Shamir forms conservative government

TEL AVIV (AP) — Prime Minister designate Yitzhak Shamir formed a new coalition government that will maintain the hardline policies of outgoing Prime Minister Menachem Begin.

Begin's party, the Likud, scheduled a special session Monday for a vote of confidence in Shamir. Shamir informed parliamentarians at mid-afternoon Sunday that he is forming a new governing coalition.

Yitzhak Shamir

The six deputies drafted the document saying Shamir had given Begin 40 days to join a coalition. "I still hope for a minority, but if we don't have one, I am still willing to form a minority until the Likud and I will find for Yitzhak Shamir," said Shlomo, one of the six.

Anoder Member of the pre- former Energy Minister Yitzhak Ben- geniee, and his six new coalition members had given him the coalition talks had been held for 60 percent of the Likud.

The development came as a government crisis looms over the future of Jewish settlements in the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip.

The government crisis comes as Shlomo, the leader of the Likud, and Begin's former party deputy, has been embroiled in a financial scandal.

Walesa given Nobel Prize for sacrifice

East-West tensions heightened

LEIPZIG, Austria (UPI) — Lech Walesa, leader of Poland's Solidarity labor movement, won the Nobel Peace Prize on Saturday, the first Labor Party leader to win the prestigious award.

"This is a historic day for Poland and a historic day for the whole of Europe," said Walesa, who was presented in Solidarity era.

Walesa's selection was part of a historic day for Poland and a historic day for the whole of Europe. It was chosen to honor the Polish leader's efforts to bring peace to the East-West blocs, which have been in conflict for decades.

"This is a historic day for Poland and a historic day for the whole of Europe," said Walesa, who was presented in Solidarity era.

The Nobel Peace Prize has been awarded to individuals for their efforts to promote peace and understanding between nations. Walesa was chosen for his work to bring peace to the East-West blocs, which have been in conflict for decades.

"This is a historic day for Poland and a historic day for the whole of Europe," said Walesa, who was presented in Solidarity era.

Walesa was born in the Soviet Union, where he was a communist Party member and a journalist. After the fall of communism in Poland, he helped lead the Solidarity labor movement, which fought against the communist government.

Exotic pets fascinate students; piranhas are popular in dorms

By Delores Dufficnt

The Daily Iowan

When one UI student and his buddy went to a pet store with their professor, there was one animal that they both wanted to bring home: a ferret. "The ferret was too screwy on us, but there was a baby ferret in the store that was pretty good," he said. The start-up business was not too small to support small animals for purchase.

After hearing the course of action was a major in math, the professor wanted to know about the possibility of raising such animals. "I think the federal government should provide education on the raising of exotic animals," he said.

While most of the pets were low in price, the largest animals were the most popular among UI students. Many UI students, who came to the pet store to see if they could afford the animals, ended up with exotic animals, too. The professor stated that they are the most popular pet, and he added, "I think that exotic animals can make a good living for the student." To do so, students can exchange them for other pets.

Piranhass will receive pets mainly because they are the main predators. "I think that exotic animals can make a good living for the student," he said. Pet store owners and exchanges will sell new apartments for exotic animals exchange them for other pets.

Piranhas are popular for their ferocity that they are the most popular pet. He said, "I think that exotic animals can make a good living for the student." To do so, students can exchange them for other pets.

Perrett

On Monday evening last, all of the new members of the University of Iowa football team were introduced to the students of the university.

Perrett said that his team would be playing against the University of Minnesota this weekend. He said that the team would be playing against another team on the same day and that they would be playing against another team on the same day.

The students of the university were excited about the upcoming game and were looking forward to seeing the new players in action.

The game will be held at the Memorial Stadium, and the students of the university will be able to watch the game from the stands or from their own homes. The game will be broadcast live on television, and the students of the university will be able to watch the game from their own homes.

Mondale endorsed by labor union

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI) — National Urban League and AFL-CIO endorsed Walter Mondale, Minnesota senator and Democratic presidential nominee, for the November 2 elections. The endorsement was made by th e new Democratic National Committee, the UPI reported.

The last change of serious import was the Monday resignation of Secretary of the Interior, Watt. The Senate Republican leader Howard Baker has warned the White House that Senator Watt is a failure on his own terms, a destructively divisive force in American society, an albatross around President Reagan's neck. What, oh what is to be done about that Jesse Helms, the right- on-wing governor of North Carolina? He has just announced a bill to punish anyone who shows their narrow streak of modernism from the foreign policy establishment, he has attacked federal funding and school bus programs, he has argued that all the best diplomats are people who left the United States and who have attempted to undermine foreign aid to the United States. Now he is imposing the Senate to the inauguration of Martin Luther King Jr. as a national holiday.

Is it not true of all the King holiday, it is to thereby commemorated, the company and power of potent and most tal...tens. People can disagree reasonably. But Helms is going to change things that are already well established as constitutional law.

Is it the first time that Helms has been known to have a conscience? For part of his vision, that is a dangerous charge. Helms offered not one argument of his own, just that he has a conscience.

Are you sure you want to see him as a friend?

Abroad in New York

To the Editor:

Kevan Fish is right on, New York, New York, New York, (IA) 10012.

Petts, after a brief six months in New York, is not longer interested in a brothel, I think that it was his first ever and he is going back to London. But there is nothing to stop you from just imagining his direction. If you are a father to the pleasant and unperturbed occupation, you may be able to adjust it to your own personal way of doing business. My thoughts are with all loyal and honest citizens of the world.

That is what I have been told you did not have a full-scale heart attack, but you had a near-death experience, and you are now in a coma. It is true that you have had some heart problems in the past, but you have been doing well until recently.

There have been many heart attacks, but this one is different. It is not the first heart attack you have had, and it is not the first near-death experience you have had. You have been doing well until recently. You have been doing well until recently.

I am writing to say that I am looking forward to seeing you again. I have been looking forward to seeing you again.

Bad joke

To the Editor:

I was at a party the other night and a friend of mine had just returned from a trip to Europe. He was telling us about all the funny things he had seen and heard. He said, "You should see the British! They are a lot of fun!" I asked him what he meant by that. He said, "I mean, they have a great sense of humor!" I asked him what kind of humor they had. He said, "Well, they have a lot of puns!" I asked him what a pun was. He said, "It's a play on words!" I asked him what an example was. He said, "Well, "Why did the chicken cross the road?" I asked him what the answer was. He said, "To get to the other side!" I asked him what the answer was. He said, "Well, why are you laughing?" I asked him what the answer was. He said, "Oh, I don't know! I just thought it was funny!"

Bad joke.

DODGERS WIN, EVEN SERIES WITH PHILLIES

By Howard Chayes

The Dodgers ended the Phillies’ streak of a franchise-record 12 consecutive wins with a 5-3 victory Tuesday night in Philadelphia.

The Dodgers clinched the season series with a 1-0 lead, and the teams will meet again in Los Angeles for the remaining three games.

The Dodgers took advantage of the Phillies’ mistakes and got strong pitching from right-hander Orel Hershiser, who allowed three runs on seven hits in seven innings.

Los Angeles Manager Tom Lasorda praised Hershiser’s performance, saying, “He pitched well and gave us a good game.”

The Dodgers scored twice in the first inning and added three more in the fifth, making it 5-0.

Los Angeles took the lead with a pair of runs in the first inning on a bases-loaded walk to Manager Tom Lasorda and a two-run single by right-fielder Ron Cey.

In the fifth inning, the Dodgers added three more runs on a two-run home run by first baseman Bill Buckner and a bases-loaded walk to Lasorda.

The Phillies scored once in the fifth inning on a solo home run by left-fielder Greg Luzinski.

The Dodgers’ bullpen held the Phillies scoreless in relief, with closer Tim Cossins getting the save.

In the ninth inning, Cossins struck out right-fielder Mike Schmidt to end the game.

The Dodgers’ victory was their 10th in the past 17 games, and they improved their record to 76-73.

The Phillies fell to 74-75, and their season series with the Dodgers is now tied at 1-1.

The two teams will meet again in Los Angeles for the remaining three games.

The Dodgers have a three-game lead over the Nationals in the NL West, and they are currently in first place in the division.

East trip gives Iowa experience, ready to tackle ranked opponents

By Jill Harms

The Iowa field hockey team, ranked third in the country for the second consecutive week, concludes its first major fall weekend when it survived a road trip to the East Coast. The Hawks dominated 44-1 against Eastern Connecticut State University and 44-1 against the University of Connecticut.

This weekend, a more experienced Harvard team could tackle three more top-10 teams in three days: Wayne State University on Friday, Princeton University on Saturday, and No. 1 Harvard on Sunday at Harvard Stadium, Cambridge, Mass.

Coach Judith Thomason said after having already played the tough teams in the East, Iowa will have to do to well the rest of the season.

The FIELD hockey teams will go into the three games this weekend with added confidence after a dominant performance on Sunday.

Iowa will return to the competition this weekend and East, Thomason said.

"We will also have to do our homework," Thomason said.

Thomason looking for consistency as golfers travel to Northern Iowa

By Thomas M. Jergo, Sports Editor

Inconsistency has been a consistent trait of the Hawks this season. Iowa has gone through three tournaments this fall, according to Coach Cindy Touchal.

And the 39th-year Hawk coach will be looking for consistency this weekend in the 11th-year Iowa, traveling to Cedar Falls for the third consecutive year and the second consecutive year in the last seven.

The Hawks will face the Lady Cyclones on Friday and the Lady Coyotes on Saturday, followed by the Ohio State Buckeyes on Sunday.

The Hawk coaches will be looking for consistency, as they have had excellent performances in the past.

"Iowa" will have a team ranking of 2 for round one, the second round of the nation's top teams in the second round.

The Hawkeyes battled for a first-round score on Sunday, but the individual scores were generally low.

Cubs' prospects key to success

CHICAGO (UPI) - Chicago Cub General Manager Dallas Green has learned many valuable lessons during the past 17 years of professional baseball experience that include teaching his major league system some major lessons.

Green came to Chicago after nearly 20 years in the Philadelphia organization to rebuild the staff from the ground up. The team was way below expectations when Green arrived.

"The plan was to try to put together a competitive team, but it didn't turn out that way," Green said.

"When I was in Chicago, the team that we had was very good in terms of talent, but it didn't work out," he said. "It's been a long road to get this team to where it is today, but it's a good one.

Green said he learned some key lessons from his time in Chicago that he has used to guide the rebuilding of the Chicago Cubs' organization.

In particular, he said the Cubs have learned the importance of having a good scouting system and developing young talent. He also emphasized the importance of having a strong farm system to ensure a steady flow of talent to the major league club.

"You have to be able to develop some young talent," Green said. "You have to have a good minor league system to develop players that can make it to the major leagues.

With the Cubs, we have a very good farm system and we have some young talent coming up that is going to be very helpful, I think, in the future."

Waterpolo offered to tubing enthusiasts

By Marina Rapport

In recognition of thefaqher's efforts to improve the waterpolo community, the team's captain, Dan, invited all players to a tubing event in the evening. The event was held at the pool, and the attendees had a great time, enjoying the water and the company.

LaRussa credits Sox ace for win

BOSTON (AP) - Chicago White Sox Manager Tony LaRussa praised right-hander Steve Carlton "for his good work." LaRussa said Carlton "had his way with the ball" and outpitched the Boston Red Sox 2-0 in the American League playoffs.

"I think the Sox played very well," LaRussa said.

"They have some good young talent," LaRussa said. "They have some good pitching."

I'm a little confused, we have nothing to gain from that whole "Old Enough for Tea Should be a good sipper and you have to!" and Mary put up a good front but I do not know if Bill and Mary ever put up a good front or if there are a cell or cell and they are at home against Alabama. But that 'Buck of former 'Tide mentor Deal'." The Best will hold peak and are drinking national champions, owning in our reporting.

"AfterMASH" is the second film to emerge from the original hit television series "MASH." Alan J. Pakula, who directed the first film, "MASH," returns with "AfterMASH," an ambitious sequel that attempts to carry the new show through a post-Vietnam setting. The film is set in a hospital located in the U.S. that has been converted into an entertainment center, with music and dance performances to take its place for the Hawkeye's. The show must be more than a vast network of bureaucratic paperwork and politics, it must be a distinctively different one.

Television

"AFTERMASH" is the second episode of the new series, and it follows the original series' first episode closely. The show opens with a brief scene that shows the Hawkeye's returning to the hospital after their time in Vietnam. The episode then follows the Hawkeye's as they begin to adjust to their new roles in the hospital. The episode is directed by William Christopher, who plays the character of Father Mulcahy in the original series.

William Christopher, James Farentino, and Henry Morgan as Rosalind Chao star in "AfterMASH." The episode starts with the Hawkeye's returning to the hospital after their time in Vietnam. The episode then follows the Hawkeye's as they begin to adjust to their new roles in the hospital. The episode is directed by William Christopher, who plays the character of Father Mulcahy in the original series.

"AfterMASH" is a dramatic moment, but also a doozy of a story. The show opens with a brief scene that shows the Hawkeye's returning to the hospital after their time in Vietnam. The episode then follows the Hawkeye's as they begin to adjust to their new roles in the hospital. The episode is directed by William Christopher, who plays the character of Father Mulcahy in the original series.

Ritual art shows joy in daily life

By Suzanne Richerson

At THE RITUAL, currently showing at the Art Center, the viewer is inundated by a dazzle of colorful images, objects and artifacts that encompass the entire room on four different walls. Inside the gallery, there is a sense of movement and flow that is achieved through the use of color, light and space.

The exhibition includes a variety of works, from paintings and sculptures to textiles and installations. Many of the pieces are interactive, encouraging viewers to engage with them in a tactile and sensorial way. The show is a celebration of the human experience, as it explores themes of joy, beauty and creativity.

Art

The art pieces are arranged in a circular fashion, with each section of the gallery leading to the next. The viewer is invited to move around the space, exploring each piece in detail.

The works are a mix of traditional and contemporary techniques, bringing together elements from various cultures and traditions. Some pieces are made from materials that are commonly used in ritual practices, such as feathers, beads and plants. Others are created with more modern methods, using digital art and video installations.

The show's title, "Ritual art shows joy in daily life," captures the essence of the exhibition. It highlights the idea that ritual and art are not only important in religious practices but also in everyday life. The artworks are designed to bring joy and beauty into our daily routines, reminding us of the importance of creativity and self-expression.

Films at the Bijou: "The Exorcist"

The most anticipated film in 30 years for Victor McEgan is a drama that stars in his favor during the 20th century. The film is based on the novel by William Peter Blatty, who adapted it from the book that made him famous. "The Exorcist" is a story about a young man who is possessed by a demonic force and is saved by a priest who performs an exorcism.

The film was directed by William Friedkin and starred in the title role by Linda Blair. "The Exorcist" was released in 1973 and became an instant classic, with critical acclaim and box office success.

Workshops/Discussions

Monday, October 10, 6:30 p.m. at the University of Iowa College of Pharmacy and Health Sciences, Room 1200, Third Floor.

"The Exorcist" is a film that has been the subject of intense debate and controversy. In this workshop, a panel of experts will discuss the film's impact on society and its place in the history of horror cinema.

O'Keefe: Get tourists out of town

WASHINGTON (AP) - Paintress Georgia O'Keeffe has asked Congress to use her name as a way of getting tourists to leave her alone. She wants to be remembered mostly for her art, not for her home.

"I'm not here, but I want to be remembered," she wrote in a letter to legislators. "I'm alive now, and it's my wish that I should be respected for my work and not for my home."

O'Keeffe, who lived in New Mexico, was known for her paintings of landscapes and flowers. She was the first artist to bring the desert into her art, and her work has influenced many other artists.

Noted for her simplicity and minimalism, O'Keeffe was also a master at capturing the essence of her subjects. Her paintings are characterized by the use of bold colors and simple shapes, which she used to create a sense of space and movement.

The exhibition is an opportunity to see some of her signature works, as well as others that have been shown before. The show runs from October 16 to November 4 at the galleries on the Art Center.
