King's dream celebrated by group

By Jeff Eichten New York

Local residents held a breakfast at the Iowa University Memorial Union to celebrate the birthday of the dreamer himself. The event featured a tribute to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., a discussion of his legacy, and a breakfast that reflected the spirit of his teachings.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday is observed on Jan. 15, but this year was delayed because of a Mississippi trial. The event was sponsored by the Iowa City chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP). The NAACP is a civil rights organization that was founded in 1909 to promote equal rights and opportunities for African Americans.

Dr. King's legacy was celebrated through various activities, including a speech by a local NAACP leader, a viewing of a documentary film about King's life, and a call to action for social justice. The event was attended by community members of all ages, including students, educators, and community leaders.

The celebration began with a moment of silence for Dr. King, followed by a prayer led by a local religious leader. Then, a speech was delivered by a local NAACP leader, who spoke about Dr. King's legacy and the importance of continuing his work.

The event also included an screening of a documentary film about Dr. King's life and work. The film highlighted his contributions to the civil rights movement, his speeches, and his struggle for equality.

After the film, there was a discussion about the relevance of Dr. King's teachings today. The discussion was facilitated by a local community leader, who encouraged participants to think about how they could apply Dr. King's teachings to their own lives.

The event concluded with a call to action for social justice. The leaders encouraged participants to be active in their communities and to work towards creating a more equitable and just society.

The event was a powerful reminder of Dr. King's legacy and the importance of continuing his work. It was an opportunity for community members to come together and to be inspired by Dr. King's teachings.

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Civil Rights Commission Chairman Clarence Pendleton said yesterday that the panel would investigate the possibility that white men are being disciplined and fined for violations of civil rights laws more than black men are, even though they were charged with the same offense.

"We do not consider the question of race in the employment of people," Pendleton said at a news conference.

U.S.-Israeli alliance to be discussed

WASHINGTON (UPI) - U.S. and Israeli officials plan meetings in Washington this week about the implementation of a new arms control treaty that will reduce the number of nuclear weapons.

In a statement, Secretary of State George Schultz said that the talks with Israeli officials will focus on the implementation of the treaty and the reduction of nuclear weapons.

"We have decided to proceed carefully," Schultz said. "We want both sides to contribute."

Kinks mix humor, pranks, rock

By Alan Wong

TUESDAY NIGHT at the Cedar Rapids Railyard Friday night, Ray Davies and the Kinks made sure that they were the most pukka modulation act in the house. Davies successfully captured the spirit of the Kinks as he described his band's arrival at the Railyard. "We drove from Austin, Texas, to Cedar Rapids, Iowa, in just over 12 hours. I think we were the only band to travel from Austin to Cedar Rapids in a sedan."

Davies kicked off the evening with his classic "Waterloo Sunset," which brought the crowd to their feet. "This is a great song," he said, "and it's always a crowd favorite." The next song, "The Hard Way," was a fan favorite as well, with Davies and the band playing it with great enthusiasm.

"This is a song that I wrote about my own experiences," Davies said. "I was always trying to get to the top, but I never quite made it."

Davies then turned the stage over to his bandmates, who played "Deduction" and "Long Way from Home." The crowd went wild as the band continued to perform classics such as "You Really Got Me" and "Lola.

"These songs have stood the test of time," Davies said. "They still resonate with fans around the world."

Davies ended the show with a rendition of "Dead End Street," which brought the crowd to their feet once again. "This is a song that I wrote about my experiences growing up in the suburbs," Davies said. "It's a song about the isolation and the boredom that come with living in a small town."

"I think that people can relate to this song," Davies continued. "It's a song that I still enjoy playing, and I hope that my fans enjoy it as well."

Davies thanked the crowd for their support and promised to return to Cedar Rapids soon. "I love playing in Iowa," he said. "It's a great state, and the fans are always great." With that, Davies and the Kinks took their leave of Cedar Rapids, leaving their fans with a night to remember.
'DI' cheers best of '83 TV; Smurfs get the worst of it

Another truth has bitten the dust and now we come to bury TV. It's not that we want to; we just can't resist any more. Though history did not return to Laurene Laura and spectacular "The Love Boat" and "Charlie's Angels" to be locked and loaded, "The Love Boat" remained remarkably strong.

The Turner network has been experiencing a lot of ups and downs as it moves into Pine Valley ("Dynasty") and "High Class," "B. F. Goodrich" ("The Smurfs") and "Plastic Panic" ("Mother, Baby, Father, Unknown Syndrome"). Bill Burges has the ability to make even the most perky things seem dull, with "The Love Boat" and the "Scouts" ("The Smurfs") and the most of the world ("The Day"), it is the best of both worlds.
