American officials 'monitor' Poland

WASHINGTON (UPI) --

American officials were trying last week to gauge the impact of a major crackdown on the Solidarity labor movement in Poland.

The Soviet Union, the United States and the United Nations have all condemned the Polish government's actions.

In Warsaw, a key Solidarity union leader has been arrested, and the Polish government has reportedly been involved in efforts to silence the union.

The Polish government has been accused of using violence and intimidation to suppress the union, which has become a powerful voice for worker rights and opposition to government policies.

The U.S. government has condemned the Polish government's actions and has expressed support for the Solidarity movement.

The Polish government has denied all charges of violence and has accused the Solidarity movement of being a threat to national security.

Pressure on Libya reported

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) - The United Nations may consider imposing sanctions against Libya, whether authoritatively or not, a State Department official was quoted as saying today.

The statement, quoted to "Essential In ternational, a weekly New York City foreign newspaper, said Libya had 'behaved in a way typical of a government that is not about to hurry to take steps against sanctions imposed by the United Nations.'

The State Department official said that, if Libya were to impose the sanctions, they would not be lifted until the situation in Libya improved.

Detroit trade firm probed

DETROIT (UPI) - A Detroit company is under investigation by U.S. Attorney General Janet Reno, who has ruled out prosecution.

Reno's office said the investigation is based

Union officials treat employees to a buffet

By Rochelle Brown

Union staff members enjoyed a special reception Monday evening in honor of students attending the University of Northern Iowa graduation ceremony. Following the reception the guests were treated to a buffet in Calvin Hall.

"We intend to give the students an enjoyable Christmas party in the center," said Janet Moore, another terminal operator. "We serve all of the food and will pick up any supplies that we serve and all of the people that are invited."

By Thursday afternoon the center was filled with students that all wanted to get their picture taken and to talk about what they want their future to be like. "It’s a busy time, but we don’t feel like we’re working," said Moore.

The Christmas party, which was held at the center was sponsored by the Black Students Union. The staff union officials treat the employees that particular week with special consideration. "We serve all of the food and will pick up any supplies that we serve and all of the people that are invited."

Reagan’s economy

Congress has passed a series of spending bills which will finance the government until March 31. By then, Congress hopes to have passed the appropriations bills for fiscal 1981. Passage of the bill, which President Reagan is reportedly ready to sign, will prevent a government at the crisis just before Thanksgiving. Reagan vetoed that bill because it did not give enough money to programs outside the government.

unnamed doctor was negligent in diagnosis.

According to court records, Larry and Janet Rolh, of Edgewood, were visiting for damages in an estimate of $200,000 by the man Dr. Philip K. McLaughlin, who treated Larry for 17 years.

The suit states that Rolh visited McLaughlin on Dec. 14, 1979 for an unknown reason. According to the suit, she was taken to remain at home. On Dec. 14, 1979, Rolh began having difficulty breathing.

The suit states that McLaughlin was negligence in his diagnosis and removal of factors, and that because of the negligence, Rolh has incurred medical and hospital expenses, emotional pain and suffering and has incurred future medical expenses.

Larry Rolh claims the wife's illness caused him to be impaired of the normal companionship, society and services of his wife.

In the summer of 1985, Project Head Start was continued as the Head Start Program, headed by a newly appointed Director of Head Start. The program is run across the nation by thousands of local Head Start programs. The program is designed to help children from low-income families prepare for success in school and life. Under the program, children from low-income families are provided with educational and nutritional services, as well as health care. The program is funded by the federal government and is administered by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. The program serves over 7.5 million children each year.

The Reagan administration's policy of cutting federal regulations will not directly affect Iowa day cares because the regulations are based on federal budget cuts. However, the cuts will indirectly affect day cares in Iowa. The federal budget cuts are expected to result in a reduction of funding for Title XX, which provides funding for day care programs. The cuts are expected to reduce or eliminate family services to Iowa Division of Family Operations.

In Johnson County, centers supported by federal funds will be closed if the centers are unable to maintain safe, healthy environments, which promote normal development, reducing child care programs for daycare centers, Kramer said. Diversity of dance shown by students

By Marian Benedict

With a voice of steel, appearing to work, last Thursday and Friday the students in Dr. Halpern's dance class brought the semester's project dance, which is easier to see with the lack of costumes, movement, and work, the Space Place center. There were two performances that day, one at lunch, and the other after school, but in both, the intent was to show the students' knowledge of the art of dance, as well as their ability to work together as a team.

One of the most interesting features of the project was the inclusion of a large variety of dance styles. From a slow, graceful ballet piece to a fast-paced hip-hop routine, the students were able to showcase their range of skills. The project was designed to help students learn the basics of dance, as well as to encourage them to explore new styles and techniques.

A couple of years ago, the hip-hop trend started with the emergence of a new style of dance that had long been overshadowed by more traditional forms. The influence of hip-hop was so strong that even ballet dancers began to experiment with its techniques. Nowadays, hip-hop is a major influence on modern dance, and its impact is evident in the work of many of the students in this class.

The project was also an opportunity for the students to work together and learn from each other. They were able to share their ideas and techniques, which helped to create a collaborative atmosphere.

Overall, the project was a success, and the students should be proud of their hard work and dedication. The project is not only a way to show the community what the students are capable of, but also a way to continue their education and growth as dancers.

Defensive tackle Jim Jeffcoat had 10 tackles. Linebacker LeRoy Butler had 10 tackles.

Follett’s, East Cooper and the Chicago Bears had three takeaways during a 56-7 romp over the Bears.

Kevin Bradlord of Iowa was beginning to widen Iowa’s lead.

Bowl win for Texas A&M

SHEFFIELD, Ala. — (AP) — It has not been the easiest season for Texas A&M Coach Tom Osborn, but at least it ended on a pleasant note.

Wants it’s job to be lost just a few weeks ago, the Aggies scored three touchdowns in the fourth quarter to beat Louisiana Tech 24-18 Saturday night.

Doug Fisk’s first four field goals for the Aggies made the 10-0 points.

osen’s three perfect free-throw shots gave the Aggies their final margin.

Iowa was beginning to widen Iowa’s lead.

McMullen unhappy with play in Hawks' weekend losses

By Mark Badger

The Hawks women's basketball team was upset at home Saturday when the Fighting Illini raced to an 8-point lead in the first half. The Hawks barely edged by Iowa State Saturday afternoon.

The Iowa women's basketball team lost twice over the weekend. So disappointed was McMullen after a game that she held the team in the locker room for more than an hour, with the kids doing super. They just have to relax, the kids are doing super.

"The kids are doing super. They just have to relax," McMullen explained. "The fact that we came in close with Iowa State shows that we're improving." McMullen continued, but what he really needs is to get back to the hotel to relax. The Hawks are doing super.

The Hawks finished first and second in the 500 freestyle, with Iowa State finishing third and fourth in the race. It was another Iowa basketball victory, but this time the Hawkeyes are the ones who did most of the bragging at Assembly Hall Saturday. The latter was significant because it was on a point total, which, if not the most outstanding, is without a doubt the best. The Hawkeyes-Panther matchup returned to its glory days between the two teams with Iowa winning each of the encounters. While many state sports fans have supported the competition of the in-state rivalry, it appears...

Quot a bit quiet but effective

Don James

The Iowa Hawkeyes had a lot to celebrate last year, but the biggest was probably undiagnosed. That's the way Bloomington, Ill., is often looked upon. "We have a lot of things to look forward to," said Iowa Coach Hayden Fry, "and I'm sure we'll have a good team this year."

The Hawkeyes finished seventh in the Big Ten last season, but with the departure of veteran quarterback Dave Strobel, the team will be a bit younger this year. However, the defense should return to form as the team looks to improve its record.

The defense is led by senior linebacker Kevin Smith, who had a breakout season last year. Smith should be a key player for the Hawkeyes as they prepare for their opener against Northern Illinois.

On offense, the team will rely on the running game, which was a strength last season. Senior running back James Henry will be the featured back, while junior tailback Daniel Wilkins should provide a good change of pace.

The Hawkeyes have high hopes for their offense, and if they can complement the defense, they could be a force to be reckoned with in the Big Ten.

The team will open the season at home against Northern Illinois, and they will look to build on last year's success.

The "granddaddy" of bowl games

The Rose Bowl in Pasadena is in its 100th year, with the game scheduled for Tuesday. The Rose Bowl has been held every January since 1902, with the exception of 1943, when it was canceled due to World War II. The game is played between the champions of the Big Ten Conference and the Pacific Coast Conference.

The game was first played in 1902, with Stanford University defeating the University of Chicago 49-0. The game has since become known as "The Rose Bowl" due to the traditional rose petals that are thrown on the field before the game begins.

Since its inception, the Rose Bowl has featured some of the most iconic college football games in history. Some of the most memorable games include the 1941 game between Notre Dame and USC, which is often referred to as "The Game of the Century," and the 1975 game between Stanford and USC, which featured some of the best college football players in history.

The Rose Bowl has also been the site of many historic moments in college football. In 1969, Joe Namath famously said "We ain't gonna play nobody," and in 1980, Texas A&M beat USC 24-3. The Rose Bowl has also been the site of many Upset games, with the most famous being the 1949 game between Iowa and USC, which saw the Hawkeyes defeat the Trojans 36-14.

Pasadena trip may net $200,000

By Betty Anderson

The US Athletic Department will receive a gross profit of $200,000 from the trip to the Rose Bowl to be played on Jan. 1.

The exact figure will not be decided until after the game, but a good indication of the amount will be available. The funds will be used to support the athletic program.

The trip will include a special fund to help support the athletic department, including coaches and players, and a reserve fund for future projects.

The Big Ten guidelines also allow a portion of the receipts to be used for the Big Ten Conference. The net receipts then go to the Big Ten Conference, which is responsible for the overall success of the event.

The Big Ten guidelines also allow donations to be made to other institutions, such as universities and high schools. This year, the donations will be used to support the athletic programs at these institutions.

Parents follow sons to Pasadena

By Steve Belovich

You know you've come a long way when your parents only cry once.

They'll be tears of joy, of course, when you score that winning touchdown in the Rose Bowl.

And they'll be tears of pride for the son who is now a student at the University of Iowa.

That's what happened last week when all three of the Hawkeye players' parents came to see them in the Rose Bowl.

"It's been his dream since he was a little boy," said one of the parents.

"Never in my wildest dreams did I ever think he'd be playing in the Rose Bowl," said another.

"It's been his dream since he was a little boy," said the third.

"Never in my wildest dreams did I ever think he'd be playing in the Rose Bowl," said the fourth.

"It's been his dream since he was a little boy," said the fifth.

This year's parade is expected to feature over 1,000 entries, including floats, marching bands, and equestrian units. The parade route will run from the Iowa State Capitol to downtown Des Moines, with stops along the way for various events and activities. The theme for this year's parade is "A Decade of Roses," celebrating the 10th anniversary of the Rose Parade. The parade will take place on New Year's Day, and is one of the most anticipated events of the year in Iowa City.

Quarterback Boomer Esiason and Steve Pelluer are two of Iowa's key offensive weapons. Boomer, a senior from Cincinnati, is the nation's leading passer. He has thrown for 2,226 yards and 17 touchdowns. Steve, a sophomore from West Des Moines, is the conference's leading receiver with 20 catches for 390 yards.

The Iowa offense is well-balanced, with a strong running game led by tailback Mark Jackson, a junior from Detroit, and a potent passing attack that includes Boomer, Steve Pelluer, and fullback Mike Boles. The team's defense is led by junior defensive tackle Jeff Partidge, who has 39 tackles this season.

The game against Washington will feature a showdown between two of the nation's top college football programs. Iowa leads the Big Ten Conference with a 9-2 overall record, while Washington is 7-4 overall and 4-2 in conference play.

The game will be played in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day. Kickoff is scheduled for 4 p.m. Central Standard Time. The game will be broadcast on NBC-TV.

The Huskies are led by quarterback Anthony Allen, who has thrown for 2,029 yards and 12 touchdowns. Washington's receiving core includes sophomores Ron Jenkins and Jeff Partidge, who have combined for 20 catches for 297 yards.

The Iowa defense is led by junior defensive tackle Jeff Partidge, who has 39 tackles this season. The team's leading tackler is junior linebacker Mike Boles, who has 82 tackles this season.

Iowa senior fullback Marty Ball keeps his promise to play in the Rose Bowl this year after being redshirted last year. Ball missed all of last season due to injuries, but he is now fully recovered and ready to make his contribution to the team.

Mike Husak

Marty Ball

Husak is a defensive end who showed great potential as a redshirt freshman last year. He is one of the team's most promising players and is expected to make a big impact this season.

A last-minute injury kept Marty Ball from playing in the Rose Bowl last year. Husak will be one of the team's leaders this season.

Texans talk of Fry and Hawks

By Mike Kent

Start writer

Mike Kent's coverage with the 1981 Iowa Hawkeyes does not surprise anyone at the football office at Texas A&M, nor at the University of Iowa, nor at Texas A&M.

O.A. "Bill" Phillips, who was an assistant football coach at Southern Methodist in 1972 and is now head coach of the New Orleans Saints, said with a Texas sense of humor, I've known Hayden Fry for a hundred years. "Seriously, Hayden is one of those guys I've known for 25, maybe 30 years. Anything a Hayden Fry team wins, I'm happy for his former head coach at Texas."

Another thing Phillips said: "I've always been a Hayden Fry admirer and am glad to see him in the Big Apple."

One of the things that Coach Hayden Fry does best is making the opposition think about the game when they shouldn't. I agree with Bud Elliott, head coach at Texas-Arlington, who said: "I think that Hayden is in an excellent football position. He's an innovator, a planner, an organizer, another mastermind." And that's what Hayden Fry is. He's a disciplinarian, a winner, a strategist, a master of the game. He's the best football coach in the Big Apple."

IF BEAR BRYANT CAN HAVE ONE...

By T. Johnson

Dec. 14

Bear Bryant, the winningest coach in the history of college football, has an Alabama-sized legacy that begins him around games. The temper is there to be understood. There are few from demonstrating the same kind of mystique that Iowa's Hayden Fry has.

Jim Neal, formally titled "the High Sheriff of the I-Club" by Fry, became the official "bodyguard" of a certain Texas State trooper who was nowhere to be seen. The trooper was provided by the Denton County Sheriff's Office.

"I know of Hayden for several years," Neal said. "I met him over the phone from Dallas." When he came up to Iowa, and before the Aug. 14 meeting of the I-Club, Neal was asked by Fry, "What's your deal?"

Neal's deal was to have a bodyguard around the stadium, Fry said. "He's not with Hayden all the time, but he's there for him."

Neal said he had remembered the story of when Dr. John O'Brien, the first medical director of the State of Iowa, came dressed in his uniform and passed the protection on to Hughes, the current sheriff of Centerville, Iowa, and Fry started following him around after a couple of games each year. "I did that for a couple of years," Neal said.

The deal was made considerably more public in the months leading up to the Dec. 14, 1981, contest between Texas and Iowa, which was no longer Fry's bodyguard. Neal has been Fry's bodyguard since 1974, when Fry was the coach of North Texas.

"The trooper was there to keep enthusiastic 'Bama fans from demonstrating too heartily their love," Neal said. "We sat around one afternoon and saw a couple of good games.

"I'd like to see Hayden introduced to the University of Texas, for instance. The trooper is there to keep enthusiastic 'Bama fans from demonstrating too heartily their love."

Neal recalled that Fry had a bodyguard when he was at Texas, but it was his old Texas and Fiat police people who were there. "It's been a long tradition of Hayden and Fry following him around at games. The trooper is there to keep enthusiastic 'Bama fans from demonstrating too heartily their love."

Former coaches praise Hawks

Elliott Burns was just a great effort by Hayden Tippett's team tonight. It's one of the best games we've seen against Wisconsin and he should go fairly high in the national polls.

Another Winning Iowa Team!

Skill, enthusiasm and dedication...three words synonymous with the team of the University of Iowa.

One of the most astounding of these teams-displaying all the distinguishing trademarks of the 1,400-member team of the Department of Nursing at the University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics.

Although their talents aren't measured on a scoreboard, their influence is felt far beyond the playing field. They display compassion and commitment around the clock, caring daily for more than 2,100 patients who depend on them. And, like any other playing team, the nurses at University Hospitals, Iowa's tertiary health care center are dedicated to a common goal-quality nursing care. Working closely with other health professionals, they ensure a personalized touch for each patient.

Nurses serve in 11 divisions. These include Orthopaedics; Ob/Gyn; Urology; Psychiatry; Operating Room; Surgical, Intensive Surgical; Neurological and Neuro-surgical; Medical; Pediatric; and Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Nursing divisions.

University Hospitals' nurses are unique. They take pride in knowing they're among the best in the nation. They have had hands-on training in using the most sophisticated medical technologies, in caring for patients undergoing complex disease processes and in developing programs of care for patients' and families' individualized needs unquestionably rank them among the nation's top nurses.

Patients often say University Hospitals' staff make them feel like family members at home in unfamiliar surroundings. And, it seems they almost universally appreciate the "personal touch" provided by their nurses.

To become a member of this winning Iowa team, contact Nurse Recruiter, Department of Nursing, The University of Iowa Hospitals
