College of Business may get new facility

By Phil Thomas

Students, faculty and staff in the University of Iowa Administration may build a new $4 million building before the end of the decade.

The new building would be built in the Old Capitol building, which is the second oldest building on the UI campus.

If all goes as planned, the building should be completed within three years, said John W. Bradley, acting director of the UI Administration.

A proposal for the construction of the building will go before the Board of Regents on Thursday.

Bradley said the new building would be needed because of the growth in the academic and business departments.

He said the current administration building is not large enough to accommodate the growing needs of the university.

Bradley said the new building would be located on the site of the Old Capitol building.

He said the new building would be a state-of-the-art facility and would be equipped with the latest technology.

Bradley said the new building would be a significant addition to the university's facilities.

He said the new building would be completed within three years.

Bradley said the new building would be a major improvement for the university.

UI official blames salaries for exodus

By Sharon Plank

I TUNES November 6, 1995

UI Vice President for Student Affairs Richard Remington put some of the blame for professors leaving the University last week on Friday. The report appeared in The Daily Iowan.

Remington's comments came after a press conference in response to the resignation of several professors from the UI's Family Housing.

"It happened during a time when the UI has dropped to the basement in the Big Ten in salary," says UI Vice President for Student Affairs Richard Remington. Remington's comments came after a press conference in response to the resignation of several professors from the UI's Family Housing.

Rather biased

The расс fucks up a common sense and even a common man has ended, and bitterness now to mention editorial writers: the view of the writer is the same as the view of the superpower debate in Berlin. But one important feature of the Byrnes keynote — one that has been overlooked or discredited — is the network news coverage of the event. It was, in the words of one newspaper, "one of the closest of the 1980s, the first time since the first postwar split between the two nations over the issue of Berlin.'"

CBS anchorwoman Dan Rather spent a good four minutes expressing his own inability to write news that the U.S. edition is not edited by the network's foreign bureaus. Rather filled in on the "off-the-record" phenomenon. The network's coverage of the event was, in the words of another newspaper, "one of the closest of the 1980s, the first time since the first postwar split between the two nations over the issue of Berlin.'"

The rationale for the furore of Berlin is not limited to elected officials. Rather filled in on the off-the-record phenomenon. The network's coverage of the event was, in the words of another newspaper, "one of the closest of the 1980s, the first time since the first postwar split between the two nations over the issue of Berlin.'"

NEW LATIN AMERICAN CINEMA IN IOWA II
WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1986

HISTORY OF THE NEW LATIN AMERICAN CINEMA

The New Latin American Cinema (NLAC) opened in New York in 1978 with the goal of presenting a wide range of films from Latin America to a diverse audience. The cinema played a significant role in introducing Latin American cinema to the broader film community and in fostering a dialogue about cultural diversity and social issues. The NLAC sought to present films that reflected the rich cultural heritage of Latin America and its diaspora, aiming to challenge stereotypes and promote understanding.

The NLAC was founded by a group of visionaries, including intellectuals, artists, and activists, who recognized the importance of presenting Latin American cinema to a wider audience. The cinema's programming was diverse, ranging from classic works to contemporary films, and it often featured works by emerging directors.

The NLAC's success inspired the creation of similar institutions around the world, and it helped to establish Latin American cinema as a significant and dynamic cultural force. Today, the NLAC continues to be a vital hub for the Latin American film community, hosting screenings, workshops, and discussions that engage audiences in meaningful conversations about cinema and culture.
NEWTON TOWN--Lawmakers blame today's summit fritz on SDI

WASHINGTON, D.C.-Lawmakers from both parties blamed the Strategic Defense Initiative (SDI) for blocking today's summit meeting and perhaps sending their relations with the Soviet Union to even lower depths.

"We strongly opposed the SDI and are appalled by its impact on international relations," said House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. as he addressed a meeting of the House Rules Committee.

"The SDI has become a major obstacle to progress in the arms control negotiations," said Senator Nancy L. Kassebaum (R-KS).

"It is a matter of national security," said Senator Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass.).

"The SDI is a threat to world peace," said Senator Daniel P. Moynihan (D-N.Y.).

"We are appalled by the SDI and its impact on international relations," said Senator John Glenn (D-Ohio).

Snowy weather slows transit systems

By Carole M. Verone

The unexpected snowfall and cold weather Monday resulted in an increase of people riding city buses and city transit workers said.

"The combined factors—more people riding buses with higher speeds which add to bus travel as much as 40 minutes or more and transit workers warned that people should expect slower service and that routes may be altered but that is at least better than when I took it over,"Puller said.

"I told them in the evening about the weather on Monday wasn't all that bad. We were outside of Sleater waiting for a bus for 20 minutes," Puller said.

"It's almost an automatic instinct for bus drivers to be extra fast," Puller said. "The precipitation on the roads brings up the oil and drivers have a difficult time, they have to watch out," he said.

Stevenson's Snowball Festival said. I'm not used to this kind of weather yet, at least not like this.

But not all buses were late, "I haven't had any trouble with the Coralville Transit System," said Coralville Transit System Manager Sue Suppel.

I'm not sure what happened, and I'm not sure what I could do to make it better. I just know that I have to keep working hard and not give up. I hope that I can get back to my normal self soon.

Hang out

I'm just hanging out with some friends and enjoying the day. We're playing some games and having a good time. We're all looking forward to the next week and seeing what we can do to improve.

Wolverines vow to get even in crucial Hawkeye matchup

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI)— "The game over Michigan in 1983 made Saturday's contest a must-win game for the Michigan State University football team because a victory would ensure the Wolverines' first ever Big Ten championship," Michigan Coach Bo Schembechler said Monday. Both teams enter Saturday night's game with identical 7-3 records. "We're going to try and get a little bit of revenge for 1983," Schembechler said.

"That's the last time we've won," Michigan Coach Bo Schembechler says of Iowa's 12-10 win in 1985. "We're going to put everything into this game. Everyone will feel the same way."

Auburn is the leader in the nation's second-leading offense, Oklahoma is tied for the nation's second-leading defense and ranks first in the nation's two top punters in Iowa's Jim Harbaugh, the nation's third-rated passer and Testaverde of Miami, who has 582 points.

Michigan is the nation's second-leading defense and ranks first in the nation's three top rushers. Michigan's defense has allowed 8.8 points per game, while allowing 6.8 points per game.

The HAWKEYE offense has scored 42 points per game, ranking in the nation's three top offenses. Michigan is the nation's two top defense and ranks first in the nation's four top defense.

"We're not going to stand around and hope to be ready. We will be ready," Schembechler said.

"We're going to win this game. We've got to win this game because we have to get ready."

Bears among those contending for rights to USFL's Doug Flutie

LAKES FOREST, ILL. — The Chicago Bears, Buffalo Bills, New England Patriots and several other clubs are afraid to speak their minds on the rights to USFL quarterback Doug Flutie before the Tuesday deadline. The owners will meet in Chicago Thursday and Monday and a miniature Superbowl Sunday.

"I like him. He's a winner," Chicago Bears Coach Mike Ditka said Monday. He and his agent decide to do it. Ditka also said he wouldn't be surprised if there was a guy who doesn't practice all week and then comes up and is a 33 in Chicago's sixth straight win. Ditka's injury-plagued career has anything to do with Chicago's problems. "That's not a concern," Ditka said.

"What a story," one irate NFL observer said Tuesday. Ditka said he wouldn't be surprised if there was a guy who doesn't practice all week and then comes up and is a three-time All-Pro, two-time MVP and quarterback for the team that drafted him.

Ditka is president and a majority owner of the Chicago Bears, who have the rights to Flutie. Ditka said he wouldn't surprise if there was a guy who doesn't practice all week and then comes up and is a three-time All-Pro, two-time MVP and quarterback for the team that drafted him.

The music is almost as persistently upbeat as the story. The music of the Horoughly Modern Millie score is jazz, hot, and electric. While the show is not without its moments of emotional depth, the overall tone is light-hearted and enjoyable.

NO PROBLEM: But he has his counters ready. Mme. remains a happy housewife, but admits that her musical career is changing. With the help of her son-in-law, Mr. Mme. learns to enjoy the rhythm that takes shape. She even decides to take dance lessons and enjoys them, much to the delight of her husband. This is indeed a happy ending with something for everyone. The music is catchy and fun, the dancing is light-hearted, and the overall tone is enjoyable.
