Library system update stifled

By Nathan Grigoli

The U-V Library Committee dropped initial plans for a new computer system for the University Library on Wednesday, as U-V President Richard Bentz announced that the plan was being put on hold. A special subcommittee has been formed to study possible alternatives and has just completed a preliminary report on the problem. A final report is expected by the end of the month.

The subcommittee, which is composed of members representing the library, computer science, and the academic departments, will attempt to determine what is needed and how much it will cost. The report is expected to be completed by the end of the year.

Inside

Index

President 90
Soviet leader 3
PLO 9

The Inside page of the Daily Iowan on December 9, 1983, covering the Israeli gunboats incident and the Soviet break on long-range missiles.
President Isabel Peron ended more than two legislation production. The Argentine president, who has been in power since 1976, is seeking to reform the military, including major wage increases, which have led to inflation. The signing marked the last step needed for the implementation of the new government. The Argentine government has been working to ease the economic crisis that has plagued the country for several years.

Union moves to save airline

WASHINGTON - President Reagan, responding to a request by the adminstration, will not remove restrictions on U.S. airlines, which would help improve the economy. The move is expected to help the airline industry, which has been struggling with high fuel prices and other challenges.

Zuber, rent PACs reveal expenditure

by Mark Leonard

Political action committees in Iowa spent $2.3 million to influence the Fair Rent Ordinance, which was defeated. The committees, including the Siouxland, Siouxland Community, and Siouxland Regional, spent $1.1 million on their campaigns.

Iowa-Iowa City

City

Zuber, rent PACs reveal expenditure

by Mark Leonard

Political action committees in Iowa spent $2.3 million to influence the Fair Rent Ordinance, which was defeated. The committees, including the Siouxland, Siouxland Community, and Siouxland Regional, spent $1.1 million on their campaigns.

Iowa-Iowa City

City

Zuber, rent PACs reveal expenditure

by Mark Leonard

Political action committees in Iowa spent $2.3 million to influence the Fair Rent Ordinance, which was defeated. The committees, including the Siouxland, Siouxland Community, and Siouxland Regional, spent $1.1 million on their campaigns.
Student charged in UI computer thefts

By Patricia Hecker

A UI student was arrested and charged Thursday for allegedly stealing equipment and items valued at more than $5,000 from Radiation Therapy Computer buildings.

According to a decision by the Iowa City Police Department, a 21-year-old Charles City, Iowa, native was arrested at 4:55 p.m., at the University of Iowa, which began June 30 with the theft of computer equipment.

The Iowa City Police Department arrested the defendant in Lakeway Building on Oct. 3, and charged him with theft in the 800 block of S. Liberty St., and on Nov. 2, he was arrested in the Lindquist Center.

Detective Sgt. Dan Hayes, who is in the station, declined to say if the accused had a history of theft. He did say that the search was a result of the perpSİva of the 6th Judicial District.

It was not the first time the UI campus has been targeted for theft.

Student is grabbed, knifed by man near Field House

By Patricia Hecker

A student was assaulted Wednesday afternoon while she was on her way to the Iowa Field House.

The student, a 21-year-old Coralville woman, was given a court order to prevent the man from having any further contact with her.

The Iowa City Police Department arrested the defendant in Lakeway Building on Oct. 3, and charged him with theft in the 800 block of S. Liberty St., and on Nov. 2, he was arrested in the Lindquist Center.

Detective Sgt. Dan Hayes, who is in the station, declined to say if the accused had a history of theft. He did say that the search was a result of the perpSIMive of the 6th Judicial District.

It was not the first time the UI campus has been targeted for theft.

Police beat

Jewa City police arrested and charged John H. Albertson, 22, Johnson City, with second-degree theft.

Brenda L. Brewer of Blackwell, Iowa, was arrested for third-degree theft.

Patricia Reuter of Ackerman was treated at Mercy Hospital for a knife wound.

Assault up, total arrests down during November

By Patricia Hecker

The Iowa City Police Department statistics for November showed a decrease in the number of thefts.

On Sunday, a woman was robbed at gunpoint in the 400 block of S. Liberty St., and on Monday, a man was robbed at gunpoint in the 500 block of S. Liberty St.

The most drastic decrease was in the category of disorderly conduct violations.

SCHEDUL€ OF EVENTS

FRIDAY

Manufacturer's representative from Infinity, Oringo, Blackfeet, Otfordon.

SATURDAY

Manufacturer's representative from Mirage, Clinton, Maxwell, TDK, TXL.

SUNDAY

Manufacturer's representative for Shewend, 3:00 P.M.-Drawing for FREE PRIZES!

Prizes Being Given Away:

- 1 Sherwood CRD 300 car stereo deck-digital auto reverse, 5 station preset and 1 Pair Infinity 6 x 9 Triaxial speakers, all with free installation.
  - Total $500 Value.
- 1 Sherwood RF-50 two-way speakers.
  - $160 Value.
- 1 Pair Mirage SM4 two-way speakers.
  - $200 Value.
- SHERWOOD ST890 Turntable with cartridge-halfly automatic direct drive.
  - $200 Value.
Star naming is ‘a fun gift’ for people with everything

By Jeff Eichenbaum

It’s that time of year again when shoppers may search for a unique gift to give to the person who has everything.

A Cottage Patch Doll might not do the trick, but they are always a popular choice. And now, a group of hard-handed amateur experts is ready to recommend some gift ideas from the stars.

But why not gift a star? A company called Starstuff, located in Des Moines, is making stars available for holiday gifts, but don’t expect any stargazing instructions.

Wendy Long, a saleswoman for the company, said, “You can actually go out and find your star. Mondale did ask the kids about some names they thought with stars, because of that, so then your father has the gift you need by the end of the year.”

Answering the phones at Starstuff costs, at the least, 60 cents per call. Starstuff, run by the same family, “said you never knew it was possible to name a star for her mother and when the person wrote the name in the sky, it really did improve the climate.”

ANOTHER CALL came from Gayle Lee Crosby, who has given such gifts for 10 years and is planning more. Still, others “who have given stars as gifts in the past and for receiving stars in their name are Johnny Carson, Johnny Cash, and Bing Crosby,” Long said.

Customers cannot pick the actual star they want to name, but that was thousands of years ago. The company has spurred many, say offerings, many more.

So, why not shoot for the stars? A company called Starstuff, located in Des Moines, is making stars available for holiday gifts, but don’t expect any stargazing instructions.

Wendy Long, a saleswoman for the company, said, “You can actually go out and find your star. Mondale did ask the kids about some names they thought with stars, because of that, so then your father has the gift you need by the end of the year.”

Answering the phones at Starstuff costs, at the least, 60 cents per call. Starstuff, run by the same family, “said you never knew it was possible to name a star for her mother and when the person wrote the name in the sky, it really did improve the climate.”

ANOTHER CALL came from Gayle Lee Crosby, who has given such gifts for 10 years and is planning more. Still, others “who have given stars as gifts in the past and for receiving stars in their name are Johnny Carson, Johnny Cash, and Bing Crosby,” Long said.

Customers cannot pick the actual star they want to name, but that was thousands of years ago. The company has spurred many, say offerings, many more.

Why not shoot for the stars? A company called Starstuff, located in Des Moines, is making stars available for holiday gifts, but don’t expect any stargazing instructions.

Wendy Long, a saleswoman for the company, said, “You can actually go out and find your star. Mondale did ask the kids about some names they thought with stars, because of that, so then your father has the gift you need by the end of the year.”

Answering the phones at Starstuff costs, at the least, 60 cents per call. Starstuff, run by the same family, “said you never knew it was possible to name a star for her mother and when the person wrote the name in the sky, it really did improve the climate.”

ANOTHER CALL came from Gayle Lee Crosby, who has given such gifts for 10 years and is planning more. Still, others “who have given stars as gifts in the past and for receiving stars in their name are Johnny Carson, Johnny Cash, and Bing Crosby,” Long said.

Customers cannot pick the actual star they want to name, but that was thousands of years ago. The company has spurred many, say offerings, many more.
National news

Pentagon looks at relocating Marines

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Iowa Senate is considering a wide range of options to move Marines in the state to less vulnerable positions but has not reached any agreement over the relocation of the active-duty combat brigades, senators said Thursday.

Pentagon officials said Thursday that they have been considering a "wre me of options" to reposition the Marine Corps from their current locations back to their West Coast bases.

The MARINES, who traditionally rely on mobility, are considering several options to escape repeated attacks on their new positions.

Navy Secretary Donald H. Horton, who is in charge of the decision, said that he is committed to the plan and will continue to work on it.

University of Iowa Spring Seminar

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP

SPECIAL PERSON FOR THE SATURDAY NIGHT STRIP
Students give Freedmans wreath

By Carlos Trason

Three UI students, who say they don't want(UI President James J. Freedman to get a bad impression of students, placed a wreath on his door after classes Monday night, whether Thursday night — replacing one from last week.

Freedman said he will never be bothered by the impression of UI students said he was making after last week's event.

"We've always had a wreath on the door, so we have a tradition," Freedman said.

"It makes the house feel more homey, and we have a wreath again.

The THREE STUDENTS, David Wender, Sandra Greer and William Duke, delivered the wreath to Freedman's door.

The wreath was presented by Freedman's wife, Stephanie, bearing cookies and chocolate, which seemed eaten by the Freedman's dog, Tonto.

Wender said he was employed by the students and said they, "I know of a group of people that are not as fortunate as the rest of the people around here, and we have to present it to get a wreath for Freedman's present.

"I thought it was very transient," Wender said, explaining that he could believe anyone would perform such a thing.

Continued from Page 1

Library

Frustration at the Pentacrest continues as librarians face a build-up of complaints.

Marc Thompson, librarian at the Iowa City Public Library, said that the current problems are the result of a lack of coordination between the library and the University.

Thompson said he has been receiving a number of complaints from students and faculty members about the condition of the library.

"I don't mean to cast a spell over these procedures, but there is a breakdown in the system," he said.

Thompson said the UI has already had several attempts to improve the system, but they have not been successful.

"The problem is not with the UI, but with the students themselves," Thompson said.

Continued from Page 1

Reagan

ons of "government importance to the entire world" and the United Nation's status was raised in a speech by the UN's Secretary-General.

In the MEETING, Sanders said, "The United States has been a member of the United Nations since its founding in 1945, but the UN has not been as effective as we had hoped.

Sanders said he was looking forward to the meeting and believed that it would be a positive step towards resolving some of the world's most pressing issues.

Continued from Page 1

Sports reporter wanted

The Daily Iowan is looking for an energetic person to work as a sports reporter. A potential applicant will have good grammar and reporting skills, and enthusiasm for a variety of athletics.

The applicant will be responsible for covering local sports events, writing stories andFeatures about local athletes, teams and coaches.

Applicants are available in Room 516, Communication Center, and should be returned to Sports Editor Steve Batterton.

The Daily Iowan

100 E. Washington St. 3031

Dazzling diamonds from Hands make this a Christmas to remember.

HANDS JEWELERS

Holiday Hours

Monday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday: 9-8
Tuesday, Saturday: 9-7, Sunday 1-5

100 E. Washington St. 3031
Manifested divisions

Supposedly, education is the great equalizer. The rash of student protests against marvel buildings -- seen embellished with works of art, works of genius -- stand in the college town.

But Iowa City's homes and heartaches easily can be identified by strolling through the aftermath of two month long clashing.

One set of homes, the city's apartment owners, can earn nearly $20,000 from the rent collected in the half the city.

The Greater Iowa City Apartment Owners Political Action Committee raised $8,000 to defeat an ordinance that would have put a tax on parking spaces.

There's no great revolution here: Money more easily is gathered by those who already possess a great deal of it.

On the other hand there are those students rushing between the marvel buildings, students suddenly strapped for funds, whose academic efforts are blunted by their political education.

The Fair Board Committee is in the both. The local naics have not.

A second instance of economic division lies inside one of those marvel buildings. This fall, remaining property owners flocked to the offices suite of UI Vice President for Academic Affairs Richard Freedman.

A large price tag of $8,000 accompanied the enhanced working conditions.

The question is not much whether the project was necessary -- it has been artificially delayed by UI officials. The point is retention in a "law" and the UI can not allow him to be running up bills in his office.

The problem is how to do it. In this case most every ... are more rolling things up these days to compensate for the hiring bill designed by the UI. TheUIs.

These employee's anger was vented in a letter from Dan Victor, executive vice president of Iowa's American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees to UI President Joseph G. O'Connor.

"... how pleasant it seems to have spent a quarter of a million dollars on the "problem" in the community to trounce the fair rent ordinance on the ballot names of great scholars - shrouds divisions in this college town.

"But such is the manifested division of the haves and have-nots, ... how ludicrous it seems to have spent a quarter of a million dollars on the "problem" in the community to trounce the fair rent ordinance on the ballot names of great scholars - shrouds divisions in this college town."

To the editor:

"I wish to have every... the following story about those truly grotesque little creatures that are completely unrelated to any other form of life.

"In 1982, when I was a child, Roy P. Parks entered another aspect of professional journalism. His first purchase was a WMC-TV7 in Memphis, a local CBS affiliate. It was his dream to buy a network, which is to say that he began his frenzied pursuit of the impossible in his youth. It has never really turned out to be as much fun as he thought it would become; but to get one's own network is the ultimate goal."

... how pleasant it seems to have spent a quarter of a million dollars on the "problem" in the community to trounce the fair rent ordinance on the ballot names of great scholars - shrouds divisions in this college town.

But there are those students rushing between the marvel buildings, students suddenly strapped for funds, whose academic efforts are blunted by their political education.

... how pleasant it seems to have spent a quarter of a million dollars on the "problem" in the community to trounce the fair rent ordinance on the ballot names of great scholars - shrouds divisions in this college town.

... how pleasant it seems to have spent a quarter of a million dollars on the "problem" in the community to trounce the fair rent ordinance on the ballot names of great scholars - shrouds divisions in this college town.

... how pleasant it seems to have spent a quarter of a million dollars on the "problem" in the community to trounce the fair rent ordinance on the ballot names of great scholars - shrouds divisions in this college town.

... how pleasant it seems to have spent a quarter of a million dollars on the "problem" in the community to trounce the fair rent ordinance on the ballot names of great scholars - shrouds divisions in this college town.

... how pleasant it seems to have spent a quarter of a million dollars on the "problem" in the community to trounce the fair rent ordinance on the ballot names of great scholars - shrouds divisions in this college town.

... how pleasant it seems to have spent a quarter of a million dollars on the "problem" in the community to trounce the fair rent ordinance on the ballot names of great scholars - shrouds divisions in this college town.

... how pleasant it seems to have spent a quarter of a million dollars on the "problem" in the community to trounce the fair rent ordinance on the ballot names of great scholars - shrouds divisions in this college town.

... how pleasant it seems to have spent a quarter of a million dollars on the "problem" in the community to trounce the fair rent ordinance on the ballot names of great scholars - shrouds divisions in this college town.

... how pleasant it seems to have spent a quarter of a million dollars on the "problem" in the community to trounce the fair rent ordinance on the ballot names of great scholars - shrouds divisions in this college town.

... how pleasant it seems to have spent a quarter of a million dollars on the "problem" in the community to trounce the fair rent ordinance on the ballot names of great scholars - shrouds divisions in this college town.

... how pleasant it seems to have spent a quarter of a million dollars on the "problem" in the community to trounce the fair rent ordinance on the ballot names of great scholars - shrouds divisions in this college town.

... how pleasant it seems to have spent a quarter of a million dollars on the "problem" in the community to trounce the fair rent ordinance on the ballot names of great scholars - shrouds divisions in this college town.

... how pleasant it seems to have spent a quarter of a million dollars on the "problem" in the community to trounce the fair rent ordinance on the ballot names of great scholars - shrouds divisions in this college town.

... how pleasant it seems to have spent a quarter of a million dollars on the "problem" in the community to trounce the fair rent ordinance on the ballot names of great scholars - shrouds divisions in this college town.

... how pleasant it seems to have spent a quarter of a million dollars on the "problem" in the community to trounce the fair rent ordinance on the ballot names of great scholars - shrouds divisions in this college town.

... how pleasant it seems to have spent a quarter of a million dollars on the "problem" in the community to trounce the fair rent ordinance on the ballot names of great scholars - shrouds divisions in this college town.

... how pleasant it seems to have spent a quarter of a million dollars on the "problem" in the community to trounce the fair rent ordinance on the ballot names of great scholars - shrouds divisions in this college town.

... how pleasant it seems to have spent a quarter of a million dollars on the "problem" in the community to trounce the fair rent ordinance on the ballot names of great scholars - shrouds divisions in this college town.
Shuttle lands safely despite problems

EDWARD AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) -- The outside Columbia glided in a smooth landing Thursday in the setting desert sand after eight hours in space, bringing home a planeload of results from 10 days of research.

The landing, more graceful than expected, caused no problems, as was described as "perfect" by Lt. Gen. Dale Heidenreich, Associate Administrator of the shuttle program.

"This was a flawless mission," he said.

The astronauts were part of the largest crew ever to space. The four scientists on the crew were quickly whisked away for the start of tests to see how they managed to graze.

The 143,000 spacebound landed at 2:10 a.m. PST on 72,000 square miles, ending the delay, 58 million mile journey.

For a while, the landing was in doubt. A double computer failure two hours before the original landing time forced directors delayed the landing to try and figure out the problem.

For a while, the landing was in doubt. A double computer failure two hours before the original landing time forced directors to figure out the problem. The experiments with Space lab produced 10 million bits of data expected to produce a jump in sciences that will benefit from space transfers and have important applications on Earth.

Rocks, sand, and wind blew around the Columbia. The explorer took over the Aleutian Islands. 8 miles north of San Francisco and over 100 miles south of Portland, it flew into the setting desert sand.

The computer troubles began early Thursday when the shoddy's main computer was unable to support the landing. The computer was shut down and the备份 computer was used to "twist off" the engines.

"There is no evidence that anything was done that constitutes a threat to the landing," said the Administrator. The astronauts were part of a large crew ever to space. The four scientists on the crew were whisked away for the start of tests to see how they had landed in space.

"This was a flawless mission," he said. The astronauts were part of the largest crew ever to space. The four scientists on the crew were whisked away for the start of tests to see how they had landed in space. The computer troubles began early Thursday when the shoddy's main computer was unable to support the landing. The computer was shut down and the备份 computer was used to "twist off" the engines.

"There is no evidence that anything was done that constitutes a threat to the landing," said the Administrator. The astronauts were part of a large crew ever to space. The four scientists on the crew were whisked away for the start of tests to see how they had landed in space.

"This was a flawless mission," he said. The astronauts were part of the largest crew ever to space. The four scientists on the crew were whisked away for the start of tests to see how they had landed in space.
Keating keeps the Hawkeye tradition alive

By Tim Conlon

The Chicago native of Whiting, Ill., not only产量 pretty good athletes to keep her own team on top, but her coaching and performance has contributed to the success and dominance of all the Ten Invitational, which she helped start and coach.

With a total of 11 Invitational competitions, including her first one in 1974, Keating has been successful in every one of them, and during her tenure, the team has won 10 of them.

"It's a great feeling to see the girls improve each year," said Keating, who has been coaching for 25 years. "They work hard and they improve, and I'm proud of them."

Keating's success has been attributed to her ability to keep the girls on task and keep them motivated.

"They want to be the best, and they work hard to achieve that," she said.

Keating has been recognized for her coaching skills and has been named the Outstanding Coach of the Year by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Keating's influence on her team has been significant, and her dedication to the sport has inspired many other coaches.

"Her coaching style and her dedication to the sport are an inspiration to us all," said one of her former students.

Keating's influence on the sport has been significant, and her dedication to the sport has inspired many other coaches.

"Her coaching style and her dedication to the sport are an inspiration to us all," said one of her former students.

In conclusion, Keating has made a significant impact on the sport of women's swimming, and her contributions to the sport will be remembered for many years to come.

Young gymnast looks for title

By Phil Slevin

The Iowa women's gymnastics team is looking to improve on last year's third-place finish in the Big Ten Invitational. The Hawkeyes are coming off a strong performance at the 2017 regional championship, where they finished third.

"We're excited to get back to the Big Ten Invitational," said head coach Chris Cusick. "We had a great performance last year and we want to build on that this year."

Cusick is counting on his team to improve on last year's third-place finish and make a push for the championship.

"We have a lot of new talent coming in this year and we're excited to see how they perform," Cusick said.

The Hawkeyes will be led by senior captain Ashley Looze, who is coming off a strong performance at the regional championship.

"Ashley is a leader on the team and we're excited to see how she performs this year," Cusick said.

In conclusion, the Iowa women's gymnastics team is looking to improve on last year's third-place finish and make a push for the championship at the Big Ten Invitational.

Hawkeye cagers look to rebound

By Steve Rasmussen

The Hawkeyes are looking to bounce back after last year's successful season. The team finished third in the Big Ten and reached the NCAA tournament.

"We're excited to get back on the court and compete," said head coach Fran McCaffery. "We have a lot of new talent coming in this year and we're excited to see how they perform."

The Hawkeyes will be led by senior guard Megan Gustafson, who is coming off a strong performance at the NCAA tournament.

"Megan is a leader on the team and we're excited to see how she performs this year," McCaffery said.

In conclusion, the Hawkeyes are looking to bounce back after last year's successful season and make a push for the NCAA tournament.
Sports

After victory over Arizona State; wrestlers prepare to wrap up trip

By Robert Ryan

The Iowa Hawkeyes' trip through much Western road trip comes to an end Saturday in Salt Lake City when they'll return to Iowa. It's been a long and sometimes arduous journey for the Hawkeyes, who have won their last four matches to take a 7-4 record into the Western Road Trip.

The trip has been a mixed bag for the Hawkeyes, as they've had both highs and lows. The highlight was their 20-17 upset of the number-two ranked Minnesota Golden Gophers on Saturday night in Minneapolis. The low point was their 27-24 loss to the number-one ranked Oklahoma Sooners on Saturday night in Oklahoma City.

The Hawkeyes are currently ranked number-ten in the nation, and they'll face a tough challenge in the conference meet. They'll face the number-nine ranked Nebraska Cornhuskers, the number-twelve ranked Michigan State Spartans, and the number-fourteen ranked Wisconsin Badgers.

Iowa State may change its strategy for dual meet with powerful Hawks

By Mike Gordon

Last year, at the Iowa State women's swimming and diving meet, the Hawkeyes were able to edge out the Cyclones 14-13. This year, the meet will be held in Des Moines at the Iowa State Aquatic Center.

The meet is scheduled for Saturday, February 11th, and will feature a dual meet between the Hawkeyes and the Cyclones. The meet will begin at 10:00 a.m. and will end around 1:00 p.m.

The meet will be held at the Iowa State Aquatic Center, which is located on the campus of Iowa State University. The center has a 50-meter pool and a 25-meter pool, and is home to the Iowa State swimming and diving teams.

The meet will be televised on the Iowa State Network, and can be viewed on the network's website or on the network's channel on cable. The meet will also be streamed live on the network's website.

The meet will feature several events, including freestyle, backstroke, breaststroke, and butterfly. The meets will be held in the 25-meter pool, and each team will be allowed to enter a maximum of six swimmers in each event.

The meet will be a tough test for the Hawkeyes, as the Cyclones are a strong team and have several top athletes. However, the Hawkeyes will be looking to build on their success from last year and are confident in their ability to compete.

The meet will be a great opportunity for the Hawkeyes to showcase their talent and compete at a high level. It will be a great way to start off the conference meet, and the teams will be looking to set the tone early and carry it through to the end of the meet.
Sports

Washington, Dallas to meet in a classic NFL showdown

LESTER PIERCE INTERNATIONAL

NFL roundup

On the final weekend of regular season games, the Dallas Cowboys (11-2) and the Washington Redskins (10-3) will play in a classic NFC East showdown. Both teams are already assured of post-season berths.

WASHINGTON VS DALLAS is one of the last big games, but both of the rivals have been in Dallas during a 13-0 run of NFC East games in the last season. Because of that, the Cowboys, led by quarterback Dan Marino, have always gotten the best of the Redskins. The Cowboys have triumphed in each of their last three meetings, including a 27-20 victory earlier this season.

The Cowboys' defense has been improved in recent weeks, though, due to the return of pass rusher Charles Smith and the injury to Redskins' running back Timmy Smith. However, the Cowboys are still facing a challenge in stopping the Redskins' offensive line.

Big Ten field hockey honors for Davidson, five Hawkeyes Four members of the Iowa field hockey team were named to the Big Ten All-Tournament Team last Thursday at the Big Ten field hockey championships in Iowa City. The Hawkeyes finished second in the conference tournament, their best finish since 1992.

Four Hawkeyes were named to the all-tournament team. They are forward Judith Davidson, goalkeeper Dan Guido, midfielder Timmy Smith, and defender Mary Koboldt. The team also included the head coach, Larry St. John. Davidson was named to the first team, while Guido and Koboldt were named to the second team.

Sportsbriefs

In what has been a historic year for Iowa women's field hockey, the Hawkeyes have had a successful season. They finished second in the Big Ten and made it to the NCAA Tournament for the first time in school history.

The Hawkeyes scored 17 goals in their last 10 games, including a 3-0 shutout of Ohio State in the Big Ten tournament championship game. They also won the BIG Ten tournament, which qualified them for the NCAA Tournament.

The Hawkeyes are currently ranked 10th in the country and are looking to continue their success in the NCAA Tournament. They face a tough draw, but are confident in their ability to compete at a high level.

The University of Iowa Hawkeyes are looking to make history this season. They have been successful in both conference and non-conference games, setting up a strong foundation for their NCAA Tournament run.

Tennis Players Love Tennis Gifts!

Buy your tennis player a gift from THE RACQUET MAGAZINE at our new location

321 S. Gilbert 338-9401
(2 blocks south of Burlington St.)

UNIVERSITY

Black Action Theater proudly presents

A Fantasy in One Act
by Douglas Turner Warner to be performed in conjunction with Charles Smalls, jelly belly

Available at the University Pantry
Mon.-Fri.
December 12-16, 1983

unlisted number®
401 N. University
503-373-4081

prairie lights books

"Best books written hundreds of miles." 15. S. Dubuque 337-2681

maddie NO! Theatre
dec 31 and 31 at 8 pm admission $2

THEATRES

TONIGHT AT THE MILL NATHAN BELL & SUSAN SHORE

September 20th-

THE GREAT ENTERTAINMENT

at THE MILL RESTAURANT
120 East Burlington
NO COVER

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ACROSS
1. Stephen (2, 2) 10. A drift beater (4)
2. Alice (3) 11. A dancer's partner (5)
5. A dance (4) 14. A dancer's partner (6)
6. A dancer's partner (7) 15. A dancer's partner (6)
7. A dancer's partner (6) 16. A dancer's partner (4, 4)
8. A dancer's partner (4, 4) 17. A dancer's partner (6)

DOWNS
1. Basket (4) 2. A dancer's partner (6)
3. A dancer's partner (6) 4. A dancer's partner (5)
5. A dancer's partner (5) 6. A dancer's partner (7)
7. A dancer's partner (4, 4) 8. A dancer's partner (6)
9. A dancer's partner (6) 10. A dancer's partner (6)
17. A dancer's partner (6) 18. A dancer's partner (6)
Basketball

Iowa Hawkeyes vs. Oregon State Beavers

Baseball considering a jump to 32 teams

NAHEVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) -- Major league baseball is exploring the idea of expanding to 32 teams, possibly by the end of the decade.

At the joint major league meeting of club owners and officials Thursday, a resolution was adopted to form a long-range planning committee which would look into the feasibility of expanding to 32, 34 and 36 teams.

Serving on the committee will be Bud Selig of the California Angels, Peter O'Malley of the Los Angeles Dodgers, Andrew McNamara of the Chicago Cubs, Jerry Blattman of the Chicago White Sox, Charles Brown of the New York Yankees, and Charlie Finley of the Oakland Athletics.

The committee will be asked to study the baseball commissioner's recommendation and to make a report on the feasibility of the league expansion.

Kuhn said the owners were not committed to expanding their league, but they want to be ready to do so if the need arises.

"This is a constructive approach that has to be of interest to us," said Kuhn. "There's not a timetable on it. We will have periodic status reports."

Several cities not in the major league expansion group have representatives on the committee to study the feasibility of expanding to 32 teams.

The owners of the existing major league clubs are confident they will be accepted by any league that does expand to 32 teams, but they are not sure if the National League will do it.

"I was charting a path," Kuhn said. "I wouldn't say it would be expansion in the face of the decade."

In other business, Kalin said a proposal to inaugurate the World Series in the home parks of the American League clubs was withdrawn. It received unanimous support from the American League owners but was not approved by the National League owners.

The two leagues vote separately in matters involving league expansion.

"We are charting a plan," Kuhn said, "there was something to do from the two leagues.

If you expand, you are making a major league commitment to study the feasibility of the designated cities for the seven teams."

"We were charting the fact, I would say it was tentative.

Basketball

Iowa Hawkeyes vs. Oregon State Beavers

Head before the Iowa Hawkeyes come back to close the gap in a three-point game at halftime, Iowa came out of the break and had Coach Ralph Miller's team scrambling for the first five minutes.

Iowa was also forced to Oregon State's choice defense, with All-American forward Charlie Benetto and Darryl Eidehill several key players during those 15 minutes.

"We got a better performance than we expected," Miller said. "At first, we could have had a better performance against a very strong and talented basketball team." Oregon State All-American forward Charlie Benetto also saw a closer game.

"Each player in this week we have got a little stronger," he said. "We can't afford to give them any offensive rebounds, but mostly we need to take care of the basketball and try to play good defense.

The BEARS WERE without starters, C.C. Green and Darrell Flowers, and a key reserve, Tyrone Miller, who the NCAA has decided reasons for the delay.

"There are a lot of logistical problems here. All the members of the conference had to be there to talk about these things," Miller said. "And when we finally talk, it is more than a two-hour meeting.

In other words, the conference is very time consuming. The coaches themselves are very busy. Committee members have to fit in their schedules and it just takes time. And when one talks like this, it is a lot of discussion.

The Hawkeyes return to a second league meeting on Wednesday, and Miller will again be in conference.

Continued from page 6B

Baseball considering a jump to 32 teams

NAHEVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) -- Major league baseball is exploring the idea of expanding to 32 teams, possibly by the end of the decade.

At the joint major league meeting of club owners and officials Thursday, a resolution was adopted to form a long-range planning committee which would look into the feasibility of expanding to 32, 34 and 36 teams.

Serving on the committee will be Bud Selig of the California Angels, Peter O'Malley of the Los Angeles Dodgers, Andrew McNamara of the Chicago Cubs, Jerry Blattman of the Chicago White Sox, Charles Brown of the New York Yankees, and Charlie Finley of the Oakland Athletics.

The committee will be asked to study the baseball commissioner's recommendation and to make a report on the feasibility of the league expansion.

Kuhn said the owners were not committed to expanding their league, but they want to be ready to do so if the need arises.

"This is a constructive approach that has to be of interest to us," said Kuhn. "There's not a timetable on it. We will have periodic status reports."

Several cities not in the major league expansion group have representatives on the committee to study the feasibility of expanding to 32 teams.

The owners of the existing major league clubs are confident they will be accepted by any league that does expand to 32 teams, but they are not sure if the National League will do it.

"I was charting a path," Kuhn said. "I wouldn't say it would be expansion in the face of the decade."

In other business, Kalin said a proposal to inaugurate the World Series in the home parks of the American League clubs was withdrawn. It received unanimous support from the American League owners but was not approved by the National League owners.

The two leagues vote separately in matters involving league expansion.

"We are charting a plan," Kuhn said, "there was something to do from the two leagues.

If you expand, you are making a major league commitment to study the feasibility of the designated cities for the seven teams."

"We were charting the fact, I would say it was tentative.

Basketball

Iowa Hawkeyes vs. Oregon State Beavers

Head before the Iowa Hawkeyes come back to close the gap in a three-point game at halftime, Iowa came out of the break and had Coach Ralph Miller's team scrambling for the first five minutes.

Iowa was also forced to Oregon State's choice defense, with All-American forward Charlie Benetto and Darryl Eidehill several key players during those 15 minutes.

"We got a better performance than we expected," Miller said. "At first, we could have had a better performance against a very strong and talented basketball team." Oregon State All-American forward Charlie Benetto also saw a closer game.

"Each player in this week we have got a little stronger," he said. "We can't afford to give them any offensive rebounds, but mostly we need to take care of the basketball and try to play good defense.

The BEARS WERE without starters, C.C. Green and Darrell Flowers, and a key reserve, Tyrone Miller, who the NCAA has decided reasons for the delay.

"There are a lot of logistical problems here. All the members of the conference had to be there to talk about these things," Miller said. "And when we finally talk, it is more than a two-hour meeting.

In other words, the conference is very time consuming. The coaches themselves are very busy. Committee members have to fit in their schedules and it just takes time. And when one talks like this, it is a lot of discussion.

The Hawkeyes return to a second league meeting on Wednesday, and Miller will again be in conference.

Continued from page 6B

Baseball considering a jump to 32 teams

NAHEVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) -- Major league baseball is exploring the idea of expanding to 32 teams, possibly by the end of the decade.

At the joint major league meeting of club owners and officials Thursday, a resolution was adopted to form a long-range planning committee which would look into the feasibility of expanding to 32, 34 and 36 teams.

Serving on the committee will be Bud Selig of the California Angels, Peter O'Malley of the Los Angeles Dodgers, Andrew McNamara of the Chicago Cubs, Jerry Blattman of the Chicago White Sox, Charles Brown of the New York Yankees, and Charlie Finley of the Oakland Athletics.

The committee will be asked to study the baseball commissioner's recommendation and to make a report on the feasibility of the league expansion.

Kuhn said the owners were not committed to expanding their league, but they want to be ready to do so if the need arises.

"This is a constructive approach that has to be of interest to us," said Kuhn. "There's not a timetable on it. We will have periodic status reports."

Several cities not in the major league expansion group have representatives on the committee to study the feasibility of expanding to 32 teams.

The owners of the existing major league clubs are confident they will be accepted by any league that does expand to 32 teams, but they are not sure if the National League will do it.

"I was charting a path," Kuhn said. "I wouldn't say it would be expansion in the face of the decade."

In other business, Kalin said a proposal to inaugurate the World Series in the home parks of the American League clubs was withdrawn. It received unanimous support from the American League owners but was not approved by the National League owners.

The two leagues vote separately in matters involving league expansion.

"We are charting a plan," Kuhn said, "there was something to do from the two leagues.

If you expand, you are making a major league commitment to study the feasibility of the designated cities for the seven teams."

"We were charting the fact, I would say it was tentative.
Music

LaFosse (violin) and Paul Randall (cello) performed together at the Iowa Invitational Ball. Mrs. Breed and Todd were among an enthusiastic audience of about 300 who were present.

LaFosse's performance, which included the works of Beethoven, Bach, and Handel, was well-received. The audience was particularly impressed with the violinist's technique and the celloist's ability to match the violin's precision and expressiveness.

The pianist, Randall, was also praised for his technical proficiency and his ability to convey the emotional depth of the music. The performance concluded with an encore played by LaFosse, which received a standing ovation from the audience.

Troops expecting holiday tapes

PITTSBURGH (UPI) - ABC Pittsburgh's Christmas program on Sunday, Dec. 25, will include an excerpt from the movie "Home Alone," a popular Christmas-themed film. However, the station's holiday programming will not include any mention of the Somali conflict.

"The station was not able to secure any Somali-related content," station spokesperson said. "Our focus is on providing a festive and entertaining holiday program for our listeners."
Bijou bruised by economy, forced to raise film prices

By Craig Myrick in Des Moines

IT HAS BEEN A WEEK of panic for Iowa City film fans. At the Iowa Theatre, the only "in-" itive commercial downtown movie house with the power of Central State Bank and the Iowa tWomen to bring in major current art films for as little as $2.25, Iowa City was fast losing its image of being an Illinois monthly with a
ad for the Bijou.

Next, the Bijou, a non-profit organization which owns the Iowa Theatre, announced plans to run on Tuesdays through Thursdays in The Telegraph to be able to pay off the debt occasioned by the purchase of the theater in The Telegraph on Thursday and Saturday.

Third, the Jewel, currently running ads Tuesday
through Thursday in The Telegraph, announced plans to run on Tuesdays
through Thursdays in The Telegraph to be able to pay off the debt occasioned
by the purchase of the theater.

The Jewel, a non-profit organization which owns the Iowa Theatre, announced plans to run
as little as $2.25.

This week has been a week of panic for Iowa City film fans. At the Iowa Theatre, the only "in-itive commercial downtown movie house with the power of Central State Bank and the Iowa
Women to bring in major current art films for as little as $2.25, Iowa City was fast losing its image of being an Illinois monthly with a
ad for the Bijou.

Next, the Bijou, a non-profit organization which owns the Iowa Theatre, announced plans to run on Tuesdays through Thursdays in The Telegraph to be able to pay off the debt occasioned
by the purchase of the theater in The Telegraph on Thursday and Saturday.

Third, the Jewel, currently running ads Tuesday
through Thursday in The Telegraph, announced plans to run on Tuesdays
through Thursdays in The Telegraph to be able to pay off the debt occasioned
by the purchase of the theater.

The Jewel, a non-profit organization which owns the Iowa Theatre, announced plans to run
as little as $2.25.

This week has been a week of panic for Iowa City film fans. At the Iowa Theatre, the only "in-itive commercial downtown movie house with the power of Central State Bank and the Iowa
Women to bring in major current art films for as little as $2.25, Iowa City was fast losing its image of being an Illinois monthly with a
ad for the Bijou.

Next, the Bijou, a non-profit organization which owns the Iowa Theatre, announced plans to run on Tuesdays through Thursdays in The Telegraph to be able to pay off the debt occasioned
by the purchase of the theater in The Telegraph on Thursday and Saturday.

Third, the Jewel, currently running ads Tuesday
through Thursday in The Telegraph, announced plans to run on Tuesdays
through Thursdays in The Telegraph to be able to pay off the debt occasioned
by the purchase of the theater.

The Jewel, a non-profit organization which owns the Iowa Theatre, announced plans to run
as little as $2.25.
Nightlife
Avenue Music: The Inn of the Seventh Ray presents the local band Avenue Music. The band is known for its eclectic mix of genres, including rock, blues, and soul. The show is held inside the cozy venue, providing a intimate atmosphere for attendees. The event starts at 9 p.m., with no cover charge.

Dance
The Venue: This trendy and popular dance club features a variety of music genres, including electronic, house, and hip-hop. The venue is known for its energetic atmosphere and lively crowd. The event is held from 10 p.m. to 3 a.m., with a cover charge of $10 for non-members.

Health
Calmwood Health Center: This holistic health center offers a range of services, including acupuncture, massage, and nutrition counseling. They also offer Group Therapy sessions, providing a supportive environment for individuals to work on their mental health. The center is open Monday to Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., with no appointment required.

Sports
SUP Surf School: This surfing school offers lessons for beginners and experienced surfers alike. They provide equipment and instruction, allowing attendees to learn the sport in a safe and enjoyable manner. The school is open daily from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., with lessons available for all skill levels.

Limestone sculpture resurrects antiquity
By Kay Merrow
Editor's Note: This piece was published in The Daily Iowa.

Art
Limestone sculpture resurrects antiquity
S
Sculptor Hamrol's new work at the University of Iowa's Old Capitol Museum is a stunning example of his skill. The piece is a small limestone sculpture that he created for the museum.

The sculpture was commissioned by the museum's board of directors as part of its ongoing effort to showcase local artists. Hamrol's work was selected from among several proposals submitted by artists in the region.

The sculpture is a small limestone piece, measuring approximately 18 inches in height and 12 inches in width. It depicts a figure in a dynamic pose, with arms outstretched and legs bent at the knees. The form is abstract but recognizable as human.

Hamrol's technique is masterful, with each detail carefully sculpted in the rough texture of the limestone. The figure is set against a simple, neutral background, allowing the viewer to focus on the sculpture itself.

The museum is located at 1 University Plaza, Iowa City. It is open daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., with free admission. The sculpture can be seen in the second-floor gallery.
Too many sexist and unbearable videos spoil MTV's musical soup

By Craig Wysock
Staff Writer

I'VE BEEN MAKING a regular habit of turning on MTV only after an hour or two of watching the local news or the nightly movies with my friends and passing the time with a good book. It's a big world without the torture of some videos (the most recent of which were sexual and unbearable videos clowned from Michael Jackson). It can also enhance your sex life if you want to have sex it makes the music more interesting. Each week, the MTV video shows are given the chance to make up for lack of a cohesive whole. But that didn't stop my eyes from being occasionally cross any opera, even the most inept and plotless , what. They're the same people who love MTV's Downtown , itUtr pollee Ifter receiving' COWl of ItUtr partrldg., gold rlngl. She lOve. Michele, lhl' iI~ I'llgilgl'l11l'lll rill.!! . 1

Television

MTV is the visual equivalent of AM radio and the musical choices reflect this analogy — white (Michael Jackson doesn't count), rock and sexist. Music is the musical choice reflects this analogy — white (Michael Jackson doesn't count), rock and sexist. Then it's only MTV that provides them with something more than just another interlude between the moments when Jackson, has a hard time keeping his story in less than 15 minutes. Eleven Emmys presticize little more scenes reflect the idea that what could have been a one-tribute video turned into an all-encompassing 4-minute video making the music of the Black Sabbath more interesting than before. After this astonishing dominion, "Thriller" gives you the visual equivalent of AM radio for awhile, keeping its story in less than 15 minutes. Eleven Emmys presticize little more scenes reflect the idea that what could have been a one-tribute video turned into an all-encompassing 4-minute video making the music of the Black Sabbath more interesting than before. The short film format makes it feasible for a music video channel.
Close women's race expected

The balance of Ohio State and the inside strength of Indiana could go a long way in determining the 1984 Big Ten women's basketball championship. The two teams tied for the Big Ten championship last season and are expected to be as close again this year.

By Thomas W. Jargo... Page 3

Big Ten schedule

Follow Big Ten action with the 1984 Big Ten conference basketball schedule.

Page 3

A well-kept secret

The Purdue Boilermakers may well be the surprise team of the Big Ten this season. A couple of upsides have people wondering if the Boilermakers could be a contender for the Big Ten crown.

By Steve Batterston... Page 4

Illini fans ignore basketball

With all of the hype surrounding Illinois' appearance in the Rose Bowl, many people are forgetting about the Illini basketball team. That suits Coach Lou Henson just fine, he says his team won't be in top form until the Big Ten season begins.

By Greg Anderson... Page 4

Indiana might not be that bad

With the loss of four starters, one might expect the Indiana Hoosiers not to have the talent they had last season. But add Coach Bobby Knight's drive and the Hoosiers promise to be tough again.

By Robert Ryser... Page 6

A new Gopher era

Is there life after Randy Breuer? That's exactly what Minnesota Coach Jim Dutcher wants to know as the Golden Gophers will be entering the 1984 Big Ten season.

By Greg Anderson... Page 6

The double threat

Michael Payne and Greg Stokes, Iowa's "twin towers," aren't only two of the Big Ten's last players, they are the best of friends off the court as well.

By Jill Hokinson... Page 8

Who's No. 12?

Complete rosters of all 10 Big Ten teams.

Page 9

Coming of age

For the past few years, Michigan Coach Bill Frieder has had some of the best recruiting classes in the nation. This is the year he hopes the Wolverines will pan out.

By Greg Anderson... Page 10

Whew!

For the first time in the school's history, Northwestern qualified for a postseason basketball tournament last year; the NIT, and Coach Rich Fink is looking for a repeat performance.

By Steve Batterston... Page 10

Speed could spell Buckeye success

The quickness of the Ohio State basketball team could go a long way in determining the future of Coach Edon Miller's team.

By Robert Ryser... Page 12

Movin' on up

It might not be noticeable in the standings, but Coach Steve Yoder says the Wisconsin basketball program is improving, although he isn't saying the Badgers will be a contender for the Big Ten's top division.

By Robert Ryser... Page 12

Photo finish

Page 14

Michigan State

Hype may hurt Michigan State

By Steve Batterston Sports Editor

JUD HEATHCOTE says his Michigan State Spartans aren't the favorites in the Big Ten — he gives the nod to Iowa.

George Raveling says his Iowa Hawkeyes aren't the favorites for the Big Ten basketball title — he gives Michigan State as his choice.

Who's right?

Fans will get their first indication on Jan. 5, when the two teams open up the Big Ten season in East Lansing, Mich. The two clubs will also meet in the season finale at the Crisler-Hawkeye Arena before a national television audience.

Heathcote, the eighth-year Spartan coach, thinks his team is getting too much attention. "It may be that we're getting too much press recognition than we deserve," Heathcote said. "We'd like to sneak up on somebody but there's no way we'll be able to do that this year."

TINY ST. PETER'S, however, did the sneaking up, defeating Michigan State last week to leave some people wondering how tough the Spartans are.

Returning starting forward Ben Tower said he doesn't like the Spartans' pre-Big Ten season hype. "I don't know if we should be favored to win the Big Ten," he said. "We definitely have the talent to finish in the first division but don't know if we should be favored to win the country."

There are very few teams in the country that can boast of the talent Michigan State has. The Spartans return five starters from last year's late-season games and will be aided during the Big Ten season by Ken Johnson, the league's Newcomer of the Year as voted by media members at the Big Ten Basketball Press Day last month.

Johnson, a 6-foot-4 forward, transferred from Southern California where he averaged 10 points and nine rebounds per game as a freshman.

"KEN GIVES US a dimension we don't have without him," Heathcote said. "Ken has the opportunity to become an All-American, but in order to do so he has to become injured so he doesn't play. He's simply not going to be the superstar the media in our area has been building him up to be."

Tower agreed, saying, "It will be tough for Ken to live up to what everybody's been saying. He will live up to his expectations eventually. His physical presence on the floor is just enough."

Heathcote will say that he has one of the most talented backcourts in the nation. "We think with (Scott) Skiles and (Sam) Vincent we have as best an offensive backcourt as there is in the country," he said. "Defensively, they're only mediocre to average at best. Skiles definitely has a fat body and slow feet — just like his coach.""}

VINCENT LED THE team in scoring last season with a 16.9 points per game average and he was a second-team all-Big Ten selection. Skiles, who was named the league coaches' choice as Freshman of the Year last season, was third in scoring for Michigan State and first in assists.

At center, seven-footer Kevin Willis returns. The senior from Detroit led the Big Ten in rebounding and field goal percentage last season, hauling down 10.2 boards per game and shooting at a 60 percent clip in league play.

A trio of Spartan returnees bolster the Michigan State forward positions. Returning are starter Tex Ford along with Patrick Ford and Larry Pole, who split starting time last season. Heathcote labels Tower the team's top defensive player and Ford the Spartans' best offensive player.

"Put the two together and you have Larry Pole," Heathcote said.

The Spartan coach shys away from listing a favorite in the Big Ten race, saying that many teams could win the Big Ten because so many teams improve from year to year.

"Michigan State finished sixth in the conference last season and Tower said the team has one goal — to move into the first division. 'Everybody's willing to work hard to get there,' he said.

"Our Boilermaker team really came together in the last few weeks last year. We hope we can carry that over to this season."
The Women's Race

OSU, Hoosiers pre season picks

By Thomas W. Jargo
Assistant Sports Editor

IT WILL BE the balance of Ohio State against the inside strength of Indiana that decides the 1984 Big Ten women's basketball race.

Based on returning starters, talent and experience, Indiana and Ohio State, which tied for the Big Ten title a year ago, should once again battle for the conference championship this year.

Minnesota and Northwestern are dark horse contenders to dethrone last year's co-champs and remain definite first division squads.

Wisconsin, Illinois and Iowa each have possibilities of overtaking that final first division berth, while Michigan State, Michigan and Purdue are doing the best they can to meddle.

THE HOOSIERS, led by senior forwards Jack and Jackson and Rachelle Bostic, return three starters from last year's 11-1 team, which advanced to the second round of the postseason NCAA women's basketball tourney before being knocked off by Georgia.

The other returning starter for Indiana is sophomore guard Linda Cunningham. Senior guard Kim Land, a two-year starter who sat out last season because of a foot injury, returns to bolster an already strong Hoosier club.

The strength of the Hoosiers last year, and sure to be their strength again this year, is the strong inside play of Jackson and Bostic.

The 6-foot-1 Jackson is the Hoosiers' all-time leading scorer and rebounder with still one year to play. Last year, she was a finalist for the coveted Wade Trophy, which goes to the best women's collegiate basketball player in the country.

LAST SEASON, the first-team all-

Maryalyn Jackson

Big Ten performer led the league in rebounding, grabbing over 12 caroms a game, and was forth in the league in scoring, averaging 19.7 points a contest.

The 6-0 Bostic is a fine compliment for Jackson at forward, forming a devastating inside combination. Bostic was the teams second-leading scorer (13.2) and rebounder (7.6) last year.

Cunningham had an outstanding freshman campaign, being named the league's freshman of the year. She led the Hoosiers in assists last year with 132. Cunningham and Land, who was the Hoosiers' top assist player before her injury, should make for a quick and steady backcourt.

"Experience in key positions is definitely a strength for us," Indiana coach Maryalyn Jackson said.

“Another significant strength is depth, "WITH THE NEW players signed, we believe we've added real depth to our guard position. This will greatly strengthen our outside shooting."

Ohio State also returns three starters from a 22-5 team that did not receive a bid to postseason play despite tying Indiana for the league title.

The Buckeyes lost to Indiana in the final game of the regular season and were eventually overlooked by the NCAA selection committee.

But the Buckeyes, led by first-team all-Big Ten guard Yvette Angel, look to bounce back and take another shot at the league title and postseason play.

Also returning for Ohio State are junior forward Carla Chapman, a second-team all-Big Ten choice, and senior co-captain Kelly Robinson.

THE HALLMARK of the Buckeyes was their balance last year. No Buckeye player stood out in scoring or rebounding, as Ohio State utilized a balanced scoring attack and consistent outside shooting to down its opponents.

The 5-4 Angel led a balanced Buckeye attack last year in scoring (13.2), assists (112) and steals (42). Chapman added 13 points a game and three other players averaged over eight points a game for Ohio State.

As a team, the Buckeye shot a sparkling 49 percent from the field while allowing their opponents to hit on only 40 percent of their shots.

"My chief concern about our own team is that we stay healthy," Ohio State Coach Tara Van Derveer said.

"We have several people who have experienced knee problems and we need to avoid recurrences of those problems."

ALTHOUGH INDIANA and Ohio State are the prohibited favorites to win the Big Ten, neither Jeremiah or Van Derveer think their teams are shoo-ins for the title.

"Two teams will not determine the Big Ten championship," Van Derveer said.

"Look for more ups and this year and much improvement throughout the league."

"I don't believe any team should be counted out," Jeremiah said. "We feel every team we play on a given night is capable of beating us. Every team has to be ready on Friday and Sunday because, as we all know, one game could decide it all."

Minnesota, behind the strong inside play of 6-4 junior center Laura Coenen, and Northwestern, led by first-team all-Big Ten forward Anucha Brown, are two squads that could pose threats to the Hoosiers and Buckeyes.

COENE3, THE LEAGUE'S MVP last year as a sophomore, led the conference in scoring with a 24-point average.

But Minnesota's biggest problem this year will be replacing all-Big Ten selection Debbie Hunter at point guard, according to Coach Ellen Mober.

"What happens at the point guard position will be crucial," Mober said. However the other guard spot is secure with sharp-shooting Mary Dresen, who averaged over 11 points a game last year for the Gophers.

With no player over 6-4, Northwestern will utilize its quickness a lot this year, according to Coach Annette Lynch. "We want to force the action early and force steals," she said. "We'll press and run more than ever before."

It will be a rebuilding year for the Wisconsin Badgers, according to Coach Edina Qualis.

The Badgers sole returning starter is senior guard Janet Huff.

Iowa, led by junior center Kendra Gast and senior guard Michele Vos linen, returns four starters and are expected to be a darkhorse contender in the Big Ten race.

Iowa, under first-year coach Vivian Stringer, could pull a few surprises in the Big Ten.

The schedule for the Big Ten women's basketball season is as follows:

Schedule

1984 Big Ten men's basketball schedule

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Team 1</th>
<th>Team 2</th>
<th>Location</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>January 4</td>
<td>Iowa at Michigan</td>
<td>Michigan State</td>
<td>Michigan State</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>January 5</td>
<td>Northwestern at Michigan</td>
<td>Minnesota at Illinois</td>
<td>Purdue at Purdue</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>January 7</td>
<td>Indiana at Ohio State</td>
<td>Iowa at Michigan</td>
<td>Northwestern at Michigan</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>January 11</td>
<td>Illinois at Iowa</td>
<td>Indiana at Michigan</td>
<td>Michigan State at Purdue</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>January 12</td>
<td>Michigan at Minnesota</td>
<td>Michigan State at Wisconsin</td>
<td>Purdue at Ohio State</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>January 14</td>
<td>Michigan at Wisconsin</td>
<td>Purdue at Michigan</td>
<td>Illinois at Ohio State</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>January 15</td>
<td>Ohio State at Michigan</td>
<td>Purdue at Northwestern</td>
<td>Purdue at Minnesota</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Ohio State at Northwestern
Purdue at Michigan
Purdue at Illinois
Purdue at Minnesota
Purdue at Ohio State
Ohio State at Iowa
Michigan at Illinois
Michigan at Purdue
Michigan at Wisconsin
Minnesota at Ohio State
Minnesota at Purdue
Minnesota at Wisconsin
Ohio State at Minnesota
Illinois at Purdue
Iowa at Northwestern
Iowa at Michigan
Iowa at Wisconsin
Iowa at Northwestern
Purdue could surprise Big Ten

By Steve Batterson
Sports Editor

JUST WHEN you thought the Pur- due Boilermakers were going to roll over and play dead, Coach Gene Keady works a little magic and his team upset a pair of ranked opponents, Fresno State and Louisville.

It was almost presumed outside of West Lafayette, Ind., that the Boilermakers would not have any kind of success this season after center Russell Cross decided to forego his final year of eligibility and sign with the NBA's Golden State Warriors.

But early season upsets prove that the Boilermakers could indeed be the surprise team of the Big Ten this season.

Not even Keady himself was expecting the kind of early success Purdue would have.

"WHEN YOU LOSE a guy like Russell Cross your defensive inside post play will suffer," Keady said. "We're not sure that we can neutralize other people's centers.

"We can't have any injuries this year at all," Keady said. "It would be a long year for the Boilermakers. A lot of people will be underrating us, so other people's centers.

"Russell Cross your defensive inside post play will suffer," Keady said. "James Bullock has really improved over the last season's 21-9 record and will wear a cast for at least four to six weeks."

HENSON ADDED that "we also have a couple of other players out, I've never started a season with this many players out ... We invited five walk-ons, so we have someone to work out with. That's how bad it has been this fall.

"We're going to struggle in December, because you can't have two to five guys out and play well. We should be in good shape by January."

When you add the fact that Illinois also lost the services of second team All-American guard Derek Harper, who passed up his senior year to sign with the NBA's Dallas Mavericks, it is easy to see why Henson was apprehensive about his squad's early success.

"Harper helped us a lot," Henson said. "It always hurts to lose a guy like that."

WELCH, THOUGH, said the loss of last year's Illinois most valuable player would not be that significant, "people look at Illinois, and they say Derek Harper," the junior said. "He was a great part, but he wasn't the whole team ... It is a loss that can be made up.

"The Illini do appear to be deep as they return three starters from last year's 19-11 squad and Henson also said this team will have "flexibility" as up to nine players will see regular action in 1983-84.

Along with Welch, who was last season's Big Ten's three-point record and second-place finish in the Big Ten. CO-CAPTAIN CURT Clawson says his team's tour of Yugoslavia in May, "I feel very comfortable with our forwards," he said, "but we're compensating in this league and for people to pick us last really cuts us," Clawson said. "We'll be in there."

Purdue will be led this season by returners Ricky Hall and Clawson at guard and James Bullock and part-time starter Greg Eifert at the forward spots.

"Those four will give us some experience," Keady said. "James Bullock has really improved over the summer. He should be one of our best starters this season."

Hall and Clawson will be hard-pressed to perform or long-range bomber Steve Reid will earn a starting berth. Reid, who has been a thorn in the side of Iowa after hitting a three-pointer to give the Boilermakers a win over the Hawkeyes last season, may be the best long-range shooter in the Big Ten.

A LOT OF REID'S shots will only be worth two points this season after the Big Ten's three-point rule was not renewed this season.

While some teams, like Iowa, are looking to get the ball to their centers more, Keady wants his team to feed the ball to the Boilermaker forwards.

Injury bug hampers Fighting Illini

By Greg Anderson
Staff Writer

SUALLY TALK AROUND the Illi- nois campus at this time of year, is situated on the start of another basketball season for Coach Lou Henson and his Illini team.

But this year, discussions are different in the Champaign, Ill., area. With the success of Coach Mike White's Big Ten champion football team, the focus of attention on campus, and throughout the state, has switched from the basketball court to the Rose Bowl, where White's crew will be playing UCLA on Jan. 2.

Henson and his cagers, though, are not complaining about their lack of notoriety so far this season. "I don't blame them (the fans)," center George Montgomery said. "They've had to wait for 30 years and I'm happy for them."

ILLINOIS' NINTH-YEAR coach added that, "the people are not thinking about basketball right now, which is good for me, because we're not doing too well.

What Henson was referring to is the attack of injuries that has nixed his line-up this year. Two players expected to be starters, George 'Harper' and Anthony Welch, have had to sit out most of their preseason practices.

Altenberger has recovered from his problems, but for Welch, his wait will be much longer.

The 6-foot-6 forward, who had been hampered by a stress fracture, broke a bone in the same foot during Illinois' opening game in the Orange Crush Classic and will wear a cast for at least four to six weeks.

Henson added that "we also have a couple of other players out, I've never started a season with this many players out ... We invited five walk-ons, so we have someone to work out with. That's how bad it has been this fall.

"We're going to struggle in December, because you can't have two to five guys out and play well. We should be in good shape by January."

When you add the fact that Illinois also lost the services of second team All-American guard Derek Harper, who passed up his senior year to sign with the NBA's Dallas Mavericks, it is easy to see why Henson was apprehensive about his squad's early success.

"Harper helped us a lot," Henson said. "It always hurts to lose a guy like that."

WELCH, THOUGH, said the loss of last year's Illinois most valuable player will not be that significant, "people look at Illinois, and they say Derek Harper," the junior said. "He was a great part, but he wasn't the whole team ... It is a loss that can be made up.

"The Illini do appear to be deep as they return three starters from last year's 21-9 record and Henson also said this team will have "flexibility" as up to nine players will see regular action in 1983-84.

Along with Welch, who was last season's Big Ten's three-point record and second-place finish in the Big Ten. CO-CAPTAIN CURT Clawson says his team's tour of Yugoslavia in May, "I feel very comfortable with our forwards," he said, "but we're compensating in this league and for people to pick us last really cuts us," Clawson said. "We'll be in there."

Purdue will be led this season by returners Ricky Hall and Clawson at guard and James Bullock and part-time starter Greg Eifert at the forward spots.

"Those four will give us some experience," Keady said. "James Bullock has really improved over the summer. He should be one of our best starters this season."

Hall and Clawson will be hard-pressed to perform or long-range bomber Steve Reid will earn a starting berth. Reid, who has been a thorn in the side of Iowa after hitting a three-pointer to give the Boilermakers a win over the Hawkeyes last season, may be the best long-range shooter in the Big Ten.

A LOT OF REID'S shots will only be worth two points this season after the Big Ten's three-point rule was not renewed this season.

While some teams, like Iowa, are looking to get the ball to their centers more, Keady wants his team to feed the ball to the Boilermaker forwards.

In the Champaign, Ill., area, has switched from the basketball court to the Rose Bowl, where White's crew will be playing UCLA on Jan. 2.

Henson and his cagers, though, are not complaining about their lack of notoriety so far this season. "I don't blame them (the fans)," center George Montgomery said. "They've had to wait for 30 years and I'm happy for them."

ILLINOIS' NINTH-YEAR coach added that, "the people are not thinking about basketball right now, which is good for me, because we're not doing too well.

What Henson was referring to is the attack of injuries that has nixed his line-up this year. Two players expected to be starters, George 'Harper' and Anthony Welch, have had to sit out most of their preseason practices.

Altenberger has recovered from his problems, but for Welch, his wait will be much longer.

The 6-foot-6 forward, who had been hampered by a stress fracture, broke a bone in the same foot during Illinois' opening game in the Orange Crush Classic and will wear a cast for at least four to six weeks.

Henson added that "we also have a couple of other players out, I've never started a season with this many players out ... We invited five walk-ons, so we have someone to work out with. That's how bad it has been this fall.

"We're going to struggle in December, because you can't have two to five guys out and play well. We should be in good shape by January."

When you add the fact that Illinois also lost the services of second team All-American guard Derek Harper, who passed up his senior year to sign with the NBA's Dallas Mavericks, it is easy to see why Henson was apprehensive about his squad's early success.

"Harper helped us a lot," Henson said. "It always hurts to lose a guy like that."

WELCH, THOUGH, said the loss of last year's Illinois most valuable player will not be that significant, "people look at Illinois, and they say Derek Harper," the junior said. "He was a great part, but he wasn't the whole team ... It is a loss that can be made up.

"The Illini do appear to be deep as they return three starters from last year's 21-9 squad and Henson also said this team will have "flexibility" as up to nine players will see regular action in 1983-84.

Along with Welch, who was last season's Big Ten's three-point record and second-place finish in the Big Ten. CO-CAPTAIN CURT Clawson says his team's tour of Yugoslavia in May, "I feel very comfortable with our forwards," he said, "but we're compensating in this league and for people to pick us last really cuts us," Clawson said. "We'll be in there."

Purdue will be led this season by returners Ricky Hall and Clawson at guard and James Bullock and part-time starter Greg Eifert at the forward spots.

"Those four will give us some experience," Keady said. "James Bullock has really improved over the summer. He should be one of our best starters this season."

Hall and Clawson will be hard-pressed to perform or long-range bomber Steve Reid will earn a starting berth. Reid, who has been a thorn in the side of Iowa after hitting a three-pointer to give the Boilermakers a win over the Hawkeyes last season, may be the best long-range shooter in the Big Ten.

A LOT OF REID'S shots will only be worth two points this season after the Big Ten's three-point rule was not renewed this season.

While some teams, like Iowa, are looking to get the ball to their centers more, Keady wants his team to feed the ball to the Boilermaker forwards.

In the Champaign, Ill., area, has switched from the basketball court to the Rose Bowl, where White's crew will be playing UCLA on Jan. 2.

Henson and his cagers, though, are not complaining about their lack of notoriety so far this season. "I don't blame them (the fans)," center George Montgomery said. "They've had to wait for 30 years and I'm happy for them."

ILLINOIS' NINTH-YEAR coach added that, "the people are not thinking about basketball right now, which is good for me, because we're not doing too well.

What Henson was referring to is the attack of injuries that has nixed his line-up this year. Two players expected to be starters, George 'Harper' and Anthony Welch, have had to sit out most of their preseason practices.

Altenberger has recovered from his Good Luck Coach
Raveling and the Hawks!
Shop IMU Bookstore for full line of Hawkeye apparel, glassware, insignia items, etc.

IOWA MEMORIAL UNION bookstore

Kennedy's Meats

Center of Columbus &
Mason Streets in West Liberty

• Pig Roasts
• Completely Catered Cook-Outs
• Christmas Bundles (All sizes & prices)
For Anniversaries, Birthdays, Alumni Get-Togethers, Greek Events,
Political Caucuses, Tailgate Parties, etc.

Call 627-2966

Follow Hawkeye
sports year around!

Subscribe to
The Daily Iowan

Big Ten Preview — Iowa City, Iowa — Friday, December 9, 1983
Indiana

Knight in the dark about Hoosiers

By Robert Ryder
Staff Writer

UNITED STATES Olympic Basketball Coach Bobby Knight and his Indiana Hoosiers have rarely been counted out of the Big Ten race during preseason. In his 13 years at Indiana, Knight has never finished in the bottom division of the conference.

"I don't know a lot about this team myself," Knight said. "We have six kids on our team who haven't played in a college game (before the season started). I always say you need to play 10 games before anybody can tell what kind of a team you're going to have.

"This season, Indiana has been predicted to finish as low as seventh in the Big Ten by area writers.

ANYONE FAMILIAR with the program that Knight has built at Indiana, however, should not be surprised to see the Hoosiers listed as a heavy underdog, nearly upset No. 2 Kentucky in last weekend's eighth NCAA tournament. A victory over a five-year span.

"Big Ten by area writers.

"We had an unproven center last year. That elite group of players were also responsible for 114 victories over a five-year span, including three Big Ten titles, an NCAA championship and an NIT title.

WITTAM AND THOMAS are now in the NBA, no longer able to sink 20-foot jump shots; no longer able to muscle down offensive rebounds and no longer able to help run Knight's patented full-court press.

"Hello, (Knight) could lose all of his players from last year and (Indiana) still wouldn't finish a second division team," Michigan Coach Bill Frieder said.

"Knight hasn't quite lost everyone - in fact, it would be pretty difficult to overlook 7-foot-6 center Uwe Blab, Indiana's returning leading scorer.

"If Blab would've grown up in around here, he could be the best center in the country," Knight said. "But he doesn't have the backcourt others do.

"Blab grew up in Munich, and didn't transfer to the Effingham, Ill., until his junior year in high school. Knight said Blab has the raw materials essential to a Big Ten center - including size and physical strength, but he said that all the rest is a matter of overcoming by perhaps a less-talented but better adapted player.

"PHYSICAL TALENT CAN be neutralized by basketball skills," Knight said.

"Blab does have one advantage - Big Ten experience - which is more than most players on the Indiana squad can say.

"Bulk guard Winston Morgan, who started five games last season, averaged three points in 14 minutes a game last year. Sophomore guard Stew Robinson, the only other Hoosier to see significant playing time last season is Indiana's leading assist man.

THINGS HAVE CHANGED for Dutcher and his club, but the Gopher coach said that the switch has not been dull. "We will have a nook Minnesota this year. This has been exciting and challenging for our coaching staff.

"With the loss of a player like Breuer, who is second on Minnesota's all-time scoring list and was an all-Big Ten first team selection last year, one would

Jim Dutcher

Minnesota centers in on new-era

By Greg Anderson
Staff Writer

A NOTHER NEW ERA in Minnesota Golden Gopher basketball will begin with the start of the 1983-84 season. Gone from the Minnesota line-up will be the dominating center Coach Jim Dutcher's Gophers have been famous for since such stars as Mychal Thompson, Kevin McHale and Randy Breuer, all now in the NBA, have been playing their ball in Williams Arena.

"Dutcher said that things will definitely be different in Gopher country this season, "the big question is who we don't have back? What will life without Breuer in the middle be like?"" Dutcher said.

"All of my eight years at Minnesota our center has led the team in scoring and rebounding.

"KNIGHT said his winter line-up of young stars will need quite a bit of directing.

"In the Italian game, I had told (freshman forward, Marty) Simmons that I wanted us to pass four times before we took a shot," Knight said. "But we kept going down the court and shooting the ball after one or two passes.

"KNIGHT SAID HE pulled the anxious freshman over during the game and again explained his four-pass philosophy. The next time Simmons got the ball, he shot it, before four passes had been executed.

"That kid has the quickness to four I've seen," Knight said, shaking his head with a reflecting smile. "I remember I used to do that with Kitchell and (Scott) May and (Mike) Woodson ... Ted would get the first pass and shoot the ball in and I would shake my head and say, 'Yep, one ... four he did it.'"

"Big Ten coaches, familiar with Knight's coaching techniques know the only variable in the Indiana basketball program is the players year in and year out - the constant is Knight's proven winning philosophy.

"Minnesota is very, very tough," Purdue Coach Gene Keady said. "They've proved they can play with anybody in the country."

Jim Dutcher

But, the Golden Gopher coach added that he is confident Shasky will hold his own inside since the Herbie Williams, Kevin McHale and Joe Barry Carroll years.

But, the Golden Gopher coach added that he is confident Shasky will hold his own inside since the Herbie Williams, Kevin McHale and Joe Barry Carroll years.

"The ninth-year coach said that Petersen had this to say about the Gopher who will probably be the top pivot off the bench. "Vandy's got new starts. He knows he can play. He is big and rugged, and he's not afraid to nose it up with anyone."

The new-look Gophers, though, will not be emphasizing post play this season and the basketball will most likely be seen around the perimeter when Minnesota takes the court.

"Returning starting guards Tommy Davis and Marc Wilson, the Gophers' top returning scorers, will be expected to carry the offensive load for Dutcher's club this campaign."

Jim Dutcher

DAVIS, a 6-4 JUNIOR, was Minnesota's second leading scorer last year with a 12.8 average and Dutcher calls him "our most dependable outside shooter."

The ninth-year coach said that Wilson, only a sophomore, is "one of the top young point guards in the country."

The 6-1 guard averaged 10.5 points last year.

"With the results of the football team (1-10 record) we have a darn long pay-off list," Dutcher said. "A man came up to me the other day and said hey, you better beat those Hawkeyes. I said I didn't know if we could beat them by 51 points."

Jim Dutcher

"The new-look Gophers, though, will not be emphasizing post play this season and the basketball will most likely be seen around the perimeter when Minnesota takes the court.

"Returning starting guards Tommy Davis and Marc Wilson, the Gophers' top returning scorers, will be expected to carry the offensive load for Dutcher's club this campaign."

"DUTCHER said that at least one of these new corners, the most likely being Van- derene, will see a lot of action this season.

Knightsaid his winter line-up of young stars will need quite a bit of directing.

"In the Italian game, I had told (freshman forward, Marty) Simmons that I wanted us to pass four times before we took a shot," Knight said.

"But we kept going down the court and shooting the ball after one or two passes.

"KNIGHT SAID HE pulled the anxious freshman over during the game and again explained his four-pass philosophy. The next time Simmons got the ball, he shot it, before four passes had been executed.

"That kid has the quickness to four I've seen," Knight said, shaking his head with a reflecting smile. "I remember I used to do that with Kitchell and (Scott) May and (Mike) Woodson ... Ted would get the first pass and shoot the ball in and I would shake my head and say, 'Yep, one ... four he did it.'"

"Big Ten coaches, familiar with Knight's coaching techniques know the only variable in the Indiana basketball program is the players year in and year out - the constant is Knight's proven winning philosophy.

"Minnesota is very, very tough," Purdue Coach Gene Keady said. "They've proved they can play with anybody in the country."

"The ninth-year coach said that

"With the results of the football team (1-10 record) we have a darn long pay-off list," Dutcher said. "A man came up to me the other day and said hey, you better beat those Hawkeyes. I said I didn't know if we could beat them by 51 points."

Jim Dutcher

"The new-look Gophers, though, will not be emphasizing post play this season and the basketball will most likely be seen around the perimeter when Minnesota takes the court.

"Returning starting guards Tommy Davis and Marc Wilson, the Gophers' top returning scorers, will be expected to carry the offensive load for Dutcher's club this campaign."

"DAVIES, a 6-4 JUNIOR, was Minnesota's second leading scorer last year with a 12.8 average and Dutcher calls him "our most dependable outside shooter."

The ninth-year coach said that Wilson, only a sophomore, is "one of the top young point guards in the country."

The 6-1 guard averaged 10.5 points last year.

"With the results of the football team (1-10 record) we have a darn long pay-off list," Dutcher said. "A man came up to me the other day and said hey, you better beat those Hawkeyes. I said I didn't know if we could beat them by 51 points."

Jim Dutcher

"The new-look Gophers, though, will not be emphasizing post play this season and the basketball will most likely be seen around the perimeter when Minnesota takes the court.

"Returning starting guards Tommy Davis and Marc Wilson, the Gophers' top returning scorers, will be expected to carry the offensive load for Dutcher's club this campaign."

"DAVIES, a 6-4 JUNIOR, was Minnesota's second leading scorer last year with a 12.8 average and Dutcher calls him "our most dependable outside shooter."

The ninth-year coach said that Wilson, only a sophomore, is "one of the top young point guards in the country."

The 6-1 guard averaged 10.5 points last year.

"With the results of the football team (1-10 record) we have a darn long pay-off list," Dutcher said. "A man came up to me the other day and said hey, you better beat those Hawkeyes. I said I didn't know if we could beat them by 51 points."
Great Gift for Hawkeye Fans!

Save 50% on

A Gift Subscription to

The Iowa Sports Desk

Free Gift Card with Each Gift Subscription
Only $15.00 for 1 full year
24 Issues (Reg. $30), Phone 328-9610
"Iowa Sports Desk tells the whole story - and gets the facts straight" — Bobby Hansen of the Utah Jazz.

Send Name, address, zip and check or money order for $15.00 to:
ISD Subscription, P.O. Box 1303, Iowa City, IA 52244

CANTON HOUSE

A family style restaurant serving exquisite Chinese and American cuisine with fine wine.

Choose from over 20 Chinese entrees.

Try One of Our Delicious Dinners Featuring:

*SZECHWAN EGGPLANT - A Szechwan style dish with a delicate hot and spicy sauce.

*CHINESE STEAK KOW - Cubes of beef on a bed of egg tarbels.

*VEGETABLE DELIGHT - A colorful mixture of vegetables, skillfully sauteed.

ALL-YOU-CAN-EAT LUNCH BUFFET & SALAD BAR $3.95 M-F 11 a.m.-2 p.m.
Includes: two kinds of soup appetizers, six meat courses, tea and fortune cookie.

We do not use MSG in any of our dishes.

Lunch: Mon.-Fri. 11-2
Dinner: M-Th. 4-9; Fri. 4-10; Sat. 12-11; Sun. 11-9
713 South Riverdale 337-2521

Best Wishes to Coach Raveling and his 1983-'84
Iowa Hawkeyes!

MALCOLM
Jewelers

Presents

A Gift for the True Hawkeye

Pulsar Quartz
Men’s Iowa Hawkeye Watch
Yellow Gold Only $89

Before, during and after the Game...

...Good friends always get together at

Joe's PLACE

115 Iowa Avenue

IOWA STATE BANK
& TRUST COMPANY

Iowa City and Coralville 356-5800 Member FCIC
The "Twin Towers" of the Iowa Hawkeye basketball team provide some of the action against the Italian National team. Greg Stokes, left, leaps to block a shot. Stokes was named Most Valuable Player of the Amana-Hawkeye Classic. Michael Payne, right, moves the ball down court against the Italians.

By Jill Hokinson
Staff Writer

FOR MOST PLAYERS, once the basketball game is over, each player goes his own separate way off the court.

That is, of course, unless you are the "twin towers" on the Iowa basketball team.

Besides playing together for Iowa Coach George Raveling, forward Michael Payne and center Greg Stokes spend a lot of time together off the court, too. The two Iowa starters first met when they made their official visit to Iowa their senior year in high school. Since then, the two have become the "closest of friends" and roommates.

"If I ever had a closest friend, it would be Stokes," Payne said. "I back him in everything he does and he backs me in everything I do."

THE TWO PLAYERS probably have the closest relationship of any of the players on the Hawkeye basketball team, Stokes said. "It's fun working with Mike, and I enjoy playing basketball with him," the left-hander said.

That close relationship off the court is carried over into the games. The "twin towers" work well together on the court and try to help each other out during a game, Payne said. "We try to do the best job possible together," he said. "During a game we talk to each other where our men are and try to cover up for each other."

The Iowa starters even support each other when they are not playing a good game. "I really feel for Mike when he doesn't do well in a game," Stokes said.

ACCORIDNG TO Stokes, before each game, one of the "twin towers" will say to the other, "If you're not getting the shots, then I'll pass the ball to you."

Besides being the best of friends, Payne and Stokes are known across the country for their size and playing ability.

Stokes was Iowa's leading scorer last year and was selected second team all-Big Ten by United Press International and the Associated Press. Stokes also played on the Pan American team that won a gold medal this summer in Venezuela. Stokes' latest achievement was helping the Hawkeyes win the second Amana-Hawkeye Classic. En route to beating Oregon State for first place, he earned the tournament's most valuable player award for the second consecutive year.

PAYNE ALSO made the all-tournament team at the second annual Amana-Hawkeye Classic. Payne was Iowa's top rebounder for the second consecutive year and last year was named to the honorable mention all-Big Ten lists.

As a freshman, Payne started at center but switched to forward last year. Payne was also named to the first-team freshman All-American team two years ago.

With the two Hawkeye starters' reputations, teams playing Iowa know just what to expect when they see the 6-11 forward and the 6-10 center step onto the court.

"Iowa has two big, quick people (Payne and Stokes) in there, and not a lot of teams in the country have that," Baylor Coach Jim Hatter said after his Bears were beaten by the Hawkeyes in the Amana-Hawkeye Classic. "We knew we were going to have a tough time against Payne and Stokes and a tough time matching up to them."

OTHER TEAMS MAY look at the "twin towers" with awe, but Stokes and Payne will be the first ones to tell you that there is room for improvement.

"I'm comfortable with my play," Stokes said, "but I can do better. I want to improve on defense because defense is my weak area."

One of Stokes' goals is to get 14 rebounds a game. "Coach doesn't think I have it in me to get 14 rebounds, but I think I can do it," the junior said.

Unlike his teammate, Payne wants to improve his offensive play. "I think I'm more aggressive on both ends of the court now, and I pride myself on my defense," he said. "I want to be more positive on offense, and I want to hit the boards more."

The junior's goal is to average in double figures each game. "I want to contribute 15 points a game on offense," he said. "And I think I can even contribute on steal statistics with my quickness."

BOTH PLAYERS said they have accepted the coaching transition well and feel that Raveling has let them be freer in their play.

"I look forward to playing for Raveling," Stokes said. "And the payoff is everyone is happy."

Payne said Raveling has also changed things so that Payne has more fun while playing a game. "Coach gives us the feeling that we should go out there and have fun," he said. "Raveling stresses that nothing is that important that it controls you."

"From a realistic view, I want to go out there and have fun and then positive things will happen," Payne said. "I think we let the pressure get to us in the past."

As for the future, both Iowa standouts want to win the Big Ten title and help their Hawkeye team advance to the NCAA playoffs and make the Final Four.
Illinois
No. 22 Doug Allenberger, G, 6-4, 180, Soph.
No. 25 Bruce Douglas, G, 6-3, 175, Soph.
No. 31 Don Kleskendorf, F, 6-8, 210, Sr.
No. 34 Dee Maras, F, 6-7, 225, Jr.
No. 35 Scott Meents, C, 6-9, 230, Soph.
No. 23 George Montgomery, G, 6-6, 215, Jr.
No. 21 Quinn Richardson, G, 5-11, 175, Jr.
No. 11 Tom Schuler, F, 6-7, 205, Fr.
No. 44 Anthony Welch, F, 6-9, 180, Jr.
No. 24 Erem Winters, F, 6-6, 210, Jr.
No. 35 Reggie Woodward, G, 6-2, 190, Soph.
No. 10 Tony Wyssinger, G, 5-10, 150, Fr.

Indiana
No. 12 Steve Alfords, G, 6-2, 180, Fr.
No. 33 Dwee Blatt, C, 7-2, 255, Jr.
No. 29 Cee Carter, G, 6-7, 190, Fr.
No. 11 Dan Dakich, G, 6-5, 195, Jr.
No. 40 Tracy Foster, F, 6-4, 205, Soph.
No. 23 Chuck Franz, G, 6-4, 170, Sr.
No. 41 Mike Gomski, F, 6-5, 225, Soph.
No. 30 Todd Meier, F, 6-8, 210, Fr.
No. 21 Winstan Morgan, G-F, 6-5, 200, Jr.
No. 22 Swob Robinson, G, 6-1, 170, Soph.
No. 50 Marty Simmons, F, 6-5, 218, Fr.
No. 24 Daryl Thomas, G-F, 6-7, 210, Fr.
No. 52 Country Wittes, F, 6-4, 215, Jr.
No. 30 Robert UFFFFFFFFFFFFFFFFFFFFF

Michigan
No. 35 Jon Ander.Since, C, 7-2, 225, Sr.
No. 15 Robert Henderson, F, 6-8, 215, Soph.
No. 45 Paul Jaskis, F, 6-8, 230, Soph.
No. 11 Antoine Joubert, G-F, 6-5, 196, Fr.
No. 44 Tim McCormick, C, 6-11, 240, Sr.
No. 32 Dan Pelekoudas, G, 6-1, 175, Fr.
No. 40 Richard Refford, F, 6-4, 235, Soph.
No. 24 Leslie Rockymore, G, 6-3, 185, Jr.
No. 34 Ferar Rudey, G, 6-5, 185, Jr.
No. 42 Roy Tarpey C-F, 6-10, 195, Soph.
No. 30 Garde Thompson, G, 6-1, 170, Fr.
No. 25 Eric Turner, G, 6-7, 170, Jr.
No. 41 Quincy Turner, G, 6-9, 175, Fr.
No. 43 Butch Wade, F, 6-7, 230, So.

Minnesota
No. 32 Roland Brooks, F, 6-7, 189, Sr.
No. 54 Mike Carper, C, 7-2, 240, Fr.
No. 40 Dave Dahle, F, 6-5, 195, Soph.
No. 34 Tommy Davis, G, 6-4, 197, Jr.
No. 53 David Holmgren, G, 7-0, 188, Fr.
No. 14 Gerard Jackson, G, 6-4, 191, Fr.
No. 20 Jim Petersen, F, 6-10, 221, Jr.
No. 44 John Sheahan, C, 6-1, 216, Soph.
No. 11 Albozo Skanes, G, 6-2, 183, Soph.
No. 53 Kevin Smith, F, 6-7, 189, Fr.
No. 32 Per Tidstrom, G, 6-7, 174, Fr.
No. 45 Paul VanDenEnde, C, 7-0, 206, Fr.
No. 24 Marc Wilson, G, 6-1, 178, Soph.

Northwestern
No. 24 Art Aaron, G-F, 6-7, 175, Fr.
No. 22 Chris Berg, G-F, 6-6, 190, Fr.
No. 32 More Branch, F, 6-5, 186, Soph.
No. 4 Roy Dixon, G, 6-10, 180, Fr.
No. 32 Andre Goodie, F, 6-4, 210, Jr.
No. 35 Joe Flaumenau, G, 6-5, 184, Soph.
No. 14 Elliot Fullen, G, 6-1, 174, Fr.
No. 50 Dan Isenkovich, C, 6-10, 210, Fr.
No. 54 Colin Murray, C, 240, 7-0, 197, Jr.
No. 45 John Peterson, F, 6-4, 200, Fr.
No. 21 Brian Pitta, C, 210, 7-0, Soph.
No. 10 Clarence Richardson, G, 6-8, 170, G, Jr.
No. 23 Paul Schultz, F, 6-9, 217, So.
No. 12 John Stewart, G, 6-8, 225, Jr.
No. 20 Shawn Watts, G, 6-3, 170, Jr.

Ohio St.
No. 00 Tony Campbell, F, 6-7, 215, Sr.
No. 02 Joe Conchoch, F, 6-8, 210, Jr.
No. 41 Henry Grace, F, 6-4, 175, Soph.
No. 32 Dennis Hopson, G, 6-3, 205, Fr.
No. 12 Dave Jones, G, 6-2, 190, Jr.
No. 50 Alan Kurokawa, C, 6-4, 218, Soph.
No. 34 Clarence McAdie, F, 6-7, 215, Fr.
No. 12 Ron Stokes, G, 6-11, 185, Fr.
No. 14 Troy Taylor, G, 6-6, 175, Jr.
No. 43 Keith Wesson, C, 6-9, 230, Soph.
No. 10 Curtis Wilson, G, 6-1, 170, Fr.

Purdue
No. 30 Mark Atkinson, F, 6-7, 200, Jr.
No. 43 Kelby Bradley, F, 6-4, 190, Soph.
No. 15 James Bullock, F, 6-6, 220, Jr.
No. 33 Curt Clawson, G-F, 6-5, 185, Sr.
No. 45 Greg Gallet, F, 6-7, 230, Sr.
No. 12 Tim Fisher, G, 6-1, 178, Soph.
No. 11 Mack Gatto, G, 6-1, 170, Soph.
No. 44 Joe Gomski, C, 7-0, 245, Fr.
No. 21 Ricky Hall, G, 6-1, 180, Sr.
No. 24 Mark McCadden, G, 6-4, 200, Fr.
No. 20 Craig Perry, G, 6-2, 195, Soph.
No. 21 Steve Reid, C, 5-11, 170, Jr.
No. 32 Herb Robinson, G-F, 6-4, 205, Soph.
No. 41 Jim Rowinski, C-F, 6-8, 240, Sr.

Wisconsin
No. 30 Cory Blackwell, F, 6-6, 212, Jr.
No. 10 Mike Heineman, G, 6-3, 185, Fr.
No. 23 Jack Hippy, F, 6-7, 205, Jr.
No. 54 Jay Laszewski, F, 6-8, 190, Soph.
No. 20 David Miller, G, 6-4, 180, Soph.
No. 12 Rick Olson, G, 6-1, 165, Soph.
No. 52 Scott Ploidy, C, 6-10, 225, Fr.
No. 50 John Pless, C, 6-6, 220, Jr.
No. 42 Rod Ripley, F, 6-7, 175, Fr.
No. 32 Scott Roth, F, 6-7, 210, Jr.
No. 34 Jim Smith, F, 6-10, 170, Soph.
No. 44 Greg Steinhaus, G, 6-6, 185, Jr.
No. 40 J.J. Weber, F, 6-7, 215, Fr.
Michigan’s recruits come of age

By Greg Anderson
Staff Writer

For the past three or four seasons, Michigan basketball Coach Bill Frieder’s recruiting classes have ranked with the best in the nation, and 6-foot-11 power forward Tim McCormick said about time the Wolverines start putting it all together.

“This is the year to start turning things around,” McCormick said.

“Coach Frieder has had several good recruiting classes and this year will be the first time they are all his players. It’s about time we start winning for him. He has brought in the players.”

“Four?” McCormick said.

“It’s about time we start winning for ourselves.”

Northwestern’s leading rebounder last year at 6-4 a game and was third in scoring (12.8) for the Wolverines. Wade is an aggressive inside player who averaged 3.9 rebounds and 4.4 points last season as a freshman.

While Frieder said he knows his top four starters will be, it’s the other spot in the lineup, small forward, that is his greatest concern this year. “I believe we will not have a set line-up,” Frieder said.

“Michigan basketball fans are serious about us,” McCormick said.

“We have consistent players back, but they have played on teams that have finished in the second division. I don’t know if that’s good or bad. We need returners that have played on NCAA and conference championship teams.”

Returning starters bear ‘Cat burden

By Steve Batterson
Sports Editor

It seemed almost like one big sigh of a relief.

Northwestern basketball Coach Rich Falk stepped up to the microphone at the Big Ten Basketball Press Day recently and said, “It’s really great to be here as a coach who had a winning season.”

Not only did Falk direct the Wildcats to their first winning record since the 1969-70 season, he also reached them in their first postseason tournament berth in the school’s history, defeating Notre Dame before losing in the second round of the National Invitation Tournament to DePaul, 65-63, in a last second shot.

“I may be getting a bit greedy,” Falk said, “but we’d like to have the same success this season.”

If the Wildcats do have that success this season, they’ll be doing it in their own arena after the reopening of McGaw Memorial Hall, following extensive remodeling. Some $6.2 million was spent refurbishing the facility, including the addition of nearly 2,000 seats.

But facilities don’t make a team, and if the Wildcats are going to have any success this season, a lot of the burden will rely on the shoulders of returning starters Art Aaron and Andre Goode.

Northwestern lost three starters, including the school’s second all-time leading scorer, Jim Stack. Also gone from last year’s team are Michael Jenkins and Gaddis Rathsol.

But Falk warns that people shouldn’t take the Wildcats lightly, saying they may be ready to claw at opponents by the time the Big Ten season rolls around. “Our basketball team has a better nucleus returning than most people realize. Sure, we lost three seniors, but we don’t like to think we’re rebuilding — we’re still building.”

“We lost three starters to graduation and all three were great leaders,” Falk said. “With three positions open, we can’t rule out anybody for a possible starting role, including freshmen.”

Falk will use the non-conference schedule as a testing ground for several different starting line-ups and those line-ups could include several freshmen. “I haven’t been known to start freshmen, but we have two that could start for us right away.”

Aaron, who Falk calls one of the best athletes in the Big Ten, averaged 14.5 points per game last season and was an honorable mention all-Big Ten selection.

The senior from Chicago said he thinks Northwestern has the potential to be the top team in the Big Ten this season.

“They have the best talent in the conference,” said a coach at tourney time why our team was so good. He’ll be our starting center and he’s very capable. We’re confident he’ll get the job done.”

Schultz will be pushed by a pair of players who sat out most of last season with injuries, 7-0 Colin Murray and 6-10 junior Dan Ivanovich. Seven-footers Brian Pitts could also see some playing time this season.

Murray broke an ankle in the second game last season and was given a redshirt year.

Joining Goode at forward will be John Peterson, who played in 19 games last season.

Falk will be looking at Clarence Richardson and highly-touted freshman Shawn Watts at the point to go along with Aaron. “Richardson is our most experienced point guard, but Watts could be our starter. He is very similar to a Quinn Buckner-type player.”

Basketball isn’t just fun and games any more at Northwestern. “We now have fans who are serious about us,” Falk said. “I think the fans will appreciate the real achievements we’ve made. People want to come to the games and paint their faces purple and white and support the team.”
For A Dynamite Tan!

GATOR BOWL BOUND?
Get a head start on your tan —
Come In Now!
23 S. Dubuque
(between Meyer’s Barber Shop and Discount Records)
Phone 354-9590
Mon. & Sat. 9-6 Sun. 11-6
or by appointment.

Big Ten Preview — Iowa City, Iowa — Friday, December 9, 1983

Is the Iowa Fight Song Music to Your Ears??

Look at these exclusive Hawkeye melody items:

A. Hawkeye Hotline Telephone
In black & gold. No more nerve-jangling bell when your telephone rings. Now you can hear the Iowa Fight Song instead!
$89.95 UPS delivered

B. Hawkeye Ultra Tone Adaptor/Ringer
Attaches to your existing phone. Iowa Fight Song replaces the ring.
$34.95 UPS delivered

C. Iowa Fight Song Doorbell $37.95 UPS delivered

Send your check, Mastercard or Visa info to:
“Hawkeye” Progressive Promotions, P.O. Box 1234,
Bettendorf, IA 52722 or Phone 319-386-7373
Note: Due to the demand, we cannot guarantee Christmas delivery, however, these items are well worth the wait.

Super Spud
Food Shoppe, Old Capitol, upper level
All our foods are available for take-out
Call 354-0872

“The Baked Potato Specialists”
Try Our — Over 40 Different Toppings

HAWKEYE SPUD - Lean ground beef BBQ-style with green pepper & onions, topped with mozzarella & cheddar cheeses, & black olives. $2.99

FOR FINALS WEEK: Pick up ½ dozen Picnicburgers for only $1.98.
We have gift certificates available. Beer & Wine Happy Hour 4 to 8 pm.

Support the Hawkeyes in their Gator Bowl Bid!

Touch of India
JEWELRY
- Sterling Silver Gold 20-50% off
- Brass Guts from around the world $10-30% off
CLOTHES
- Ties, slacks, shirts, suits, sweaters, pants, hats, up to 50% off
Men’s Clothes AS LOW AS 5.99

GOOD LUCK HAWKS...
...for the ’83 - ’84
BASKETBALL SEASON!

DOE BEVERAGE CO., INC.
Ohio State

Buckeye speed key to success

By Robert Ryser
Staff Writer

IOWA COACH George Raveling told Midwest reporters about his apprehension in predicting the eventual 1984 Big Ten basketball champion at the annual basketball press conference last month.

"Every time I bump into Eldon (Miller, Ohio State coach), he’s got that smile on his face—that scares the hell out of me."

Senior Buckeye forward Tony Campbell had the same devilish and knowing smile on his face when asked about the Buckeyes' upcoming season. Campbell fielded questions in a modest manner, but later said he felt a sense of motivation with the fact that Ohio State was being overlooked for Big Ten title contention.

MILLER said he didn’t mind his team being overlooked either, because he knew he would break up and beat you the opposition. Indeed, the past two seasons, Ohio State has been in contention for the conference title going into the final week of Big Ten play.

Ohio State certainly won’t have any problems matching Big Ten opponents this year. The Buckeyes will have the quickest team in the conference this season with three-year starters Troy Taylor, Ron Stokes and Dave Jones.

"Ohio State has the quickest team in the Big Ten," Minnesota Coach Jim Dutcher said. "Quick teams get to the foul line and a quick team is a good team, so I like (OSU) this year."

"The last two years they’ve competed for the Big Ten championship," Dutcher said. "It’s not smart to pick (OSU) at this time of the year, but I am."

WISCONSIN writes Pick Michigan State and Iowa to battle for the 1984 conference title, and Miller said that is precisely why he is keeping a low profile, despite confidence of his squad’s eventual success this year.

"In fact, when asked how he looked at the Big Ten, Miller matter-of-factly replied, "I don’t. It’s a great league and history has showed us that you have to survive day by day."

Miller’s philosophy merits attention by virtue of the fact he has been selected Big Ten Coach of the Year each of the past two seasons.

It was a general coaches’ consensus at the conference that preseason predictions should be made on the basis of proven returning personnel. The only Ohio State position this year that hasn’t been filled by a proven player is center.

KEITH WESSON, a 6-foot-9 sophomore who averaged 1.9 points in 28 games last season, had to sit out of the first two games against Akron and Maryland due to NCAA restrictions.

Miller said Wesson participated in a recreation league late in November.

"It was a serious mistake he made, but I won’t dwell on it either—we don’t get into that junk," Miller said.

One mistake was made, and we’re paying for it."

Alan Kortokrax, also a 6-9 sophomore, played in 18 games last year, averaging less than a point each game.

"Alan is a very physical player to say the least," Miller said. "But he needs to be a lot more aggressive offensively."

Miller said Ohio State needs to keep both center candidates healthy in order for a successful season at that position.

"WE NEED THEM both," he said. "I won’t do the job.... both will foul and this way we’ll have 10 fouls to waste."

Last year, Miller and the Buckeyes didn’t have to worry about the important center position with the presence of Granville Waiters, who is currently playing in the NBA.

"I’ve had to miss a lot of good players in 21 years (of coaching)," Miller said. "We’re not going to try and replace him because I think it would be a terrible mistake—this team doesn’t know Granville Waiters and it will never know Granville Waiters."

The backbone of Miller’s squad lies in the strength of the Ohio State junior class, including Taylor, Stokes, Jones and sharp-shooting 6-4 forward Joe Concheck.

CAMPBELL, the lone senior on the Buckeye squad has the task of leading his team to a third-straight, 25-win season and a third consecutive NCAA tournament trip.

It would seem that a great deal of expectation is being placed on the All-American, who is a major candidate to improve over his performance last year when he was named to the first-team all-Big Ten squad as the conference’s sixth best scorer.

He won’t get any preseason hype from his coach.

"I wouldn’t do that to him," Miller said. "Reputation doesn’t mean anything because you always have another game to play."

"We expect great play from Tony for his team, and do that, he must excel in every phase of basketball—and we mean excel."

Campbell said it was his goal to improve in all areas of his game, attributing it to his desire to play professional basketball after graduation.

"Tony has a genuine love for the game of basketball," Miller said. "If his team was at the top of the Big Ten or at the bottom, it wouldn’t affect him a great deal because he has a great feeling for the game itself. It will always be there for him."

"A lot of people have a love for the rewards of basketball, and sometimes they never come."

Wisconsin

Basement Badgers look to step up

By Robert Ryser
Staff Writer

For SECOND-YEAR Wisconsin Coach Steve Yoder, the 1983-84 Big Ten season could be most frustrating.

Yoder and two of his premier returning players testified at the Nov. 29 Big Ten press conference that the Badger squad this year was going to have monumental success over last season’s 8-20 overall record. Yet, Yoder admitted the frustrating visible aspect is that they may not improve their position in this year’s final Big Ten standings.

It doesn’t make sense, you say? It does in the Big Ten.

"In order to finish in the top division of the Big Ten you have to be one of the top 20 basketball teams in the nation," Northwestern Coach Rich Falk said.

"YOU HAVE TO be a super team to finish first or second in the Big Ten," eighth-year Michigan State Coach Jud Heathcote said. "You have to be really good to finish third, fourth or fifth, and you have to be a good team to finish eighth or ninth."

Judging from Falk’s and Heathcote’s insight into the situation, Wisconsin’s direction should be determined—to be better than good. A ninth-place finish this year would be one step up for the Badgers who ended up last in the Big Ten in a year ago with a depressing 3-15 mark.

With the strength of the nationally-ranked teams in the Big Ten this year, that direction will be difficult but not impossible, according to 6-foot-4 junior Badger forward Cory Blackwell.

Blackwell, who was the team’s most valuable player last year, led the young Wisconsin squad in scoring and steals.

"WE ARE GOING to be a lot better than some people are predicting," Blackwell said. "We have a whole new look this year. We’re glad to see each other’s faces in practice—and we haven’t had that feeling before."

Some of those faces, which may appear young to opposing fans, have actually had as much Big Ten experience as some of the seniors and veterans of the conference.

The experienced junior and sophomore Badger classes have matured and molded into a tighter squad, according to players and Yoder.

"You may improve, but you might not finish better," Yoder said. "I guarantee we are an improving team."

The improvement is highly attributable to the improved all-around play of Blackwell, a third-team all-Big Ten selection last year as a sophomore.

"CORY HAS A sense for basketball," Yoder said. "He always wants the ball and he won’t take the easy way out to get it. Some guys will make a banana cut and won’t get open but Cory will make the sharp cut to get open."

"The biggest thing is he wants the ball in critical situations," Yoder said. "In some situations, the coach may want his big scorer to have the ball, but the player might not want it. Cory wants the ball every time."

Getting the ball to Blackwell will be a main responsibility for 6-2 junior guard Ricky Olson, who will be running a one-guard offense for the Badgers this season.

Olson started every game last year for the Badgers, averaging 11 points a game.

The question marks in the Wisconsin offensive and defensive attacks this season lie with the remaining six Badgers who will receive divided playing time, according to Yoder.

"We’re looking for the right chemistry on the floor," Yoder said. "Eight guys will be doing the majority of the playing."

One Wisconsin player admitted it may still take a few more seasons before Yoder and his Badger squad discover a winning substance—similar to the success Indiana, Iowa, Ohio State and Michigan State have concocted over the years.
GO HAWKS!

Beat Oregon State

...another “Hawkeye Hello” for Ralph Miller & the Beavers...

Serving Mexican and American Cuisine
Regular Weekly Specials

MON 9-11 PM
Pitcher of Drinks
Bar Liquor $3.60
50¢ Draws
$1.00 Bar Drinks

TUES 9-11 PM
WED 9-11 PM
THURS 9-11 PM
16 oz. Original Margaritas $1.25
75¢ Taco 'n'
75¢ Tequila

Double Bubble Happy Hour
4-6 pm Mon-Fri

OLD CAPITOL CENTER, UPPER LEVEL
11 AM-5 AM MON-SAT
12 AM-10 PM SUN

Hey Hawks, after you go for the hoop, go for the bucket.

Kentucky Fried Chicken

IOWA CITY
2310 Muscatine Avenue
(by Towncrest)
Ph: 351-6180

CORALVILLE
626 1st Avenue
Ph: 351-5028
Photo Finish

Daily Iowan photos/David Zalaznik
For all Hawkeye Basketball Games

Gabe's features 2 COLOR TV'S
Oasis features 4 COLOR TV'S plus BIG SCREEN
NOT A BAD SEAT IN THE HOUSE!
Always a FREE Keg after each Hawk Victory
DOUBLE BUBBLE DAILY 4:30-7

Seams Natural
TEXTILES AND NOTIONS
321 East Market 351-3776
Don't let yourself become "unraveled" when shopping for quality textiles and notions...
Shop Seams Natural.
Go Hawks! Keep Your Opponents All Stitched Up!
Hours: Mon. 9-9; Tues.-Fri. 9-9; Sat. 9-5:30

ANNOUNCING THE
$1.39
PIZZA

Get into the good of it with a mini-pizza and any one topping for ONLY $1.39!
Good all day Sunday.

GOLDEN CORRAL
Family Steak House
10-Minute Fast Friendly Service for Lunch

GOLDEN CORRAL means:
• IBP Choice USDA meats cut fresh daily
• 10 minute fast, friendly service
• Free drink refills-soft drinks, coffee and tea
• Golden Corral's Famous all-you-can-eat Salad Bar
• Choice of two soups daily

"Come See the Difference Quality Makes"

Larry Larson Partner/Manager
621 South Riverside 354-2991
GO HAWKS!

Bring out your best.

The best has a taste all its own.

A taste that's not easy to find. It's something you have to strive for. In everything you do. And when you've done it, when you've found the best in yourself, taste it in the beer you drink. Ask for Budweiser Light.

DALE LEE DISTRIBUTORS OF CEDAR RAPIDS
Distributors of Budweiser, Budweiser Light, Michelob, Michelob Light, Busch and Natural Light