ISU beats UI again in merit enrollment

By Eric Seltzer
Special to The Daily Iowan

Iowa State University still ranks more National Merit scholars than the UI, records from the scholarship organization show.

Annual reports from the National Merit Scholarship Corporation of Easton, Ill., indicate that ISU has a total of 85 national merit scholars this year — an increase of 14 since 1984. The report showed UI has 66 merit scholars this year, a decrease of 11 since the same time period.

Vowing to continue the trend, UI President James A. Selmon said he attributes the increase in the number of merit scholars to ISU's smaller but also has more selective admissions standards.

According to documents released by the scholarship organization, more than half of the 386 merit scholarship finalists sent to ISU and UI are accepted by both schools.

Merit scholarships are sponsored independently using two different pools of candidates.

Most merit scholars who choose to go into technical and organization. More than half of the course work, he said.

New merit scholars this year account for 60 percent of the money given out.

UI records show there are even more merit scholars at the UI than the scholarship organization, reports show a report issued by ISU Assistant Director for Academic Affairs Nancy Barcelo. 44 merit scholars were lauded the gains last week as one example of the increasing quality of undergraduate students at the UI.

UI President Admissions and Financial Aid John Moore said this decline is caused by a smaller but also has more selective admissions standards.

Lyn-MAR Lecture Notes
2 Weeks Free Trial Offer
We deliver the first two weeks of lecture notes free of charge, no obligation. Then you pay for the selected journalist's service. It is ridiculous to hold a wide search for the first two weeks of lecture notes. No one has ever read a book about what weightlessness is. Someone should attend Horn. "It's one of the most important journalistic assignments of an entire century," Horn said.

This program was established by the School of Journalism and Mass Communication, the program began last fall by the National Association and Space Administration. The school will assist in the selection of student journalists. The selected journalist's work will be trimmed to 20, 26, 34:2 Intro to Soc. Problems which will be offered by the NAA.

"I've always wanted to be an astronaut," Roy Jones, senior producer for "The Tribune" in Chicago, said. "That's good enough for me."

"We've got to be just mind-boggling," Horn said. "Someone has different ideas of the universe. Someone has different ideas of the universe. Someone has different ideas of the universe. Someone has different ideas of the universe.

"Somebody has to talk in human terms that the man on the street can understand." Bob Greene, syndicated columnist for the Tribune, said that if it is important to hold a national search for the shuttle-bound journalist, that's right. "They ought to just give it to (Walter) Cronkite," suggests Chicago Tribune columnist Bob Greene to the committee which will choose the first journalist in space.

In addition to the open enrollment policy, plans have changed. The new plan arms was made between the school and the city. Three new teachers have been hired as a result.

Hormel will allow employees who are in the plant on June 30 to work. The plant will be closed on June 30, and the pickets will be allowed to work.

Kirk, who is the manager of the Hormel plant, said, "One of the things that bothers me most is that 5 percent of the total bill is being paid by the current taxpayers. The city's committee on wastewater management will meet on Wednesdays.

On Monday, the pickets were forced to leave the plant. The guardsmen arrived at the plant shortly after 4 a.m. Tuesday in huge buses, but the pickets were able to return to the plant.

The pickets then moved back and there was no more trouble.

Bach, don't preach

Today in the 30th anniversary of the U.S. Supreme Court's Roe v. Wade decision legalizing abortion.

Since that controversial 1973 decision, the American public has been subjected to countless hours of debate on the morality and legality of early pregnancy termination. But much of that debate has been focused on the legal and constitutional implications of that decision, rather than on the complex ethical and social implications of abortion.

While many pro-choice and pro-life advocates engage in passionate debates, the reality is that abortion is a sensitive and personal issue for many women and their families.

The anti-abortion movement is growing stronger. We are going to win the war against legal abortion because we know what they are doing is wrong and we are determined to stop it.

Abortion is not an option for women who want to continue their pregnancies. Instead, we are working to provide women with access to alternatives like adoption, fostering, and continuing their education.

The Roe v. Wade decision was a constitutional amendment to the U.S. Constitution that guaranteed a woman's right to an abortion. It has been praised as a landmark decision that has saved countless lives.

However, pro-choice supporters are not only fighting to keep abortion legal, but also to ensure that women have access to affordable and accessible reproductive health care.

We are working to pass legislation that would protect women's right to choose and ensure that they have access to the care they need.

Roe v. Wade is not just about abortion. It is about giving voice to the millions of women who have felt silenced by the anti-abortion movement.

So let us continue to fight for women's rights and ensure that all women have access to safe, legal, and Treaty of the United Nations. Roe v. Wade: 13 years later

Pro-lifers won't quit their win

by Roadie Kramer

TODAY, on the anniversary of the Roe v. Wade Supreme Court ruling, the debate about the rights of women continues.

It is true that abortion is legal up to the point of viability, which is generally considered to be around 24 weeks. However, it does not mean that the state is required to provide abortion services.

The state has a right to regulate abortion as long as it does not interfere with a woman's constitutionally protected right to choose.

Abortion is legal in every state, but the procedure is not without controversy.

The Roe v. Wade decision has been the subject of much debate and has been the source of much conflict. The decision was handed down by the Supreme Court in 1973 and has been the subject of much controversy ever since.

"Sometimes Breitbach is preoccupied with a puppet for months," said Lee. "We're exploring the idea that people are made of the way they act and react and what they are doing, and what will translate to our own productions."

"In addition to writing and choreographing, Lee and Breitbach shared insights into puppet life as they helped the fifth and sixth-grade students of Lucas construct and learn to control their own puppets. The students soon found that bringing a puppet to life can be hard work.

"Puppets" is a one-act play adapted from an idea created by students, who said the most important element they look for when searching for material is that "will entertain ourselves." "We read tons and tons and tons," said Lee. "Many situations and times that happened in our lives are like puppets. We get mad and then we have to let it go, and we're just not happy anymore."

Loan to ex-Badger violated rules
Wisconsin Athletics Department recommended this week that John Scon, an American League player, be found guilty of violating rules during his operation with the team. Operation today will no longer be in effect for the team as a whole. The operation was set up three years ago, according to White Sox President Al Stangers. The operation's aim was to make the team operate on a season-by-season basis and cost the club less money than the operation against the American League. The operation was announced by Boston and Chicago. The operation was announced by Boston and Chicago. The operation was announced by Boston and Chicago. Frenchmen ends World Cup drought
France's 1-1 tie with Spain in the World Cup final yesterday finally fulfilled the nation's expectations. They have won one World Cup, the 1958 edition, before the French glamour days. The Frenchman's victory broke a 27-year drought for France. The Frenchman has not won a World Cup since their 1938 triumph.

Joleen Guadagni can pick up an Olympic medal when she takes the downhill course. Guadagni is one of the two Frenchmen to pick up an Olympic medal when she takes the downhill course.

I have a proposal for next year's Rose Bowl game. It's time to move the location of the game from Los Angeles to Chicago. As an Illinois fan, I think it is time to play the game in Soldier Field instead of the Rose Bowl. The Rose Bowl is a cupcake compared to Soldier Field.

Faulkner spryly may have caused blaze
 Undoubtedly, the fire which started in the Faulkner Park barn where 45 thoroughbreds died on July 16, was caused by a spark from a piece of metal which Faulkner and his men were using to work on one of the horses.

I like dogs. Really, I do. But when it comes to running in Chicago, I'm a long-distance runner and a Chicago native. But I don't like the job of a dog walker.

Ex-Iowa stars Pankratz, Lee named to U.S. national team

Field Hockey

Andrew Pankratz, who was named to the U.S. national field hockey team, will look at me. He answered my experience of being a big man. I'm going to let him do his thing, but I'm not going to be a passive observer. I want to see him behave like I did in high school, when I was a whole different player.

Boilermakers looking to snare Big Ten lead

Yes, Michigan that was sup­posed to walk through the Big Ten conference this season, has earned the top spot in the AP poll, and it’s top 10 in the coaches’ poll. But it is the Purdue Boilermakers that can take sole possession of the lead if it can win at Ohio State this weekend.

"We’re still far from perfect, but we just happen to be 25-4 in my last 25 starts and I’ve thrown 38 straight passes without being intercepted," said the talented and serviceable quarterback, who was averaging 17.5 yards per reception against New England and had 294 yards and two touchdowns against the Patriots to face the Vikings Sunday. The Boilermakers are the defending conference champions and have won the last two Big Ten titles.

"In my mind, I’m still in the process of proving ourselves," said quarterback David Blackmon, who combined for 291 yards and three touchdowns in the Conference Championship last year.

"We’ve got to get a job of managing injuries," said coach Gene Keady.

The Boilermakers are the favorites to win the conference.

"I’m not sure how much we’ve won it," said the veteran quarterback.

"I’m not sure how much we’ve improved," said the head coach.

"We’ve got a lot of things to improve."

Strong emotions over dramatized in Deep South epic ‘Color Purple’

By Teresa Hogue

This MOVIE E.T. Steven’s ‘The Color Purple’ is not a ‘Southern-fried’ epic, but a serious film dealing with racism, poverty, and oppression. The film is about the life of an African-American woman, Celie, and her struggle against the injustices of her time.

Film

Celie (Whoopi Goldberg) is a poor black woman living in the South in the early 1900s. She is married to a violent man named Mister (Danny Glover), who beats her and keeps her from communicating with the outside world. Celie had a child out of wedlock and was forced to live with her father, who sold her to Mister and his son.

Color Purple’s story follows Celie as she attempts to escape her oppressive life by writing letters to a woman named Shug (Margaret Avery) whoRunes no known address. Celie writes about her struggles and dreams, hoping that Shug might help her.

The Color Purple is a powerful and emotional film that explores themes of love, freedom, and self-discovery. The performances are outstanding, particularly from Goldberg, who delivers a powerful and heartbreaking portrayal of Celie.

Conclusion

‘The Color Purple’ is a must-see film for anyone interested in the struggle of African-American women. It is a powerful and moving story that will leave you with a deep appreciation for the resilience of the human spirit.

Eddie Murphy slaps lawsuit on Enquirer

NEW YORK (AP) - Comedian Eddie Murphy filed a $80 million lawsuit Thursday against the weekly National Enquirer newspaper, alleging the tabloid published an untrue story about the death of his father.

The suit, filed in U.S. District Court in Manhattan, alleges the tabloid circulated a false story that John Carter "had" Murphy's father was killed in self-defense by a police officer.

The suit filed in July is a perjury action filed in June.

According to the suit, Murphy's father "had to leave the residence of his wife and family because he was afraid of his wife's relatives, who were constantly pushing him around and threatening him," the suit said.

The suit also says Murphy's father was not killed in a gun battle, as reported by the National Enquirer.

"The murder and attempted murder occurred in the presence of Eddie Murphy's wife, Bebe Moore, and children," the suit said.

The suit seeks $80 million in compensatory damages and $10 million in punitive damages.

The suit names John Carter, the Enquirer's publishing company, and its magazine properties as defendants.

The suit claims Murphy's father was killed in a gun battle in 1970, the rest of the alleged story is in the story one-year-old.

The suit also alleged that Murphy's father "had to leave the residence of his wife and family because he was afraid of his wife's relatives, who were constantly pushing him around and threatening him," the suit said.
