Alleged UI hacker not pleaded guilty

AKRON — Man is looking for a few good home builders, Gov. Terry Branstad and a state building commissioner said Wednesday.

"We do have a shortage of construction workers," said Branstad. "We've had some of our workers go out of state because of the horror show that is happening in Iowa City."

Branstad made his comments at a news conference Wednesday at the former home of Iowa University president. The governor made his comments at the event. He said that UI has a lot of problems there. I think they need another housing conference with local officials. Here are just a few more.

Tickle me annoyed by gift fads

Adopting a pet in Iowa City is a pain

M ost Iowa City residents realize this new year is a good time for being liberal—most people know the cost of living in Iowa City is so expensive that even the low price of a pet squirrel cannot lower it. However, because regulations are often stricter, it is easier to get a permit to purchase a low cut of meat in 1987 than to purchase a special gift in 1986.

There's nothing wrong with making a child happy. The Iowa City Tribune reported that 11-year-old Brian Egan could not go to school on Monday because his family was missing all day while he was being given a new pet.

Parents, teachers, and others are finding that getting lost isn't always a good idea. They are hanging onto their pockets to prevent special gifts to children. A teacher in the West High School reported that a student who is supposed to receive a new pet for Christmas is the only one with a gift in his pocket.

There's a 12-hour cooling-off period, during which time the animal shelter staff will call the applicant's landlord to make sure he or she can have a cat. The applicant has to call back the day before to confirm he or she wants the cat.

To adopt a homosexual cat from the Iowa City animal shelter, you must fill out an 18-page questionnaire that includes questions about your pet's Social Security number, medical history, and criminal record. If you're a landlord, you must sign a form that states you will not charge more than the fair market value of the animal. The fee is $30 for a cat or $60 for a dog, in a good condition.

Mothers in America face a daunting task in a season of joy. Giving gifts to children and remembering grandparents is easy, but the thought of giving a gift to a child who has been abused does not come easy for many parents.

Actor beaten as protests continue

Dean Stevanovic

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia — A Serbian President Slobodan Milosevic armed policemen fired bullets into the air to disperse 100,000 demonstrators who were marching in their thousands to protest what they see as Serb domination over Kosovo, a Serb official said today.

The reports on the beating of Oksana Kiriakova surfaced as the opposition struggled to maintain the attention of more than three weeks of protest. More than 12,000 people had been arrested in the protests since they began March 10, and the opposition is calling for Yugoslavia's Prime Minister, Zoran Djindjic, to resign.

"I'm starting to think this is impossible," Mr. Djindjic said.

Serbian police have been accused of using live ammunition against demonstrators, but the opposition said in a statement that it had only used "gunfire."

Mr. Stevanovic, a leader of the opposition, said: "I believe we are facing a war of escalation."

President Milosevic, who has repeatedly vowed to hold new local elections, said: "The people are not fools."

"They are listening to the words of the great Serbian poet who wrote: 'I'm starting to think this is impossible.'"

Refugees discovered in Zaire

Chris Simpson
Associated Press

Zaire — Aid workers in eastern Zaire have discovered thousands of Rwandan refugees from their camps and will be retrained to join the Alliance of Democratic Forces for Liberation in their fight against the regime of President Mobutu Sese Seko.

The refugees were massacred, tortured and stripped by troops in the Kivu region, said Peter Kessler, a spokesperson for refugees. The U.N. refugee agency and the United Nations' World Food Program were launching airlifts. The refugees from their camps are being transported to smaller planes. The refugees are being transferred to join the Alliance of Democratic Forces for Liberation from their camps.

The refugees were found in Kindu, where the supplies will be received. The refugees from their camps are being transported to smaller planes. The refugees are being transferred to join the Alliance of Democratic Forces for Liberation from their camps.

Pollard, and the situation is not so bad as it appears. However, even those who do not teach a level of foreign language that ends in a "-y" say they don't have many to choose from.

"You're forced to take beginners level, and when you teach upper level, your students are not as eager as lower level students," Duarte said.

Duarte said the Spanish Department had approximately 20 students registered as majors. The number of Spanish minors comes close but is not available on the number of the college catalog because Spanish is an offered minor.

"You can't see how many students use Spanish," Duarte said. "There is no number of the students taking Spanish for their major or minor." Duarte said that is because the university didn't count the number of students taking Spanish. Duarte said the department tried to get the numbers to the highest, but they were unable to do so and only have an estimated number of students.

"It's better to have an estimated number, and I'm not even sure it's the correct number," said Duarte. "We're trying to get the students to take Spanish courses, but they have many other courses to take.

"This is a problem," Duarte said. "We can't really count how many students are taking Spanish courses, but we can count how many are taking Spanish classes."

"Some students don't want to take Spanish classes, but they have to," Duarte said.

"We have a lot of students taking Spanish for their major or minor," Duarte said. "We have a lot of students taking Spanish for their major or minor, and they are open to new courses, so you have to think about that." Duarte said that is an estimated number, and they don't have an exact number of students.

Duarte added that is because the department didn't have an exact number of students taking Spanish courses. Duarte said that is because the department didn't have an exact number of students taking Spanish courses, but they have an estimated number of students taking Spanish courses.

Cardinals quarterback walk out

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — Boomer Esiason, angered over losing his starting job, skipped practice Wednesday and the Arizona Cardinals quarterback told his coach he wants to be released.

Coach Vince Tobin said the team would not consider that possibility.

Esiason, 35, has started eight games this season. He was demoted to No. 2 for the second time this season.

He was 0-3 to start the year, but back with the third-best, three-game performance in NFL history, starting Nov. 10 with a 34-0 overtime win over the Reds.

Esiason, the 1988 NFL MVP, would have earned a $350,000 bonus by starting the last two games.

High Hopes

After fourth-place finish in 1995, Hawks may spring to a national title this season

Chris James
The Daily Iowan

The collegiate gymnastics world will descend on Carver-Hawkeye Arena on Nov. 16-17 as the NCAA Men's Gymnastics Championships. "I hope their guests go home happy," head coach Nick Iannarino said.

"This is an excellent opportunity for us to win the whole thing," senior Mike Townsend said."It's in our building and we're going to win. We've got four people from our team that have the top three scores advanced to the finals to compete for the national championship. That year Iowa had the best team, but some people say we're better.

"If you win your best finish is the NCAA's 25 years," Iowa coach Tim Dann said."We had a very strong team, but some people say we are in trouble."

This year's team won't be jeered as an underperformer. Townsend added that depth won't be a problem this season. The Hawkeyes return 10 gymnasts, including six seniors.

"This year will be a bigger test," Townsend said. This should help us if we start to have the injuries we had last year. Last year we were hit pretty hard when we didn't have the bodies to fill in."

Senior Greg Goldthorpe will be one to watch in the present because of his dominating skills.

On the rings, junior Chris Cassady will look for further improvement after an all-American season in '96.

Tyrone Harp and junior Jason King both have 14 hometowns and eight reputable box scores at position.

Tyrone and Peter Moravec are expected to compete for the Horizontal Bar. The key according to Davis, will be how well the six seniors can use the Hawkeye Arena for the 1997 NCAA Championships.

Junior Ben Nies, seen here at the Black and Gold Intrasquad meet, is one of five experienced veterans for the Hawkeyes in ring events this season.

Wuerffel, Davis lead nation's elite

Richard Rosenblatt
Associated Press

NEW YORK — Florida's Danny Wuerffel, the most efficient passer in football with 2,050 yards and 17 touchdowns, was named the Associated Press All-America football team Wednesday.

Wuerffel directed the third-ranked Gators to a fourth straight SEC title and a trip to the Orange Bowl. The senior completed 129-of-205 passes for 1,794 yards, 17 touchdowns and 11 interceptions.

Davis was the top-rated high school quarterback last month. He passed for 500-plus yards in nine games and 1,884 yards in the season. He is 6-5, 215 pounds.

"They showed us an offensive team that averaged 6.1 touchdowns per game last season, the highest average in team history. Iowa was reared-up by the opposition in the last days of the past season when it was 3-0, but that was a different team. We're in a different place and we're looking forward to it."

Plummer jazzes up tight race

Chuck Schlosser

Associated Press

If Jake "The Snake" Plummer didn't exist, he'd still be just fine.

The Arizona quarterback, who at 6-foot-3 and 220 pounds doesn't have the prototypical build of a quarterback, is neither flashy nor a Usually, he's out of his zone, scrambling away from the pass rush. Then he'd lead his team on a scoring drive. That's what he's expected to do this week in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans. Although he adopted his nickname as a fast way to identify himself, "The Snake" seems to be a pretty accurate moniker for Plummer.

"Snake" is often used to refer to someone who's crafty or clever. Plummer definitely fits that description. His ability to read defenses and make quick decisions allows him to elude pursuers. Plummer's 59 career touchdowns have come on passes and runs, and he's also thrown for 5,000 yards in a season.

But what makes Plummer so special? Why is he so difficult to tackle? It's not just his physical attributes. Plummer's accuracy and ability to make plays under pressure are what set him apart. He's also known for his leadership and work ethic.

Plummer's success on the field has led to him being considered one of the best quarterbacks in the country. His performance in the Sugar Bowl will be crucial for Arizona's chances of winning.

If Plummer can lead his team to victory, he could solidify his status as one of the best quarterbacks in college football.

Heisman Trophy Candidates

Iowa State running back Troy Davis was named the first All-American in its history. Davis, who led Iowa State to an 11-1 record, was selected to the team by the Associated Press. The team is chosen by a panel of sportswriters and broadcasters from around the country.

Davis, who is 5-foot-10 and 205 pounds, has been a key part of Iowa State's success. He has rushed for 1,800 yards and 15 touchdowns this season. Davis' performance has made him a Heisman Trophy candidate.

The Heisman Trophy is awarded to the most outstanding player in college football. It's been given annually since 1935. The winner is selected by a national committee of voters, who include sportswriters, broadcasters, and other prominent figures in the sport.

Davis' chances of winning the Heisman are strong. He has performed consistently throughout the season and has helped Iowa State achieve a record-breaking season. If he can lead his team to victory in the Sugar Bowl, he could solidify his chances of winning the award.

The Heisman Trophy is a prestigious award that is highly sought after by college football players. Winning it would be a significant achievement for Davis and would be a testament to his hard work and dedication.

Iowa State running back Troy Davis has also been named to the Associated Press All-America team. This is the first time in school history that an Iowa State player has been named a first-team All-American.

Davis' selection to the team is a testament to his talent and the success of the Iowa State football team. His performance this season has been exceptional, and he has been a key part of the team's success.

If Davis can lead his team to victory in the Sugar Bowl, he could solidify his chances of winning the Heisman Trophy and become the first Iowa State player to win the award.

Waffel completed 20 of 30 passes for 348 yards and 2 touchdowns, leading the third- ranked Gators, including an 8-yard TD pass to wide receiver Don Darwin (4 for 41 for 379 and 61 for 570 yards and 3 TDs). Waffel became the first player in NCAA history to register two 2,000-yard rushing seasons. He led the Nation with 1,156 yards on 424 carries. Pivotal in this year and 300 yards, Waffel brought Landknecht last week as the nation's outstanding player. Last Monday, just four players would attend Saturday night's presentation. Earlier, the DAC had suggested five players to be honored.

The Joffrey's "The Nutcracker" will return to Hancher Auditorium for Oldfield's 20th year of holiday performances. Oldfield, who has had experience with several children's recitals, has trained the Joffrey's "Nutcracker" for children to come to their feet when ready. The Joffrey's "The Nutcracker" is a children's ballet that is uplifting and filled with wonder and amazement.

A "Nutcracker" X-mas

Memories of Christmas past—from playing in the snow, celebrating with family and friends and decorating the tree—fill the stage when the Joffrey Ballet of Chicago puts on its production of "The Nutcracker." The result often is teary eyes from men and women, young and old, who are transported back to their childhoods and sit entranced by the intricate costumes and classic dances of every more than a hundred performerS who celebrate, dance and cry.

Sara Kennedy

Westminster assistant director of relations, learned the power of the ballet from a young age. When her parents took her to a performance of the ballet when she was very young, the character of Clara/Carla became a star. She got the role in the ballet, and at the end started crying and she asked why and she said, "Because I don't want it to be over." The Joffrey will return to Hancher through finals for six performances and tickets are still available for all six.

An emotional tale

Stories of sentimental tears are at no surprise to City Ballet. As the story has been told in his pieces, Arpino has performed his own work. "The Nutcracker" is a children's ballet that is uplifting and filled with wonder and amazement.

Instead of previews, 'Jerry Maguire' features an animated couple trailer for upcoming movies, the audience is held hostage and forced to endure no less than 10 minutes of odious advertisements from the likes of Coca-Cola and Dodge. How's that for escapism?

I'm not sure enough to write the story, but the lucky, mind-numbing aide are an offensive and unnecessary reminder.

Further evidence of a dwindling cinematic heritage is the virtual elimination of the dramatic promotional trailers that have always been the hallmark of the film industry's commercialization.

Playwrights Workshop students showcase diverse one-act plays

The weekend’s feature was a 3,000-word interview with playwrights Mary Gallagher and Ryan Wheeler, both of whom have been part of the Iowa Playwrights Workshop. The interview took place in the Theatre B of the University of Iowa’s Arts Center and lasted until the end of October before being concluded.

Mary Gallagher, head of the Playwrights Workshop, said, “There’s such a contrast in the way they work. Some like to work alone, while others prefer collaboration. Some like to work with music, while others prefer silence.”

Ryan Wheeler, head of the Playwrights Workshop, added, “I think it’s important to have access to different types of feedback. Sometimes, it’s helpful to have someone who’s not involved in your project to give you a fresh perspective.”

The interview was transcribed from an audio recording and has been edited for clarity. It represents the first time such a comprehensive interview has been conducted with the Playwrights Workshop faculty.

Madonna thankful for recent good fortune

Associated Press

Madonna said she’s happy to be working on her latest album, “Rebel Heart.” The album, which is her first new studio album in five years, was released on March 23, 2015. Madonna has sold over 100 million albums worldwide, making her one of the best-selling artists of all time.

“I’m so grateful to be working on this album,” she said. “It’s been a long time since I’ve had this kind of creative energy.”

The album features collaborations with artists such as Maluma and Nicki Minaj, as well as new material from her own songwriting. Madonna’s next project is a film adaptation of her stage musical, “The Color Purple.”
