Ray labels bill to direct federal funds a step backwards

By STEPH TRACY

Calling it a "giant step backwards," Gov. Robert Ray sharply criticized a bill that would strip the state of millions of dollars for educational purposes.

Gov. Ray said Monday that he is "flexible" and "willing" to work with the Legislature to keep the bill from becoming law. But he added: "I can see no reason whatever why we should be cutting off education in the state." The bill, passed by the Iowa House last Wednesday, would provide for state approval of all federal funds, excuse funds for research and student financial aid, and allow allocations of the funds to the departments that request them.

The state agency and department receives federal funds directly, with appropriation or approval.

"This is a more a giant step backwards," Gov. Ray said. "I don't think it is even in the best interests of the state to cut education in the state." The governor went on to say that the bill would not only be a "negative" but a "negative" for the state. The governor also added that he would oppose the bill if it came up to him.

The governor said he would oppose the bill if it came up to him. He added that he would oppose the bill if it came to his desk. "If I had the bill, I would turn it down," the governor said. "I don't think it is even in the best interests of the state to cut education in the state." The governor added that he would oppose the bill if it came to his desk.

Gov. Ray also added that he would oppose the bill if it came up to him. "If I had the bill, I would turn it down," the governor said. "I don't think it is even in the best interests of the state to cut education in the state." The governor added that he would oppose the bill if it came to his desk.

Gov. Ray also added that he would oppose the bill if it came up to him. "If I had the bill, I would turn it down," the governor said. "I don't think it is even in the best interests of the state to cut education in the state." The governor added that he would oppose the bill if it came to his desk.

Gov. Ray also added that he would oppose the bill if it came up to him. "If I had the bill, I would turn it down," the governor said. "I don't think it is even in the best interests of the state to cut education in the state." The governor added that he would oppose the bill if it came to his desk.

Gov. Ray also added that he would oppose the bill if it came up to him. "If I had the bill, I would turn it down," the governor said. "I don't think it is even in the best interests of the state to cut education in the state." The governor added that he would oppose the bill if it came to his desk.

Gov. Ray also added that he would oppose the bill if it came up to him. "If I had the bill, I would turn it down," the governor said. "I don't think it is even in the best interests of the state to cut education in the state." The governor added that he would oppose the bill if it came to his desk.

Gov. Ray also added that he would oppose the bill if it came up to him. "If I had the bill, I would turn it down," the governor said. "I don't think it is even in the best interests of the state to cut education in the state." The governor added that he would oppose the bill if it came to his desk.

Gov. Ray also added that he would oppose the bill if it came up to him. "If I had the bill, I would turn it down," the governor said. "I don't think it is even in the best interests of the state to cut education in the state." The governor added that he would oppose the bill if it came to his desk.

Gov. Ray also added that he would oppose the bill if it came up to him. "If I had the bill, I would turn it down," the governor said. "I don't think it is even in the best interests of the state to cut education in the state." The governor added that he would oppose the bill if it came to his desk.

Gov. Ray also added that he would oppose the bill if it came up to him. "If I had the bill, I would turn it down," the governor said. "I don't think it is even in the best interests of the state to cut education in the state." The governor added that he would oppose the bill if it came to his desk.
Doderer opposition out of time

By PAUL YOUNG
The Cedar Rapids Gazette

Democrat Steve Doderer of Des Moines, who is the Iowa Democratic candidate for Governor in the November election, has been forced to contend with an unexpected opponent, Charlene Hinrichs, a 10-year-old girl, who declared her intention to run for Governor on the Republican ticket for the June primary election.

Hinrichs, who is the daughter of Charles Hinrichs, a prominent lawyer in Des Moines, has been described as a bright, energetic youngster who is determined to prove that age is no obstacle to political ambition.

Hinrichs' decision to run for Governor has put Doderer, who is currently leading in the polls, on the defensive. His campaign has been forced to respond to a torrent of media inquiries about his plans for the state's future.

"I'm not sure what I'm going to do," said Doderer, who is currently leading in the polls. "I haven't had a chance to think about it yet."

Hinrichs' campaign has been described as "nutty" by some political observers, but Doderer is taking the threat seriously, and is reportedly spending extra time on his campaign to appeal to the state's voters.

"I'll be ready," said Doderer, who is currently leading in the polls. "I'll be ready to fight for the state's future."
Student Senate elections descend on us again

Elections to the UI Student Senate, the non-academic arm of student government, will be held Tuesday. This year's Student Senate has added candidates to answer the following questions:

1) The time available for student use of facilities is scheduled to be increased from the current schedule for facility usage times set by Terry Irwin. The incoming Senate should do this.

2) Do you think recognition of the National Federation of the Blind (NFB) for students putting up Art of Student Resistance is a good idea?

3) The senate does not have a good reputation. It needs to raise its standing and work to gain the support of students. It needs to become aware of the shortsightedness of student leaders.

4) Many senators don't care enough to be good senators. I feel that this year the Senate should do its job. It should bring the structure of the Senate to bear on the problem. It should recognize the NFB. NFB appeal to President Boyd. It will not be a matter of the Senate or the UI administration should bring up the matter. I think this is a good idea. It's not a question of recognition - that the NFB should not have been recognized. Blind people know best what it's like being blind, and understand best how to handle other blind people, in bringing only blind people in charge of their organization should be brought on for discrimination, but so the best ideas can be used.

5) Students should be made aware of the organization of interest in those. We must also encourage voter registration by all students. I propose soliciting politically prominent speakers to campus, setting up booths between classes, and passing out leaflets. If the Senate and the UI administration should combine efforts in this respect. It is important to have the students be in the short run, the Senate should do this. I think the Senate should do this is a good idea. It's not a question of having to end discrimination along the lines of race, sex, or religion. The Senate should be made aware of the importance of students.

6) Students have been paying a lot of money for facilities for the last few years. Should I believe that the Senate can save money in the future? It is a good idea. It's not a question of recognition - that the NFB should not have been recognized. Blind people know best what it's like being blind, and understand best how to handle other blind people, in bringing only blind people in charge of their organization should be brought on for discrimination, but so the best ideas can be used.

7) Students should be made aware of the organization of interest in those. We must also encourage voter registration by all students. I propose soliciting politically prominent speakers to campus, setting up booths between classes, and passing out leaflets. If the Senate and the UI administration should combine efforts in this respect. It is important to have the students be in the short run, the Senate should do this. I think the Senate should do this is a good idea. It's not a question of having to end discrimination along the lines of race, sex, or religion. The Senate should be made aware of the importance of students.

8) Many senators don't care enough to be good senators. I feel that this year the Senate should do its job. It should bring the structure of the Senate to bear on the problem. It should recognize the NFB. NFB appeal to President Boyd. It will not be a matter of the Senate or the UI administration should bring up the matter. I think this is a good idea. It's not a question of recognition - that the NFB should not have been recognized. Blind people know best what it's like being blind, and understand best how to handle other blind people, in bringing only blind people in charge of their organization should be brought on for discrimination, but so the best ideas can be used.
Sad election situation

President Carter's proposed S8 billion tax credits for Union members and a foppish gesture by Secretary of State Haig are not the only current political phenomena that are making my blood boil. In an era of increasing sophistication, growing complexity, and accelerating change, it is easy to get discouraged and cynical. The truth, however, is that the effect of indifference or by-passing the political system is to make it more complex and confusing. We need, in fact, more than ever, to understand and participate in it.

According to President Carter, the nation's top priority is the economy. He has made it clear that he considers the economy, in turn, to be the top priority of the nation's political leaders. The President also thinks that the economy is the top priority of the nation's political leaders. The President also thinks that the economy is the top priority of the nation's political leaders. The President also thinks that the economy is the top priority of the nation's political leaders.

In The Daily Iowan

Carter's foppish gesture

President Carter's proposed S8 billion tax credits for Union members and a foppish gesture by Secretary of State Haig are not the only current political phenomena that are making my blood boil. In an era of increasing sophistication, growing complexity, and accelerating change, it is easy to get discouraged and cynical. The truth, however, is that the effect of indifference or by-passing the political system is to make it more complex and confusing. We need, in fact, more than ever, to understand and participate in it.

According to President Carter, the nation's top priority is the economy. He has made it clear that he considers the economy, in turn, to be the top priority of the nation's political leaders. The President also thinks that the economy is the top priority of the nation's political leaders. The President also thinks that the economy is the top priority of the nation's political leaders. The President also thinks that the economy is the top priority of the nation's political leaders.

In The Daily Iowan

Carter's foppish gesture

President Carter's proposed S8 billion tax credits for Union members and a foppish gesture by Secretary of State Haig are not the only current political phenomena that are making my blood boil. In an era of increasing sophistication, growing complexity, and accelerating change, it is easy to get discouraged and cynical. The truth, however, is that the effect of indifference or by-passing the political system is to make it more complex and confusing. We need, in fact, more than ever, to understand and participate in it.

According to President Carter, the nation's top priority is the economy. He has made it clear that he considers the economy, in turn, to be the top priority of the nation's political leaders. The President also thinks that the economy is the top priority of the nation's political leaders. The President also thinks that the economy is the top priority of the nation's political leaders. The President also thinks that the economy is the top priority of the nation's political leaders.

In The Daily Iowan

Carter's foppish gesture

President Carter's proposed S8 billion tax credits for Union members and a foppish gesture by Secretary of State Haig are not the only current political phenomena that are making my blood boil. In an era of increasing sophistication, growing complexity, and accelerating change, it is easy to get discouraged and cynical. The truth, however, is that the effect of indifference or by-passing the political system is to make it more complex and confusing. We need, in fact, more than ever, to understand and participate in it.

According to President Carter, the nation's top priority is the economy. He has made it clear that he considers the economy, in turn, to be the top priority of the nation's political leaders. The President also thinks that the economy is the top priority of the nation's political leaders. The President also thinks that the economy is the top priority of the nation's political leaders. The President also thinks that the economy is the top priority of the nation's political leaders.

In The Daily Iowan

Carter's foppish gesture

President Carter's proposed S8 billion tax credits for Union members and a foppish gesture by Secretary of State Haig are not the only current political phenomena that are making my blood boil. In an era of increasing sophistication, growing complexity, and accelerating change, it is easy to get discouraged and cynical. The truth, however, is that the effect of indifference or by-passing the political system is to make it more complex and confusing. We need, in fact, more than ever, to understand and participate in it.

According to President Carter, the nation's top priority is the economy. He has made it clear that he considers the economy, in turn, to be the top priority of the nation's political leaders. The President also thinks that the economy is the top priority of the nation's political leaders. The President also thinks that the economy is the top priority of the nation's political leaders. The President also thinks that the economy is the top priority of the nation's political leaders.

In The Daily Iowan

Carter's foppish gesture

President Carter's proposed S8 billion tax credits for Union members and a foppish gesture by Secretary of State Haig are not the only current political phenomena that are making my blood boil. In an era of increasing sophistication, growing complexity, and accelerating change, it is easy to get discouraged and cynical. The truth, however, is that the effect of indifference or by-passing the political system is to make it more complex and confusing. We need, in fact, more than ever, to understand and participate in it.

According to President Carter, the nation's top priority is the economy. He has made it clear that he considers the economy, in turn, to be the top priority of the nation's political leaders. The President also thinks that the economy is the top priority of the nation's political leaders. The President also thinks that the economy is the top priority of the nation's political leaders. The President also thinks that the economy is the top priority of the nation's political leaders.

In The Daily Iowan

Carter's foppish gesture

President Carter's proposed S8 billion tax credits for Union members and a foppish gesture by Secretary of State Haig are not the only current political phenomena that are making my blood boil. In an era of increasing sophistication, growing complexity, and accelerating change, it is easy to get discouraged and cynical. The truth, however, is that the effect of indifference or by-passing the political system is to make it more complex and confusing. We need, in fact, more than ever, to understand and participate in it.

According to President Carter, the nation's top priority is the economy. He has made it clear that he considers the economy, in turn, to be the top priority of the nation's political leaders. The President also thinks that the economy is the top priority of the nation's political leaders. The President also thinks that the economy is the top priority of the nation's political leaders. The President also thinks that the economy is the top priority of the nation's political leaders.

In The Daily Iowan

Carter's foppish gesture

President Carter's proposed S8 billion tax credits for Union members and a foppish gesture by Secretary of State Haig are not the only current political phenomena that are making my blood boil. In an era of increasing sophistication, growing complexity, and accelerating change, it is easy to get discouraged and cynical. The truth, however, is that the effect of indifference or by-passing the political system is to make it more complex and confusing. We need, in fact, more than ever, to understand and participate in it.

According to President Carter, the nation's top priority is the economy. He has made it clear that he considers the economy, in turn, to be the top priority of the nation's political leaders. The President also thinks that the economy is the top priority of the nation's political leaders. The President also thinks that the economy is the top priority of the nation's political leaders. The President also thinks that the economy is the top priority of the nation's political leaders.
Bowers’ bluegrass a winner
By GARRY TRUDEAU

The performance of the New Grass Revival and John Hartford was both surprisingly and disappointingly well attended. Of the two, Hartford shone brighter, but music, revenue wasn’t the problem in either case, neither of the headliners’ sales were particularly distinguished. The Revival’s Bob Wootton was busy with “You Are My Sunshine,” "Amazing Grass," and other novelty numbers. In the case of New Grass Revival’s John Hartford, the special problem was that of a relatively unknown group playing under a full moon than in the studio. The group’s energy was high, but its audience was relatively small. Hartford finally sensed the need to reinforce that against the studio’s energy, with a simple version of an outback ballad, “Robin Hood, e.g.” Hartford dropped his energy for bluegrass to a more manageable level, then set the stage afire with a version of an old tune, "Amazing Grass." The performances were paired with humorous ditties and melodies were paired with

Granddaddy’s
505 E. Burlington
Iowa City’s Newest Entertainment Center

A French Mini-Festival
Pay: Le Supplement as Voyage de Bouquins by Diderot. Directed by Le Theatre du Double. Monday, February 24, 7 p.m. - Mahaffey Auditorium.
Concert: Works by Rameau, Manu Marais, J. Courtois performed on period instruments by La Chambre du Roy. Tuesday, February 25, 8 p.m. - Clapp Recital Hall.
Workshops: Theatre and music of 18th-century France. Music Workshop February 26, 3 p.m. - Harper Hall. School of Music. Theatre/ Directing Workshop February 26, 1 p.m. - Old Avery Theatre.
Information: Hancher Box Office 353-6255.
The proposal would force the students to ‘get their heads out of the sand’ in cooperation with the bowling lanes, providing an opportunity for everyone to contribute to the decision-making process.

The proposal was introduced by the student body and the administration, but the majority of students have been provided with a viable alternative.

The administration has taken the necessary steps to ensure the integrity of the proposal by providing an opportunity for all students to contribute to the decision-making process.

The proposal has been well-received by the students, who have expressed their support for the decision-making process.
Paratues ‘exciting piano duo

She and the other

The “morality” in

Likewise, Schaal’s

As figments of the characters’

The personality differences

Robert Rogers’ puppets are a

Its per-

Hancher Auditorium

Hancher Auditorium

Tickets on Sale Today, February 27, to U of I Students

Garrick Ohlsson, pianist

Spain’s First Family of Guitar

Monday, March 1, 8 pm

U of I Students $4.50, Nonstudents $9.00

Spanish virtuosos or in famous as transcendent classical performing as a

The style in the

The red

It is not

The second theme.

The

Spanish National Piano Competition

An D. Ray

Saturday, April 15, 8 pm

U of I Students $5.50-$5.00-$4.00

The Spanish National Piano Competition

Tickets: Students $6, Others $10

For our Monday Night backgammon tournaments, first prize is dinner for two with prizes to be announced. For information: 305-2532.
Michigan foils Hawks comeback effort

The Wolverines staged an unexpected double Saturday, having only two games in the season. With a 35-7 victory over the Hawkeyes, they have won their last four games and have now taken control of the Big Ten race. The win was a huge relief for the Michigan State football team, which had lost to Wisconsin in their last game. With the victory, the Wolverines are now tied with Ohio State and Indiana for first place in the conference.

Michigan's defense was a key factor in the victory, holding the Hawkeyes to just 16 points. The Wolverines also scored 28 points in the all-around competition, thanks to the efforts of Tavakoli and others. The Hawks, who had scored a high 27 points in the event the day before, were unable to match the Wolverines' performance.

Michigan's victory was a huge blow to the Hawkeyes, who were hoping to make a comeback. The Hawkeyes' hopes were dashed when they fell behind early in the game. Michigan scored 21 points in the first half, while the Hawkeyes scored just 6 points. In the second half, Michigan continued to dominate, scoring another 17 points while holding the Hawkeyes to just 10.

Overall, the Wolverines played a strong game, with Michigan State's 89-67 victory at Crisler Arena. The Hawkeyes were not able to keep up with the Wolverines' defense and were unable to score as many points. With this victory, Michigan State moves into first place in the conference and is now in the driver's seat for the championship.
Hansen yells, wins at Illini Classic

By GARY NILAND

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Jim Hansen, Illinois' All-American, was a cruise control at a good clip before yesterday.

Hansen, beholden to a way of running that he calls the Herky Classic here Saturday, pounded 316 meters in 1:54.0, the fastest mile ever in Illinois history. Hansen was third in the 220 in 26.6, fourth in the 440 in 52.9, and third in the 880 with a score of 32.60. Behncke was timed 1:54.0.

Hansen started sweeping the track community when he finished fourth in the high jump at the opening height of 1.80 meters. Hansen cleared 2.18 meters (seven feet, 1% inches) in his first attempt each time, and rising to a height of 2.22 meters, Hansen was the first to go.

The relay won the second section of the meet, which turned out to be a 4x800 win, as Hansen anchored the relay.

In the 316 meters, Hansen bellowed his effort three-stride from 1.80 meters, had a headwind of 100 miles per hour, and his legs were 30 yards short of the tape at 2:28 basement.
Wildcats battle flu, drop Vols

By Michael Press Internationals

As if in sympathy, Tennessee basketball fans watched with bated breath as the flu bug turned out to be Kentucky’s biggest problem Saturday. But, John Hall’s Wildcats fought off both obstacles to gain a 115-97 victory over in-state rival Kentucky to clinch the SEC Conference championship.

"To beat a team as we did today, the effort we put out was just tremendous," said Hall of his squad that has been building the past few weeks. "It was the greatest I have ever seen."

Each team scored 18 points in the contest, the first tie for both teams in Nashville since 1953. Tennessee topped the SEC record in 124 with two games left to play.

Tennessee, which dropped to second place in the SEC was paced by Reggie Johnson’s seven points and Terry Crosby’s 17. Tennessee’s eight starters were all in the starting lineup, but the Wildcats went seven straight points before information to build a 6-2 lead.

In games that might feature players for the NBA, No. 12 Providence (23-4, 11-4 Big East) defeated St. John’s (14-17, 0-14 Big East) 87-83. The Friars had successfully played the NCAA tournament at St. John’s and then defeated Providence in the second round.

Irish jolt Marquette

North Bend, Ind. (UPI) -

Junior forward John Wooden scored 23 points and Terry Stotts scored 14 today, as Notre Dame to a 97-77 upset over Marquette University in the second half on Sunday afternoon to lead the Big East Conference race.

The Irish, who have been trailing in the conference standings, were down 13 points before Wooden scored 16 of his total points to clinch a 16-27 victory over the Marquette junior was voted as the game’s Most Valuable Player.

The Irish, leading 37-25 at the half, cut the Warriors lead to 45-40 early in the second half on a basket by Wooden. The Irish outscored the Warriors 35-30 in the second half to win.

The victory was the Irish's first lead, and was the top for the second time in the series. Wooden lead 23 points, followed by Terry Stotts with 14. The point total, which was the biggest in Irish history, topped the previous record of 22 points.

Ford's 34 powers Tar Heels

Raleigh, N.C. (UPI) -

The University of North Carolina basketball team scored 34 points in the second half and defeated Boston College 84-42, three field goals by Tripucka. The victory gave Ford his 34th win and his 97th career win, as he paid tribute to the leadership of Coach Dean Smith.

"I don't know how many years I will be able to play," said Ford when he started the night. "I don't know how many years I can play."

The victory gave eighth-seeded Duke a 13-4 lead when it led 44-27 at the half. The Blue Devils outscored the Warriors 35-30 in the second half to win.

If you’re like most people, you’re probably skeptical about our ability to make Speed Reading work for you.

O.K. Tonight we’d like the opportunity to prove, as we have to millions, that you can read faster with comprehension.

In fact, we challenge you We'll show you how to read faster, with comprehension! challenge you to come to tonight’s Free Speed Reading Lesson armoured with the toughest textbook or reading material you own.

EVELYN WOOD READING DYNAMICS

Tonight we'd like the opportunity to prove, as we have to millions, that you can read faster with comprehension.

We'll show you how to read faster, with comprehension! And, remember, we're not using our materials... books that you may feel are too easy... we're using yours... the toughest you can find!

If you're open minded and want to improve your reading ability, we challenge you... challenge you to begin tonight, to make reading work for you!