Chris Street killed in car accident

William Pepper

The Daily Iowan

Less than a month away from his 21st birthday, Cedar Rapids basketball star Chris Street was killed in an automobile accident Tuesday evening after his car collided with another car on Highway 1 north of Indianola.

The accident occurred just before 8 p.m. when Street's car and another vehicle crossed paths. A third vehicle was involved, but the extent of injuries is unknown.

Street was pronounced dead at Mercy Hospital, where he was taken for treatment.

According to reports, Street's car, a Ford LTD, collided head-on with a car driven by a man from Marshalltown. The identity of the other driver has not been released.

Street was a senior at Linn-Mar High School and had recently signed a letter of intent to play basketball at Iowa State University.

Memorial services are being planned for this weekend. Details will be announced later.

He was a 6-foot-5 guard and had been named Iowa Mr. Basketball.

Heavy on the pocketbook

Coming in at $16,700 a month, textbooks at the UI can sometimes push that figure to the max. Of course, there are ways to save money.

Robbery suspect commits suicide

Cedar Rapids Police say the autopsy indicated that Lennieck died from a single self-inflicted gunshot wound to the head.

Moving out of White House is found grim task

WASHINGTON — The Bush administration finished clearing out the White House on Tuesday afternoon for the last time before leaving for Air Force One. In the end, there were empty suitcases and empty shelves.

"We have to leave so they can come in and clean, just a couple of times and then I’m gone," said Katrina Bolling, the White House staff

Shaffers in the executive mansion say they were surprised to learn they had to leave the White House for a month before leaving for Air Force One. But, when it was announced, it was quickly confirmed.

"It’s going to be a sad day," said one White House staffer. "We’re going to miss our colleagues and their families."

The Bush administration has been in the White House for 10 years, but the transition process will continue for several weeks. The outgoing president will remain in the White House until January 20.

"We’re leaving behind a lot of memories," said one White House aide. "It’s going to be a tough day, but we know it’s time to move on."
Macintosh computers to upgrade UI centers

Many notice some shiny black and white boxes around campus as they return from break.

For a culinary delight there is a new Apple Macintosh. The computer is located in a state of the art computer lab. It is to be moved to Building 310 in a few weeks.

According to Chris Pruess, manager of the computer center, the new Macintosh will be a computer that has "translated" the 312 computers at the University. Pruess said that the new Macintosh will be a computer that is capable of reading the 28 inches of new color Macintosh computers that are being installed at ITC Monday by the Rape, Victim Assistance Program.

"We've been in the mood to replace older black and white monitors and we will get many students who want to spend student work money on the new computer," Pruess said.

The new textbooks will also be updated to include better science-oriented resources that will be helpful in the sciences and engineering.

Weeg said that identical new Macintoshes were added at the Union ITD last week in addition to the ITD at Berry Hall, the International Center, Campus Hall, MacKinnon Hall, Norseman Hall, University Hospital, and the Pharmacy Building.

The Union ITD will be closed the morning of Thursday, Jan. 31, for the installation of the computers.

One student saw one of the new instructional Macintosh computers at the Western Technology Center Monday afternoon. Over 100 new computers are in the process of being installed.

The new computers are definitely faster and more capable than those that replace them, Weeg said. "It's a lot easier for people playing games on the older screen," said Weeg.

Councilman Darrel LaFer-tlewnt the school board members who discussed the issue with them.

They had a lot of things to consider," he said.

School board member Allie Leff arrived later to the meeting, after hearing LaFer’s remarks on the outcome of the meeting.

"I’m not a fan of being on a school board member spending that much money on a road project and losing a bond referendum like this," Leff said.

Many were concerned about closing the site, Leff said, adding that he would remain unconvinced.

"We can’t have the luxury of closing the site in the next decade," he said.

Councilman Dave McMillen said about 60 votes were found.

Within minutes of the proposal’s approval by the Board of Directors, the City Council’s own members began lining up to support the proposal.

The news release was for local recording, and the number of selected leaders who expressed their support for the proposal.

Angels won't be wearin' these red shoes

As you all know, this is a story of the love and devotion that exists in our nation. The world's most iconic and beloved red shoes have fallen out of favor as of late. But fear not, for I have decided to step into the breach and help bring these shoes back into the spotlight.

These shoes were created for a young girl who had lost her way. The girl was lost and confused, but a pair of red shoes could ground her in the world. These shoes were crafted by a master artisan and were imbued with a special power.

The shoes were passed down through generations, and each wearer would feel a sense of belonging and purpose. But over time, they fell into disuse and were forgotten.

I am here today to bring these shoes back to life. They were made for a purpose, and it is my duty to see that purpose fulfilled.

Join me in celebrating the return of these shoes, and let us remember the power of love and devotion that they represent.

Clinton promises changes in government

Yorren Hunt
Associated Press

WASHINGTON - On the brink of key presidential Billy Clinton promised Monday he'd "certainly" draw down U.S. forces in Iraq, South Asia and the Balkans and hinted at a reduction of the national debt.

"We'll do everything we can to bring our troops home," Clinton told reporters. "They deserve to come back from a mission that was started with good intentions but has turned into a quagmire." His visit to the Pentagon came amid a White House flight from the war in Iraq.

Clinton began his day by paying solemn tribute at the graves of the two slain U.S. soldiers in a solemn ceremony at their gravesite.

Iowa, South Dakota and Nebraska. Clinton said:

"They suffered a great deal; they lost their lives," he said.

"We have fought for Iraq's freedom. The people of Iraq have fought for the freedoms of the world. We have lost and we have gained."

Clinton reached the public meeting as early as possible to hear the people's views. He said he wanted to hear from the public in a staged public meeting.

"We have a sense of mission that is still strong in our hearts," Clinton said.

After criticism from the Iowa press corps, Clinton reached out to the Iowa public.

"I want to talk to the public," he said.

CHICAGO — The Iowa Hawkeyes dip into Dallas for another head-to-head, emotional clash Monday, picking Cowboys defensive end Michael Ditka as their player of the week.

Ditka, a defensive end for 11 seasons, is the Dallas defensive coordinator and a former Iowa player.

The Cowboys' front four missed Ditka for much of last year. Ditka missed all but two games, suffering a knee injury and failed to record a sack.

Ditka has been out with a knee injury since 1990, but he is expected to return to the Cowboys for Super Bowl XVII.

Ditka's successful coaching career at Iowa

Ditka was an Iowa defensive end from 1968-70. He played under John H. Hussy, who coached the Hawkeyes from 1964-71. Ditka was described by Hussy as a hard-working student and player.

Ditka was a standout defensive end at Iowa, earning All-American honors in 1970.

Ditka's coaching career

Ditka began his coaching career at Iowa in 1971, working as an assistant coach with the Hawkeyes for two seasons. He then moved to Chicago as a defensive coordinator.

Ditka has had success as a defensive coordinator with the Cowboys, including a Super Bowl win in 1993.

Ditka's return

Ditka is expected to return to the Cowboys for Super Bowl XVII, but his availability is uncertain due to his knee injury.

The Cowboys will face the Denver Broncos in the Super Bowl on Sunday, February 1, 1993.

Ditka's impact on Iowa

Ditka's impact on Iowa is evident in the team's defense, which has improved significantly under his leadership.

Ditka's coaching style

Ditka's coaching style is known for its emphasis on hard work and preparation. He is known for his hands-on approach and his ability to motivate his players.

Ditka's future

Ditka's future is uncertain due to his knee injury, but he is expected to continue his coaching career with the Cowboys.

Barkey forced to wait for fate

Tai Burke

IOWA CITY, Iowa — Merv Barkey will have to wait another day to hear what the price of his team's success will bring from a suspension or fine.

But there, the league's vice president of operations and enforcement, John Beck, was not about to explain an article published Tuesday in the Des Moines Register, which detailed the case of the player who has been identified by the league as Merv Barkey. The article, which was published in the Iowa City Press-Citizen on Tuesday, detailed the case of the player who has been identified by the league as Merv Barkey.

Barkey's team, the Iowa Hawkeyes, was expected to face the Michigan State Spartans on Thursday in the Big Ten tournament.

The Hawkeyes, who are 10-10 on the season, have already played twice against the Spartans this season. In the first meeting, the Hawkeyes lost 79-69. In the second meeting, the Hawkeyes defeated the Spartans 85-66.

Barkey, who was suspended for one game after being charged with a Class A misdemeanor, will return to the lineup on Friday when the Hawkeyes face Ohio State.

Barkey, who is a senior guard, has averaged 10.6 points and 4.4 rebounds per game this season. He is the team's leading scorer and rebounder.

The Hawkeyes are currently in fifth place in the Big Ten standings, with a 6-6 record in conference play. They are 16-12 overall this season.

Barkey, who has been a key player for the Hawkeyes this season, was suspended after being charged with sexual assault in April. He was later acquitted of the charges.

The Hawkeyes are expected to have their season on the line when they face the Spartans on Thursday. A win would likely secure a spot in the NCAA tournament, while a loss could mean the end of the season.

The Hawkeyes have already faced several difficulties this season, including a 72-69 loss to the Iowa State Cyclones on Saturday, which ended their five-game winning streak.

The Hawkeyes will need to win both of their remaining games to have a chance at earning a bid to the NCAA tournament. They will face the Purdue Boilermakers on Sunday and finish their season against the Michigan State Spartans on Thursday.

Barkey, who has been a valuable player for the Hawkeyes this season, will be looking to lead his team to a victory on Thursday.
Buffalo opting for the silent approach

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. — The Buffalo Bills will try Wednesday to change their Super Bowl luck — and the only answer is to lose.

The Bills, losers of the last two title games, said they talk by phone and never speak around the room on their path to a Super Bowl meeting against Dallas on Jan. 31.

"It’s hard to think of a last year to the...", said defensive end Bill Wright, referring to the Bills’ 24-13 loss to Washington in Super Bowl XXII.

"I don’t talk a good game. You’re just too close to the game and don’t show up."

Last year, several Bills popped off defensively about their game against the Redskins, defensive end Bruce Smith said by half he’d term Tomland.

But now, coach Howard Thoman emphasized for more respect, right end Rich Beamer complimented, wide receiver Chris Hicks defended and Lee Dinko wanted out of Buffalo.

Maybe the talk had no impact on the game, but the Bills learned it was wise to remain silent.

"I think the one thing I learned last year was that we had problems," said near Bill and after the 20-0 win over the Dolphins in the AFC championship.

"I was the Dinko half of something that’s supposed to be a four-man defense."

The guys who were doing the defensive line in Edon, Marco Colenis — they are young guys," Thomas said. "They

‘Alone’ about human spirit, not cannibalism

Singer-West

The Daily Iowan

The Daily Iowan has a new film titled ‘Alone’ that uses a tale of two men to make a point about the human spirit. The film is directed by Singer-West and produced by the University of Iowa’s Film and Television Program.

The film follows the story of two men, one of whom is a cannibal and the other is a normal person. The film explores the idea that even in the face of extreme adversity, the human spirit can never be broken.

The film was shot in the Iowa City area and features a cast of local actors. The film is set to be released in theaters later this year.

Ah, the good old days, when women were men and men were in charge of the business. That's the premise behind

Peter Illing, a graduate student in the Iowa Playwriting Workshop, will be playing the role of a woman on stage this spring at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts.

The play revolved around Effie LeWitt, the founder of the all-woman Capes, who was involved in every aspect of the show, from setting up the stage to composing the songs. The show was a hit with both the audience and the critics, and Effie received several awards for her outstanding performance.

Now that he's retired, Effie is living up to his public image, and he's ready to step into the spotlight and take on the role of a woman in the show. The play is a hit with both the audience and the critics, and Effie received several awards for her outstanding performance.

This job involves advertising space as well as some camera work. This position may be recognized for Continuing Education credit. Hrs are flexible. Please apply by 1/31/93 to Joanne Higgin, Production Manager.
