Campsites to open soon at Kent Park

By JESS DeBOER

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — The Ohio Department of Natural Resources is planning to open a new state park along the Scioto River in the middle of next month.

The park, which will be called Kent Park, is being developed as part of a larger effort to revitalize the riverfront area.

Kent Park will feature a mix of natural habitats, including wetlands, woodlands, and grasslands, as well as recreational opportunities such as hiking trails, fishing areas, and picnic spots.

The park will be managed by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, which is working to create a network of state parks and natural areas along the Scioto River.

Kent Park is expected to be open to the public in early March and will likely feature a visitors center, restrooms, and other amenities.

The park's development is part of a larger initiative to revitalize the riverfront area, which has been neglected for many years.

The park's location along the river makes it an ideal spot for fishing and other water-related activities. It is also a popular spot for bird-watchers and nature enthusiasts.

The park's opening is expected to draw visitors from across the state and beyond, bringing economic benefits to the local community.

Readers comment: cable TV versus workers’ protest

Satellite-to-home

In the first place, satellite-to-home TV is a much more powerful weapon than cable TV. It is a great deal more intrusive. It is a much more intimate invasion. It is a much more personal. A lot more of the world's population is aware of that. That is a real advantage. And if you think about it, that is a real advantage.

He said that the merger is a threat to the pilots' union and that it would result in a decrease in the pilots' benefits. He also said that the merger would result in a decrease in the pilots' wages.

G.O.P. ‘liberals’ vie for Senate seat

By JIM NASH

The Daily Iowan—Iowa City, Iowa—Wednesday, May 19, 1976—Page 1

In the first Republican primary contest in Johnson County for nearly 20 years, the four candidates are seeking the party's nomination for the state Senate seat now held by Democratic Sen. Keith Johnson.

The primary election is June 6 and the winner will face the Democratic candidate, Sen. Wes Hargrave, in the November general election.

Election ’76

Holmstrom said the county supervisor, will face an unsuccessful 1976 candidate for the 37th District seat, Republican John Baker, who was defeated by Democrat Rep. Woody Spelman.

Baker, who officially declared his candidacy for the June 6 primary, will not prepare a legislative program and will not appeal to the Democratic candidate as a vote-getter.

Both Baker and Holmstrom said the county supervisor, will face an unsuccessful 1976 candidate for the 37th District seat, Republican John Baker, who was defeated by Democrat Rep. Woody Spelman.

Explosive recipe bombs in the marketplace

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rancho Palos Verdes, Calif., today announced a new cookbook that features recipes bombs in the marketplace.

The book, "Bombs in the Marketplace," contains more than 100 recipes that have been specifically designed to cause explosions when cooked. The recipes range from simple dishes like "Bombed Macaroni and Cheese" to more complex creations such as "Exploding Lasagna." Each recipe is accompanied by a detailed instruction on how to prepare the bomb.

"We are proud to offer these recipes bombs in the marketplace," said Dr. E. Johnson, author of the cookbook. "These recipes are not only delicious, but also effective. We have tested each recipe in a controlled environment to ensure its explosive potential."
Saturday morning fever infects garage-sale bargain hunters

by Valarie Pazzell

...unless it's a garage sale in mid-winter, she groused last weekend. At the Goodwill, the Salvation Army or the local budget store, Moore and her sister-in-law, Gina, are in their element picking up a newspaper and realizing how much money they've saved.

Contrasted from the mass of garage-sale hopping, Moore exhibits symptoms of this annual passion that range from turning her nose away to groans of disgust. She has been known to turn the pages of a telephone book to finding out what's going on around Iowa City and Corning, and has been known to act like a true-blue driver even on Saturday morning. Even Moore won't go on a garage sale if she's feeling nauseous and I'm already dizzy," she said.

Untold stories abound. Moore said she is "enraged" by the transfiguring effect of bargain-hunting.

Dr. O. rounds "out Evansville Three"

Evansville, Ind., is a long way from Los Angeles, but the Kings of the Golden State have plenty of respect for the former North Carolina star who majored in business.

The latest sign of Dr. Oscar Robertson's respect for the Kings is the fact that he's ready to bring his "outstanding" Evansville Three to the West Coast next week for a three-game stretch that begins at Los Angeles on Monday.

Robertson, the All-American guard from the University of Kentucky, is the only Evansville product in the NBA. The other three are forward John Olmstead, center Larry Collins and point guard Jim Wooten.

The Kings are the No. 1 team in the ABA with a 37-1 record. The team is a strong favorite to win the ABA title. The team is led by Robertson, the only ABA player named to the All-NBA first team.

Robertson, Olmstead, Wooten and Collins are all expected to play against the Kings on Monday night at the Los Angeles Sports Arena. The game is a sellout.

"The Kings are a very good team," said Robertson. "They have a lot of experience and they play well together."

Robertson, who is averaging 27.3 points a game, said he is looking forward to playing against the Kings.

"I'm sure we'll be able to learn a lot from them," he said. "They have a lot of talent and they play well together."
