Safe sex wins out in satire on AIDS
by Phoebe Stet

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The laughter, the screams, the Cowardly Lion, the Slenderman, the Woodsy Owl and pamphlets on safe sex and pamphlets on AIDS. "The Wizard of Oz," for the US Gay and Lesbian American...
Metro

By Scott Heiser

The United States Postal Service, which provides students with instructions, has still accepted normal mail at the UI. The new method of delivery will be in effect on April 15, 1987.

The new method of delivery will be implemented in a phased approach, starting with the UI's College of Engineering, followed by the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, and finally the College of Medicine. The new method of delivery will be implemented on a departmental basis, allowing for flexibility in the transition.

The new method of delivery will involve the use of automated postal systems, which will allow for more efficient and timely delivery of mail. This will result in a reduction of costs and an increase in the reliability of mail delivery.

The new method of delivery will also allow for the implementation of new technologies, such as electronic mail, which will improve communication and efficiency.

The new method of delivery will be a significant step forward in the modernization of the University's postal system. It will improve the quality of service and allow for greater efficiency and effectiveness in the delivery of mail.
Farmers find aid at Kirkwood

By Kathleen O'Malley

A farm program at an Iowa college aims to help good farmers who are having a bad time. "Two major themes of our program are how to make ends meet and how to diversify," said Kirkwood College Dean of Agriculture and Technology Ed Meggio.

Farmers are being forced to diversify their land. "Instead of just growing corn, we are looking for alternative crops and industries," said Kirkwood executive John Halder. "Farmers don't break on places looking for help," Halder said. "Farmers are generally slow to change because of theirenvironment and tradition."

Halder said that after the need for more diversification among local farmers, the three-hour counseling workshop begins. Strategies in marketing, production, cost reduction and cost containment are explained. In addition, the program tries to make participants as interested as possible for the farmer, according to John Halder, outreach coordinator.

The program's success is the result of Kirkwood's outreach program, which sends instructors to local sources and community centers around the alternative farm plan. In the past, such programs have been helpful in providing education and outreach to farmers.

The Iowa City Council voted, 2-1, to adopt a resolution that would allow $60,000 of city funds to help finance the construction of the Heinz Road Boulevard project. The city has applied for and is expected to receive funds from the Iowa Department of Transportation. The city hopes to receive $40,000, or 80 percent, of the cost of the road, which is estimated at $50,000.

The city's application for the funds is based on the fact that the Heinz Road project is located in Iowa's east side to the city's west side.

The city's application for the funds was presented to the Iowa City council, which voted to approve the funding. The council voted 2-1 to approve the funding. The $50,000 is expected to be used to pay for the project.
City schools open discussion on AIDS

By Anne Keefe
Freelance Writer

Sex education in public schools has gained momentum under the recommendation of U.S. Surgeon General C. Everett Koop, some public schools, including schools in the Iowa City Community School District, are teaching students about AIDS. Gehrke teaches about AIDS in the classroom, which is part of her science curriculum. "Teaching about AIDS should be included in the elementary school curriculum and at home so that children can grow up with the necessary information to protect themselves from the AIDS virus," the report states. The surgeon general's advice is killing some in the Iowa City Community School District, where students are being taught information about the disease. Gehrke says she doesn't think everybody in our class is convinced of the dangers of AIDS. "I'm general. I think the public is in some supportive of sex education than they ever have been," she said. Currently, sex education in Iowa City schools is taught in the ninth and tenth grades, but AIDS is emphasized. "I think you have to be very, very careful about teaching kids (in elementary schools) about irreversible diseases," Huber said, adding that teachers, however, try to answer questions students in those grades have about AIDS.

Information about AIDS is included in the health curriculum at city high schools, where "thorough and frank discussion on AIDS were" Huber said. Teachers about AIDS can be difficult because the disease is so new, said Judy Gehrke, who teaches seventh graders at Jefferson High School. "I think the students on the disease, Gehrke said, adding that teachers, however, try to answer questions students in those grades have about AIDS. Information about AIDS is included in the health curriculum at city high schools, where "thorough and frank discussion on AIDS were" Huber said. Teachers about AIDS can be difficult because the disease is so new, said Judy Gehrke, who teaches seventh graders at Jefferson High School. "I think the students on the disease, Gehrke said, adding that teachers, however, try to answer questions students in those grades have about AIDS.

TEACHING AIDS to students at the high school is difficult because the disease is so new, said Judy Gehrke, who teaches seventh graders at Jefferson High School. "I think the students on the disease, Gehrke said, adding that teachers, however, try to answer questions students in those grades have about AIDS.

MEN'S AND LADIES' DRESS WATCHES
SAVE UP TO 30% OFF REGULAR PRICES

MEN'S & LADIES' SOLID GOLD RINGS
30% 10% OFF

MEN'S & LADIES' FRAGRANCES
in restaurant
15% OFF

VALENTINE BASKETS - Fashion Accents
Old Capitol Center & Ground Floor near AWA
201 E. Clinton
Iowa City, Iowa
(319) 354-1488

SATURDAY NIGHT'S BALLOONS

$26

Includes the world's oldest balloon "Montgolfier" balloon, a Cap'n Kite, and a bottle of champagne.

Have a Special Occasion? Remember with pictures!

$1.99

15 exp. $2.99
24 exp. $3.99
36 exp. $5.99

Order before May 31, 1987

PHOTO WORLD

334-7222

SALE DETAILS

20% off all 1987 gift items to 30% savings.

MEN'S AND LADIES' DRESS WATCHES
SAVE UP TO 30% OFF REGULAR PRICES

MEN'S & LADIES' FRAGRANCES
in restaurant
15% OFF

VALENTINE BASKETS - Fashion Accents
Old Capitol Center & Ground Floor near AWA
201 E. Clinton
Iowa City, Iowa
(319) 354-1488

SATURDAY NIGHT'S BALLOONS

$26

Includes the world's oldest balloon "Montgolfier" balloon, a Cap'n Kite, and a bottle of champagne.

Have a Special Occasion? Remember with pictures!

$1.99

15 exp. $2.99
24 exp. $3.99
36 exp. $5.99

Order before May 31, 1987

PHOTO WORLD

334-7222
Iowa Paga SA - creates

CONGRATULATIONS

GRADUATES

FROM

OLD CAPITOL CENTER

May 15, 16 & 17th
Spin Our Wheel
of Savings for 20%-30%
40% off

Free Lottery Tickets
Free Prizes

Congratulations Graduates

Save 20% off all Picture Frames

And Musicals

Find The Perfect Gift
For Your Graduate
at

Gifted

Expoire May 17, 1987

Downtown Iowa City
214-338-4122

Buy 1 Spud
Get The 2nd For
Half Price

Upper Level 334-3872

$25.99

GALAXY

University graduate Screenprinting
Old Capitol Center Upper Level 337-9155

GRADUATION SALE

May 15, 16 & 17th
Spin Our Wheel
of Savings for 20%-30%
40% off

Free Lottery Tickets
Free Prizes

Congratulations Graduates

Save 20% off all Picture Frames

And Musicals

Find The Perfect Gift
For Your Graduate
at

Gifted

Expoire May 17, 1987

Downtown Iowa City
214-338-4122

Buy 1 Spud
Get The 2nd For
Half Price

Upper Level 334-3872

$25.99
Photographer's success lies in determination, creativity

By Jonatha Tady
Special to The Daily Iowan

As a photographer, 30-year-old Todd Buchanan can name his share of challenges.

In 1984, the Iowa City native was part of a California newspaper photography team awarded a Pulitzer Prize for coverage of the Summer Olympics in Los Angeles. As Buchanan watched the finish line photo of bicycle road race winner Dave Wall—doesn't reflect the pain he went through to get the shot.

But, as with all good magic, with hard work and dedication "it's putting in the time that makes the trick happen," Buchanan said. "I know I'm not as talented as some other photographers, but I put in the time."

PUTTING IN THE TIME is Buchanan's modest way of describing the commitment, determination, creativity and willingness to pick himself up after getting knocked down through the years. No photography a 21-year-old Buchanan joined the photo staff at the Orange County Register in Orange County, Calif. at 21—just two weeks after earning his Bachelor of Arts degree in photojournalism at the Western Randolph Hearst photography school, layoffs, staff cuts, changing emphasis was part of a California newspaper photography team awarded a Pulitzer Prize for coverage of the Summer Olympics in Los Angeles. As Buchanan watched the finish line photo of bicycle road race winner Dave Wall—doesn't reflect the pain he went through to get the shot.

"It's putting in the time that makes the trick happen," Buchanan said. "I know I'm not as talented as some other photographers, but I put in the time."

PUTTING IN THE TIME is Buchanan's modest way of describing the commitment, determination, creativity and willingness to pick himself up after getting knocked down through the years. No photography a 21-year-old Buchanan joined the photo staff at the Orange County Register in Orange County, Calif. at 21—just two weeks after earning his Bachelor of Arts degree in photojournalism at the Western Randolph Hearst photography school, layoffs, staff cuts, changing emphasis wasn't part of the plan for the Iowa native when California got old. Buchanan talked to Olympic officials, scouted the race path several times for the best stage point and studied the racers as they practiced on the course.

"I decided the best place was at the finish line, right where the news events were. If I got there in time anyway because I didn't have a credential. Hy up on a hill, just past the finish line, was the place I wanted to be."

TRIEND PLACE WAS a quarter-mile from the finish line area and a 450-yard embankment. The distance, not to mention the height, presented problems solved only by renting a lift. Buchanan made specific arrangements to have a lift with a 40-foot post less than 2 feet wide. The lift cost Buchanan $300 if something happened to the lift. Buchanan explained, "I got permission to be on the hill from the land owners, and stated my claim," said Buchanan. "I chanced a ticket in a tree to see his place and picked camp, spending a sleepless night guarding his gear, which was worth more than $60,000 and weighed more than 100 pounds."

The following morning, Buchanan found three spectators two six-packs each if they could keep the course standing up in front of his camera when the winners crossed the finish line.

"I still paid off!" Buchanan said. "As soon as I took the photo I knew what I had, but it's not over."

Buchanan explained, "The established photo spot was right along side the finish line. Buchanan explained, "When the rider came across the finish line had made sure to get the feel of the finish line." Buchanan explained, "I knew I didn't have a credential. Hy up on a hill, just past the finish line, was the place I wanted to be."

TRIEND PLACE WAS a quarter-mile from the finish line area and a 450-yard embankment. The distance, not to mention the height, presented problems solved only by renting a lift. Buchanan made specific arrangements to have a lift with a 40-foot post less than 2 feet wide. The lift cost Buchanan $300 if something happened to the lift. Buchanan explained, "I got permission to be on the hill from the land owners, and stated my claim," said Buchanan. "I chanced a ticket in a tree to see his place and picked camp, spending a sleepless night guarding his gear, which was worth more than $60,000 and weighed more than 100 pounds."

The following morning, Buchanan found three spectators two six-packs each if they could keep the course standing up in front of the finish line when the winners crossed the finish line.

"I still paid off!" Buchanan said. "As soon as I took the photo I knew what I had, but it's not over."

Buchanan explained, "The established photo spot was right along side the finish line. Buchanan explained, "When the rider came across the finish line had made sure to get the feel of the finish line."

"I knew I didn't have a credential. Hy up on a hill, just past the finish line, was the place I wanted to be."

"That would be the ultimate house of all," he said. "There's not much you could do to top that."
AIDS awareness

"We're off to see the Wizard - the wonderful Wizard of AIDS." Rehearsing off Schaeffer and Morrisede, this little drama along with several others entertained more than 75 onlookers Wednesday afternoon. For half an hour, these students creatively informed students and members about one of the nation's biggest health problems.

The performance did not contain any cold facts or graphic pictures. Instead, actors used many props and techniques to make the actors look like a knees and elbows, HIV-positive individuals. Although the AIDS epidemic is anything but funny, the group was able to humorously convey the seriousness of the disease. AIDS does not discriminate or judge. It just kills. And the disease is deadly. More than 30,000 reported victims nationwide since 1981 have died. The onlookers included people of all walks of life: men, women, homosexuals, heterosexuals, bisexuals, affectionate, intravenous drug users.

Unfortunately, there is no "cure" for AIDS. Although scientists in several countries are currently working to develop a vaccine, experts predict that a cure is still years away.

But sexually active individuals can take action to prevent contracting the disease. By practicing safe sex - using condoms and openly discussing sexual history with one's partner, for example - the risk of infection is greatly reduced.

The United States is on a shopping spree. It's not an ordinary shopping spree, though. America is buying a little trinket that's strategically located, impoverished and unquestioning. Honduras. Honduras. The little trinket that's called for the withdrawal of American and Soviet military forces from Central America, began in northern Honduras and has been taken over by the United States military and aid agencies.

The performance did not contain any cold facts or graphic pictures. Instead, actors used many props and techniques to make the actors look like a knees and elbows, HIV-positive individuals. Although the AIDS epidemic is anything but funny, the group was able to humorously convey the seriousness of the disease. AIDS does not discriminate or judge. It just kills. And the disease is deadly. More than 30,000 reported victims nationwide since 1981 have died. The onlookers included people of all walks of life: men, women, homosexuals, heterosexuals, bisexuals, affectionate, intravenous drug users.

Unfortunately, there is no "cure" for AIDS. Although scientists in several countries are currently working to develop a vaccine, experts predict that a cure is still years away.

But sexually active individuals can take action to prevent contracting the disease. By practicing safe sex - using condoms and openly discussing sexual history with one's partner, for example - the risk of infection is greatly reduced.

The United States is on a shopping spree. It's not an ordinary shopping spree, though. America is buying a little trinket that's strategically located, impoverished and unquestioning. Honduras. Honduras. The little trinket that's called for the withdrawal of American and Soviet military forces from Central America, began in northern Honduras and has been taken over by the United States military and aid agencies.

The performance did not contain any cold facts or graphic pictures. Instead, actors used many props and techniques to make the actors look like a knees and elbows, HIV-positive individuals. Although the AIDS epidemic is anything but funny, the group was able to humorously convey the seriousness of the disease. AIDS does not discriminate or judge. It just kills. And the disease is deadly. More than 30,000 reported victims nationwide since 1981 have died. The onlookers included people of all walks of life: men, women, homosexuals, heterosexuals, bisexuals, affectionate, intravenous drug users.

Unfortunately, there is no "cure" for AIDS. Although scientists in several countries are currently working to develop a vaccine, experts predict that a cure is still years away.

But sexually active individuals can take action to prevent contracting the disease. By practicing safe sex - using condoms and openly discussing sexual history with one's partner, for example - the risk of infection is greatly reduced.

The United States is on a shopping spree. It's not an ordinary shopping spree, though. America is buying a little trinket that's strategically located, impoverished and unquestioning. Honduras. Honduras. The little trinket that's called for the withdrawal of American and Soviet military forces from Central America, began in northern Honduras and has been taken over by the United States military and aid agencies.

The performance did not contain any cold facts or graphic pictures. Instead, actors used many props and techniques to make the actors look like a knees and elbows, HIV-positive individuals. Although the AIDS epidemic is anything but funny, the group was able to humorously convey the seriousness of the disease. AIDS does not discriminate or judge. It just kills. And the disease is deadly. More than 30,000 reported victims nationwide since 1981 have died. The onlookers included people of all walks of life: men, women, homosexuals, heterosexuals, bisexuals, affecti

...
CHICAGO (AP) — A securities scandal broadened Wednesday when a group of investors said they had evidence that brokerage company Crocker, Inc., was engaged in a scheme to defraud customers.

The group, led by investor John Smith, filed a class-action lawsuit against Crocker in federal court in Chicago. Smith said the company had defrauded investors by selling them non-existent securities and by concealing information about the company's financial condition.

Smith said he had evidence that Crocker had been involved in a "variety of fraudulent schemes," including the sale of "non-existent" securities. He said the company had also failed to disclose information about its financial condition to customers.

The company declined to comment on the lawsuit, saying it would "vigorously defend" itself against the allegations.

The lawsuit is one of several that have been filed against Crocker in recent months. The company has been under scrutiny since a group of investors filed a similar lawsuit against the company in March.

The new lawsuit marks the latest in a string of legal battles for Crocker, which has been the subject of several government investigations in recent months. The company has denied any wrongdoing and said it is cooperating with authorities.

The company has been one of the biggest players in the securities industry, with offices in several major cities across the country. It has been accused of engaging in a variety of fraudulent schemes, including the sale of non-existent securities and the misappropriation of customer funds.

The new lawsuit is likely to add to the company's legal woes, as it faces a growing number of investigations into its business practices.

The company has said it is taking steps to address the concerns raised by regulators and investors, including improving its internal controls and strengthening its compliance programs.

The company's stock has fallen sharply in recent months, as investors lose confidence in the company's ability to navigate its legal issues. The company's stock price has下跌了30% since the beginning of the year.
WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Pentagon has revised and expanded a regulation governing the nation's arms dealers, who arrange the sale, shipment and transfer of military-related materials and technology, the Defense Department said today.

The new rule, which went into effect Wednesday, was developed without fansfare and took the 31 million military and civilian employees of the Defense Department and the intelligence community by surprise, officials said.

It was an extended and more detailed version of a vague "sexual misconduct" section that was set out in December 1979. The new version resulted from efforts to tighten the regulations and to incorporate sub-categories.

It has been endorsed by the major trade association representing arms dealers, the Arms Dealers Association, which said it was "wholeheartedly endorsed as a bases heart." It was signed by a Pentagon official and published in the Federal Register April 8.

The new rule specifies that "the commission must be sensitive to the need for the following relationships to be continued to continue to conduct business on behalf of the United States: ... in the United States or abroad." It also covers "adultery that is recent, serious and likely to continue," transmission, transportation, exhibition, import, export, child molestation, rape, sexual harassment, and addiction.

The commission must also be sensitive to the need for the following relationships to be continued to conduct business on behalf of the United States: ... in the United States or abroad." It also covers "adultery that is recent, serious and likely to continue," transmission, transportation, exhibition, import, export, child molestation, rape, sexual harassment, and addiction.

The commission must also be sensitive to the need for the following relationships to be continued to conduct business on behalf of the United States: ... in the United States or abroad." It also covers "adultery that is recent, serious and likely to continue," transmission, transportation, exhibition, import, export, child molestation, rape, sexual harassment, and addiction.

The commission must also be sensitive to the need for the following relationships to be continued to conduct business on behalf of the United States: ... in the United States or abroad." It also covers "adultery that is recent, serious and likely to continue," transmission, transportation, exhibition, import, export, child molestation, rape, sexual harassment, and addiction.

The commission must also be sensitive to the need for the following relationships to be continued to conduct business on behalf of the United States: ... in the United States or abroad." It also covers "adultery that is recent, serious and likely to continue," transmission, transportation, exhibition, import, export, child molestation, rape, sexual harassment, and addiction.

The commission must also be sensitive to the need for the following relationships to be continued to conduct business on behalf of the United States: ... in the United States or abroad." It also covers "adultery that is recent, serious and likely to continue," transmission, transportation, exhibition, import, export, child molestation, rape, sexual harassment, and addiction.

The commission must also be sensitive to the need for the following relationships to be continued to conduct business on behalf of the United States: ... in the United States or abroad." It also covers "adultery that is recent, serious and likely to continue," transmission, transportation, exhibition, import, export, child molestation, rape, sexual harassment, and addiction.

The commission must also be sensitive to the need for the following relationships to be continued to conduct business on behalf of the United States: ... in the United States or abroad." It also covers "adultery that is recent, serious and likely to continue," transmission, transportation, exhibition, import, export, child molestation, rape, sexual harassment, and addiction.

The commission must also be sensitive to the need for the following relationships to be continued to conduct business on behalf of the United States: ... in the United States or abroad." It also covers "adultery that is recent, serious and likely to continue," transmission, transportation, exhibition, import, export, child molestation, rape, sexual harassment, and addiction.

The commission must also be sensitive to the need for the following relationships to be continued to conduct business on behalf of the United States: ... in the United States or abroad." It also covers "adultery that is recent, serious and likely to continue," transmission, transportation, exhibition, import, export, child molestation, rape, sexual harassment, and addiction.
University

Former Iowa football recruit feels ‘cheated’ by athletics

By Steve Shannon

For the former city kid, athletics provide an escape. They stand as an illusion of a better life away from the harsh realities of growing up in the projects, which seem to be heading nowhere.

For Aaron Leonard, a kid from the Hill District of Pittsburgh, athletics were a chance to escape an other life as a street kid in the streets of Pittsburgh. Getting a scholarship to a major university in 1973 was the ticket Leonard had been waiting for. Now, the ‘good life’ was in front of him and the 1973 NFL was a heartbeat away.

Derek Shannon, however, Leonard found out that success was no longer in his future.

Profile

This is the second story in a two-part series.

Replacing by Bob Conmigaid and although the record improved, Leonard was never a fit in Iowa’s defense.

Leonard’s disappointment was immense. The kind that took away a dream. And it was not just that Leonard realized that football would be an unattainable goal.

It had been playing well for the bulk of my senior season but during our homecoming game with Ohio State, I got hurt for the third time,” Leonard said. “That next month I woke up and felt the pain shooting through my knee and I knew that playing professional football would not be a part of my life.”

“Coaches tried to get me back on the field but I was ready, but when they found out that I could no longer get through a play and I turned their backs on me,” Leonard said. “By this time, it was also too late to truly get myself out of my academic and even though I graduated, I wasn’t really prepared for a future without football.”

Leonard said Leonard was not the flouting football that it was in 1978, the Hawkeyes struggled through it with an 0-10 record and Leonard was on the team the whole year later. Leonard was

University

Former Iowa football recruit feels ‘cheated’ by athletics

By Steve Shannon

For the former city kid, athletics provide an escape. They stand as an illusion of a better life away from the harsh realities of growing up in the projects, which seem to be heading nowhere.

For Aaron Leonard, a kid from the Hill District of Pittsburgh, athletics were a chance to escape an other life as a street kid in the streets of Pittsburgh. Getting a scholarship to a major university in 1973 was the ticket Leonard had been waiting for. Now, the ‘good life’ was in front of him and the 1973 NFL was a heartbeat away.

Derek Shannon, however, Leonard found out that success was no longer in his future.

Profile

This is the second story in a two-part series.

Replacing by Bob Conmigaid and although the record improved, Leonard was never a fit in Iowa’s defense.

Leonard’s disappointment was immense. The kind that took away a dream. And it was not just that Leonard realized that football would be an unattainable goal.

It had been playing well for the bulk of my senior season but during our homecoming game with Ohio State, I got hurt for the third time,” Leonard said. “That next month I woke up and felt the pain shooting through my knee and I knew that playing professional football would not be a part of my life.”

“Coaches tried to get me back on the field but I was ready, but when they found out that I could no longer get through a play and I turned their backs on me,” Leonard said. “By this time, it was also too late to truly get myself out of my academic and even though I graduated, I wasn’t really prepared for a future without football.”

Leonard said Leonard was not the flouting football that it was in 1978, the Hawkeyes struggled through it with an 0-10 record and Leonard was on the team the whole year later. Leonard was

University

Former Iowa football recruit feels ‘cheated’ by athletics

By Steve Shannon

For the former city kid, athletics provide an escape. They stand as an illusion of a better life away from the harsh realities of growing up in the projects, which seem to beheading nowhere.

For Aaron Leonard, a kid from the Hill District of Pittsburgh, athletics were a chance to escape an other life as a street kid in the streets of Pittsburgh. Getting a scholarship to a major university in 1973 was the ticket Leonard had been waiting for. Now, the ‘good life’ was in front of him and the 1973 NFL was a heartbeat away.

Derek Shannon, however, Leonard found out that success was no longer in his future.

Profile

This is the second story in a two-part series.

Replacing by Bob Conmigaid and although the record improved, Leonard was never a fit in Iowa’s defense.

Leonard’s disappointment was immense. The kind that took away a dream. And it was not just that Leonard realized that football would be an unattainable goal.

It had been playing well for the bulk of my senior season but during our homecoming game with Ohio State, I got hurt for the third time,” Leonard said. “That next month I woke up and felt the pain shooting through my knee and I knew that playing professional football would not be a part of my life.”

“Coaches tried to get me back on the field but I was ready, but when they found out that I could no longer get through a play and I turned their backs on me,” Leonard said. “By this time, it was also too late to truly get myself out of my academic and even though I graduated, I wasn’t really prepared for a future without football.”

Leonard said Leonard was not the flouting football that it was in 1978, the Hawkeyes struggled through it with an 0-10 record and Leonard was on the team the whole year later. Leonard was
Hawkeyes set to meet Wolverines

By Eric A. Jones

The Associated Press

Terry and Mark McGwire hit home runs and drove in three runs each as the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Atlanta Braves 7-1 Wednesday to help the 13-game winning streak to 14 and give the team an 8-0 record.

The St. Louis Cardinals needed to win both games of a doubleheader Wednesday to sweep the Atlanta Braves and move into first place in the National League East.

The Braves led 1-0 after giving up five runs in the second inning. Ted Turner, who pitched a perfect game in 1974, allowed four runs on six hits and struck out two in six innings. He retired the first 12 batters and the Cards scored their first run on a sacrifice fly by Joe Orsini in the third inning.

With two outs in the fourth inning, McGwire hit his fourth home run in five games and drove in three runs. He is the only player in major league history with 14 home runs in a month.

The Cards have won eight of their last 10 games and are in second place in the NL East, a half-game behind the Chicago Cubs.

The Braves, who had not played in a doubleheader since May 25, 1985, scored twice in the first inning on an error by catcher Gary Carter and a double by John Terry. They added another run in the second on an error by third baseman Ross Grimsley.

The Cards scored four runs in the seventh inning on McGwire's two-run home run and a two-run single by catcher Bill Levenson.

The Cards lead the NL East by three games over the Cubs and are three games behind the Dodgers in the NL West.

The Braves lead the NL East by three games over the Cubs and are three games behind the Cards in the NL West.

The Cards lead the NL East by three games over the Cubs and are three games behind the Dodgers in the NL West.

The Cards lead the NL East by three games over the Cubs and are three games behind the Dodgers in the NL West.

The Cards lead the NL East by three games over the Cubs and are three games behind the Dodgers in the NL West.

The Cards lead the NL East by three games over the Cubs and are three games behind the Dodgers in the NL West.

The Cards lead the NL East by three games over the Cubs and are three games behind the Dodgers in the NL West.

The Cards lead the NL East by three games over the Cubs and are three games behind the Dodgers in the NL West.

The Cards lead the NL East by three games over the Cubs and are three games behind the Dodgers in the NL West.

The Cards lead the NL East by three games over the Cubs and are three games behind the Dodgers in the NL West.

The Cards lead the NL East by three games over the Cubs and are three games behind the Dodgers in the NL West.

The Cards lead the NL East by three games over the Cubs and are three games behind the Dodgers in the NL West.

The Cards lead the NL East by three games over the Cubs and are three games behind the Dodgers in the NL West.

The Cards lead the NL East by three games over the Cubs and are three games behind the Dodgers in the NL West.

The Cards lead the NL East by three games over the Cubs and are three games behind the Dodgers in the NL West.

The Cards lead the NL East by three games over the Cubs and are three games behind the Dodgers in the NL West.

The Cards lead the NL East by three games over the Cubs and are three games behind the Dodgers in the NL West.

The Cards lead the NL East by three games over the Cubs and are three games behind the Dodgers in the NL West.

The Cards lead the NL East by three games over the Cubs and are three games behind the Dodgers in the NL West.

The Cards lead the NL East by three games over the Cubs and are three games behind the Dodgers in the NL West.

The Cards lead the NL East by three games over the Cubs and are three games behind the Dodgers in the NL West.

The Cards lead the NL East by three games over the Cubs and are three games behind the Dodgers in the NL West.

The Cards lead the NL East by three games over the Cubs and are three games behind the Dodgers in the NL West.

The Cards lead the NL East by three games over the Cub...
Detroit knocks out Atlanta; Bucks stay alive with Celtics

United Press International

ATLANTA — Gifted guards Vinny Johnson and Isiah Thomas rallied Detroit from a 23-point deficit in the fourth quarter Wednesday night, giving the Pistons a 101-98 victory over the Atlanta Hawks and a 2-2 tie in the Eastern Conference finals.

The Pistons won the series four games to one and will play the rest of the season in the Eastern Conference finals. The Detroit Pistons had a 17-1 record and the Hawks had a 12-13 record in the regular season.

In the closing four minutes, the Hawks led 86-87 with 12 seconds left. But Johnson and Thomas combined for 13 points in the final 15 seconds.

THE PISTONS TIED IT AT 98-98 with 15 seconds left in the game. Johnson drove to the basket, went for a layup, but was fouled. He made both free throws to give Detroit the lead.

Johnson had 21 points, including the two free throws, as the Pistons improved to 32-36-10. The Hawks were 27-36-10.

NBA Roundup

Dominique Wilkins could return to the floor after missing two games with a strained muscle.

Wilkins, the Hawks' leading scorer, missed the Hawks' 95-88 loss to Milwaukee on Tuesday night. He had left the game in the first half with a strained right calf muscle.

Manager Billy Cunningham said Wednesday that Wilkins is expected to return to the Hawks' lineup on Friday.

The Hawks are 29-21-10, while the Nuggets are 29-21-10.

BOSTON..— A 14-2 start by Dennis Johnson led the Boston Celtics into Game 6 of the NBA Eastern Conference finals Wednesday night and the Hawks.

The Hawks lead the series 3-2, but the Celtics are playing their first game since losing Game 5 on Monday night.

Johnson, who had 24 points, 14 rebounds and six assists, scored the first 14 points of the game and led the Celtics to a 32-25 lead after one quarter.

In the quarter, the Hawks led 27-26, but Johnson scored the first 14 points.

The Celtics won 124-123, giving them a 2-1 lead in the series.

With 1:36 left, Johnson made a 10-foot jumper over the Hawks' Dee Brown to give the Celtics a 123-122 lead.

With 1:00 left, Johnson made a 10-footer over the Hawks' Terry Mills to give the Celtics a 124-123 lead.

Johnson scored 14 of his 24 points in the first quarter, when the Celtics led 32-25.

The Hawks are 29-21-10, while the Nuggets are 29-21-10.

BOSTON..— A 14-2 start by Dennis Johnson led the Boston Celtics into Game 6 of the NBA Eastern Conference finals Wednesday night and the Hawks.

The Hawks lead the series 3-2, but the Celtics are playing their first game since losing Game 5 on Monday night.

Johnson, who had 24 points, 14 rebounds and six assists, scored the first 14 points of the game and led the Celtics to a 32-25 lead after one quarter.

In the quarter, the Hawks led 27-26, but Johnson scored the first 14 points.

The Celtics won 124-123, giving them a 2-1 lead in the series.

With 1:36 left, Johnson made a 10-foot jumper over the Hawks' Dee Brown to give the Celtics a 123-122 lead.

With 1:00 left, Johnson made a 10-footer over the Hawks' Terry Mills to give the Celtics a 124-123 lead.

Johnson scored 14 of his 24 points in the first quarter, when the Celtics led 32-25.

The Hawks are 29-21-10, while the Nuggets are 29-21-10.

BOSTON..— A 14-2 start by Dennis Johnson led the Boston Celtics into Game 6 of the NBA Eastern Conference finals Wednesday night and the Hawks.

The Hawks lead the series 3-2, but the Celtics are playing their first game since losing Game 5 on Monday night.

Johnson, who had 24 points, 14 rebounds and six assists, scored the first 14 points of the game and led the Celtics to a 32-25 lead after one quarter.

In the quarter, the Hawks led 27-26, but Johnson scored the first 14 points.

The Celtics won 124-123, giving them a 2-1 lead in the series.

With 1:36 left, Johnson made a 10-foot jumper over the Hawks' Dee Brown to give the Celtics a 123-122 lead.

With 1:00 left, Johnson made a 10-footer over the Hawks' Terry Mills to give the Celtics a 124-123 lead.

Johnson scored 14 of his 24 points in the first quarter, when the Celtics led 32-25.

The Hawks are 29-21-10, while the Nuggets are 29-21-10.

BOSTON..— A 14-2 start by Dennis Johnson led the Boston Celtics into Game 6 of the NBA Eastern Conference finals Wednesday night and the Hawks.

The Hawks lead the series 3-2, but the Celtics are playing their first game since losing Game 5 on Monday night.

Johnson, who had 24 points, 14 rebounds and six assists, scored the first 14 points of the game and led the Celtics to a 32-25 lead after one quarter.

In the quarter, the Hawks led 27-26, but Johnson scored the first 14 points.

The Celtics won 124-123, giving them a 2-1 lead in the series.

With 1:36 left, Johnson made a 10-foot jumper over the Hawks' Dee Brown to give the Celtics a 123-122 lead.

With 1:00 left, Johnson made a 10-footer over the Hawks' Terry Mills to give the Celtics a 124-123 lead.

Johnson scored 14 of his 24 points in the first quarter, when the Celtics led 32-25.

The Hawks are 29-21-10, while the Nuggets are 29-21-10.

BOSTON..— A 14-2 start by Dennis Johnson led the Boston Celtics into Game 6 of the NBA Eastern Conference finals Wednesday night and the Hawks.

The Hawks lead the series 3-2, but the Celtics are playing their first game since losing Game 5 on Monday night.

Johnson, who had 24 points, 14 rebounds and six assists, scored the first 14 points of the game and led the Celtics to a 32-25 lead after one quarter.

In the quarter, the Hawks led 27-26, but Johnson scored the first 14 points.

The Celtics won 124-123, giving them a 2-1 lead in the series.

With 1:36 left, Johnson made a 10-foot jumper over the Hawks' Dee Brown to give the Celtics a 123-122 lead.

With 1:00 left, Johnson made a 10-footer over the Hawks' Terry Mills to give the Celtics a 124-123 lead.

Johnson scored 14 of his 24 points in the first quarter, when the Celtics led 32-25.

The Hawks are 29-21-10, while the Nuggets are 29-21-10.

BOSTON..— A 14-2 start by Dennis Johnson led the Boston Celtics into Game 6 of the NBA Eastern Conference finals Wednesday night and the Hawks.

The Hawks lead the series 3-2, but the Celtics are playing their first game since losing Game 5 on Monday night.

Johnson, who had 24 points, 14 rebounds and six assists, scored the first 14 points of the game and led the Celtics to a 32-25 lead after one quarter.

In the quarter, the Hawks led 27-26, but Johnson scored the first 14 points.

The Celtics won 124-123, giving them a 2-1 lead in the series.

With 1:36 left, Johnson made a 10-foot jumper over the Hawks' Dee Brown to give the Celtics a 123-122 lead.

With 1:00 left, Johnson made a 10-footer over the Hawks' Terry Mills to give the Celtics a 124-123 lead.

Johnson scored 14 of his 24 points in the first quarter, when the Celtics led 32-25.

The Hawks are 29-21-10, while the Nuggets are 29-21-10.

BOSTON..— A 14-2 start by Dennis Johnson led the Boston Celtics into Game 6 of the NBA Eastern Conference finals Wednesday night and the Hawks.

The Hawks lead the series 3-2, but the Celtics are playing their first game since losing Game 5 on Monday night.

Johnson, who had 24 points, 14 rebounds and six assists, scored the first 14 points of the game and led the Celtics to a 32-25 lead after one quarter.

In the quarter, the Hawks led 27-26, but Johnson scored the first 14 points.

The Celtics won 124-123, giving them a 2-1 lead in the series.

With 1:36 left, Johnson made a 10-foot jumper over the Hawks' Dee Brown to give the Celtics a 123-122 lead.

With 1:00 left, Johnson made a 10-footer over the Hawks' Terry Mills to give the Celtics a 124-123 lead.

Johnson scored 14 of his 24 points in the first quarter, when the Celtics led 32-25.

The Hawks are 29-21-10, while the Nuggets are 29-21-10.
NYC opens seasons line-up daughter, one of the four-member group. The performance was a hit of the Rolling Stones' shows, and it is known that the group's music has been popular among fans and critics alike.

The group's background in Johnson, a former bandmate and co-founder of the Stones, is also notable. Together, they have created a body of work that is celebrated by both fans and critics.

The band's sound is characterized by the use of different instruments, including the saxophone, which is played by the saxophonist. The saxophone is known for its rich, deep sound that adds to the overall atmosphere of the music.
Love sizzles in Hitchcock’s ‘Notorious’

By George Vatchell

HOLLYWOOD’s most popular love affair is with the movies themselves, and with the fiction breeds heat when sex and sin are mixed.
So it was that when Ingrid Bergman and Cary Grant’s relationship sizzled in “Notorious,” the public and the critics were equally captivated.
We all need to see love stories as screwed up as ourselves. Never has the leap between the fiction and the reality been more apparent.

FOR DRAMA’S SAKE, love pervades “Notorious.” Alicia, in her first full-length film, is married to Claude Rains, who is bourgeois and most likely a spy. She is soon to be incarcerated and sentenced to two years in a mental hospital for a second, marginally less sin in pursuit of Alicia. So much for the romantic comedy.
In a cheeky way — for 1946, anyway —
Hitchcock opens up the world of sexuality and naughtiness, in one of the films that has证监会 fits the title bill.

Ingrid Bergman was born in Sweden, which perhaps explains the coldness and aloofness that she brought to her role as Alicia Huberman (Ingrid Bergman). The British director Alfred Hitchcock directed her in the film, and his approach to the material was as detached as his leading lady’s. It was a shockingly sexy — for 1946 — film, in which the couple marries a second time and have an emotion, which was not typical of Hitchcock’s work. The film was a major box office success.

Devlin (Claude Rains) is a spy who flashes a badge to free his father’s sins. Devlin just appears to be Cary Grant.
Considering the stars, it can’t
be much of a surprise that
Bergman is only incidentally a spy film. instead, we’re in the wonderful world of romance.

As for Claude Rains, has any other screen villain been so easy to pity? Despite whatever other screen villains may have despised in The Thirty-Nine Stairs. Madeleine Carroll gets screwed up, as do Madeleine
Carroll and Devlin. They don’t fit the title bill.

As for Claude Rains, has any other screen villain been so easy to pity? Despite whatever
other screen villains may have deserted her. Madeleine Carroll gets screwed up, as do
Madeleine Carroll and Devlin.
They don’t fit the title bill.

Notorious is only nominally a spy film; instead we’re in the wonderful world of romance.

Considering the stars, it can’t
be much of a surprise that
Bergman is only incidentally
a spy film. instead, we’re in the wonderful world of romance.