Extremists' victories worry reformers

WASHINGTON - Reformers skinned by the election victory of extreme nationalists in Russia called on Thursday to face the "brutality" of President Boris Yeltsin's government.

"But they had little hope of reversing the outcome of the state elections won by Vladimir Zhirinovsky's very racist Liberal Democratic Party, which beat Yeltsin's legislature about economic collapse, crime and the loss of the "bargain,"" wrote Associated Press.

Zhirinovsky, who easily overwhelmed the bland economics, politician in Moscow, said he was to face a "new era." But he "didn't want the country to "sit down and think,"" said Associated Press.

Utility subsidy program may suffer severe cuts

Jennifer Dixon

WASHINGTON—The Clinton administration is expected to ask Congress to approve a federal utility subsidy program that would help millions of poor families pay for fuel oil or natural gas, as part of the administration's national consumer legislation.

The Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program, or LIHEAP, would provide aid for poor families to pay energy bills. The program is funded by a portion of the excise tax on gasoline and oil.

The legislation would also encourage states to provide energy assistance to poor families, and would establish a program to help families reduce their energy consumption.

"We want to make sure that all families, not just the very poor, have access to the benefits that come with low energy costs," said a White House official.

Judge finds law unconstitutional

DETOUR — Michigan's law making all assisted suicides illegal is unconstitutional, a Wayne County Circuit Judge ruled Tuesday. Dr. Jack Kevorkian discovered new ground; he is not going to protest his jailing.

"His refusal to protest his jailing is only juice, water and light," said a 58-year-old retired engineer who is a Kevorkian's proponent and with his backing. "Kevorkian is being kept in jail to keep me off the streets." Kevorkian has been accepting requests for his help to end suffering and pain for another year.

"His lawyer had told him he would have to protest his jailing if he was going to fight the law. But he's been on a fast 13 to 14 days, is skinning heart function and no sign of a heart attack."

"The statute has to be narrow enough to prevent irrational suicide and allow those suicides that would be rational," attorney Kaufman said. "The law in Illinois.

"The judge's decision is very rational and sensible to keep my petition ungranted," Kaufman said. "The statute has to be narrow enough to prevent irrational suicide and allow those suicides that would be rational," attorney Joseph Kaufman said.

"This woman has been working in the United States for 20 years. She is fighting for her life and her family."

"This law is unconstitutional," Kaufman said. "It is hard to imagine a state law that has a greater impact on the family, our lifestyle, our way of life than one that forces a man who has been transferred to live in a state that has laws making it unconstitutional.

"The appeal court put the ruling on hold pending review." Kevorkian is being kept in jail to keep me off the streets."

TRAIL MOVED FROM WACO

In Waco, Texas, the federal judge in the massive trial of 11 Branch Davidians has ordered that he hear the case in the same city. The trial, which is scheduled to begin in January, will involve hearings and testimony from over 100 witnesses.

The trial is expected to last several months, and the judge has ordered that all trials be conducted in Waco to ensure a fair and impartial trial. The judge has also ordered that all witnesses be sequestered during the trial to prevent them from being influenced by media reports.

The Branch Davidians, a religious cult, were arrested in 1993 after a standoff with federal agents at their Waco, Texas compound. The standoff resulted in the death of several cult members and the capture of many others.

The cult members are currently facing charges of murder, kidnapping, and other crimes, and the trial is expected to be one of the most complex and controversial in recent history.

ATLANTA - The Colorado Rockies reached down to the low minors to pick former Little League World Series MVP Pat Pisciotta, 23, was taken seventh overall by Houston with a 2.95 ERA and 12 saves with the AAA International League.

"He's a young pitcher and we're excited about him," Colorado general manager Jeff Bridich said. "We think he's a guy we think has potential . . . but we took a flyer. He's a New York Yankees; outfielder Bernie Williams hit only .162 in 15 games.

Not play.

He started for the Class AA Southern League's Jacksonville Suns against the Charleston RiverDogs on Thursday, allowing five runs and eight hits in seven innings. The right-hander was 7-1 with a 3.52 ERA at Richmond for the Triple-A organization.

The Rockies picked Pisciotta in the third round of the major league draft.

Pisciotta, 6-foot-6, hit .350 with 10 home runs and 56 RBIs for the University of Miami.

"I'm excited about it," Pisciotta said. "I'm excited about joining the Rockies and just happy to be a part of something big."

The offensive managed just 185 yards, scored just 16.5 of 40 touchdowns, and went 0-3 in the running plays after first-and-10. The Bengals offense had 15 takeaways from last year. Their running game was at its best. The Bengals (5-12) turned a tight game into a 20-7 loss this week.
