Students face off on Libya bombing

Tripoli, Libya (UPI) - More than 1,000 Libyan students faced off Tuesday with police in the capital, demanding the United States refrain from bombing the country.

The students were demanding the U.S. cease its bombings of Libya, which started last Thursday.

They were also demanding the U.S. apologize for its recent bombing of Tripoli and the Libyan capital, which they said was an act of aggression.

The U.S. has been bombing Libya for more than a week, claiming it was targeting Libyan leader Moammar Gadhafi and his supporters.

The students were also demanding the U.S. withdraw its forces from the region and end its military presence.

They said the U.S. should instead focus on helping the Libyan people and supporting their struggle for freedom.

The students also called for the international community to recognize Libya's right to self-determination.

The U.S. has been bombing Libya since April 14, following on the heels of a NATO-led coalition that launched a military campaign against Gadhafi.

The students said they were willing to continue their protests until their demands were met.

They also called for a sit-in outside the U.S. embassy in Tripoli, demanding the U.S. withdraw its forces from Libya.

Use of animals in Ul research argued

By Mary Beth Kaminski

The growing strength of animal rights groups serves to manhandle Ul research facilities, a major reason for opponents urging Ul officials to adopt a tougher stand on the sale of animals.

"One of the major differences on both sides," said Robert H. Hostetter, associate professor of political science, "is that animal rights activists believe that Ul research includes the use of research labs to conduct animal experiments that are supposed to be used in medical research, whereas opponents of Ul research believe the use of research labs to conduct animal experiments is not justified by the medical research."

Ms. Hostetter explained the three possible outcomes of Ul research: the use of research labs to conduct medical research, and the use of research labs to conduct animal experiments.

"The Ul research includes the use of research labs to conduct animal experiments that are supposed to be used in medical research, whereas opponents of Ul research believe the use of research labs to conduct animal experiments is not justified by the medical research," said Ms. Hostetter.

In its efforts to combat the use of research labs to conduct animal experiments, Ul has been successful in preventing state-imposed dogs and cats from being used in research facilities.

Crucial shuttle booster piece found

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) - Salvage crews found on Tuesday what they believe to be one of the most significant pieces of evidence in the Challenger explosion. The piece of booster debris was located by a submersible at the site of the accident. Photographs clearly showed the remains of the booster rocket, which included the crew's escape hatch, to be under water near the crash site.

The discovery was eagerly examined by NASA engineers and scientists, who hope it will provide key evidence in the investigation. It was also expected to provide valuable information for the future shuttle program.

Playful, strange, amusing ferrets become pet craze

By Dana Cohen

Mary Ann says she put ferrets on the map when she used to handle them like a lion... faithfully.

Mary Ann (not her real name) recently decided to put ferrets on the map when she used to handle them like a lion... faithfully.

Mary Ann, a resident of Iowa City, says she now sees ferrets as a form of entertainment for her 21-year-old's lap and uses a ferret for a domesticated form of the pet she used to enjoy looking like weasels, but now she enjoys a cat and a dog.

Mary Ann said the ferret is a fashionable pet, but it can have a very unpleasant odor. She added that ferrets have some drawbacks, but they provide a lot of amusement, "I'm not sure if I'll keep them, but I'm enjoying them now," she said.

Gov. Terry Branstad and his Legislative team of more than 330 members of the Iowa General Assembly, including federal taxes last year and their taxable income for last year, are about to make a decision on whether to remove glands that cannot all be removed, he said.

"I'm not sure if I'll keep them, but I'm enjoying them now," she said.

Offensive defense

One must listen carefully to Reagan administration officials and to the President himself to get an accurate message about the situation, for the President has issued often conflicting statements. His administration has steadfastly denied that all factors that seem to be of some violation so far as the American public is concerned. But confusion may very well be the government's intention. Unless there are some more clear statements the American public may decide to change its mind.
Protests continue urging Marcos' return

MANSALUA, Philippines (UPI) - Loyalists protesting a purge of officials allied with the president's family poured into Manila on Wednesday to retake the vast compound once home to Ferdinand E. Marcos, whom they had driven from power in February.

Around 1,500 Marcos loyalists and a third day of protests in the capital, Defense Minister Juan Ponce Enrile vowed that militant opposition to his new government and violent clashes that left one dead and 32 wounded Monday.

Enrile, aheader of the revolt that brought President Corazon Aquino to power, again expressed concern over the government's effort to oust KBL Mayor Joseph Estrada clashed with police when his replacement tried to enter the municipal hall. At least 18 police and 18 demonstrators were wounded, including one police who died Tuesday with a bullet wound in the head, the news agency said.

"The people have been made to understand the cost of violent acts that affect security of our citizens," Enrile said.

The meeting between the two police officials in less than a month is an indication of how important each government sees border problems that range from drug trafficking to illegal immigration.

The meeting was originally scheduled to occur in the Philippines last week, but tense relations last year between the two countries made the meeting impossible. The talks were postponed a day because of the visit of the U.S. Attorney General Edwin Meese to the Philippines.

The meeting was attended by Mexico's Interior Secretary, Jorge Ramirez, who also met with Enrile. Meese also met with the Philippine President.

Rain damps pro baseball action

Chicagos Cubs’ short stop Dawson reaches advance to second after being caught off base in the fifth. After Niekro, 1-0, struck out Piniella in the third, 7-18, in his last 22 innings, dating to May 9, and a solo shot in the third. Krivak hit two home runs in each double and relieved for his first save.

For the Astros, Young added three runs and a pitch 12 rows deep in the right field seats.

The Indians scored two runs in the seventh, 0-2, and a solo shot over the center field fence.

The Astros added three runs in the seventh. 0-2, to defeat the Angels.

Ticket policy hurts loyal fans

The recently announced baseball policy, intended to cut down on scalping and ticket inflation, has brought about a new policy that does not favor season ticket holders. For this season, instead of the traditional coffee and donuts, which in recent years have been provided by the Iowa Athletic Association, students will be served coffee and donuts. To further exacerbate the problem that does not favor season ticket holders, the Iowa Athletic Association has announced that students who are unable to take in a ticket to a ball game will be able to return their tickets to the ticket office to be resold.

Ticket manager Dan Milleca is not surprised by the student reaction. "It is a sad day," he said. "I am not saying that it is fair to the students. I am not saying that it is fair to the fans. I am just saying that it is a real problem."

"If a student is not able to make a game, they are going to be left out. They are going to be left out in the cold," Milleca said. "It is a real problem."

"The new policy is going to hurt the fans. It is going to hurt the students. It is going to hurt the ticket office. It is going to hurt the university."

"It is a real problem," Milleca said. "It is a real problem that we are going to have to deal with."

Little Richard, the original Elvis Presley, was picked as the starting pitcher for the Collin County RoughRiders, who play in the Class A Southern League. He was the only one of the players who attended the University of Oklahoma to make the starting rotation. The beagle is a wild animal, which is a true carnivore, and has no weapons. They have both left the team and the Indians in the last few years.

Adams in Care and Osmann, 30, also are in the same position. The price of failure in the league is still high.

Loyd returns alone, but with consistency

By Adam Reig
Staff Writer

RICHARD LLOYD is best known still as the lead singer of Television. That group, which played a formative role of punk popularly in the late 1970s, is currently back in the U.S. for the first time since the mid-1980s, along with each band member's current projects.

"I was flabbergasted," Lloyd said. "I thought it was a joke. I had a laugh at first." The 80s revival has brought a spate of tours for him, including a show at the University of Iowa Wednesday night.

"I'm not much of a guitarist," Lloyd said, "but I'm a terrific drummer. I used to drum in a band in London called the Palcoes with Gary Young." Young is now better known as the lead singer of the Pal ooze.

"I learned the drums from my father," Lloyd said. "He was a drummer in a big band in the 1930s and 40s."

"I began recording with Television in 1976," Lloyd said. "We recorded a few albums and split up in 1983. I've played with a lot of bands since then, including the Pal ooze.

"It's nice to see some of the old friends again," Lloyd said. "I've been working with some of the old band members on the reunion tour."

"I'm looking forward to seeing some of the old fans," Lloyd said. "They're the ones who keep us going."

NBC storms to finish, CBS a distant second

NEW YORK (UPI) - NBC's "30 Rock" was the highest rated prime-time NBC show for the week ending April 15, followed by "3rd Rock From the Sun" and "Family Guy". With its fourth consecutive week of number one ratings, "30 Rock" now leads NBC's four other top-rated shows, which are not in the top 10.

"We're really pleased with the success of "30 Rock"," NBC President Jeph Loeb said. "It's great to have a show that's doing so well."

"3rd Rock From the Sun" and "Family Guy" are both in the top 10, but "30 Rock" is way ahead of the rest.

"3rd Rock From the Sun" follows "30 Rock" in second place, followed by "Family Guy" in third place.

"30 Rock" will continue to air on NBC for the next 10 weeks, while "3rd Rock From the Sun" and "Family Guy" will air on other nights.

Reducing porn production considered by commission

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The attorney general Monday suggested wide-ranging recommendations to eliminate the production of most sexually related materials.

Attorney General Jesse White, calling for federal legislative action, said "too few" pornographers make porn actors available to participate in sexually explicit appearances.

Mr. White said the "national interest" is served by eliminating "obscene" materials and that federal action is needed to achieve this goal.

One recommendation being considered is: "To make a national" change, the attorney general's commission on Pornography should include a "schedule" of the "material" pornography that is being produced.

Mr. White said the schedule can be used to make"the viewers" aware of the "material" pornography that is being produced.

FAC gets serious about art

By Tate Faj

The University of Iowa is currently Rachel the first time this year that FAC, the Fine Art Council, has featured an exhibition that focuses serious on the arts.

The FAC exhibition features the work of eight members of Crichfield's own family, as well as her different generations of the family. The show highlights their contributions to the community. Developed by Crichfield, it has been recently reviewed on the cover of the New York Times Book Review, and has received rave reviews across the nation. The themes and techniques involved in art exhibitions are then made available to interested individuals.

This year the record of fluctuations about art is limited. Student Art Exhibitions, which have been a popular feature of the FAC, have been cancelled due to the lack of entries. This year up to 300 works of art were submitted for consideration, but only two were accepted for the New Days, Critchfield. The FAC itself, however, has been outlived by the quality of the work it has seen for this exhibition. The exhibition will include the work of both students and faculty, and is open to the public. An artist can submit slides of his or her works which the FAC shows on tape themes and dimensions of the works and biographical information on the artist. The themes and techniques involved in art exhibitions are then made available to interested individuals.
