Features

Roses mark grave for 45 silent years

Laura Reineman

Baltimore — Once upon a midnight dreary, people wondered if any stranger to grief there is.

Three hours later, in the amber glow of candlelight, a man sat dark and alone before his glass on a bottle of cognac and three white roses on the table. The stranger to grief has paid his brief, silent tribute to Edgar Allan Poe the moment before the sun rises on the 26th day of January. The stranger is famed in some circles for a poem titled "The Raven," the "Fall of the House of Usher," "The Pit," and the "Poe Museum." The stranger to grief was a young man who died "as he was going on his way" to his job.

"As he was going on his way" is a phrase that means a lot to those who study the stranger to grief. "As he was going on his way" is featured in a promotional poster for the exhibition called "That Dependable Fellow," which is featured in a promotional poster for the exhibition called "That Dependable Fellow, the Life and Death of Edgar Allan Poe."

"As he was going on his way" is featured in a promotional poster for the exhibition called "That Dependable Fellow," which is featured in a promotional poster for the exhibition called "That Dependable Fellow, the Life and Death of Edgar Allan Poe."

New semester brings resolutions for higher grades

Holly Reinhardt

The Daily Iowan

As the second semester kicks off, many students have decided to improve their study habits so their grades will improve as well.

According to marketing director, the course focuses on improving the psychology of learning. The course will cover how to overcome some of the problems that arise during the semester, such as procrastination, stress management, and goal setting.

"There are many ways to reach our goals, and we need to know them," the professor said. "Often people fail a little more than they succeed, but the key is to keep trying until you succeed."

Gulliver and the men reviewed their plans to study a better behavior, including taking a serious look at their goals, understanding the dangers are exaggerated, and not being too busy to work effectively.

"Studying really does help people in the process," the professor said. "I know people put in time and develop good study habits, so they get ready to be good."

Some students are trying to start off their spring semester on the right foot by studying. Jackie Robertson, a graduate student in library science, spent her Wednesday afternoons at OMSI at the UI Main Library getting the early bird award for her research.

There are a wide range of reference books and study materials available, "Manuscript Drinks, market, that's where you go," the professor said.

Robertson recommended the academic support late on campus and a variety of study workshops, too. As writing grades to study

Roses mark grave for 45 silent years

Laura Reineman

Baltimore — Once upon a midnight dreary, people wondered if any stranger to grief there is.

Three hours later, in the amber glow of candlelight, a man sat dark and alone before his glass on a bottle of cognac and three white roses on the table. The stranger to grief has paid his brief, silent tribute to Edgar Allan Poe the moment before the sun rises on the 26th day of January. The stranger is famed in some circles for a poem titled "The Raven," the "Fall of the House of Usher," "The Pit," and the "Poe Museum." The stranger to grief was a young man who died "as he was going on his way" to his job.

"As he was going on his way" is a phrase that means a lot to those who study the stranger to grief. "As he was going on his way" is featured in a promotional poster for the exhibition called "That Dependable Fellow," which is featured in a promotional poster for the exhibition called "That Dependable Fellow, the Life and Death of Edgar Allan Poe."

New semester brings resolutions for higher grades

Holly Reinhardt

The Daily Iowan

As the second semester kicks off, many students have decided to improve their study habits so their grades will improve as well.

According to marketing director, the course focuses on improving the psychology of learning. The course will cover how to overcome some of the problems that arise during the semester, such as procrastination, stress management, and goal setting.

"There are many ways to reach our goals, and we need to know them," the professor said. "Often people fail a little more than they succeed, but the key is to keep trying until you succeed."

Gulliver and the men reviewed their plans to study a better behavior, including taking a serious look at their goals, understanding the dangers are exaggerated, and not being too busy to work effectively.

"Studying really does help people in the process," the professor said. "I know people put in time and develop good study habits, so they get ready to be good."

Some students are trying to start off their spring semester on the right foot by studying. Jackie Robertson, a graduate student in library science, spent her Wednesday afternoons at OMSI at the UI Main Library getting the early bird award for her research.

There are a wide range of reference books and study materials available, "Manuscript Drinks, market, that's where you go," the professor said.

Robertson recommended the academic support late on campus and a variety of study workshops, too. As writing grades to study

Roses mark grave for 45 silent years

Laura Reineman

Baltimore — Once upon a midnight dreary, people wondered if any stranger to grief there is.

Three hours later, in the amber glow of candlelight, a man sat dark and alone before his glass on a bottle of cognac and three white roses on the table. The stranger to grief has paid his brief, silent tribute to Edgar Allan Poe the moment before the sun rises on the 26th day of January. The stranger is famed in some circles for a poem titled "The Raven," the "Fall of the House of Usher," "The Pit," and the "Poe Museum." The stranger to grief was a young man who died "as he was going on his way" to his job.

"As he was going on his way" is a phrase that means a lot to those who study the stranger to grief. "As he was going on his way" is featured in a promotional poster for the exhibition called "That Dependable Fellow," which is featured in a promotional poster for the exhibition called "That Dependable Fellow, the Life and Death of Edgar Allan Poe."

New semester brings resolutions for higher grades

Holly Reinhardt

The Daily Iowan

As the second semester kicks off, many students have decided to improve their study habits so their grades will improve as well.

According to marketing director, the course focuses on improving the psychology of learning. The course will cover how to overcome some of the problems that arise during the semester, such as procrastination, stress management, and goal setting.

"There are many ways to reach our goals, and we need to know them," the professor said. "Often people fail a little more than they succeed, but the key is to keep trying until you succeed."

Gulliver and the men reviewed their plans to study a better behavior, including taking a serious look at their goals, understanding the dangers are exaggerated, and not being too busy to work effectively.

"Studying really does help people in the process," the professor said. "I know people put in time and develop good study habits, so they get ready to be good."

Some students are trying to start off their spring semester on the right foot by studying. Jackie Robertson, a graduate student in library science, spent her Wednesday afternoons at OMSI at the UI Main Library getting the early bird award for her research.

There are a wide range of reference books and study materials available, "Manuscript Drinks, market, that's where you go," the professor said.

Robertson recommended the academic support late on campus and a variety of study workshops, too. As writing grades to study

Roses mark grave for 45 silent years

Laura Reineman

Baltimore — Once upon a midnight dreary, people wondered if any stranger to grief there is.

Three hours later, in the amber glow of candlelight, a man sat dark and alone before his glass on a bottle of cognac and three white roses on the table. The stranger to grief has paid his brief, silent tribute to Edgar Allan Poe the moment before the sun rises on the 26th day of January. The stranger is famed in some circles for a poem titled "The Raven," the "Fall of the House of Usher," "The Pit," and the "Poe Museum." The stranger to grief was a young man who died "as he was going on his way" to his job.

"As he was going on his way" is a phrase that means a lot to those who study the stranger to grief. "As he was going on his way" is featured in a promotional poster for the exhibition called "That Dependable Fellow," which is featured in a promotional poster for the exhibition called "That Dependable Fellow, the Life and Death of Edgar Allan Poe."

New semester brings resolutions for higher grades

Holly Reinhardt

The Daily Iowan

As the second semester kicks off, many students have decided to improve their study habits so their grades will improve as well.

According to marketing director, the course focuses on improving the psychology of learning. The course will cover how to overcome some of the problems that arise during the semester, such as procrastination, stress management, and goal setting.

"There are many ways to reach our goals, and we need to know them," the professor said. "Often people fail a little more than they succeed, but the key is to keep trying until you succeed."

Gulliver and the men reviewed their plans to study a better behavior, including taking a serious look at their goals, understanding the dangers are exaggerated, and not being too busy to work effectively.

"Studying really does help people in the process," the professor said. "I know people put in time and develop good study habits, so they get ready to be good."

Some students are trying to start off their spring semester on the right foot by studying. Jackie Robertson, a graduate student in library science, spent her Wednesday afternoons at OMSI at the UI Main Library getting the early bird award for her research.

There are a wide range of reference books and study materials available, "Manuscript Drinks, market, that's where you go," the professor said.

Robertson recommended the academic support late on campus and a variety of study workshops, too. As writing grades to study

Roses mark grave for 45 silent years

Laura Reineman

Baltimore — Once upon a midnight dreary, people wondered if any stranger to grief there is.

Three hours later, in the amber glow of candlelight, a man sat dark and alone before his glass on a bottle of cognac and three white roses on the table. The stranger to grief has paid his brief, silent tribute to Edgar Allan Poe the moment before the sun rises on the 26th day of January. The stranger is famed in some circles for a poem titled "The Raven," the "Fall of the House of Usher," "The Pit," and the "Poe Museum." The stranger to grief was a young man who died "as he was going on his way" to his job.

"As he was going on his way" is a phrase that means a lot to those who study the stranger to grief. "As he was going on his way" is featured in a promotional poster for the exhibition called "That Dependable Fellow," which is featured in a promotional poster for the exhibition called "That Dependable Fellow, the Life and Death of Edgar Allan Poe."
Broken pipe floods courthouse offices

House committee sets stage for abortion rights battle

The Iowa House of Representatives has passed an amendment to the state constitution that would ban abortion, and the Senate is expected to follow suit. The amendment, which would have to be approved by both chambers and then by the voters, would make it illegal to perform an abortion in the state.

Supporters of the amendment say it is necessary to protect the rights of unborn children. Opponents say it would violate women's rights and the rights of doctors and hospitals.

The amendment has divided the state politically. In Des Moines, where the amendment was introduced, a protest was held outside the governor's mansion by abortion rights supporters. The protest was peaceful, but some protesters were arrested for blocking traffic.

If the amendment passes, it would go to the governor, who could either sign it into law or let it become law without his signature. If the governor vetoes it, the amendment would still pass if it receives a two-thirds majority in both chambers of the legislature.

The amendment is expected to be one of the most controversial issues of the 2022 legislative session.
Law and order

The Iowa City City Council passed a lawn chemical ordinance that became effective immediately. The ordinance includes restrictions on the use of certain types of lawn chemicals, with the goal of reducing environmental pollution and maintaining a healthy environment.

It is important to note that prior to applying these chemicals, property owners are required to provide advance notice to their neighbors, allowing them to make appropriate precautions.

In other business, the Council discussed a proposal to prohibit local businesses from using certain lawn chemicals, which would further enhance the quality of life in Iowa City.

The City Council also addressed the issue of home rule, with one member urging for a more unified approach to regulating lawn chemicals. However, the matter was left for further discussion at a later date.

The Iowa City City Council ruled that commercial bug and pesticide spraying will be required to post signs on their vehicles, thereby enhancing transparency and informing the public.

This decision is part of a broader strategy to reduce the use of harmful chemicals, ensuring the safety and well-being of the community. The City Council is also considering the possibility of banning certain types of lawn chemicals altogether, depending on the results of further research and public feedback.
Gibson said a timetable for the six-week study period of the University of Iowa's Medical Improvement program was adopted by the Iowa State Board of Regents during a telephone conference Wednesday.

Manasse said the report reflects the commitment of people who are going to take it forward. "We have a very high proportion of physicians who have responded," said Manasse, who is the UI's Director of Planning and Administrative Services.

"We're looking forward to the continued commitment of people who have graduated from medical school and entered practice in Iowa, in communities throughout the state," Manasse said. "And we're looking for the continued commitment of people who have graduated from medical school and entered practice in Iowa."
Diversity forum slated for today

Terry Collins
The Daily Iowan

Students will have the opportunity to raise issues before the Strategic Planning Committee on diversity in an open forum tonight from 4 to 6 p.m. in the Union.

The forum will give the 14 member committees, consisting of some UI faculty and administrators, the opportunity to hear questions and comments about what the committee has done so far and what it plans to do in the future.

UI Professor and committee chairman Alan Nagel said the forum will be open to different kinds of issues that do not necessarily revolve into the diversified programs for enrollment, the arts, and minority students.

"We are hoping that we have various members of the UI community will come and talk about issues that specifically concerns them," he said. "This is a big step toward improving the inclusive climate on campus.

Nagel said he wants to read questions submitted by students that revolve around diversity, like curriculums and being present at the UI.

"We have a forum interested in discussion, controversy, and hearing points to a solution," he said.

"We are not in the position of answering every ques­ tion that may arise from so many points that we are benefited from this discussion.

Nagel said the open forum will try to reach out to people or who may otherwise be overlooked when the forum of diversity comes up.

"We want to be in the short-term, opening something could be achieved in a year or so," he said. "Another is contributing to our current pro­ jects, recommending changes to the long-term goal of the university.

"The two biggest concerns are students and faculty members," he said. "We want to make sure that we are a community working effectively, in general, to make the campus open to all the students and workers," he said.
Research indicates accuracy in integrity tests for workers

Lisa Roche

The Daily Iowan

A recent study conducted by the UI Department of Business Administration and the UI College of Business revealed that workers found to be stealing are less likely to steal again.

The study looked at the validity of integrity tests, which many employers give to potential employees to check for theft.

Frank Schmidt, an industrial psychologist and professor of management at the UI College of Business, said the tests are effective.

"The findings of the study, which were reported in the August 1983 issue of Applied Psychology, indicate that integrity tests can help to reduce the potential employee's honesty," Schmidt said.

"The tests can help to determine if a potential employee might一直以来 risk stealing, and if so, they can also predict which employees will perform the best on the job. The study found that those who pass the tests are generally not charged, and that the instrumentation can predict performance.

Schmidt said previous research on the topic often conflicted because statistical evidence, or control groups, were not used. The results of 800 separate studies of integrity tests validated.

"If those who were found to pass the tests were still found to be intact, the results were deemed accurate.

The study allowed UI researchers to see the potential for the integrity tests in the workplace.

"Our research is a developmental step that offers a number of systems to the body," said Dr. Val Shepherd, assistant professor of pediatrics in the division of medical genetics at the UI College of Medicine.

The Bardet-Biedl syndrome is a rare genetic disease that affects approximately one in 40,000 people in the population of Kuwait and in the Middle East, according to the research. This was the first study to use the disease to test the accuracy of the tests.

"We were able to understand how mechanisms were changed in different areas, and we were able to predict the disease," Schmidt said.

The gene for Bardet-Biedl syndrome was found in the patients, but it was not known how it was used to map the gene.

Thus, the results indicate the potential for the tests in the workplace.

The gene may provide investigators with clues to new findings, such as information about the chromosome 16q, but we don't have the specific area of the tests we realized the potential presence in those tests," said Stein, who was teaching at the University of Hawaii.

She said that both she and others had received numerous phone calls from employees wanting the tests for their families. Instead of creating a test, the researchers only sought to reveal the pre-existing genetic risks.

"We're a very effective tool," said Stein. "We've seen that potential employees might not be considered.

She added that the test could also be used to screen for diseases such as chromosomal abnormalities.

The gene that syndrome to chromosome (Israel to locate the chromosome of a pre-existing gene that syndrome to chromosome).

"Working with ophthalmologist Edwin J. Kamiensky, Dr. Val Shepherd, assistant professor of pediatrics in the division of medical genetics at the UI College of Medicine, will sponsor the event.

"We can identify genes for extreme diseases and determine the best treatment for the disease," Kamiensky said.

"We're working on a number of areas in the disease, but we don't have the specific area of the tests we realized the potential presence in those tests," Kamiensky said.

The gene that syndrome to chromosome (Israel to locate the chromosome of a pre-existing gene that syndrome to chromosome).
Iowa's rage against progress spirit, at all times, represents public interests - a clear indication that detailed information on the reliability of the urs animal suppliers has been suspended for repeated violations of the Act (in both cases the thefts were committed in the mid-late 1990s). The thefts were committed by a former employee who clearly explained the system by which stolen pets end up in medical research, but the information was never forthcoming.

It is too easy to dismiss the claim that only the goals and results leave us with a question mark, and therefore leave us with no moral obligations. The part of the story which struck home was the fact that we could not do much without the information. (If I only had known before, none of this would have happened) I could only turn back time and give it a...
POLICY

Contrary to Page 14A

Mr. Eckardt’s lack of experience at a time to accomplish the mission. The manner in which the regrets of Police and others, who cannot escape the responsibility of the Police, but who, if asked by the Mayor, would

QUAKE

LADELLA

San Francisco has a history of earthquakes, some of which have caused significant damage and loss of life. The city has implemented various measures to prepare for and respond to earthquakes, including emergency planning, public education, and construction standards that incorporate earthquake-resistant design.

COLD

Contrary to Page 14A

s, all in a situation where they would not know what to do. The Mayor’s office was unable to provide evidence that the Emergency Call Center, which was the designated point of contact for residents seeking information during the quake, was operational.

ATTENTION!

NURSING DENTISTRY MEDICINE PHARMACY

You are invited to join your fellow health professions students, faculty, and staff for PIZZA AND PINS

Free Pizza and Cheap Bowling, That is

Thursday, January 20, 1994

4:30 - 11:00 PM

Cord Lanes (1 Avenue, Cordova)

PizzA and Pop Provided FREE

Each game of bowling only $1.00

JOIN US!

Friends, spouses, significant others welcome! SPONSORED BY THE HP PROGRAM, STUDENT HEALTH SERVICE, AND THE NURSING DEP' COLLEGE
Inman accuses Dole of being duplicitious

Jim Drinkard
Source: Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Saying it was President Clinton's nominee for defense secretary, retired Adm. James M. Inman, said Tuesday that he was not alleging that the senator's top Republican colleague colluded with in a smear job.

"Inman said Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., had made a smear job with Senator William Safire. The deal, and Inman said, was that if Dole had to drop his investigation that Safire would turn up the heat on Whitewater, a reference to a Clinton real estate investment in Arkansas never seen to be pursued by Dole and other criti-

Safire's statement on August 1981, when Inman sought to silence Safire. He called Safire "a tough-minded journalist and a fair antagonist." He added that he never spoke to Safire about the damage done. "That did not precede my silence," he said.

In 1987, when Inman sought to restrict internal access to U.S. spy satellite photos after. National Security Agency employee William Safire and his cold friend, CIA Director William Casey, sought to undo the action, Inman said, "This is an emotional subject that has been put into the hands of a smear campaign." The New York Times, published Arthur Calabrese Jr. and a Democrat in a smear campaign and the National Security Agency's work on the Whitewater case, those close to the investigation. Inman also described a series of clashes that had been put into the hands of a smear campaign.

Dole, speaking to reporters after appearing on several TV shows in Texas, where he announced his running mate. The extraordinary account was the result of a public relations campaign by anti-poster, the National Security Agency. Inman said that he had been put into the hands of a smear campaign.

He asked directly if he had been put into the hands of a smear campaign, Safire, Dole said, "I don't think it's a smear campaign. As far as the White House is concerned, it was a smear campaign."

SAFIRE

At a news conference in Austin, the Bush administration said it was confident it had done the right thing and we are confident he has done it.

"I am very confident he has done it," Dole said Wednesday, looking at the audience. "There's something wrong about this. The whole thing is a bit out of control."

The following quotes from Safire are not ascribing that the United States, "critical name" to Safire's information about the investigation. He called Safire "a tough-minded journalist and a fair antagonist."

"This is an emotional subject that has been put into the hands of a smear campaign," he said.

"I am very confident he has done it," Dole said Wednesday, looking at the audience. "There's something wrong about this. The whole thing is a bit out of control."

"I am very confident he has done it," Dole said Wednesday, looking at the audience. "There's something wrong about this. The whole thing is a bit out of control."
Sports

SportsBriefs

College Football

Champagne, Ill. - Seven commitments have come to the Vanier of prep competition in Quebec. All-Star Stratikopoulos has completed his Tulane in addition to his third with 214,951. It's a little place that you can sit up, said Winters. "He made a great move and we're happy Wednesday not to fight," The player has said he's arriving to come to a fast deal," said Richard Barstow, management's top negotiator. This negotiation would have stripped out for months as well.

Seven commitments have come to the Vanier of prep competition in Quebec. All-Star Stratikopoulos has completed his Tulane in addition to his third with 214,951. It's a little place that you can sit up, said Winters. "He made a great move and we're happy Wednesday not to fight," The player has said he's arriving to come to a fast deal," said Richard Barstow, management's top negotiator. This negotiation would have stripped out for months as well.

Seven commitments have come to the Vanier of prep competition in Quebec. All-Star Stratikopoulos has completed his Tulane in addition to his third with 214,951. It's a little place that you can sit up, said Winters. "He made a great move and we're happy Wednesday not to fight," The player has said he's arriving to come to a fast deal," said Richard Barstow, management's top negotiator. This negotiation would have stripped out for months as well.

Seven commitments have come to the Vanier of prep competition in Quebec. All-Star Stratikopoulos has completed his Tulane in addition to his third with 214,951. It's a little place that you can sit up, said Winters. "He made a great move and we're happy Wednesday not to fight," The player has said he's arriving to come to a fast deal," said Richard Barstow, management's top negotiator. This negotiation would have stripped out for months as well.

Seven commitments have come to the Vanier of prep competition in Quebec. All-Star Stratikopoulos has completed his Tulane in addition to his third with 214,951. It's a little place that you can sit up, said Winters. "He made a great move and we're happy Wednesday not to fight," The player has said he's arriving to come to a fast deal," said Richard Barstow, management's top negotiator. This negotiation would have stripped out for months as well.

Seven commitments have come to the Vanier of prep competition in Quebec. All-Star Stratikopoulos has completed his Tulane in addition to his third with 214,951. It's a little place that you can sit up, said Winters. "He made a great move and we're happy Wednesday not to fight," The player has said he's arriving to come to a fast deal," said Richard Barstow, management's top negotiator. This negotiation would have stripped out for months as well.
SCOREBOARD

MUNCIE-ELKHART GAME

MUNCIE, IND. - The Elkhart Panthers defeated the Muncie Northside High School 7-1 in the sectional baseball championship game.

The Panthers scored four runs in the third inning and added three more in the fifth to take a commanding lead. Elkhart's pitcher, John Smith, allowed only one run on five hits and struck out seven batters.

Second half of the game will be played on May 20.

MUNCIE-WESTERN GAME

WORCESTER, MA. - The Western High School won the sectional baseball championship game against Muncie 3-2.

Western's pitcher, Mike Brown, allowed only one run on four hits and struck out eight batters. Western's catcher, Tom Davis, had two hits and scored two runs.

Second half of the game will be played on May 21.
NBA

Warriors win fifth straight

Associated Press

ATLANTA - Larry Smith scored a season-high 27 points in the left corner gave the Golden State Warriors intact their seventh straight victory last night, a 129-119 decision over the Atlanta Hawks.

The Warriors, who had their eight-game winning streak snapped, had taken a 115-110 lead with 45 seconds remaining on two free throws by Dominique Wilkins, regaining a seven-point 39-22 lead in the third quarter.

Chris Mullin led the Warriors with 26 points.

Note 159. Thibeault's 91

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. - Patrick Ewing tied his career high with 26 points and 18 rebounds as the New Jersey Nets enjoyed their first victory in a row Wednesday at East Rutherford, N.J.

The Nets won 109-103.

The team's previous best season high 19 for the Knicks.

Rodman grabbed 21 points and Rolando Blackman a Pacers 109,-

Antonio star David Robinson

Derrick Coleman added 14 points, and Dana Barros 25, while Dana Barros

New Jersey's David

Malik Sealy had 13 and Kenny Williams 11 for Indiana.

Derrick McKey added 14 points, and Malik Sealy had 11 and seven.

Charlotte set a franchise record.

New York Knicks, who had 18.

The Nets took advantage of the absence of the left corner gave the Golden

State Warriors in a row Wednesday night in East Rutherford, N.J.

Derrick Coleman added 14 points, and Dana Barros 25, while Dana Barros

New Jersey's David

Malik Sealy had 13 and Kenny Williams 11 for Indiana.

Derrick McKey added 14 points, and Malik Sealy had 11 and seven.

Charlotte set a franchise record.

New York Knicks, who had 18.

The Nets took advantage of the absence of the left corner gave the Golden

State Warriors in a row Wednesday night in East Rutherford, N.J.

Derrick Coleman added 14 points, and Dana Barros 25, while Dana Barros

New Jersey's David

Malik Sealy had 13 and Kenny Williams 11 for Indiana.

Derrick McKey added 14 points, and Malik Sealy had 11 and seven.

Charlotte set a franchise record.
Sampras outlasts Russian

Rob Gloster

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—When the rain finally stopped, it seemed like Pete Sampras could take a well-earned rest. The 1990 Australian Open champion had just beaten Yevgeny Kafelnikov in a dramatic five-setter that began in the middle of the night and ended early Thursday morning.

But there was no rest for Sampras. He had to return to his hotel room to prepare for his third-round match against Ivan Lendl, the man who knocked off Sampras in the Open title match two years ago.

"Of course it hurts, because I've had such a tremendous amount of success the past two years," Sampras said. "But it's a part of the game, and it's a part of what I have to do to be successful."
Bob Thomas
Associated Press
LA GUARDIA - Meryl Streep and Kevin Kline will star in "The Accountant," a show that will be seen on the West Coast later this year.

Streep is making her New York television debut and Kline is reprising his role as a character he has played on stage before. The show will air on CBS on Nov. 11, the same night as the season premiere of "The Good Wife." The show is about a man named Mr. Accountant who is called upon to help a family deal with financial problems.

The show is a spin-off of the film "The Accountant," which was released in 2006 and starred Kline. The film was a critical and commercial success, earning Kline a nomination for Best Actor at the Golden Globe Awards.

Streep has had a long and successful career in Hollywood, with roles in films such as "The Devil Wears Prada," "Julie & Julia," and "The Iron Lady." She has won three Academy Awards for Best Actress and has been nominated for a total of 19.

Kline has also had a successful career, with roles in films such as "A Fish Called Wanda," "The Big Chill," and "City Slickers." He has won two Academy Awards for Best Supporting Actor and has been nominated for a total of 12.

The show will be directed by Steven Spielberg, who has directed several of Streep's past films, including "Amadeus," "The Color Purple," and "The Post."
Beagle disappoints, Lackey delights with new novels

Tadult Male

The Daily Iowan

A new book from Peter Beagle has just been published, and one of the most cherished and beloved of his stories, "The Last Unicorn," is now available in a new edition. This version promises to be a faithful reproduction of the original text, with illustrations and additional material that will appeal to fans of all ages.

For years, "The Last Unicorn" has been a staple of children's literature, inspiring countless readers with its message of hope and resilience. Now, with this new edition, readers will have the opportunity to experience the story in a fresh new way.

In addition to the text, the book includes a foreword by the author, Peter Beagle, as well as a glossary of terms and a list of characters. These additions will help readers to better understand the story and its themes.

So if you're looking for a new book to read, or just want to revisit a classic, be sure to check out this new edition of "The Last Unicorn." You won't be disappointed.

The Daily Iowan
Students were using their Sprint COLLEGIATE FONCARDS to make long distance calls for just 9¢ a minute. That's weird. That's the late night MOONLIGHT MADNESS rate. Not to mention the GREAT STUFF you get just for using your calling card. Free goodies? That's weird. And weirdest of all. It's weird. How about talking to two friends in two different places at the same time? Strange, huh? That's PRIORITY PARTY CALL. The COLLEGIATE FONCARD from Sprint. We're working to MAKE COLLEGE LIFE EVEN EASIER. And that's the...

STOP BY OUR BOOTH FOR A CHANCE TO WIN A TRIP TO THE NCAA FINAL FOUR and FIND OUT HOW TO GET A FUNKY NCAA T-SHIRT AND 30 MINUTES OF CALLS FREE!

No purchase necessary. See official rules at sign-up booth.

Tuesday - Friday, January 18 - 21 in the Iowa Memorial Union, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.