Ray abandons all aspirations to U.S. Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Gov. Robert D. Ray, Monday night, announced his resignation as Nebraska Governor to enter the U.S. Senate race, setting off a constitutional crisis in that state, redefining his future and hurting the Democratic party's national hopes.

Ray, who has been the state's chief executive since 1979, decided to run for the Senate seat held by Democrat Edward M. Kennedy.

The Republican party is not without potential candidates, but Ray's announcement Tuesday could serve to push aside their efforts.

Ray's decision comes as the state's economy is on the upswing and his approval rating is high.

The state's experienced and well-liked governor is expected to face a tough race, but he has the advantage of being well-known and well-liked.

Ray's decision could also have implications for the national Democratic party, which has been struggling to find a candidate to challenge incumbent Senator Kennedy.

South Korea asks to return park

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The State Department and House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr. agreed Monday that South Korea should return the U.S. Army's banquet hall, now being used as a temporary embassy.

The decision comes after South Korea committed to return several other buildings to the United States.

The park, located on the east bank of the Potomac River, has been used as a temporary embassy since 1970.

This move appears to be a goodwill gesture as the two nations continue to work towards improved relations.

Leach urges Lanza to resign

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Rep. James Leach, R-Iowa, Monday urged Representative Stephen Lanza, D-Va., to resign, saying his absence from Washington is "unacceptable for the person who heads the House minority party.

Leach, whose district is one of the most conservative in the country, has been a vocal critic of Lanza in recent months.

The Southern statesman is expected to face a tough race in November, but his recent actions have raised questions about his leadership abilities.

The final touches

German-born artist Wundermann, who was the first artist to paint the White House with a special brush, is now working on the final touches for the Sinai Project, which will be unveiled on October 10.

The artist is known for his unique approach to painting, which involves using a special brush and a variety of techniques.

The project is expected to be completed by 2023, and will be a major addition to the White House's art collection.

Kidney disease more frequent

By MARY ARNOLD
Staff Writer

Each year thousands of people die, and thousands more are forced to use a machine three times a week to live, because of renal (kidney) disease. While kidney disease itself is not increasing, the number of people who must be dialyzed is increasing.

Approximately 104,000 people each year, in Iowa alone, depends upon renal dialysis, a technique that uses a machine to clean the blood the kidneys can no longer change, according to Dr. Frank Barr, the current Administrator of Hospitals Hemodialysis

"Usually a patient has successfully kidney transplants, he may be dialyzed two or three times each week for the rest of his life," Freeman said.

Renal dialysis costs about $200 an hour. Dialysis patients, some from 110 miles away, come to UI Hospitals and return two or three times each week for a total of about 1100 hours a week.

VA Hospitals Hemodialysis facilities, and about five times more of all patients are now being dialyzed for a kidney transplant. Twenty to 20 per cent of those transplants are successful while the rest go back to dialysis. Because of organ rejection problems, there is little chance of a successful transplant returning to dialysis.

The kidney transplant continues to be one of the most successful of all surgeries, according to Barr. The 100 percent survival rate implies that all patients who have been dialyzed and then have a transplant will need to return to dialysis.

The Hemodialysis Unit at the VA Hospitals is one of the largest in Iowa. It has a capacity of 800 beds, and 600 patients are currently treated.

One of the largest groups of patients currently being treated is the elderly. Currently, 95 percent of the patients treated are over 65 years old.

One of the major problems currently being faced is the high cost of the treatment. The United States Government pays part of all costs. Because of the high cost of treatment, kidney disease claims for Medicare and Medicaid pay 80 percent of all costs.

Normal kidney disease costs the United States government over $60 billion in 1980, and 80 billion just past the cost of the treatment. Because of the high cost of treatment, kidney disease claims for Medicare and Medicaid pay 80 percent of all costs.

Due to the high cost of treatment, the United States government has had to cut back on treatment. A recent study found that the United States government is spending over $200 million a year on treatment, and the cost of treatment is expected to double in the next five years.

There are cause for concern, however, as the number of patients treated for kidney disease is expected to increase. The number of patients treated for kidney disease is expected to increase by 50 percent in the next five years, and the cost of treatment is expected to double in the next five years.

"Kidney disease continues to increase, and the cost of treatment continues to rise," Freeman said. "It is important that the government and the medical community work together to find a solution to this problem."
COUNCIL HOPEFULS WARM UP FOR CAMPAIGN

Advocating the proposed Treadwell-Landin Ordinance, Iowa, Babcock, regional coordinator of the Iowa Public Interest Research Group, (IPIRG) announced Sunday that the need for the ordinance is urgent.

"I support the Treadwell-Landin Ordinance. It will protect the standards for the health and safety of the Iowa River," Babcock said.

Babcock advocated ordinances that would not be "city specific" to Iowa City, but would be a citywide plan.

Babcock said that he elected to not run for re-election in his position at the city council because of the "feel of comfort at this time." He said.

Babcock noted that he had been a resident of Iowa City for 20 years, and he now has an interest in the Iowa City Community Development.

A good idea to give the Iowa City community a new sewage handling and treatment plant, the Washington and DuBois plant.

NEW SEWAGE PLANT PLANNED

By DENNIS WILDER Staff Writer

Because of tough state and federal standards for sewage disposal, the city is in a position to build a new sewage handling plant which should be operational in one or two years.

According to City Engineer Curt M. L. Morgan, the proposed new facility will be in operation by next September on a site near the Iowa River.

The average 30 days of 1.1 million gallons, will be treated to one-eighth of a million gallons per day.

One of the main problems with the present sewage plant is the fact that the river is located at the center of Kirkwood and Clinton streets, that the river is said to be either unnecessary or necessary.

As a result of this condition, there is a need for a new plant to be built. The city has a total of 220,000 people being treated in a system.

The new project, estimated to be about 8 million dollars, will be built at the current cost of $25 million while rehabilitation work will cost $17 million.

The council, under the policy of the city for the city, was to be in the form of a bond referendum.

The response from some political circles has been swift and unrelenting. But it will be the job of the courts to decide whether or not the groups whose registration system is challenged can be found to violate the rights of others.

In an attempt to weld coalitions. The National Front seeks exactly the opposite. Their conflict with the New Left is not purely ideological.

In, somewhere else, in a place one

The history of the thing is as Abourezk says: "The student will be able to register just like any other student."

Given powers similar to those of the British army in Northern Ireland, including the power to break up any public gathering or to stop the march, the Chicago police department, in effect, took control of the February 3rd march through the Skokie suburb in the Chicago area and turned it into a Fourth of July celebration.

So then we will face the same question as Britain: How, in a mixed neighborhood in Chicago City, can the representatives of my race, my people, be given the right to decide which groups whose registration is challenged can be found to violate the rights of others.

Tolerance

On Aug. 13, a group of 1,018 demonstrators belonging to a collection of different political groups gathered peacefully in front of the U.S. Capitol, and marches through a traffic-ridden neighborhood in a large white office building. They were met with a number of counterdemonstrators, mostly militant pacifists and Trotskyites, and there were a number of scuffles. As the marchers passed by, the rock and bottle throwing and gas attacks went on, and the counterdemonstrators, most of whom were police, were injured.

The appeal of the National Front is not only consistent, it is also overwhelming. The number of members has doubled since last May, they have won a local election, and they have been given the right to run in the next London borough election. This is not the real business for seven years. That the same 15ps were spent doing fascist propaganda is nothing new, and it is nothing to be concerned about.

In this case, too, the National Front has been given the right to run in the next London borough election. The Crusaders are the epitome of musical excellence, revered by their peers, as well as by world-wide fongs of fans. The greatest tribute to their musical genius occurred at a recent concert in Los Angeles at which the Crusaders were joined for jamming by Stevie Wonder, Elton John, Eric Clapton and members of the Average White Band. The power and respect afforded this group is evidenced by their touring which must from smoke-filled jazz rooms to huge stadiums. In addition, their 1973 English tour with the Rolling Stones marked them as the finest and only instrumental group to tour with the Rolling Stones.

Schools open in discord

The conversations of one's auditory cortex are often filled with the echoes of one's voices. These echoes can be from a variety of sources, including radio, television, and personal conversations. In this context, the phrase "Schools open in discord" could be interpreted as a reference to the opening of schools, which can often be met with turbulence and discord.

The phrase "Schools open in discord" could be a metaphorical expression, suggesting that the opening of schools is often accompanied by discord and conflict. This could be due to various factors, such as budget cuts, teacher shortages, or other issues that can arise during the opening of schools.

In this context, the phrase "Schools open in discord" could be seen as a commentary on the state of education in general, and the challenges that schools often face in trying to provide a quality education for their students. The phrase could also be seen as a call to action, encouraging individuals and organizations to work together to address the discord and conflict that often surrounds the opening of schools.
German surrealist Woldemar Winkler to hold one-man show at Corroboree

According to Dr. Winkler, surrealism is "thought's decision, in the essence of all creation. The words and objects exist outside reality and only all semblance and moral perception exists. Winkler's work is not abstract, nor is it in the sense of the abstract. His paintings always used to represent surrealism. However, he felt his art is not so plain beauty, but he felt his abstract art is created by himself who is a prisoner of his experiences. "That's the only way of my psychological condition," the white-bearded gentleman explained.

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — All seven feet tall and a devastating business, Dr. Winkler is a robot designed to function as an automated security guard. His legs are hip-jointed and equipped with "hands" of "traction wheels," which can make him roll around in a sort of "treadmill" environment. His "face," a big bulb at the front, blinks and "speaks," saying, "I am a robot."

Most of the western 2,500 parts of his body are made by an organization that has built similar robots designed to revolve around outside stores to enticing customers to come in. A $250,000 installation is planned.

"The robot, a kind of "traction wheel,"" said Dr. Winkler, "is a single purpose. It's to find and terminate intruders. Sensors in the robot's "head" are capable of scanning any noise and then its "hands" in "traction wheels," said Dr. Winkler, "are able to grasp any human and bring him to the ground.""
The pitfalls and perils of prognostication

I hate making predictions, especially about sports. I just don’t like it. And I don’t like it, although my reasoning goes something like this: if you can prove that life savings or something similar is at stake, a bit of caution might be useful. But I’m still doing it. There’s just no way around it. And you can’t blame me. All my friends are doing it. And they’re winning.

Stoll leads pregame cheers for Gophers

It's that time of year when every coach is optimistic, but heading into the fifth year at the University of Minnesota,ebb, this fall looks like it could be one of the top five in the history of the Big Ten.

The Gophers, who lost their starting quarterback last year, are strong because they have the talent, but there are a lot of questions on the team. The defense is still a work in progress after boasting the worst scoring defense in the conference last season. The offense is still working on consistency, but the trend is positive.

The Gophers, who went 6-6 last year, have the opportunity to be a force in the Big Ten.

Austin: The Big Ten ends

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) - The bid to pad the portfolio of the University of Michigan with a third major victory over the University of Iowa will be the theme of the Big Ten Conference.

The University of Michigan, despite the beatdown they received from the University of Iowa last season, are six points better than the Hawkeyes in the Associated Press poll. This year, they are favored to win the Big Ten.

But the Big Ten is a parity league, and it will be interesting to see if the Gophers can make a statement against the Hawkeyes.

Big Ten Preview

Dwyer's understanding, relentless sophomore Wardell Austin, is a key to what the Gophers are, and he's their man this season.

Austin is a halfback who was better at running back in the Michigan-Wisconsin game last year. He's a good runner and a good receiver, and he's been inactive this season with a right knee injury.

Austin will be working behind an offense that relies on the running of senior Mark Stoll, who had a big game against Michigan State last year. Stoll is a running back who is expected to have a big game against Iowa this week.

The Gophers are looking to improve their record against the Hawkeyes, who have won the last three meetings.

The war games of Alan Sillitoe

The Widow's Son

By Jim Hill

Among the important British political writers. Alan Sillitoe has long been acknowledged as a sensitive and skillful portraitist of the working class, with an eye for the English working class. Sillitoe's novels, such as "The Widow's Son," have stood the test of time and continue to be read and loved by new generations today.

The story revolves around a working-class family living in a northern British town. The main character, a widowed mother, must raise her children in a world that is often hostile and unforgiving. Through her struggles, Sillitoe explores themes of love, loss, and the resilience of the human spirit.

Sillitoe's simple, understated prose captures the essence of working-class life, evoking a sense of nostalgia and despair that resonates with readers across generations. His characters are drawn with depth and authenticity, making them relatable and human.

"The Widow's Son" is a poignant reminder of the challenges faced by working-class families and the importance of resilience in the face of adversity. It is a testament to Sillitoe's talent as a writer and his ability to connect with his readers on a profound level.
Snack peek movies of the future

Recently, the T.G.I.F. staff has been hearing a lot from movie historians about the coming of science fiction to the screen. Of course, it's been a long time coming; since the 1920s, the term has been used to describe a variety of movies, from B-movies to major films. But now, with the advent of technology, we're seeing a real innovation in the field. The first major work to be released in this genre was "The Man from Planet X," which received critical acclaim for its innovative ideas and sophisticated special effects. The film demonstrated the potential of the new medium, and it's possible that this could be the start of a new era in cinema.

Seismographic rating

The film "The Man from Planet X" is rated at 4 out of 5 stars. It's a thrilling ride through a world of science fiction, with a cast of characters that is both familiar and unique. The special effects are top-notch, and the acting is excellent. Overall, it's a must-see for anyone interested in the genre.

MOVIES

Marquise

By JIM DAVIS

The movie "Marquise" is a romantic comedy about a couple who must overcome their differences to find love. It stars a talented cast, including a young aspiring actor and a seasoned actress, who deliver powerful performances. The movie is directed by an up-and-coming filmmaker, who has a knack for capturing the essence of relationships.

Perspective on gym shorts

"I am not a fan of gym shorts," said an anonymous reviewer. "They are not practical for exercise or casual wear. The material is too thin and the fit is often too loose. I prefer to wear sweatpants or a pair of comfortable stretch pants." Another reviewer, however, had a different opinion. "Gym shorts are perfect for a quick workout before or after a long day," they said. "They are lightweight and allow for a full range of motion." The debate continues, with some people saying that gym shorts are a staple of modern fitness culture, while others prefer to stick with more traditional athletic wear.

The Fall Fashion Guide: six ways to get into the new you!

LEFT — “Functional” is Lydia’s fashion byword. She wants her wardrobe to be convenient and casual, but she always gets what she wants.

RIGHT — Jameey opts for a “back-to-basics” look blended with a dash of sophistication. It takes a touch of panache and a little bit of devil-may-care to get away with this outfit. Jameey’s got what it takes.

LEFT — Barb. If you asked her, she’d say she was a traditional girl. If you asked her friends, they’d say she was cheap. She’s kind of both.

The Riverrun Makeover

BEFORE — Cathy was just all right before the Riverrun Fashion and Grooming Consultants got hold of her. Now she’s brave, she looked dowdy.

AFTER — All that is changed now. Thanks to an intensive training and makeup session with our experts. They brought out the real Cathy! Now she looks great all the time. "Stuffing out the hat and the glasses was a brilliant stroke," Cathy told us. "Now why didn’t I ever think of that?"
