Grant allows youth shelter to institute new program

By James Cohary
The Daily Iowan

A $10,000 grant awarded to Iowa City youth shelter will be used to cover the cost of two youth counselors for juveniles in the area, the shelter’s director said.

Terry McCarth, director of the juvenile detention facility at Iowa City, said the program is designed to provide guidance and support for youth who violate the law, but who the police do not want to arrest. Two youth counselors will be assigned in 18 to 24 months and under Graziella Tarombi will appear two of Iowa City’s 11 candidates for judge at the Iowa State Bar Association’s annual conference this week.

The two-menon the bar association’s slate of 11 Iowa City area lawyers who is seeking to become juvenile court judge is more experienced in this field than the other judge. By virtue of his seniority, he is assigned to the Johnson County District Court to handle these cases.

The appointment, according to both Judge Brian McCarth, lawyer, and Walter C. Johnson, lawyer, was made by the Iowa City Story County judge on an emergency basis because the judge traveled out of state for one week.

UI campus safety studied

Areas with heavy brush, dim lighting examined

By Paula Rowley
The Daily Iowan

The University College Of Associates Council (CAC) has decided to support the creation of a University Environment Committee (UEC) to address campus safety.

Last month, 10 members of the UI College of Associates Council (CAC) met with University President J. Donald Harrington, the director of the UI campus police, and the director of UI Housing to discuss the possibility of creating a committee that would address campus safety issues.

According to Harrington, the CAC members were concerned about the safety of students, particularly those who live off-campus. They expressed a desire for better lighting, more secure entrances, and improved signage.

The CAC members also discussed the possibility of creating a task force to address these issues. They suggested that the task force could include representatives from the University Police, UI Housing, and other relevant departments.

Harrington agreed to support the creation of the UEC and encouraged the CAC members to develop a proposal for the task force.

Meanwhile, a group of UI students has also been working on a proposal to improve campus safety. They have been meeting with representatives from the University Police and other relevant departments to develop a plan.

The students' proposal includes recommendations for improved lighting, increased security at entrances, and better signage. They also suggest the creation of a task force to address these issues.

The CAC members were enthusiastic about the students' proposal and agreed to support it. They expressed a desire to see the students' proposal implemented as soon as possible.

Harrington agreed and encouraged the CAC members to continue working on the proposal.

The CAC members were optimistic about the future of campus safety at the University of Iowa. They expressed a desire to see a safer campus for all students.

any immediate need to worry over the

Robertson candidacy. Robertson is, to say the least, a political unknown. He might be worth watching, but it is too

Aquino hints at martial law as strikers and police clash

By Fernando Del Mar

MANILA, Philippines—President Corazon Aquino Monday raised the possibility of declaring martial law in the greater Philip- pine capital area, saying pro-government forces were "on the verge of being overrun." Aquino, who has said she would not order martial law unless she felt it was absolutely necessary, also assured smuggling would be stopped by "whatever means necessary." Aquino, speaking during a meeting of government officials that ended Monday, departed from the script in her prepared statement that she would not use martial law.

Aquino's comments came as ram- moon forces continued to press their drive to capture the government complex in the heart of the capital.

Aquino also said she would not lift martial law in the greater capital area without the cooperation of local officials.

Aquino had earlier said she would not order martial law unless she felt it was absolutely necessary.

Twilight's a big night for the National League Champions, the Montreal Expos. The Expos' Memorial Stadium in St. Louis features the powerful Los Angeles Giants leading the Cards 2½ in the best-of-seven series. The series has been a good one, and should get even bigger starting tomorrow. The Expos will try to win Game 3 and the Cards have a good chance of pulling it out tomorrow.

As for the Giants, they are the better team. The Los Angeles Giants are stronger after an off-season while the Expos are barely back in the game. Joe Torre will try to win Game 3, and the Cards will try to win Game 4. The Expos have a good chance of winning the series.

NFL players eye mediation

HOBOKEN, N.J. — The NFL Players Association and Management on Thursday agreed to form a mediation panel to try to reach an agreement on a new labor contract, an official of the union said.

The NFLPA and NFL management representatives met on Thursday, the first time they had talked since the sides agreed last month to try mediation, the union official said.

"The NFLPA and NFL Management have agreed to establish a mediation panel," the union official said.

The agreement was reached after the sides met earlier in the week, the union official said.

NFLPA Executive Director DeMaurice Smith said the union will continue to negotiate with the NFL until a new agreement is reached.

"We are committed to reaching a fair and equitable agreement for all players," Smith said.

The union and NFL management representatives had been at odds for months over pay, benefits and other issues.

"We have been unable to find common ground on many of these issues," Smith said.

The mediation panel will be made up of independent arbitrators from the sports industry, the union official said.

The agreement will allow the sides to continue negotiating until a new agreement is reached.

"We are optimistic that this process will lead to a fair and equitable agreement," Smith said.

The sides met earlier this week to discuss the mediation proposal, the union official said.

"We are encouraged by the progress made in these discussions," Smith said.

NBA Suns sold for record price

By Mike Ryan
United Press International

DALLAS — The NBA Board of Governors is expected to approve the sale of the Phoenix Suns to a group headed by Gerald and Randison McReynolds. The deal, which includes a $245 million price tag, is the highest ever paid for a franchise in the league.

The sale of the Suns, who finished 38-44 last season, marks a significant development in the team's history. The franchise, founded in 1968, has struggled to achieve success on the court and has struggled with financial issues in recent years.

The new owners, led by McReynolds, have expressed their intention to invest heavily in the team, both in terms of player acquisitions and upgrades at the arena. This move comes at a critical time for the franchise, which faces a competitive NBA landscape and the ever-evolving fan experience.

Cincinnati GM Bergeson ousted

By Mike Barnard
United Press International

CINCINNATI — The Cincinnati Reds have fired General Manager Bill Bergeson, who had been with the team since 2018. The move comes after a disappointing 2021 season, in which the Reds finished 71-91 and failed to make the playoffs.

Bergeson, who took over as GM in 2020, had a string of successful seasons, helping the club return to the postseason in 2019. However, his tenure was marked by struggles in 2020 and 2021, leading to the firing decision.

The Reds' front office is expected to conduct a thorough search for a new GM, with a focus on finding someone who can help turn around the franchise's fortunes. The team is expected to be active in the free-agent market and the draft, looking to bolster key areas of need.

Women's Tennis

The meet against the Western Illinis was a lackluster contest.

"It's a lackluster contest," Zsiros said. "You can't have had to beat anybody just since the season began.

The Western Illinis, 4-3 last year, are coming to town doing a lot worse off. Two of six matches were won.

"It's just a kind of a contraption against us," Zsiros said. "We need a lot of things against us.

The Western Illinis, 8-2 in the Illini Conference, has been placed in a more competitive season this year.

JUNIOR KATHY GATES (13-1 in singles matches this season) has played a big role in the Illini's success, according to Zsiros. Gates is good.

She's performed very well for us all this year," Zsiros said. "She's won quite a few matches this year."

DETROIT—The Minnesota Twins ended the American League playoffs in the same dynamic manner they began—belittling the Detroit Tigers.

Penrith, a two-time NCAA champion for the Iowa wrestling team, was reinstated to the national top.

Penrith, a senior from Windsor, CO, wasn't selected for the team after losing his automatic berth to a plebe. He pleaded guilty to charge of assault following a beating in July.

Penrith was on a one-year probation at the time he was afflicted with a disease which he obviously has been very serious about. His probation was extended by a statement after the probation, meaning Penrith must have to serve a full term. But Penrith changed his position in a letter to the university, having Penrith's restoration in particular on the American League's chemical abuse programs and his cooperation with the community.

The American League (ALL) has served 10 of the required 12 months of community service.

The American League Court Judge John Haddick decided to verify the probation, meaning Penrith would not face a jail term.

"Penrith has worked very hard to rehabilitate himself," Gable said in a statement. "He has made a serious effort to change his ways in the last several months that he is very serious about getting his life in order."

American League Director Robert Blatt reported Nelsen's decision, the statement said.

Penrith, a two-time Big Ten champion, lost in two straight matches.

DETROIT—The Minnesota Twins ended the American League playoffs in the same dynamic manner they began—defeating the Detroit Tigers.

The Minnesota Twins defeated the Detroit Tigers for the first time this season. It will make things a bit easier if the weather report is good, I'm all excited.

The Twins will open the World Series today against the NL champion, two-game power of the Miami Marlins.

"It's going to be a good game," Twins Manager Tom Brunelky said. "We're going to have a really good game.

Brunelky felt the Twins were better off as a team, not getting as many hits, but they still managed to score.

ST. LOUIS—The San Francisco Giants have always, in this year's National League playoffs at least, been a tough team to beat.

They lead the best-of-seven series 3-2 and will take a victory back to San Francisco to face the St. Louis Cardinals in Game 6.
