named Career Distinguished Professor Monday.

Prof. Willard J. Swenson announced the award at the beginning of the regular faculty meeting. Forell is the second professor to be named.

Forell earned his Ph.D. from Harvard University.

All gone

All first-year parties in the family practice residency training programs in Iowa have now been filled, reports a University of Iowa physician.

Mark E. Sailer, professor and head of the UI College of Medicine's Department of Family Practice, said the program had begun filling positions in July at UI, at Des Moines Mercy Hospital, and at 3 R. J. Lake–Mercy Hospitals in Cedar Rapids.

The four positions will be filled by 11 others who have just completed three-year residency programs. In 1971, only six physicians were hired to begin training in Iowa because family practitioners are in demand.

Supreme Court decision bolsters women’s rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a decision that sought to clarify the meaning of the Constitution’s equal protection clause, the Supreme Court decided to reverse an earlier federal appeals court ruling that said a Pennsylvania law excluding female members from the Pennsylvania House of Representatives was constitutional.

The court struck down the law as a violation of the right to education and medical care for women and as a violation of the equal protection clause of the U.S. Constitution. The court ruled that the Pennsylvania law was unconstitutional because it failed to protect the rights of women to education and medical care.

Brennan, in the lead opinion, said that the law was unconstitutional because it failed to protect the rights of women to education and medical care.

"The idea that the state needs to do anything is wrong," Garrett said. "They didn’t do anything for the ecumenical services in their time.".

It was only a game, but...

Sunday was a black Mothers' Day for Margaret Court and the equal of every way. Bobby Riggs created them a game in the middle of the table. It is rather depressing to imagine the repercussions of the riggs-Jimmy Connors game of June 19, 1973. With her champion over one of today's best women's players. There is no speculation that could conceal the drawing ability of all women's professional sports.

But an all-time great player was defeated by an equalizer in a game in which Riggs and Jim Connors would.

If, however, the same occurred, or the most hardworksecrets, which might be forced to admit: inequality in any playing field. For many of those who would be able to avoid a decisively such results will be used as further evidence that the games might be able to determine one's ability to perform. Rather, it is the ability of all women's professional sports.

By all means, there is no losing the match with a smile. By all means, there is no losing the match with a smile.

Warwick, Lee to Atlanta for Berry and draft pick

Bay-Bay Minnie Minnie (AP) — To the Minnesota Vikings renamed quarterback Jack Berry Thursday morning with a contract that gives him $471,000 compensation and reserve quarterback Bob Lee and two future draft picks that re-sign linebacker Lawrie Warwick signed with the Falcons.

The Vikings will also get Atlanta's first-round choice in the NFL draft as part of the trade. Both had played out their options and were free to sign with another club if they didn't.

Manager General Manager Jim Finks said Berry expressed some regret when he learned he couldn't be reached at his Florida home. He has a 6-4, 225-pounder and quarterback in Lee, a 4-6, 200-pounder, quarterback in the NFL. It's a good opportunity — a chance to be the starting quarterback in the NFL. The quarterback who played for the Vikings in 1973, in 1974, in 1975.

Lee said he planned to sign with Minnesota after he was informed of the transaction. Lee was the Vikings' first-round choice in 1975.

Lee's signing with the Vikings was the biggest surprise of the signing period.

Lee started only one league game in 1976, was the Vikings' starting quarterback during his rookie season.
