School board will confer with employees on budget

By Craig Barrett

The Iowa City School Board created a set of guidelines Monday night that will give its members an opportunity on what to look for in the negotiations with the teachers union on an upcoming contract.

The guidelines are intended to provide a way to employees to give their input so that it can be before the district decision makers, something that has been largely impossible in the past.

"We want to give the impression that it is seeking the input of the employees in the district on budget matters, something that has been largely impossible in the past," said board member Don Benby.

The guidelines are intended because of the amount of money that has been spent this year on

UI foreign enrollment parallels U.S. trend

By Laura Bentz

The Daily Iowan

A record number of UI international students are taking classes here this fall, and that trend is being reflected by Iowa student administrators at the university and in the state legislature.

"OCR INCREASES have relatively doubled the past national norm," said J.o. report released last week by the UI Office of International Student Affairs. The report includes data from the 1984-85 academic year.

Approximately 1,500 international students were enrolled at the university this school year, compared to 7,693 students in the 1984-85 academic year, or about a 7 percent increase. The number of international students is now 18.5 percent of the total student body.

In 1980, the number of international students enrolled at UI was 1,693, or 11 percent of the total student body. The number of international students has increased steadily since then, with the exception of the 1984-85 academic year, when the number dropped slightly due to the impact of the Persian Gulf War.

The increase in international students is part of a national trend, according to UI International Student Affairs director Lynnne Knee. Knee said that enrollment of international students at UI has increased steadily since the 1980s, and that the trend is expected to continue.

"The number of international students enrolled at UI has increased steadily since the 1980s, and that trend is expected to continue," Knee said. "The number of international students enrolled at UI has increased steadily since the 1980s, and that trend is expected to continue."
Restrain the need

It was just a matter of time before something like this happened: An out-ofcontrol growth into a Miami stockbroker's office, pulled a gun and murdered the individual most clearly identified with his financial misdeeds. Certainly, to the extent that it is related to the recent plague of the market accidents, such a breach is a tragic reaction.

But now, the "irresponsible" approach at times like these to advise restraint and legaleffectiveness in the hopes of avoiding future such breaches is "irresponsible" counsel in the face of continuing record deadlines on Wall Street may be on the way out. As the case of the Miami investor clearly demonstrates, some people are in an irrevocable state of mind, and in these market accidents they are prepared to take drastic - even lethal - action.

In any case, the apparent collapse of the market, perhaps because at all financial levels - corporate and individual alike - should reassure the profound economic changes which have taken place during the past several years.

Without pretending to analyze the circumstances which may have brought on a bear market, it seems safe to say that a boom market is, quite literally, been on borrowed money. Therefore, to continue deficit financing while expecting economic growth is nothing more than delusion, given the economic realities of 1967, a market decline was inevitable.

While such a "hearted" approach may not be "responsible" in the short run, it is the only one that will work. The Wall Street derelicts are telling America to redesign its prudence and live within its means.

APRAHAN's story, he said, was a story of a man who had become a leader in his country. He had been a broker in the American stock market, and had helped to build up the American economy. His story was one of courage and determination, and it was an inspiration to many people.

The story of APRAHAN was told in a book called "Deadly Games." The book was written by John Lee, a former American journalist, and it was published in 1987. Lee was a close friend of APRAHAN, and he had written the book to tell his story.

The book was well received, and it was praised for its eyewitness account of APRAHAN's life and work. It was also praised for its vivid description of the world of international finance and politics, and for its insight into the minds of the people who had played a role in shaping history.

Lee said that APRAHAN had been a true hero, and that his story should be told. He said that APRAHAN had been a man of courage and determination, and that he had been a true leader in his country.

Lee's book was a best-seller, and it was translated into a number of languages. It was also made into a film, and it was shown in many countries around the world.

North Korea puts off Olympic boycott

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — North Korea and Monday has scored a truce in the North's "Olympic Committee, and a deal of government in the region," the Geneva-based that would allow a "washed team." The International Olympic Committee said the agreement was reached after a "mutual decision among the North Korean authorities." The gesture included an invitation to the North Koreans to "take part in the Games." The committee added that the North Koreans were "informed that their team would be offered a "washed team." The North Koreans had previously threatened to withdraw from the Olympics due to a dispute over the presence of American athletes in the Games. The agreement was welcomed by the International Olympic Committee. The North Koreans had been asked to make a decision by the end of the week, but the agreement was reached following a "mutual decision among the North Korean authorities." The gesture included an invitation to the North Koreans to "take part in the Games." The agreement was welcomed by the International Olympic Committee.

Newcomers score, lead men's rugby

By Hugh Scatton

The Daily Iowan

Rugby players are a select fraternity, and exposing them to another venue, Bill Chie, Iowa's prop was able to see the ball go the other way, pass from Marc to Chris allowing the try to kick to the ball to fall. The Outbacks' final goal of the afternoon.

"I GOT A PERFECT pass and couldn't believe it," Chie said. "It's a lot different in the paper to see the try. I was down in the Valley last week but I got a perfect pass when I was down there. The Outbacks' final goal of the afternoon.

Twins won it without flash

They did what few others have done in recent years and they did it with a minimum of fanfare.

For those bearing a touch, the Minnesota Twins won the American League pennant for the first time since 1991. Their only competition came from the California Angels, who ended the season 10 1/2 games behind.

Buck Browning's team finished first in the American League West Division by 3 1/2 games over the Texas Rangers. It was a well-deserved victory for the team that built its championship through hard work and dedication.

The Twins, who finished with a 93-69 record, had a margin of victory of 10 1/2 games over the Angels, marking the first time in franchise history that they have finished more than 10 games out of first place.

The Twins also had a record of 19-13 in one-run games, which is the highest winning percentage ever for a team in that category.

Iowa eyed by officials of 4 bowls

By Mike Tril

For the first time in 20 years, Hayden Fry and his Iowa Hawkeyes have had the good fortune of finding themselves in a 5-1 world with games still to be played. The Hawkeyes have trips to Ohio State and Northwestern and闭 the season with rivalry contests against Wisconsin.

But should Iowa lose one of the last four games it would see the Boilermakers win and off to the Big Ten Championship.

"If we want to be in four straight, we need to win four straight," Fry said after Planned Parenthood 24-10 and Einstein Brothers Saturday. "The only way you get to four straight is by winning those four games."

"If we win in the Big Ten Championship, we win four straight... We have to win our last game to have a shot at four games.""}

- "BY THE TIMES" the relative date in which the event occurred to be ending a season, the other team can never have more than the number of the bowl game.

- "Go handily" means that Iowa won by three touchdowns or more.

- "Go overboard" means that Iowa won by two touchdowns or less.

- "Go on" means that Iowa won by one touchdown or less.

Sooner, "Huskies stay atop UPI poll

MINNEAPOLIS — Banker O.J. Simpson took his third touchdown Monday night, powering the Minnesota Vikings into a 24-10 triumph over the Denver Broncos.

The Vikings, who won't play again until Dec. 27, forced the Broncos to miss a chance for a winning record and entered the playoffs with a 12-2-1 mark.

Dave O'Brien - Associated late in the fourth quarter, Denver placekicker Mike Gwozdecky tied the game at 10-10 before Minnesota's regulation win.

The Vikings' defense also recovered a fumble by Denver's Rayfield Wright, who was forced to fumble by Minnesota linebacker Gary Anderson.

Auburn 20

The Auburn Tigers defeated the Alabama Crimson Tide 20-17 in Saturday's game. The win marked the eighth straight victory for the Tigers.

The Tigers scored on a 27-yard run by Mark Harmon in the second quarter of the game. The winning field goal was kicked by Paul Persinger in the fourth quarter.

The win moved the Tigers to 8-2 on the season and 5-1 in the SEC, while Alabama dropped to 6-4 overall and 2-4 in the league.

Griddlers finish first round of playoffs

By Tom Dickerson

The Griddlers were off to a hot start in the first round of the playoffs last weekend.

In the South Central Region, the Griddlers defeated the Blue Jays 33-13 in the first round.

In the Northwest Region, the Griddlers defeated the Red Devils 28-14.

In the East Region, the Griddlers defeated the White Knights 27-17.

The Griddlers' season started off well with a 4-1 record, but they lost their last game of the regular season against the Bulldogs 28-7.

The Griddlers have set their sights on the second round of the playoffs, where they believe they can make a deeper run.
