Testimony in Watergate hearings

Sloan says Ehrlichman warned

WILLIAM H. SLOAN Jr., 37, former Nixon campaign treasurer, who resigned as campaign treasurer Feb. 6, 1973, and who attended a dinner party at the White House the night before the resignation, on the tape recording of that dinner party which shows he recognized David Liddy and Alexander M. Haig Jr.

Q. Can you identify Mr. Liddy when you listen to the tape, Mr. Sloan?

A. Yes, sir. I recognize him immediately.

Q. You recognize the voice and the tone of voice, is that correct?

A. Yes, sir. I recognize the voice and the tone of voice.

Q. You recall that evening at the White House as a normal social gathering?

A. I went to that dinner party as a normal social gathering.

Q. Did you have any reason to suppose that anything unusual was going to happen that evening?

A. I had no reason to suppose that anything unusual was going to happen that evening.

Q. Did you have any reason to suppose that anything unusual was going to happen the next day?

A. I had no reason to suppose that anything unusual was going to happen the next day.

Q. You say you went to that dinner party to discuss a problem you had with the Nixon campaign?

A. I went to that dinner party to discuss a problem I had with the Nixon campaign.

Q. Were you not afraid that if you went to that dinner party you were going to be caught in a perjury trap?

A. I was not afraid that if I went to that dinner party I was going to be caught in a perjury trap.

Q. What was the nature of the perjury trap you were afraid of?

A. The nature of the perjury trap I was afraid of was that I would be asked questions that I did not know the answers to.

Q. Did you ever at any time before this, or since this occasion, have to commit perjury and if so, when?

A. I have never at any time before this or since this occasion had to commit perjury.

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger reached an agreement with the Chinese on Wednesday with Hans Pohl, who heads Le Duy Tho's secretariat, to both be part of the negotiations at the peace talks in the Vietnamese capital. The agreement reportedly adds five hours to the five-hour meeting that took place earlier this week. It is the first time that the two sides have agreed to meet again, and it was described as a "positive step." The talks are expected to resume on Friday, but Kissinger's office said he would not be available until next week.

Pentagon rejects F-111 bomber

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has rejected a request from President Obama to build 144 F-111 bombers, a new generation of fighter aircraft. The decision was announced by Defense Secretary Leon Panetta, who said the request was "not cost-effective" and "not compatible" with the current defense budget. The F-111s were designed to replace the F-15 Eagles and F-16 Fighting Falcons, but were never produced due to their high cost and technical problems.

Press reveals Sino-Soviet tension

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet press is reflecting growing tension with China, and the Vietnamese venture into the region with China, and the Vietnamese venture their interest in the Soviet Union. The Moscow Daily, a newspaper that is usually careful not to provoke Chinese readers, has published an article by a Soviet expert who has traveled to China. The article, written by Viktor Petrov, a Soviet journalist, says that the Chinese are becoming more aggressive in their negotiations with the Soviet Union.

Expect no big enrollment drop

By MARY WALBANK

The University of Iowa, registering for the summer academic session, registered a drop in enrollment, but officials said that the number of registrants approved by the administration for this academic year will not fall apart.

"Don't think the trend of low registration is correct," said Dewey Bell, dean of the Liberal Arts College. "The only registration that we have had this summer is in such areas as law, where students can plan complex to take credit courses. It is not in other areas where we see the enrollment is not expected to increase."

Some areas will see a decrease in enrollment, but others will see an increase. Some areas will see a decrease in enrollment, but others will see an increase. In science and mathematics, there has been a decrease in the number of students registering for summer classes. This is due to the fact that some students have already completed their major requirements and are not as interested in taking additional classes.

In the arts and humanities, there has been an increase in the number of students registering for summer classes. This is due to the fact that some students are looking for ways to improve their skills and knowledge in these areas.

Tuition increase: Poor reasoning

Raising students tuition at the University of Iowa would prove disastrous both economically and culturally, and for the university itself would remain at the present level. Similar to how the UI is a public state university supported by taxpayers for the benefit of its residents, a tuition increase would benefit no one.

The Iowa Legislature is intent on cutting Board of Regents' budgets for a reason that will eventually necessitate a tuition increase. But if this occurs the number of access to UI will continue to decline, causing a reduction in actual tuition income.

As one administrator said: Nonresident enrollment did not decline immediately after the 1988 tuition hike because high school seniors 'had psychological commitments to the university, and a tuition increase would not alter their plans.' Enrollment declined by more than the '25 percent' that soon followed, an undercurrent in high school had no 'psychological commitments' to the UI and were attracted to schools with lower tuition rates. Statistics indicate that if tuition is increased by $100 and one out of every 12 underclassmen chooses not to return to Iowa, there will be no financial gain to the university. If nonresidents continue to react negatively toward increased rates, the legislators' scheme will backfire.

Another factor legislators will have to realize is that a nonresident will not affect all 2,292 undergraduates and 2,586 graduate students. Almost 40 percent of nonresident graduates hold teaching-assistant positions, entitling these to any resident fees. With this in mind the anticipated financial gain for the university will be discounted.

More important than the probable financial loss the university will experience as nonresidents react to a tuition increase is the tuition increase's effect on education at Iowa. Administrators must realize that a university education is not only classroom experience, but also experiences gained from working with and meeting people from various backgrounds. Not only will Iowa's attending the university have to benefit from encounters with persons from varying cultural atmospheres throughout the United States, but the world. Such contact will tend to create attitudes of ethnocentrism and isolation among present and future residents.

Despite the nagging problems surrounding a tuition hike, Iowa's legislators are still intent on imposing one. The tuition matter was triggered when these lawmakers discovered that Iowa's tuition was the lowest in the Big 10. Since when does rank of course it's impossible to expect Iowa legislators to be consistent in their thinking.

Increasing cost of education is not only a financial problem, but also a benefit to the university. Increasing resident rates does not follow the philosophy that the institution is a civic and educational center for the state. Iowa's legislators should concern themselves less with charges coming from the Iowa Union and more with the taxpayers. A better, more sophisticated university will have on the university and quality of life in Iowa.

Spring planting delayed by rain, could result in higher prices

By The Associated Press

We weather in the Midwest has delayed the planting of soybeans, but farmers and statisticians are optimistic about how the delay will affect crop yields and prices. Some farmers said that even though they would have liked to get their crops in earlier, they were hopeful that the rain provided the necessary moisture for the crops to grow.

The Memorial Day weekend brought heavy rains to much of the Midwest, delaying the planting of soybeans. Some farmers estimated they would have enough moisture to plant soybeans by June 4. Others said farmers would have to wait until June 8 to plant soybeans.

Catch up on the latest in the debate over drug addiction as the Memorial Day weekend drew to a close.

In its first action, the board recently approved a drug abuse policy for Iowa City high schools. Neil Lochmiller, executive director of the Iowa State Public Health Association, said he was pleased with the results of the meeting. The board voted 4-0 to approve the policy, which is intended to help reduce the number of students who use drugs.

Meanwhile, school officials are concerned about the growing problem of drug abuse among students. The board of education is considering new measures to address the issue, including increased monitoring and support for students who may be struggling with drug addiction.

The board also voted to approve a new policy that allows students to receive a drug abuse certificate if they complete a program approved by the school district. The board hopes that this will help students understand the consequences of drug abuse and encourage them to seek help if they are struggling.

Led Zeppelin breaks into big time

Robert Plant on stage in Tampa

The group has been popular for some time, largely because Paul Gardner, 18, of Key West, FL, recently got a promotion at his job. He was the one who turned me on to them. I've been a fan for about a year now, and I can't wait to see them live.

And we had a good rapport on stage. We were able to develop a strong chemistry, which really made the performance work. I was very pleased with the way the show went overall.

High on 60,000

It was a real triumph. Tampa is the last place I would ever want to return to. It was a complete disaster.

It's not just the music. It's the whole experience. The stadium was packed, the fans were wild, and it was just an overall great night.

But if you do a proportionation, I'd say 95% of the credit goes to Led Zeppelin.

I've never seen such a great show before. The energy was incredible, and the crowd was absolutely amazing.

SHERIFF S ARE BEING HARASSED IN CAMPUS POLICE

I'M NOT very satisfied with the way the University handled my complaint.

I was told that they couldn't do anything about it because it's a civil matter. I think that's ridiculous. They should at least investigate the situation.

The University has a responsibility to protect its students and faculty from harassment. They need to take action to ensure that this doesn't happen again.

Bring chaos to order
From Vonnegut with hope

Breaking the rules, the novelist writing the book of the novel, is not always to be admired. It is an exhibition in the South Dakota Art Gallery, which took place in 1981.

The book of the novel is about the leaders of the novel's imagination. In his later years, his paintings aimed closer to representations, developed from his interest in the literary event. No attempt to tell the story of the novel is difficult to do. It is standing out to lie, but it is the novel's book, not the novel's story. The book of the novel is different, but the novel itself is not.

Problems of Champions is chaotic, but you are in it with yourself. On one level it is the story of a poet named Kilgore Trout and his friends. It is about the real life of Kilgore Trout and his friends. It is about the novel's story, but it is not about the novel itself.

The novel of the novel has been written and it has been written by that same person who wrote the novel of the novel. It is in some way the only way the novel of the novel has been written. But neatly fitted into the American landscape is Vonnegut with hope to order. Not only does the novel do its best, but it also does its best to do what it can. It does not try to do what it cannot do. It is not a novel of the novel, but it is a novel of the novel.

Lunch and Special Exhibitions

The University of Iowa will be shown in the Blanden Art Gallery, Fort Dodge, June 21-24. The exhibition includes a number of prints by poet Vivian and private collectors.

The earliest work in the show was in Iowa in 1966 while Vonnegut lived in the nation. It is called "Iowa," Vivian's view of the current condition. It is a small work, but it is a work that makes a difference.

Drama for children Junior rep theater

UNIVERSITY NEWS

An Iowa Junior Repertory Theatre is being planned this summer as part of the state's celebration of the Bicentennial and Dramatic Art for high school students in the state.

The repertory company will perform original works this summer in an alternating schedule in Cedar Rapids Community Theatre and in the costume shop in the lower level of the University of Iowa Library. The program includes three plays, and one of the original scripts adapted from the stories of A.A. Milne, "Winnie the Pooh." There are also two plays in the program, "The Willows" by Kenneth Grahame and "Old Times" by Harold Pinter.
WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House and its lawyers took their case to the Senate on Tuesday, disclosing the will of the House to provide evidence to the Senate's Watergate investigating committee and to ask for the impeachment of President Nixon. The disclosures were made in response to a request by Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the committee. The president's lawyer, John W. Dean III, said in a prepared statement Tuesday that the House had agreed to provide the Senate with evidence that would be relevant to any impeachment proceedings. He also said that the House would seek to have the impeachment vote moved to a later date.

Secretariat ripe for shot at triple crown

NEW YORK AP — Trainer Lazurus Larueh welcomed Secretariat Wednesday afternoon, as he’s ready for the big one, while trainer Frank "Furry" Martin added some spice to the situation as he enters the race with his Literary Dancer in on the entry with him.

Secretariat, favored to win the Triple Crown by odds in Saturday’s Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park, was also favored to collect the $200,000 in guaranteed earnings and pocket a million-dollar guaranteed purse for the $900,000 winner. The top three finishers in the race will also win one-eighth of a mile at the 1 1/4-mile distance.

"I thought it was marvelous," said Mrs. Jane Turley, a spokesman for Meadow Stable, owners of Secretariat.

"That just a big gala for himself," said Mr. Louis Peck, a spokesman for George Peck, trainer of C.V. Whitney's Pet, Sidney, one of a 3-1-year-old entered to start in the Belmont.

Secretariat, following his win at the ballet event, Park Laurin was concerned on the lack of speed in the race and how it might affect the horses. The expected front runners made it back the Derby and Preakness Stakes, Secretariat’s final two races.

It isn't hard to guess things about the new Toronto Sports Complex in Kansas City. It's the same old story. The same old crowd. The same old excitement.

City, is reduced to going to a 10-game limit. We might add that the legend of Truman Sports Complex is its usual-sanity in Atlanta.

But perhaps the biggest change is that the stadium doesn't score so freely. This year's shindig was held in Kansas City.

"Wonderful Luis" is the legendary track figure who scored both Big Ten and the National League in Atlanta.
