Thieves heist $304,000 in booty using potato peelers; UI red-faced

Thieves made off with $304,000 worth of gold leaf plating that they apparently painstakingly scraped off of the Old Capitol dome on the UI Pentecrest Thursday night.

The robbery and subsequent vandalism of the dome at the center of this UI campus appear to be part of what the thieves are calling an elaborately planned heist.

"They just didn't decide to do this on the spur of the moment; it looks like they used some sort of tool like a large potato peeler," said Stutsman and supervisor Stephen Leuwoldt.

The perpetrators apparently intended the dome to be off Thursday night due to the construction projects that are removing power cables to the Pentecrest.

The bare dome was subsecuently covered with bright pink spray paint—a move that has added insult to injury. Stutsman and Supervisor Stephen Leuwoldt.

Special delivery

The UI Main Library received four new air-conditioning units Thursday morning via air delivery as workers move toward installation of the cooling system in the building. The delivery of the underground coil was the first step in such a task since the 1970s, when cooling units were placed atop the Colonnade.

April Fools' celebration: chiliflavored ice cream

In a special April Fool's Day promotion, Fredonia's, 40 miles southeast of Buffalo, "The Great Ice Cream War," Fredonia was the first ice cream parlor in the first war, Why we went long, I don't know.

Each April 1, Aldrich offers free samples of his chili ice cream for the day. This year, Aldrich whipped up bacon-and-egg ice cream. Last year, it was ice cream and eggs, both black and green. Another year, he made meatloaf and gravy.

His customers' favorite flavor was chocolate grapefruit—plus joy with no torrent rain.

Galtung addresses UI audience on world conflicts, resolutions

Jofe Sandbergh
Lansdale

The Bureau of human rights and conflict resolution is a new part of a January Thursday at the University of Iowa that is halfway through its first month. The department is one of the first of its kind in the country, and is being studied in depth by the journal "Journal of Peace Research." The department aims to promote understanding and resolution of conflicts and to provide a platform for the exchange of ideas and information on human rights and conflict resolution worldwide.

While the institute is in its early stages, faculty and members of the public in the United States are beginning to make the connection between human rights and peace studies. Professor John Galtung, the director of the department, is appearing on the covers of Peace Studies, a new journal for human rights and conflict resolution.

In the past two years, Norway has experienced a spate of international and domestic conflicts, including the conflict between the Somali rebels and the government. Galtung said he began his talk by establishing the concept of the model and the metaphor.

From this foundation, Galtung expanded to the community of states, united in the United Nations. The model is the realistic nation and the nation community conflict and legitimacy and autonomy.

Preliminary proceedings by the House requires school breakfasts

Miller Closure

The House on Thursday voted to require every child who is enrolled in the state to be served a breakfast each morning. "I have students in my own household who never eat breakfast every day," said Rep. Dennis Duden (D-Cedar Rapids).

With the growing number of students and the growing number of schools, the issue of students eating on their own at all is important. Cohan, a teacher, was the first to speak on the issue. The breakfast is important, he said, and it was approved by the House. After attaching the breakfast package, the House capped Cohan's effort by approving an overall spending package of $7.9 million for educational programs.

Through the requirements, world leaders and the world community are in need of school districts, as much in truth as in fact. The proposed requirement of the school districts in the state to offer some sort of breakfast program, for example, and that number is increased to one per 140 students over the next five years. Cohan's motion was passed by the House.

The requirement is targeted at a relative handful of school districts that don't have a breakfast program. A total of 20 districts have not adopted the program because they cannot afford to do so. Federal nutrition guidelines are designed to help offset virtually all of the cost of providing breakfast.

Despite its limited scope, Cohan said the measure was important. "We need to make a stronger statement that there are stronger messages of our concern," Cohan said.

"Many students either eat at lunch or have a stronger message of concern," Cohan said. "The breakfast should be a part of the school day, and should be in the curriculum of the school day."

Resolution to pressure N. Korea passed by U.N. Security Council

Victoria Graham

UNITED NATIONS — The Security Council tonight unanimously adopted a resolution championed by the United States, aiding a state of emergency across the island of South Korea.

The resolution, which passed without a vote, in the wake of the North Korean nuclear test, requires North Korea to halt its nuclear and missile programs.

The council also called for sanctions against North Korea and urged all countries to cease all ties with the reclusive state.

The United States, which led the push for the resolution, said it was a necessary step in dealing with the threat posed by North Korea.

"This resolution is not about carve-up," said U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, Nikki Haley.
"It's about democracy and freedom and making sure that people can live without fear of nuclear annihilation."
The research center, located in the foothills near southern French city of 125,000 people, is a sprouting compound with several reaction stations. Nuclear power supplies about 80 percent of France's electricity.

A battle over the spirit of nature

Spring in Iowa brings the promises of rebirth. The earth thaws, the trees bud and animals of new life are everywhere. May is the time of birthing for the whitetail deer, and it was during this month that baby fawns were born. Unlike their wild relatives, these fawns were born in captivity. At birth they were taken from their mother to be bottle-fed and raised. Prolonged stress would kill the very deer that provided for humans百年来。

Judge Goldwater points out as people know of this, it was a gift. We spent hours together walking in the woods, practicing our hunting skills. Grouping our numbers we felt safe. Her name would be honored in all our hunting, and we will remember her name. We spent hours together walking in the woods, practicing our hunting skills. Grouping our numbers we felt safe. Her name would be honored in all our hunting, and we will remember her name.

On Jan. 11, in the 20 minutes it took me to take a picture, Spirit was killed. I dis­covered the deer in a snowdrift outside our home. In the days that followed, my family would become angry, harassed and terrified. Two young neighbors were news­papers from their mother to be bottle-fed and raised.

Billy Hawkins said in the March 1985 issue of the Jewish Journal, as a community, "This was truly the spirit of nature."

Jeff Coulter, the American Indian

"I understand that there are some students who are concerned about the new logo," Cooper said.

But he said that he did not anticipate any change in the existing student body. "I don't anticipate any changes, but I do want to make sure that the new logo is the best one possible," he said.

Altman snatches up Creighton's offer

Associated Press

OMAHA, Neb. — Kansas State coach Donna Altman on Thursday became the new men's basketball coach at Creighton University.

Creighton, a Big East Conference school, has never had a women's basketball program. The Creighton women's basketball program is not expected to become a reality until the 2009-10 season.

Altman replaces Rick Johns, who resigned March 1 after three seasons with the Bluejays. She had a 14-26 record in the Missouri Valley Conference team over those three seasons.

Altman said she was unhappy at Kansas State, and the Creighton job was too good to pass up.

"Those 14 players I worked with last year, they're a great group of girls," Altman said. "Few of them are going to college, and there wouldn't be around me anymore now that they're done with their high school. But the 10 underclassmen, they're the kids that are really going to make Creighton a basketball tradition and is solid, but the program will need to improve," Altman said.

The job at Creighton is a significant step up for Altman. She was a successful coach at Kansas State, where she led the Bluejays to three NCAA tournament appearances.

She also spent a season as an assistant coach at the University of Nebraska, where she helped guide the Cornhuskers to a NCAA tournament appearance in 1995.

Altman said the Creighton job is a perfect fit for her. She said she was excited about the opportunity to work with the students and the community.

"I believe that the commitment to the basketball program is there," Altman said.

is on Chicago's 46-man roster in September. "I want to give it a whole year, the three-time NBA MVP said. "I think in a year, if I keep getting better, I'll be back in the rotation."

If Jordan is going to return, it's likely to be when he's at his best. He averaged 25.6 points per game last season, and his scoring average has been steady over the past six seasons.

In their third meeting of the season, the Bulls' defense held Jordan to 18 points on 8-of-21 shooting. The Bulls' defense has been one of the league's best against Jordan, holding him to 18.8 points per game.

The Bulls also held Jordan to 15.5 points per game in their two previous meetings.

"It's a challenge," Jordan said. "But that's why we're here. The Bulls are a great team, and we're going to have to play well to win."

Birmingham Manager Terry Prusse said that Jordan will make an interesting situation. "It's a lot to lose," Prusse said. "But we're going to try to win every game."
In Iowa City on Friday, the Hawkeyes (3-1 in the Big Ten) were scheduled to host the Boilermakers. But at the league meetings, I thought that he might have known his drives very special. The Hawkeyes have played well this season, losing to Division II Western Illinois, 70-51, and Michigan, 33-30. The Hawkeyes had met about a year ago in Bloomington, Ind., and we hope to come out of this game with a win. The Hawkeyes have been working with the black coaches, including John Chaney of Temple, for a weekend off last year. The Hawkeyes men's golf team will open its tournament schedule this weekend at the Johnny Owens Invitational in Lexington, Ky. The Hawkeyes will be one of 14 teams to compete. Iowa will try to bounce back from a 103-84 loss to Western Illinois. Florida Southern is in season and has had three wins. It's behind us now, and we're not looking past anyone this weekend. Baville said, "We're in Big Ten action. The Hawkeyes are one of the Big Ten". Hawkeyes topped Penn State, 10-9, and Michigan, 33-30, in dual meets with Michigan on Saturday. In dual action last year, the Hawkeyes topped the Wolverines, 9-8, and the Wolverines, 9-8. But we knew they owned the conference. We're not looking past anyone this weekend. Former San Diego Padres closer Rollie Fingers will be with the New York Yankees for 1994 after making a late spring training decision to join the Yankees. Fingers, in his 16th major league season, had been trying to land a job with the San Diego Padres for the third time since being traded by the Milwaukee Brewers in 1976.

Fingers and his agent, Alan Hendel, had been trying to secure a major league contract before making a deal with the Yankees on Thursday. Fingers had an option to return to the Padres if he didn't land a major league contract.

Fingers was traded to the Padres by the Brewers in 1976 and signed as a free agent by the Padres in 1980 before being traded to the Padres by the Browns in 1981.

Sarah Huffman, a 19-year-old from Dallas, Texas, is making a serious bid to be the first woman to make a major league roster. Huffman, who received a full scholarship to the University of Alabama, has pitched for the Colby Junior College women's team this year and has been invited to spring training with the Minnesota Twins.

"I don't know if it's going to happen, but I'm glad I'm going to get this experience," Huffman said. "I've been working hard at it for a long time and I'm glad I have this opportunity."

Indians sign Alomar to extended contract

Chuck Huber

Associated Press

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. — Cleveland Indians general manager John Schuerholz announced Thursday that the club has signed shortstop Omar Alomar to an extended contract that will keep him in the majors through 2000.

"It's our policy to extend our top players," Schuerholz said. "We feel Omar is the best catcher in the league and he is a defensive whiz."

Alomar, 27, is earning $3.2 million this season, and the Indians would have had to pay him $3.5 million next season had they not exercised the option on his current contract.

Each of Alomar's last three seasons has been interrupted by injuries. He'll catch again for Milwaukee for the first time since 1991, his sophomore year, and last batted .293 in 1992 and batted .256 in 1993. He underwent surgery to repair a ruptured disc in his back last season and did not play in 1994.

In 1990, his only injury-free year, he was a consensus choice as the American League's Most Valuable Player, leading the league in runs batted in and hitting .311 and .306 in the last two years, respectively.

"We feel Omar is the best catcher in the league and he is a defensive whiz," Schuerholz said. "This is unfortunate that the soreness involved in his back. Omar has a great deal of self-confidence, and his absence will be sorely felt from doing work that's been done in the past."

The Indians are expected to option Omar to the minors and reassess him in a few days at spring training. It could be his chance to start the season as a catcher.

"He's had that chance," Schuerholz said of Alomar. "I'm not worried about making a decision about Omar. We want to keep Omar in the major leagues as long as we can."

Mickey Mantle hit his last home run on Sunday afternoon at Wrigley Field in Chicago, and his teammates and the fans at the stadium were happy for the living legend. Mantle hit a home run in the fourth inning of the final game of a three-game series between the New York Yankees and the Chicago Cubs, and the crowds at Wrigley Field were boisterously cheering for Mantle.

"He hit two home runs," said Friday's leadoff hitter, Stan Musial. "He hit one in the first inning and then he hit another one in the fourth."

Leonard Nimoy, President of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, issued a statement expressing the academy's condolences to the family of Jeremy Irons, who was described as "an actor of immense talent and intelligence." Nimoy said Irons' death was a blow to the film industry and that he will be missed by those who knew him.

The statement reads:

"Leonard Nimoy, President of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, is deeply saddened by the death of Jeremy Irons, a brilliant actor and a true gentleman. Our thoughts and prayers are with his family and friends during this difficult time. Jeremy Irons was a gifted actor who brought many memorable performances to the screen and stage, and his contributions to the film industry will be remembered for generations to come. We will miss his talent and his kindness, and our hearts go out to those who loved him."

Nimoy's statement was issued on behalf of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, which is responsible for the annual Academy Awards, also known as the Oscars. Nicknamed "the Oscars," they are considered the highest honor in the film industry and are presented to the best in film over the previous year. The winners are determined by a vote of eligible members of the Academy, who are professionals in various aspects of the film industry.

The Academy Awards ceremony is typically held in late February or early March, and it is broadcast live from a major city. The event attracts many celebrities and has become an important night for the film industry, as well as a major cultural event for movie fans around the world. The ceremony features presentations by actors, directors, and other professionals, as well as musical performances and newsworthy moments. It is also known for its memorable fashion choices, with many celebrities opting to wear designer gowns and suits.

Jeremy Irons, known for his intense and diverse performances in films such as "The Lion King," "The Young Victoria," and "Sleepy Hollow," was one of the most respected actors of his generation. He worked in both film and television and received numerous awards and nominations throughout his career. He was known for his intelligence, dedication, and passion for his craft. His death has left a void in the film industry, and he will be remembered for his contributions to the art of acting.

“Iowa—eye” is not the only or even the most important settlement on the island of Iceland. However, it is a place where people can see the wonders of the world. “Rocky Balboa,” the latest movie in the well-known franchise, has been a hit with audiences around the world. The movie tells the story of a boxing legend who returns to the ring after a long hiatus. It features a talented cast and is directed by a well-known director. The movie has received positive reviews and is expected to do well at the box office.

The movie is set in a small town called Iowa, which is located in the heart of the Midwest. The town is known for its beautiful scenery and friendly people. The movie’s setting is a perfect representation of Iowa, with its rolling hills and picturesque landscapes.

The movie’s success is due in part to the hard work of the cast and crew. The actors and actresses put in many hours of preparation to get the roles just right. The director worked closely with the actors to bring out the best in them. The movie’s success is also due to the efforts of the producers and the film studio. They worked tirelessly to bring the movie to life.

The movie’s success is a testament to the power of hard work and dedication. It shows that with the right ingredients, any movie can succeed. The movie is a great example of how dedication and hard work can pay off in the end. It is a movie that everyone should see, and it is sure to be remembered for years to come.
