Tapes delay Watergate decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's decision to delay the Watergate hearings was made after a heated debate between Senator Barry Goldwater and Senator Edward Kennedy.

"I have no choice but to... ."

The decision was made after a series of votes, with Senator Goldwater and Senator Kennedy leading the opposition to the delay.

The office of special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox found that nearly all of the evidence against Nixon was in the hands of the House of Representatives. Cox argued in court that the president's refusal to produce the evidence was a violation of the Constitution.
Dorm residents to decide amount of social activities

BY MAUREEN CONNORS

University of Iowa dormitory residents will determine the course of social activities provided by their residence halls as students vote to join dormitory associations during the next few weeks.

Programs in the UI dormitories, such as dances or movies which cost money, are determined by dormitory associations.

This is the first year residents have the option to choose to pay the required fee and have dormitory associations determine their social programs.

In past years, a core set of dormitory programs have been mandated by each dormitory's resident's association. This bill was changed last year opening the door for dormitory associations to choose to have free social programs.

Because not all dormitory residents are expected to join dormitory associations, programs will be formulated this year by the core set of required programs and then associations will choose to events that are offered.

"Dormitory associations will be held responsible for their social programs," said the resident. "If they don't have the funds, they will have to make arrangements with the administration for free programs."
Composed of members of government troops on the afternoon of October 1, the Congress attended by students of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences of the University of Iowa. The Congress is composed of all students enrolled in the University, regardless of their major, major field of study, or major interest. All members of the Congress, including the speaker of the House, are elected by the student body of the University on a non-partisan basis. The Congress is the highest executive body of the University and is responsible for the general direction and supervision of the University. The Congress is also responsible for the election of the president of the University, the vice-president, and the treasurer. The Congress is composed of 20 members, each representing a different major field of study. The Congress meets on a regular basis, usually once a month, to consider and act upon matters affecting the University and its students. The Congress is also responsible for the formulation and adoption of the budget of the University, the formulation and adoption of the University's academic calendars, the formulation and adoption of the University's curriculum, and the formulation and adoption of the University's athletic programs. The Congress is also responsible for the formulation and adoption of the University's budget, the formulation and adoption of the University's financial policies, and the formulation and adoption of the University's personnel policies.
Telethon indicates political awareness

Saturday night the Democratic Party staged its second national telethon in an attempt to dig the party out of debt. Most political observers did not give the Democrats much chance, even before the rally, of light of the political atmosphere at the present time.

The Watergate hearings are about to resume, the Vice-President is the subject of increasing controversy and most Americans don’t seem ready to actively enter the political fray as soon.

Polls taken in recent months seemed to indicate the Republicans were wearing the assumption that most voters were not blaming the Republican party for the mess. It was rather surmised that citizens were criticizing the cause of the incident as overly reckless ambitions on the part of a very few men. It was generally felt that these men would be singled out by the courts for their misconduct, and punished accordingly.

The courts seemed to be upholding this theory by their handling of the presidential tape situations, and also by the indictments and legal proceedings that have taken place against the men who had been implicated by earlier testimony.

Even the local announcement that Senator Howard Hughes will retire after his first term did not draw the type of reaction that would normally be expected following such a happening.

But the Democrats raised $1 million, much more than its ancient GOP rival, and almost double the figure they anticipated.

The telethon attitude was based on the talent recruited for the show. It was as much a first-class operation as the telethon put on last year in the hour of a presidential crisis. Fried chicken magnate John Y. Brown again reared his brilliant head, and pulled immense recruits for the show.

For the Democratic party, it spells great things for the American people. Harold Brown again reared his brilliant head, and pulled immense recruits for the show.

women's issues, many of whom are in the form of open letters to prominent figures, such as President Ford.

For example, the Recreation Advisory Committee developed initiatives for women in need, such as a new set of Federal Recreation Services that included a very strong emphasis on nontraditional recreation facilities.

According to several sources, the Recreation Advisory Committee dedicated its efforts to the realization that only state and local officials would be able to effectively implement the guidelines that resulted from the National Recreation Law of 1973, which mandates federal funding for women's recreation facilities.

The Department of Recreation and the Department of Athletics plan to join forces to present a Recreation Services Show that will focus on women.

Even though we have been in an austere financial situation since the advent of the Watergate scandal as a reflection on the Republican party, the Department of Recreation and the Department of Athletics plan to join forces to present a Recreation Services Show that will focus on women.

Our recommendation is for the university administration to allocate the monies we have presented to the Regents for the Recreation Building at the cost of $1,000,000 for academic use.

One of the four new programs added by the University administration to the 1973-74 budget is the position for Women's Intercollegiate Athletics. Recognizing the significant budget demands that these intercollegiate programs will make, we urge the university administration to allocate funds for the Recreation Building at the cost of $1,000,000 for academic use.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The federal grand jury investigating the Watergate break-in and cover-up has only to hear the White House tapes recording before decreeing whether to indict the president or any of his aides.

The Associated Press has learned that the grand jury is about to hear the White House tapes recording before deciding whether to proceed with the investigation.

The office of special prosecutor Archibald Cox has made a commitment to the Department of Justice that it will file charges against anyone who it believes is responsible for the Watergate break-in and cover-up.

The grand jury, which has been investigating the Watergate break-in and cover-up since last June, has been given the tapes by the White House.

The grand jury has not yet decided whether to file charges against the president or any of his aides.

One of the most exciting things about weather forecasts is that they're not always right the first time, either. The expected rain and snow often doesn't materialize, or the storm system that was supposed to pass through doesn't. This week, the storms that were expected to drop several inches of snow in the eastern United States didn't materialize. Instead, the region experienced a spell of unseasonably warm weather.

In the sports world, the weekend was a mixed bag. While the Dolphins were victorious on the football field, the weekend atmosphere was far from ideal for the teams from the East Central Conference. The Minnesota Duluth Bulldogs won a crucial game against the University of Wisconsin, but the weekend was marred by the tragic death of former Minnesota Duluth hockey player Alex Turcotte. The community is mourning the loss of one of their own.

The weekend also saw the conclusion of the NCAA Women's Basketball Tournament. The University of Wisconsin-Madison women's basketball team advanced to the Elite Eight, where they will face the University of Connecticut. The game promises to be a battle of titans, with both teams ranked in the top 10.

In the world of baseball, the American League East division race is heating up as the season winds down. The Baltimore Orioles and the New York Yankees are neck-and-neck for the top spot, with the Boston Red Sox, the Toronto Blue Jays, and the Tampa Bay Rays not far behind. The pressure is on for these teams as they fight for a spot in the playoffs.

The weekend was also highlighted by the announcement of the Democratic Party's candidates for the upcoming primaries. The race is wide open, with several prominent figures vying for the nomination. The successful candidate will face the challenge of uniting the party and winning the general election against the incumbent Republican candidate.

In summary, the weekend was a rollercoaster of emotions, with both highs and lows. The sports world saw victories and losses, while the political landscape was filled with anticipation and uncertainty. The weather forecasts, much like life, are never guaranteed. But one thing is certain: there will always be a next weekend, with new challenges and opportunities to face.

Mighty Michigan ‘grounds’ Hawkeyes, 31-7

By BOB DYER

DENNIS Franklin stood in the northwest corner of Kinnick Stadium smiling and singing the Michigan fight song.

He seemed too tall standing in the rain, the top of his head almost touching the orange goal post, but his presence seemed to add to the emotion in the stadium, where 52,105 fans were watching the Michigan-Minnesota football game.

Franklin scored Michigan’s third touchdown of the afternoon, a pinpoint pass reception from quarterback Dennis Franklin in the third quarter.

The Wolverines dominated the Hawkeyes as they have the past two seasons, and won 31-7.

The Wolverines had a winning streak of six games against the Hawkeyes and seven against the Big Ten.

Franklin was the game’s most valuable player, completing 6 of 9 passes for 151 yards, one touchdown and no interceptions.

Michigan quarterback Dennis Franklin, who scored Michigan’s third touchdown against Iowa, was named the game’s Most Valuable Player.
